"THE UPTOWN CHURCH"

is trying to meet the requirements of God and the demands of the people in their needs. Every character. The pastor seeks to have nothing in view but the great mission on which his Master has sent him. He believes that there is nothing in this world more practical than the Christian religion, and there is nothing so good. Next Sunday morning he will preach the first of two sermons on "Business in Religion," and the following Sunday the other on "Religion in Business." Next Sunday evening the subject will be "Courtship and Marriage."

The Sunday School is growing and the prayer meetings are interesting. Come and let us help you. All who come will be cordially welcomed.

RAILROAD EXPERT LOOKING OVER S. A. & N.

On yesterday morning Mr. Nicholson, a representative of a large financial syndicate, came into Statesboro, over the Central, and immediately went out over the line of the Savannah, Augusta & Northern Railway, a special train being in waiting for him. He made his stay in Statesboro very brief, going directly to the S. A. & N. depot, giving out no information whatever. He was accompanied by Mr. W. Armstrong, of the S. A. & N., where both gentlemen spent the night.

It is believed that Mr. Nicholson represents interests who are expected to finance the extension of the road, and the object of his visit here at this time is to report on the value of the property.

HAVING ROUGH SAILING GETTING COTTON PICKERS.

Messrs. Sam Helmet, of Register, and M. A. Newton, of near this place, had an experience akin to that of one of our Tattall county neighbors this week in getting cotton hands out of Savannah.

There are hundreds of loafing negroes in Savannah who will promise to come out to pick cotton, provided they are given money to buy tickets and a little extra for other needs. In nine cases out of ten they intend to jump their contract. This was done in the case of Messrs. Helmet and Newton this week, and the sooner our people learn to let their loafing class of labor alone the better it will be for them. It is discouraging to make a crop and then have it stolen from you in that manner.

BARACAS.

There seems to be some attraction with those boys of the "Up Town church." Their class room was crowded to overflowing last Sunday and it is thought that they will have to use the Sunday School room this coming Sunday. Meet with them some afternoon. They are finding something to benefit them there.

Attention, Friends.

Having accepted a position with the firm of Messrs. W. C. & O. S. Crumley, of Brooklet, I take this method of asking my old friends and customers to give me a call, where I will appreciate their patronage and do my best to merit a continuance of their patronage and esteem. Respectfully, N. J. WILSON.

HAMP LEE DESERTS FAMILY AND DEPARTS.

After having disposed of his farm about three miles east of Statesboro, together with all his personal effects, J. Hamp Lee went into the house and informed his wife on yesterday afternoon that it was his intention to leave her. With this statement he jumped into a buggy standing in front of the door and drove rapidly to town. Mrs. Lee notified her brother, Holland Newsome, who was at work in the field, of what had happened. Newsome, accompanied by his sister, came to town in pursuit of the fleeing husband and brother-in-law, who was driving a horse and buggy which he had sold to Newsome, together with the "crop in the field. When Lee learned that his wife and brother-in-law were in hot pursuit, he drove out of town very hurriedly, going back down the Savannah road. Later in the afternoon warrants were sworn out for him, and his arrest on a charge of wife desertion and several other minor charges, was sworn out.

Lee is said to have carried off more than two thousand dollars in cash, leaving his wife and several small children practically penniless. The farm, though a small one, was desirably located. It had been sold earlier in the week to Col. F. T. Lawler, at $75 per acre.

BIG CIRCUS IS COMING.

The advertising car, No. 1, of the Forepaugh and Sells Bros. circus, was in town one day during the week and a large number of bill posters were sent out all through the adjacent territory. It is given out that car No. 2 will be here next Wednesday to post the town and territory again and Wednesday week still another will be here. The advertising manager states that fifty cars of sights will be turned loose on Statesboro, that the street parade will be more than two miles in length, and that the show itself is the biggest on the road. It is said that it costs this circus seven thousand dollars a day to maintain itself on the road, therefore you can imagine what we will have here on October the 18th. Arrangements have been made here for supplies for the one day here, which is something like this: Four tons of hay, one ton of oat straw for animal beds, one hundred bushels of oats, one hundred bushels of corn, two cords of wood, eight hundred loaves of baker's bread, two thousand pounds of beef, etc., etc.

