It is always the man without money who wants to divide, and the fellow out of office that raises Cain about reform.

The New York surgeon who sewed up a towel inside a patient, did not include it in his bill. Some doctors are so generous.

New York is the first state to sentence a man to death for the alleged crime of hypnotizing a man so as to compel him to commit a murder.

According to the Birmingham Ledger, "there has been a large increase in the money circulation." Not in this immediate vicinity, however.

The outstanding insurance of the Equitable Life has been reduced $30,000,000 during the past year. This shrinkage is due to the scandal in which that company was involved.

Judge Parker's suggestion that the South is entitled to consideration in the nomination of a democratic candidate for president, is a good one. The TIMES suggests Hon. Hoke Smith as a suitable man.

Out in Indiana an eminent "agricultural professor" delivered a lecture on humus, which was set up by the local printer as "humps." It is to be supposed that the "professor" thereupon got a lump on himself in earnest.

The Texas truck growers have formed a hard and fast combine, and the first demand is to monopolize the trade in onions. Success to them. But if their monopoly is good and great, why protest against other combines that serve the same purpose by like means?

Twenty-five years ago a raw Swiss boy landed in New York, with only a couple of dollars in his pocket. He secured employment as a waiter in a Broadway hotel. His pay was $2 a week "and tips." A few days ago he was made manager of one of the most famous hotels in that city at a salary of $25,000 a year.

Maine has lost the political significance it had in the old Whig days, but it is rather an important straw as showing the direction of the wind that Maine cities are now going democratic. Augusta, the capital city, was one of those which went democratic this week, although it has been republican every year, with a single exception, ever since it became a city. Now the republican ticket carries only a single ward.

Mrs. Frances Maguire, of Alton, Mo., has been a deaf mute all of the thirty-five years of her life. The other day her neighbors were astonished to see her running out of her house and hear her screaming "fire!" as plainly as any of them could have done it. Investigation showed that the house was really on fire. When the danger was over the woman relapsed into muteness and has not been able to say another word.

Secretary Bonaparte has shattered Navy Department traditions, which always have held it inadvisable to promote women clerks above the grade of $1,200 a year. It became necessary not long ago to promote a clerk to $1,300 and the records showed that a Miss Thomas stood highest in efficiency. Owing to precedent, however, a man was given the place, but as soon as the secretary learned of this he promptly ousted the man and gave Miss Thomas the promotion.

Must Absolve Clark.

In spite of repeated warnings of Clark Howell and his friends, the democratic party of Georgia is doomed. The people have tied themselves to Hoke Smith, and according to Howell's theory, are going to destruction at a rapid rate.

Clark has done what he could to stop the wild run-away, has put on his little brakes and commanded a halt, but the thing won't stop. The procession grows daily, and the speed to destruction increases. Clark offers to save us, but we refuse to be saved. In a body we are going straight into the arms of the "gal in the fount," which Hoke has never seen, but which Clark assures us is simply awful! Now, is all this conduct fair to Mr. Howell? Quite discourteous we should say, to refuse his aid; but since we have become "sot" in our ways, we can't be "unsot." It is no fault of Clark's, and we think it fair to issue him this certificate as an absolution of blame in the matter:

KNOW ALL MEN BY THESE PRESENTS, That the undersigned, acting in the full enjoyment of all our proper reasoning faculties, hereby acknowledge the many offers of Clark Howell and the ring to save from destruction and the "gal in the fount," the great state of Georgia and the democratic party. Wherefore, in the exercise of the reasoning faculties aforesaid, these deponents have chosen to spurn the offers of salvation, therefore these presents do absolve the Hon. Clark Howell, his brother Little Albert, his stage manager McWhorter and the other members of the ring from any blame whatsoever in connection with our destruction. They, and each of them, have done their duty to put us on notice of impending danger, and it is of our own choice that we are going to be destroyed. It's naughty, we know, but we just want to see how it feels."

