

Works Cited

- Avail-Chicharro, Lucía. “Romans prized these jewels more than diamonds.” National Geographic. Last modified April 2, 2019. <https://www.nationalgeographic.com/archaeology-and-history/magazine/2019/03-04/roman-republics-captivation-with-pearls/>.
- Dirlam, Donna M., Elise B. Misiorowski, and Sally A. Thomas. “Pearl Fashion Through the Ages.” Gems and Gemology 21, no. 2 (Summer 1985): 63-78. <https://www.gia.edu/doc/Pearl-Fashion-Through-the-Agesv.pdf>.
<https://doi.org/10.5741/gems.21.2.63>
- Flory, Marleen B. “Pearls for Venus.” Historia: Zeitschrift für Alte Geschichte 37, no. 4 (1988): 498-504. https://0-www-jstor-org.library.scad.edu/stable/4436082?readnow=1&seq=1#page_scan_tab_contents.
- Kunz, George Frederick and Charles Hugh Stevenson. The Book of the Pearl: Its History, Art, Science, and Industry. New York, NY: Dover Publications, 2001.
- Malaguzzi, Silvia. The Pearl. New York: Rizzoli, 2001.
- Pliny the Elder. Pliny’s Natural History in Thirty-Seven Books. Translated by Philemon Holland. Edited by the Wernerian Club. London: George Barclay, 1847-1848. <https://doi.org/10.5962/bhl.title.32799>
- Plutarch. Plutarch’s Lives. Translated by John and William Langhorne. London: William Tegg and Company, 1848.
- Suetonius. “The Life of Julius Caesar.” In The Lives of the Caesars, edited by Jeffrey Henderson, 3-119. Cambridge, MA: Loeb Classical Library, 1913.
- Violatti, Cristian. “The Vedas.” Ancient History Encyclopedia. Last modified May 8, 2018.