There are about six or eight hundred people, laborers and actors, along with the big circus. It is positively asserted that the entire circus will be here. They will show the day previous in Augusta and the day following in Savannah, going to Waycross on Friday and Jacksonville on Saturday following. Therefore, it is seen they have recognized Statesboro as being in the class of towns that can take care of the mammoth circus. It is probable that there will be the largest crowd of people in Statesboro that day ever seen here before, as people will travel a long ways to see a first class circus.

TWO EXTREMES

Don't be a grumpy, tightfisted tightwad, scrimping, pinching, saving so everlastingly that you become so stingy that you are actually dishonest. You know the kind we mean.

On the other hand don't become so anxious to become known as a "good fellow" that you will squander your money on others who will only sneer at you for a fool when you finally go broke. There is always a happy medium if you will search for it. Spend enough to supply all reasonable needs, lay aside a fair amount and deposit it in a reliable bank as a safeguard against misfortunes that are sure to come. Petition for Charter.
GEORGIA—Bulloch County.
To the Superior Court of said County:

The petition of W. T. Womack, Mallie Denmark, B. L. Hendrix, R. T. Mallard, A. L. Smith and E. T. Pennington, all of said state and county respectfully sheweth:

1. That they desire for themselves and such other persons as may be associated with them, to be incorporated under the corporate name and style of Farmers Drug Company.

2. That the principal office of said company will be at Portals, Bulloch county, Georgia, but they desire the right to do business elsewhere within and without the state, at pleasure.

3. That the objects of said corporation are pecuniary gain and profit to its stockholders, and the particular business it proposes to carry on and the corporate powers here sought are:

To manufacture and to sell chemicals, drugs, medicines, and other articles whatsoever; to act as a general or special agent for the sale and distribution of such articles and things hereof enumerated; To conduct, publish and sell periodicals; To conduct and operate soda fountains and ice cream parlors; to manufacture and sell all articles and things as are usually sold therein, and generally to do and perform all acts necessary and proper for the carrying on, furtherance and maintenance of said business in all of its branches, so as to produce gain and profit to its stockholders.

4. Petitioners desire the right to sue and be sued, to plead and be defended, to have and use a common seal, to make all necessary by-laws and regulations, and to do all things that may be necessary for the successful carrying on of said business, including the right to buy, hold, and sell real estate suitable to the purposes of the corporation, and to execute notes and bonds of indebtedness incurred or which may be incurred in the conduct of the affairs of the corporation, and to secure the same by mortgage, security deed, or other form of lien under existing laws.

5. The capital stock of said corporation shall be Three Thousand Dollars divided into shares of Ten Dollars each, Twenty per cent (20 per cent) of which amount has already been actually paid in.

6. Petitioners desire the right to increase said capital stock from time to time, to an amount not to exceed Fifteen Thousand Dollars.

7. Petitioners desire the right for said corporation to exist for the term of Twenty Years, with the right of renewal as is now or may be hereafter provided by law.

Wherefore petitioners pray to be incorporated under the Name and Style aforesaid, with powers, privileges and immunities allowed by law. And petitioners will ever pray.

Mortgage Foreclosure on Land.

State of Georgia, Bulloch County.

In the Superior Court, April Term, 1911
A. A. Daughtry
C. M. Anderson, Jr., Mortgage Foreclosure.

It being represented to the Court by the petition of A. A. Daughtry that by deed of Mortgage, dated the 16th day of November, 1908 C. M. Anderson, Jr. conveyed to the said A. A. Daughtry a certain lot of land lying in West Statesboro, said county and state, bounded north 120 feet by Denmark street, east by land of J. E. Brannen, south by land of Tom Tishy, and west by land of Charlie Alderman, containing one-half acre, more or less, which mortgage was recorded on page 501 of Book No. 29, in the Clerk's office of said county; for the purpose of securing the payment of a promissory note made by the said C. M. Anderson, Jr., to the said A. A. Daughtry, on November 19, 1908, due on the 15th day of November, 1909, for the sum of four hundred and twenty-five dollars and 40 cents, with interest from date at 8 per cent, per annum and 10 per cent, attorney's fees, which promissory note is now due and unpaid. It is ordered, that the said C. M. Anderson, Jr., do pay into this Court, by the first day of the next term the principal, interest, attorney's fees and costs, due on said note and mortgage, or show cause, if any he has to the contrary, or that in default thereof foreclosure be granted to the said A. A. Daughtry, holder of said mortgage, and the equity of redemption of the said C. M. Anderson, Jr., therein be forever barred, and that service of this rule be perfected on said C. M. Anderson, Jr., according to law.