The certificate might be broadened to include absolution for the other four candidates, but as they are only a small part of Clark's show, he can make it all right with them. In fact, they are hardly worth reckoning with individually, anyhow.

San Francisco has now put a woman on the police force. As she is said to be both young and good looking, the San Francisco man will hereafter have a delightful time in telling his troubles to a policeman if she happens to be that policeman.

The Greatest Invention.

The terrors of signing a promissory note have been reduced to a minimum by a newly invented writing paper, which the Boston Transcript tells of. Soused in diluted sulphuric acid and then carefully glazed, it looks like the paper that alibeth; but slowly the acid nibbles at the fibres under the glazing, till in a week or so the substance has clean gone out of it and the place thereof knows it no more. A most convenient sort of paper—when you're the one using it.

You can now write promissory notes without a shudder. You can flit by mail with perfect composure. You can even sign the pledge, if you like, and after several days' abstinence rejoin your "former associates." The grim sentence, "What I have written I have written," loses nine-tenths of its terror, and Oar's remark about the "moving finger" are reduced to agreeable nonsense, for who wants to "wash out one word" when a judicious choice of stationery will insure the evanishment of the entire document? Moreover, we are enabled henceforth to scorn the fear that some day our adversary will confront us with the "deadly paragraph."

From all this it's apparent that the world's peace is at last within measurable distance or realization. The prime basis of rows is paper. It's over paper that lawsuits and battles are chiefly waged. Abolish treaties, contracts and promissory notes, and you usher in an era of all-round amiability.

Give us an Early Primary.

MR. EDITOR: I see that the candidates for the various county offices are anxious for an early primary as they are tired of the strain and anxiety pending the election. Of course they are, and the dear people are also tired of reading love letters which they are constantly receiving from them. This is a busy season and the farmers can't afford to lose much time listening to their appeals. And as for my own part, I don't think I would mind being hugged by a woman, but most men don't like to be hugged by a man, especially when they go to town on business. So give us an early primary, boys, and let the sweat and push cease.

Yours for quietude,

B. W. DARSEY.

$150,000 For Negro School.

NEW YORK, March 16.—The William H. Baldwin, Jr., fund of $150,000, which is to be presented to the Tuskegee, Ala., Normal Institute, was completed here today, the net amount of the subscriptions being $150,196.74. The fund will be presented April 4, the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the institute's founding. It will be retained as a separate endowment. Mr. Baldwin, who died last year, was president of the Long Island Railroad Company. It was to commemorate his work as a philanthropist that his friends decided to raise the fund.

Grew Mixed Cotton.

VALDOSTA, Ga., March 16.—Among the cotton sold here today was a lot of thirty-nine bales from the Rawlings' farm. This cotton was planted last spring by J. G. Rawlings and his sons. The place was sold to J. A. and Ed. Stubbs, after they got in their trouble, and the cotton was marketed by them. It brought 18 cents per pound.

This cotton was planted in a field of short cotton, every other row being sea islands. What the object was in planting it that way is not known unless Rawlings expected the upland to be improved by close contact with the sea islands. In picking it, all of the short cotton in the field was picked before the long staple was touched, thus keeping the two staples entirely apart.

Excursion Rates to Atlanta.

On account of Tabernacle Bible Conference and Baraca Convention, March 8-18, 1906, rate of fare and one-third plus 25 cts. on certificate plan will apply via C. of Ga. railway. Certificates secured from agents at starting points on any day, March 5th to the 18th, inclusive, will be honored returning from Atlanta at one-third fare plus 25 cts.

LITTLE LOCALS

Mr. W. B. Martin has had the plans drawn for a $4,000 residence on the site of his present home on North Main street.

The board of county commissioners held their regular monthly session here yesterday, only matters of a routine nature being discharged.

The Statesboro Institute closed the first half of its spring term Friday and began Monday on the second half. The school is in a most prosperous condition.