HOPES FOR ANOTHER.

Guerry Says He Is Not Too Poor To Be Governor of Georgia. "But I Am Too Poor to Get to Be Governor"—Fears for Fate of the Tiffin's Bill.

(Augusta Chronicle.)

The following correspondence from Hon. DuPont Guerry, of Macon, which will add interest to the state campaign at this time, shows conclusively Mr. Guerry's attitude toward the situation as it stands. The correspondence explains itself:

Macon, Ga., Sept. 27, 1911.

Editor Augusta Chronicle:

As recent correspondence with my friend Hon. L. J. McConnell, of Royston, Ga., has resulted in certain publications in the Atlanta Journal and other papers, I like my principal letter to him to be published also, that my position on the gubernatorial question may be seen as herein set forth, and I now enclose you a revised and abbreviated copy for such publication. Yours sincerely,

DuPont GUERRY.

Letter to Mr. McConnell.

The letter to Hon. L. McConnell referred to by Mr. Guerry, is as follows:

Macon, Ga., Sept. 20, 1911.

Hon. L. J. McConnell, Royston, Ga.

My Dear Sir: Yours of the 18th was received yesterday evening and I assure you was and is most highly appreciated. While I led what you truly call "the moral and prohibition forces" of the state in their temporary defeat in 1902, the struggle we then made resulted immediately in some of the vital reforms for which we contended and later on contributed to the election and re-election of a governor and several legislatures who have accomplished other and still greater results; chiefly that of the enactment of state prohibition which was the chief plank in our platform.

All the reforms so instituted are now triumphant except that of state prohibition and that has been and still is naturally most opposed because most reformatory; that is to say because it interferes most with rascals in politics and administration and wickedness in business and social life. As a rule the laws that are most difficult to enforce against evil are exactly those that are most needed. The very fact that a punitive law is easily enforced proves that there was little or no reason for its passage.

I never supposed that state prohibition would be automatic and I fully anticipated concerted and persistent effort on the part of opponents to prove that it would not prohibit but I am nevertheless, disappointed to see some extent in the measure of its enforcement.

However, I am not among those who have lost either faith or courage, but rather among those who are more determined than ever to make prohibition prohibit and to prove there is sufficient moral manhood in this state, to protect our elections and administrations from degradation and debauchery, and our women and children and others from the ruin and wretchedness, which liquorism has caused and fostered, or permitted by non-enforcement of law has been causing and will continue to cause, until outlaws are convinced by punishment that they can not secure the repeal of this wise and beneficial law by violating it.

The enforcement of the law, however imperfect, has accomplished much good already.

While those among us of little faith may be wavering in their convictions, "our friends the cause" are to some extent tiring of crime as a business and of politics as an investment. Should the law be persistently enforced, those of them who do not change for the better or move out of the state, will be comparatively few and harmless, and will commit the like of other criminals instead of posing as victims and martyrs.

Local option under the present conditions of the issue, means simply all the liquor to which the antis can at this time reasonably aspire and Judge Russell is a local optionist.

It is my recollection that when I was a candidate in 1902, on a state prohibition platform, the Hon. Pope Brown was a candidate on a local option platform, and that when he retired from the race he supported Col. Estill, although the latter was an outspoken local optionist.

Recently he declined to declare one way or the other on the question of state prohibition until Judge Russell declared for local option and then (according to the newspapers) saying in effect and somewhat complainingly—that Judge Russell had forced the issue, he therefore declared for state prohibition.

In view of his record and present attitude I fear he can not make us as strong and positive a champion of state prohibition, either in the campaign or in office as the situation demands. Rejection or retreat now from state prohibition to local option would be disaster for the cause for a generation or longer.

Ex-Gov. Brown is a local optionist and may appear in the race in a new variety of that species, but not as an effective or protective state prohibitionist.