Strawberries imported from Florida have been displayed on the market here this week at 25 cents per basket. They looked well and smelled well, but further than this we cannot say.

The entertainment at the opera house tomorrow night, "The Governor's Troubles," for the benefit of the library fund, promises to be well patronized and is sure to please. Don't fail to attend.

Pastor MacDonell announces that revival services will be commenced at the Methodist church next Sunday, to last probably ten days. Rev. J. M. Bass, of Macon, will conduct the meeting.

The committee appointed by the last grand jury to examine the books of the county officers are at work this week. The committee consists of C. S. Martin, J. B. Lee and S. H. Parrish.

Attention is invited to Perry Kennedy's spring announcement in this issue. His place bears the reputation of carrying only high class goods and you make no mistake when you buy from him.

Reno & Alvord's Surprise Co., at the opera house Monday night, afforded a very pleasant entertainment, which, however, was witnessed by a small crowd, due to the inclement weather. On account of this, the show was repeated last night, when the house was jammed.

M. E. Grimes, the Statesboro jeweler, has the most up-to-date and best selected stock of jewelry that has ever been displayed in a town of the size in the state.

Mr. Powers, representing the firm of Crouch & Son, of Indiana, importers of German coach stations, closed his business here this week and left yesterday. He succeeded in organizing a stock company for the purchase of one of his fine stations, which he sold for $3,000.

Statesboro lodge Knights of Pythias will send a picked team to Register Friday night to assist in the institution of a lodge at that place. It is understood that a charter list of more than thirty has been secured and the new lodge will start off under very auspicious circumstances.

The Statesboro Marble & Granite Co., of which Mr. W. S. Prentiss is manager, has purchased from Mr. R. B. Waters the marble yard formerly operated by the Olliff Co. The new company, as heretofore stated, is preparing a yard near the Central depot, and will soon be ready for business at that place.

The voters of the Lockhart district will shortly be called upon to elect a new justice of the peace, that district being now entirely without such an official. This condition has arisen from the recent removal of Justice Stringer from the county, and the further fact that Notary R. G. Lanier resides in the territory recently cut off in Jenkins county.

A fire at Bloys last Friday night destroyed the barn and lot buildings of Messrs. A. L. and Bird DeLoach, together with a horse and mule and about two hundred bushels of corn. The surroundings indicated incendiaryism, and suspicion pointed to parties in the neighborhood with whom the DeLoaches had recently had trouble. Blood hounds were put on the scent and followed the trail a mile, where it is said the incendiaries got into a waiting buggy and the trail was lost.

PERSONAL POINTS

Mr. D. Barnes spent yesterday in Savannah on business.

M. L. T. Denmark, of Harville, was among the visitors to Statesboro yesterday.

Mr. J. B. Stamps, Jr., of McRae, is visiting the home folks in Statesboro this week.

Mr. J. F. Bonnett, of the Laston neighborhood, was a visitor to Statesboro yesterday.

Mr. Morgan Brown, of Stillson, was in Statesboro a couple of days the first of the week on business.

Judge C. S. Martin spent three days in town this week and will return to his home at Stillson this evening.

Mr. H. W. Dougherty returned Sunday from Baltimore, having been off ten days selecting the spring stock for the J. W. Olliff Co. Mr. Ed. Branan, of the 48th district, was among the visitors to Statesboro this week who expressed appreciation of the TIMES thus—$1. He is a Hoke Smith man.

Mr. D. Van Wagoner, the new auditor of the S. & S. Railway, who has been here since the first of the month, will move his family to Statesboro within a few days.

Mr. Fred Dekle, recently of Savannah but formerly of Excelsior, is now a resident of Statesboro, having taken a position at Raines' hardware store.

Messrs. Futch, Davis and Proctor, of the Harville neighborhood, were visitors to Statesboro yesterday in attendance upon the meeting of Ogeechee lodge F. & A. M. last night.

Rev. M. H. Massey, the new pastor of the Baptist church, recently from Eastman, is expecting his family, who have been spending the past three weeks with relatives in Screven, to-morrow.

Messrs. J. E. McCroan, S. C. Groover, W. S. Prentiss, J. M. Murphy, B. B. Sorrier and Albert Kendrick were among the Knights who represented Statesboro at the district organization in Savannah last Thursday.

Prof. F. A. Brinson, who recently suffered the loss of a toe by reason of the accidental discharge of his gun while out hunting, has so far recovered from his injuries as to be able to attend to his duties at the institute.

Hymeneal.

At the home of Mr. J. H. Gross last Thursday afternoon, Mr. Jacob Parrish and Miss Mamie Pridden, were married, Judge J. W. Roundtree officiating.

At the Methodist parsonage Thursday evening, 15th inst., Mr. Willie Lee and Miss Esther Rushing, daughter of M. S. Rushing, were married, Rev. G. G. N. MacDonell officiating.

Mrs. T. J. Grice Dead.

(Savannah News, 16th.)

Mrs. Mattie E. Grice, wife of Mr. T. J. Grice, died at her home, No. 413 Gwinnett street, west, early yesterday morning. She was 38 years of age, and is survived by her husband, three children and a sister, all residents of Savannah, and also by her father, mother and two brothers, who are residents of Bulloch county.

MASS MEETING SATURDAY. The Date For Democratic Primary to be Fixed.

Let every democratic voter bear in mind that Saturday is the date for the mass meeting at this place to set the time for holding the primary for the nomination of county officers and members of the general assembly. Come and have a voice in the meeting.

It is generally conceded that an early primary is desirable, and the date suggested is April 20th—four weeks from next Friday. This gives the candidates ample time to see the voters, and at the same time it promises an early end to the anxiety of those interested in the primary.

There are no new developments in the political field, though vague rumors are occasionally heard. There is talk of the probable candidacy of Messrs. P. R. McElveen and Bedford Everett for representative; and Judge G. R. Trapnell, of Metter, is spoken of as likely to enter the race for clerk of the superior court. Prof. J. E. Rushing of Pretoria, will probably offer for county surveyor. As yet there is no one mentioned for coroner.

In Learning to Walk a Child Must be Helped.

How many parents help their children to habits of thrift and saving? These habits ought to be trained into a child at an early age; nothing can add so much to the happiness, contentment and character, as learning to live within one's means, with a sum laid aside in case of necessity. No matter what the income, a person is rich who has learned this truth. Open an account with us in your child's name. The child will find more pleasure in adding pennies to this account, than in buying sweets.

ON THE CATTLESHIP

"That's all right, old man," returned the other, "but I don't see any easier way of earning it than by nine days' work aboard ship. I'm not to be frightened out of it because my room happens to be a little cramped and the work promises to be dirty."

Cranston found his daily routine novel and by no means unpleasant. In the morning he had to be cattle-herded by the foreman, the cowboys, men, one-fifth of them "red-headed" or "pale men," and the remainder green hands, or "stiffs," as their fellow-workmen termed them, crossing the range to the next pasture for money. A dozen nationalities, many callings were represented. There were Poles and Hungs returning from the Pennsylvania coal mines, and a few English sailors, an electrician, a musician, a doctor, and half a dozen college men. They were divided into squads, each in charge of an experienced man. When the morning came they "turned out" and had their breakfast. Then the cattle and sheep were given all the water they could drink. -- was followed by a hearty feed of hay.

“Then why doesn’t Witheres take is men and the him up?” snarled the foreman.

Witheres displayed his injured arm and reiterated his determination not to be fazed below until the beast was cured. Cranston stepped forward.

“If somebody will go with me, I believe the two of us can catch the deer,” he said.

Another member of the squad, an English sailor called by his mates “Yorkshire Jemmy,” offered to accompany him. The foreman gladly waived himself of the services of the Remember you've got an ugly brute to deal with," said the foreman.