I have hoped and still hope to be able to expose the candidacy of some state prohibitionist with a record, and with the unshrinking courage of positive convictions. Although the prospect at present is gloomy, state prohibitionists should reserve and preserve their solidarity and strength for close quarters and then wield them assuredly in the right direction.

As prohibition is a governmental question it is necessarily a political, as well as a moral and economic question. It can no longer be evaded or repressed. It is here to stay until liquorism is gone, and he sooner that happens the better for purity and peace in politics, to say nothing of our personal and social welfare.

The governor for the short term may not be able to accomplish much of a positive character one way or the other, but being in, and for a short term only, his incumbency will give him strength for the ensuing term and if he should be a local optionist he would upon election, be very influential in any effort to repeal or impair the present law.

Besides, you know, it requires short term, defeat, by veto, the Tiffin's bill, the passage of which would greatly strengthen and aid in the enforcement of the present law.

You can easily see the unpublished program of the opposition. I sincerely thank you for your kind and complimentary words about myself and, but for the reasons I will mention, I might agree with you in your opinion that I would be in the approaching primary the logical candidate for our cause; but my presidency of Wesleyan College for six years has caused me to be lost sight of as a public man, although I am sure I am not lost fit for the office for that reason.

Besides you know it requires some money to make such a race, without spending a cent for illegitimate purposes. I found such to be the case in 1902 and came out of the campaign much reduced financially and with my business much impaired.

While, as president of Wesleyan, I received as much salary as I deserved, I owned still less when I retired from that position, and would have had for some time little business, had I not accepted the standing invitation of my friend and former partner, the Hon. Joseph Hill Hall, to rejoin him in the practice of law.

I am not too poor to be governor, but I am too poor to get to be governor.

I am not very ambitious and beyond doing what I can in future as a citizen for the good of my native state, I have no disconcerting aspirations.

Writing to you as a friend in the utmost frankness, I think I can say without just condemnation for vanity that our campaign in 1902 accomplished more for the people of Georgia, although we were defeated, than some administrations have done during one or more terms.

The moral and mental conditions for such a result existed and it seems to have fallen to my lot to help in the warfare for the relief of the people, without the achievement of personal success.

If we can now only retain and maintain the policy of state prohibition—a peaceful crusade of humanity against "man's inhumanity to man"—and also our other reforms, I shall be content to live and die a defeated candidate and a private citizen.

Yours sincerely,
DuPont GUERRY.

ATHENS ENOCH ARDEN FINDS DIVORCE STAYS

After Eleven Years' Separation R. L. Henley Returns—Seeks Minister Again. Family Goes West With Four Small Children. Three Separated, Divorce Follows and Later Father Returns Not to be Recognized.

Athens, Sept. 25.—Parallel to the classic of Enoch Arden, a case here in which, however, when the husband returned after the years he met the obstacle of a divorce decree instead of a second husband and in which, too, the denouement was modified to fit the last chapter of a well-ending romance, was the story which finished in Athens this week. This is a "they married and lived happily afterward" story.

A little more than eleven years ago, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Henley, who had then been married for a few years, left their home in White county and traveled across the plains to settle in Texas. There were four children—a boy of eight and a baby boy of a few months only and two girls in between. In Texas, in some way that they cannot now understand, the father and mother separated—the husband going further toward the land of the sunset and the mother coming back with her children to the mountain home in Georgia. The years passed and not a line ever came from the husband. Inquiry, time after time was in vain, in effort to locate him. The mother and children moved to Athens, where a sister of Mrs. Henley lives. The children grew and were educated. The mother secured a divorce from her husband several years ago, on the grounds of desertion. Then she heard he was dead.

A few weeks ago she received a letter from him and then a few days following he stepped unheralded upon the steps of the home on Pulaski street, was ushered into the parlor by his own daughter, now almost a grown woman, and ignorant of whom she was welcoming in a formal manner.

Through the hall, while he was sitting waiting for Mrs. Henley, a young man of 19 or more passed, a traveling salesman for one of the hardware houses here. There was a meeting and a reconciliation.

After testing his sincerity by making him wait for a week, Mrs. Henley consented to become his wife again and for the second time they stood before the minister—Rev. M. L. Troutman, pastor of the First Methodist church, the mother having literally run away from her family of four children to marry their father the second time.