Cranston took the forward lead rope, while the Yorkshireman started on the one aft. Each had made a loop in his rope. They took up paces in this way, for these would have shown the animal their whereabouts and made him more dangerous and difficult to capture. It was to be a game of hide-and-seek in the dark. They planned to creep quietly upon the steer, one before and one behind, and entangle him in the ropes before he realized that was afoot.

The two were soon at their stations on the lower deck at each end of the passage. The gale was shrieking down the ventilators, making such tumult below that it was hardly

He had no time to regain the alley at the end of the passage and dodge round its corner. If he hesitated he could be impaled upon the keen horns or trampled to death under the beating hoofs. He took the only course that, dangerous though it was, offered any promise of safety. Flinging himself forward to the neck, he flattened his body hard between a taut rope and the corner. The animal had put his head and left foreleg fairly through the noose; and when the rope tightened he was thrown in a heap.

Lanterns were now brought down, he was quickly overpowered, and ten minutes later was in his place again, securely fastened to his headboard.

The remainder of the trip was uneventful, and Cranston began his European itinerary at Liverpool, none the worse for his ten days' work upon the cattle decks.—Youth's Companion.

Many sometimes seem to share their experiences with their companions, playing smells of bacon and beans or the song and accordion will suggest, as you drive by, why the raving has always its fascinations.

There are, however, the long dusty days of travel, and soe-backed horses, and the swollen flood, and always present, though seldom encountered, are the quicksands of the dirty bottom streams. They are indispensable and silent. The shallow ribbons of water flow over them as over all the rest of the river bed, but once fairly in their grasp there is no escape, and the struggle in which a struggle only hastens and which ends in an everlasting disappearance. Cattle and horses are caught in it oftener and if seen in

The uncle first started in a general merchant in a town that was in partnership with a fellow of about his own age.
They were very enthusiastic workers, and after some time encountered they would go to the store and change the store and "shop" far into the night.
The partner was often disturbed by dreams of success.
His nightmare reached. Evidently the dreamer was the act of selling some goods, for my uncle felt his "rip-rip" straight up the back of his neck.

Freeze This Morning.
The severe cold spat of the past two days, with plenty of ice in this vicinity this morning, probably means that the summer's fruit crop will be short. Peaches and plums were generally in full bloom, and there is small probability that they have escaped without serious injury. At the same time early gardens have suffered considerably.

DISTRICT ORGANIZATION.
Statesboro Man at Head of Knights of Pythias.
(Savannah Press, 15th.)

There was considerable interest shown last night in the meeting at the Knights of Pythias hall to organize the Eighth district convention of the order and to arrange for a permanent organization. There was a very general desire on the part of the Savannah delegates to the convention that one of the country lodges be given the honor of having the first district president and there was no opposition to the election of a member from Statesboro to that office.

The officers elected were:
President—J. E. McCroan, Statesboro.
Vice President—W. G. Sutlive, Savannah.
Secretary—S. C. Groover, Statesboro.
Master at Arms—T. F. Memminger, Guyton.
Inner Guard—J. W. Arnett, Savannah.
Outer Guard—W. S. Brinkley, Savannah.

There was considerable discussion of affairs of interest to the members of the order and it was decided that there should be two regular district conventions each year. The date chosen for them was the second Tuesday night in April and October, beginning with the October, 1906, meeting. Statesboro was selected as the next place of meeting and the president and secretary were instructed to prepare a program for this occasion and send out notices of it to the lodges at least a month in advance of the convention date.

Excursion Rates to Atlanta.
One fare plus 25 cents, round-trip, accurate Wheeler Memorial Day, March 27, and Second Annual Reunion of the Blue and Gray, March 28-29, 1906. Tickets on sale via Central railroad March 25 and 27, and for trains scheduled to reach Atlanta before noon March 27, 1906. Final limit fifteen days from date of sale.