From tracing the world as the special agent for the Standard Oil Company, and has gone on special commissions to almost every land under the sun in the past seven years or more—this modern Enoch Arden will now settle down. He has a fine position in Portsmouth, Va., and with his wife and two of the children, he will in a few days move to that place to live.

DON'T WANT REFORM IN ATLANTA.

By a vote of two to one the voters went to the polls in Atlanta and showed under the new charter proposition. All three newspapers have been heralding from day to day the virtues of the new charter, telling about the reforms so badly needed and so nicely provided for in this new charter, and made us believe at this distance there was going to be a veritable walk over for the charter crowd. But as the campaign neared its end the finish of the charter crowd could be seen even this far away.

It is evident that the average citizen don't want reform, he likes the article but he wants it to come in broken doses. Gov. Smith can tell tales of experience along that line. He was into the governor's chair in 1906 by a landslide, he did nothing but what he promised to do, and the same people snatched him under before he had been in office nine months.

The man or set of men who are out to help Atlanta, to aid in the uplift of the race, so to speak, has undertaken a thankless job. No, the people don't want reform; they don't want cleanliness in politics, and they will walk over the lifeless form of the fellow who has worn his life out in their behalf.

We believe the campaign in Atlanta for a change in the form of government was waged for the benefit of the masses, who walked up to the polls and literally spat in the faces of those who were attempting to save them from their own fool selves.

But such is life and such is the way of the world, and what's the need to shed tears about it.

POPE BROWN DEVELOPING STRENGTH HERE.

A party who went to the trouble to take a straw vote here this week on the gubernatorial question, reports that there is considerable Pope Brown sentiment here. The man referred to is not a supporter of the cold water candidate either. Judging from other sources heard from it looks like Pope Brown has the best of it in Statesboro, the Smith faction and prohibition vote seem to be lining up for him pretty solidly. It will be remembered that in the last race Hoke Smith carried the court house district by a small majority, carrying the town of Statesboro two or three to one.

It was reported that a number of farmers who were in town with cotton for sale, also expressed themselves for Pope Brown. The other seemed to be largely for Russell, only a small number expressing an intention of supporting "Little Joe." Several of the rural carriers, however, report a strong sentiment out along their routes for "Old Plain Dick." Two parties who have been out in different portions of the state, returning home this week report a good deal of Joe Brown talk where they had been, though it seemed divided up somewhat.

It is announced that Hon. R. L. Borne will speak here in a short time in behalf of the candidacy of Pope Brown. Borne is one of the best stump speakers in the state, and great store is laid upon his coming by the followers of the Palaski county candidate.

It is evident that there is going to be some heavy campaigning in this week of the woods as the campaign grows older.

ARE WE LOSING PACE WITH OTHER SECTIONS?

We understand that the high water record for a corn yield in Bulloch this year will be less than 75 bushels to the acre, and her cotton will yield less than a half to the acre. While a few patches go over a bale to the acre, yet the average is far below.

We understand that there are shown at the Tifton fair samples of corn from a patch which is expected to yield 250 bushels to the acre, with 200 as certain. Now this corn hasn't been gathered as yet, and the most damage we know that can be set an acre of corn, the high yield reduction process, is to put actual measure to it; there is a great deal of difference between actual measure and an estimate. But there are other entries over at the show that claim nearly 140 bushels, actual measure. Cotton yielding more than three bales to the acre, etc., etc.

It is evident that our South Georgia brethren are waking up to better farming methods than we are doing in Bulloch. With a soil as good as there is anywhere in this section, there is no reason why Bulloch should suffer in comparison with other South Georgia counties.

Why, they are reporting two bales to the acre on the state farm, on the old washed-out hill sides of Baldwin county. Now, don't that put the rest to this section? It is evident that they are outstripping us in their methods of farming.

Why can't the Bulloch county farmers try their hand at increasing their yields? While they have done wonderfully well in the past few years, still these reports show we are lagging behind. A Bulloch county farmer came back from Laurens county a few weeks ago resolved to adopt new methods on his farm. One trouble with Bulloch county folks are they are inclined to stay in the same old rut in which their daddy trod centuries ago. Let's see some one pass the one hundred bushel mark to the acre in Bulloch next year. And let us find out if Bulloch county soil cannot be made to yield three bales of cotton.

There ought to be a handsome prize offered to the man who will accomplish either of these things.

NEW MOTOR COMPANY FOR STATESBORO.

Mr. H. N. Edmundson, of Summerton is in town making arrangements to open an automobile business. He will handle the Mitchell Automobiles, and in addition to this will run a regular garage. The new firm will be known as The Statesboro Motor Co. The new business will be located in the Precinctors Building, next to the Southern Express office. The Mitchell car is one of the best on the market, and there is no reason why the new business should not do well here.

DEATH OF LITTLE CHILD.

The two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Williams was brought from Pavo on yesterday afternoon and interred today in the cemetery at Lower Lot's Creek church. Mr. and Mrs. Williams are formerly from his county and have the sympathy of their friends in their loss.

MR. DUPONT GUERRY'S CON- TRIBUTION TO THE CAM- PAIGN.

(Macon Evening News.)

We cannot help but think that the Hon. Dupont Guerry's letter to Hon. L. J. McConnell, of Royston, which has been given to the press, is an untimely and ill-advised contribution to the present campaign in Georgia. It is an echo from the past—a futile registry of complaint, which appears to have no practical purpose that we can see except to injure the cause to which the writer claims to be devoted, and, of course, he can have no purpose to do that.

What may be the comparative merits of the claims of Mr. Dupont Guerry and Mr. J. Pope Brown to represent the prohibition sentiment of the state we do not know and we do not care. The interests of the issue as it has arisen in this campaign are not wrapped up in the personality of the candidate who represents it, but is involved in the cordell of the people at the ballot box and in the hearing this will have on the present and future legislation in Georgia. The next governor of Georgia alone cannot make or unmake prohibition legislation. That is the province of the legislature which is already in office and which would presumably be responsive to the wishes of the people as registered in the election.

The Hon. J. Pope Brown has already occupied the field, offered his candidacy and organized his campaign along fairly promising lines. He has taken up the challenge of his local opponents, assumed the championship of the prohibition side of the issue and has been generally accepted by prohibitionists as a worthy and responsible exponent of their cause. We have reason to know that he declared himself committed to the cause of prohibition on principle from the outset of the injection of this issue, and that he hesitated to be a party to dragging it into the issues of the campaign because he was persuaded that the best interests of the cause lay in keeping it out of factional politics.

Mr. Guerry, in his letter, confirms the practical wisdom of these views when he admits that while he was defeated on the issue in 1902 the cause of prohibition has since made considerable headway by the mere force of moral teachings and influence alone.

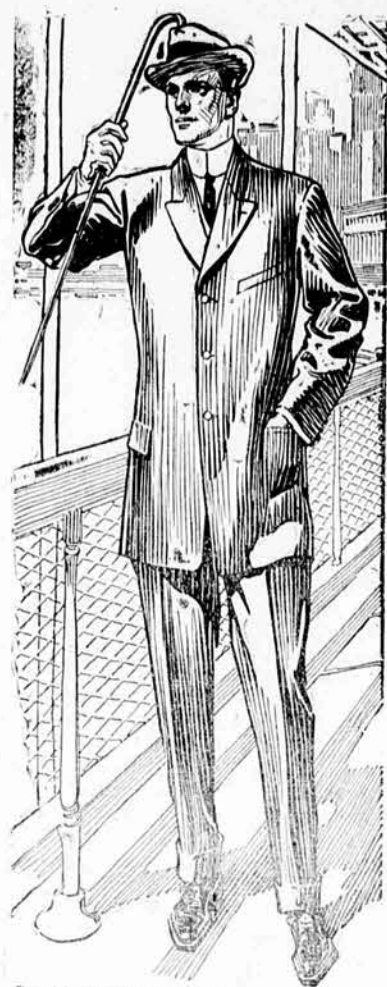

We cannot see any possible benefit that can accrue to the cause of prohibition from Mr. Guerry's attack on J. Pope Brown, nor could we foresee any result but assured defeat for it if Mr. Guerry should carry out his suggestion of jumping into the campaign at this juncture and attempting to lead the prohibition vote away from J. Pope Brown. Certainly it would appear a more seemly course for one as much interested in the success of the cause as Mr. Guerry to enlist his eloquence and talents as far as practicable in aid of Mr. Brown's candidacy, the success of which could not but ensure to its benefit.