Notice.
As the weather is too bad for me to travel with my medicines: Bigler's Poultry Compound, Bigler's Lice Killer, Bigler's Condition Powders, Bigler's Hog Cholera Specific, I will cut the price to 35 cents for all who come to my harness and shoe shop to buy it.

TO RUN AGAIN.

Parker Says Roosevelt Will Offer For Re-election.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 15.—Judge Alton B. Parker passed through Birmingham yesterday on his way to North Carolina.

He expressed the strong personal belief that Roosevelt will seek a third term nomination in the Republican party, and while warm denials came from the capital he does not doubt the truth of the assertion.

Judge Parker does not think Roosevelt's statement just after he was nominated the second time was serious and that all along he has intended to seek a third term.

GIRL IN MALE ATTIRE.

Was Planning an Elopement When Arrested.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 15.—The cold and unsentimental hand of the law nipped a pretty romance in the bud here, and incidentally revealed to what ends a maid will go for the love of mere man.

Mary Gosset, a very pretty girl, was found dressed in a soldier's uniform with her sweetheart, Walter Egglestreet, a private in the Seventeenth regiment now stationed at Fort McPherson.

After her arrest the girl confessed that she and Egglestreet had planned to steal away from Atlanta, and tramp over the country together. In capturing the girl her lover basely deserted her, and is probably safely back in his quarters at the fort. Mary was fined $15.75.

EXPERIENCE OF A NEW FARMER.

The "Farm and Ranch," published at Dallas, Texas, gives thus the experience of a man new at the business of farming:

"Bristol, Texas.
"I am an old hand at a new business—'turned farmer.' Forced to? No, no—just want to enjoy the rest of my life and think the farm is the real place of enjoyment. I began the new business last August—unusual time of year to begin a crop, but I began as soon as I got foot loose from a former occupation. How did I start? Well, first, I subscribed to 'Farm and Ranch,' read every line of a few numbers, liked it, got a few ideas, then began to execute them. This was in August, 1905.

"I wanted to grow alfalfa. I found three old disc plows like which I bought for $15 each, and began turning some low bottom land that was growing weeds on account of continued rain last spring. The first rain after breaking I would run my disc harrow, then a section harrow twice (both ways). About October 15 I got a good rain and on October 23 I began sowing alfalfa with a wheelbarrow drill, 22 pounds per acre. I covered my seed with the disc harrow, then gave the ground a double harrowing with section harrow to smooth the land. In this manner I got forty-five acres planted in October and now have a perfect stand that has stood our usual amount of rain for the last six weeks and at this writing is 4 inches under snow. In November and December I continued my disc plowing and harrowing and have forty acres more ready to sow as soon as spring opens.

"The old hand at a new business" (namely farming) living in Texas, rightly took the "Farm and Ranch." A beginner in Georgia would do just as well by taking and studying the "Southern Cultivator"—Georgia Department of Agriculture.

In order to win, a candidate must carry 20 votes in the convention, a majority of the delegates. The candidate who receives a majority of any county will get the delegates from that county.

The Democratic executive committee for the district will call a primary some time about the first of July. A few days after the primary the delegates selected from the several counties will meet in convention and nominate the winner in the primary. In case no candidate should receive a majority of the votes in the convention they could nominate a "dark horse."

WHAT CONSTITUTES A PRACTICAL FARMER.

A practical farmer is not always one who has been working upon a farm all his life. There are men who have done that without going beyond the most primitive methods and who in all their lives have never learned anything new. Yet because they have done that without going beyond the most primitive methods and who in all their lives have never learned anything new. Yet because they have done that without going beyond the most primitive methods and who in all their lives have never learned anything new. Yet because they have done that without going beyond the most primitive methods and who in all their lives have never learned anything new.

NOTABLE RECOVERIES

Dillingham's Plant Juice a Splendid Remedy.

GROWING DEMAND FOR REMEDIES

Many Remarkable Cures Have Been Effected by Use of Medicine Sold by Col. Dillingham.