As to the personal considerations put forward by Mr. Guerry, we fear they are untimely and unfortunate. The people of Georgia have had a surfeit in the recent past of personal politics and the year anything but disposed to enter on a new chapter of them. There have been not a few great issues fought out and settled in the recent political history of the state and it necessarily involved the participation of men of strong personality and engendered politics of an intensely personal nature.

But the people are tired and want a rest from this sort of politics for a while, and we shall be surprised if they do not cut it out in this campaign.

RAISED BANK CHECK AND SKIPPED.

On Thursday afternoon, R. L. Hodges, a comparative stranger, presented a check at the Bank of Metter for payment, the amount on the face of the check being forty dollars and seventy-four cents, drawn by Mr. M. F. Jones. An effort to communicate with Mr. Jones over the telephone failed, and the signature being found to be genuine, the cashier paid the check. Later in the afternoon it was found that a clever piece of raising had been done; the original check being four dollars and seventy-four cents, another cipher being inserted just after the figure four making it read "40," instead of 4.00, and "ty" being added to the word "four," making it read forty dollars. Inquiry developed that the young man bought a ticket for Savannah, and efforts are being made to apprehend him. He was a stranger in the neighborhood, having worked for Mr. Jones as a cotton picker only a few days. His work on the check was a clever piece of forgery and showed that he was an adept at the business. He is probably an all round crook, who has worked the game before.

GA. GETS $40,000 PEABODY FUND AT ONCE

Governor Smith Brings Good News From Peabody Board Meeting.

(Atlanta Journal.) Gov. Hoke Smith returned to Atlanta Friday morning, after attending the meeting of the Peabody board in New York city. He brings the good news that the $40,000 which he has procured for the establishment of a school of education for teachers, in connection with the University of Georgia, will be immediately available.

A meeting of the university trustees will be called within the next two or three days and actual work will soon begin. The entire $40,000 will be devoted to the erection of a building for the new department of the university. It will be called the George Peabody building. Ten thousand dollars has been appropriated by the state for the annual maintenance of the school. It will in all probability be headed by Prof. T. J. Wooster, and he will have able assistants.

"I believe that the establishment of this school will be a splendid contribution to the educational progress of the state," said Governor Smith. "My hope is that this school will be able to furnish special courses of study during the year for county school superintendents in addition to the summer school which it holds for rural teachers."

that it will also study rural school problems and by university extension work, through bulletins, contribute greatly to the improvement of our rural schools.

"I do not think it will in any way conflict with the normal schools. It will be giving special courses to the students of the university who wish to prepare for educational work on more advanced lines than the normal school gives, but above all, it will be able to help the teachers now at work throughout the state by contributing through the thought and labor of trained educators to improve the work of those already engaged in our rural schools."

Farm For Sale.

Will be sold at public outcry before the court house door in the city of Statesboro, on the first Tuesday in November, one good farm containing one hundred and four acres, more or less, with fifty-five in cultivation. ## ITALIANS EXECUTE 3,000 AT TRIPOLI

American Consul Moves Because of Danger From Turkish Cannon Fire.

Frankfort, Nov. 2.—A dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung from Tripoli, under date of Oct. 31, says:

"The American and Austrian consulates have been removed to the interior of the city because of danger of their old locations. Turkish shells have fallen in the neighborhood of the German consulate."

At least 3,000 natives were executed by the Italians."

Italy Increases Fleet.

Frankfort, Germany, Nov. 2.—The Frankfurter Zeitung's Milan correspondent says that the Italians are strengthening their active fleet with ships from the reserve. Twenty-three gunboats are proceeding from Spezia to Tripoli.

Whole Fleet Sails.

Sails, Nov. 2.—It is reported that the whole Italian fleet has left Tripoli for Turkish waters. The Italian government has suppressed direct sailings between Tripoli and Malta, owing to the leakage of news to foreign papers.

All the mails from Tripoli have now to run the gauntlet of censorship at Sicily.

Tripoli Bottled Up.

Constantinople, Nov. 2.—The commander of the Turkish forces at Tripoli telegraphs his government under date of Oct. 30 as follows:

The Turks have occupied all the forts surrounding the town. The Italians are demoralized and do not dare venture outside the fortifications."

Cruise Joins Land Fight.

Tripoli, Nov. 2.—The Turks this morning brought up a few guns to the south of El Mosri and opened fire. This was not effective, as most of the shells failed to explode. The Italian artillery soon silenced the guns and forced the enemy to retire.

About 3 o'clock last evening Turks appeared before the line of defense and forced the Eighty-second Italian Infantry to fall back from their position. The cruiser Carlo Alberto soon located the Turkish artillery and by a well directed and vigorous fire silenced it.

Will Drag Germany In.

London, Nov. 2.—The Daily Telegraph's Constantinople correspondent says a sensation has been caused by the revelation that Italian Bay, the ex-grand vizier, if impeached for neglect in the defense of Tripoli will declare that the German ambassador repeatedly assured him that Italy would never send a regiment or a ship to Tripoli and for that reason his cabinet had not considered it necessary to dispatch troops or was material to Tripoli.

HOKE SMITH DISCUSSES COTTON AND POLITICS.

Says Growers Are Holding the Staple and That in East Bank and File Wants Progressive Democrat for President.

Atlanta, Nov. 3.—In the opinion of Governor Hoke Smith, who returned from New York today, where he had been attending a meeting of the Peabody trustees, the east thinks the cotton growers of the South are holding their cotton now and will do so until prices go up to much better ones. The governor expressed the view that this idea permeates financial circles in New York to a very considerable degree, and it has caused some uneasiness there. Attention has been directed to the published fact that the India cotton crop is reported about one million bales short, and this has had the general tendency of steadying the market.

This feeling is repeated somewhat in the market within the past few days, as cotton has shown a steady tone and is making healthier advances.

Governor Smith also stated that he found two prevalent sentiments in Gotham relative to national politics. On one side the financial interests want the Democrats to nominate a conservative candidate, the names of Hamilton and Underwood, being most frequently heard. Among the rank and file, however, he says, the sentiment is for a Democratic candidate of progressive ideas.

Gov. Smith announced that the $40,000 from the Peabody fund had been made immediately available. He will ask Governor McDaniel, president of the board of trustees of the state university, to call a meeting at once, so plans can be formulated for beginning work on the building.

He expressed the view that the development of the chair of pedagogy in a school for teachers at Athens would make a splendid contribution to the education progress of the state.

FIRST ARREST UNDER NEW GAME LAW.

The first arrest for violation of the new game law passed by the last session of the legislature was made Thursday afternoon by Game Warden P. G. T. Jackson.

Those charged with violation of the law were Messrs. G. L. Mickell and W. L. Street. Mr. Richardson caught the two gentlemen coming in with a fine string of squirrels and placed them under arrest. They are charged with violating the law by going out of their limits to hunt. They both deny that they have violated any law and have demanded trial and release. They were considerably frightened by the arrest between Mr. Richardson and Mr. Street at the time of the arrest and the two came near mixing up with each other.

Begin at The Bottom

That's good advice. First because it is the sure way; second, because for the most of us it is the only way. A step at a time, one dollar piled up beside another, careful, conservative, saving—these things will bring you gradually but surely up the ladder of success. Men fail because they get in too big a hurry, too anxious to grab at the golden apples just out of reach. Stick to your ladder, stick to your job, stick to your saving habit. The fellow who goes up like a sky rocket usually comes down like a thousand of brick.

THE COTTON MARKET.

PORTAL.

There has been little or no change in the local cotton market during the past few days. The market on short cotton has been around eight and a half cents, while Sea Islands have been selling at from seventeen to twenty-one cents. The offerings have not been as heavy as they would had the market been higher, a good many farmers are either holding their cotton at home or storing it in the warehouses.

It is believed by local buyers that the cold wave that has swept the Western cotton belt will have a good effect on the market.

HAVANA SUGAR CROP MAY REACH 1,700,000 TONS.

Havana, Nov. 3.—The cyclone season being now over, careful estimates of the sugar crop indicate that it will reach between 1,600,000 and 1,700,000 tons. The latter figure, it is said, is likely to be reported should "warm weather continue throughout November. If cold weather should come, however, it would check the growth.