During the past week there have been so many reports from the results of the use of the remedies, all of the most favorable character, that it is a matter of impossibility to keep a record of all of them. A number of gentlemen have voluntarily testified to the wonderful effects of the remedies, while many others have desired the benefits of the treatment described.

The continued success of the new discovery, "Plant Juice," is a source of great satisfaction to Col. Dillingham, for he has spent many years in the preparation of this wonderful cure for rheumatism, and has been greatly interested in watching its operation on the patients who have undertaken the treatment.

Since the introduction of Col. Frank A. Dillingham's positive cure for rheumatism, "Plant Juice," in this county the sales of this remedy have been record breaking. One would have supposed that in the disposal of so many treatments under the rule of guarantee that in some cases there would be returns from parties who might have thought the benefit was not permanent or really what was intended. Up to the present time not a single bottle has been returned, nor has there been a single failure reported. This is a remarkable record, and one seldom reached by a remedy of this sort.

Mrs. E. Watson, wife of Edward Watson, of Thomasville, Ga., had been much afflicted with rheumatism for more than three years. She had tried almost every remedy advertised and found no permanent relief. She was induced to try a bottle of Plant Juice. It cost a dollar a bottle of 80 doses, and while the price seems high, when it is taken into consideration that it cures, it is certainly cheap.

Col. Dillingham also finds that there is a growing demand among the dealers for supplies of Plant Juice remedies. This comes in great measure from the owners of country stores, who carry a line of standard remedies for the accommodation of their customers. Four merchants from this county called yesterday and made application for a supply of the remedies, saying that the calls for it were coming so numerous that they must have the supplies. Col. Dillingham furnished them through his storehouse in this city. Inquiries are coming from all sections of the country, where the news of the wonderful healing and curative qualities of the Plant Juice remedies has spread.

The remedies are all compounded and manufactured under the personal supervision of the discoverer, Col. Dillingham, and are sold to the trade at advantageous prices. The country merchant or druggist who desires to supply the demands for these remedies can always be accommodated by calling on Col. Dillingham at his headquarters here in Statesboro, or by mailing the order direct to him. Shipments are always promptly made, charges prepaid.

"Plant Juice," the great discovery and positive and guaranteed cure for rheumatism, continues to effect cures wherever tried. A number of new cases were reported yesterday, and in every instance the result of the treatment has been most satisfactory. Considering the fact that the remedy is sold on a positive guarantee of cure, there is little risk to run, and the sufferer from the terrible pains and agony of rheumatism has little to fear in taking the treatment.

For sale by all druggists and country stores.

REGISTER LODGE K. OF P.
Instituted Last Friday Night With Eighteen Members.
Register Lodge No. 212 K. of P. was instituted at Register Friday night with a charter list of eighteen members.
The membership consists of: J. W. Holland, chancellor; B. J. Atwood, vice chancellor; G. W. Wilson, prelate; J. D. Tillman, master of works; R. L. Green, master at arms; J. S. Riggs, master of exchequer; C. C. Daughtry, keeper of records and seal and master of finance; J. M. Jones, outer guard; C. H. Anderson, inner guard; Dr. H. C. McCracken, J. W. Williams, B. J. Atwood and J. A. Wilson, past chancellors; Mel Jernigan, D. O. Beasley and R. L. Green, trustees; J. H. Parker, representative to the grand lodge, and Messrs. M. L. Rogers, J. M. Stubbs and J. H. Wallace.
Besides this number, there are fourteen other signatures to the application for charter, and still others are expected to come in at the first regular meeting, which will occur next Friday night.
A delegation from Statesboro lodge No. 97 had charge of the work, occupying stations as follows: M. E. Grimes, deputy grand chancellor; J. L. Mathews, chancellor; D. P. Averitt, vice chancellor; M. Murphy, prelate; J. E. McCroan, keeper of records and seal; W. C. DeLoach, master at arms; J. G. Mitchell, inner guard; John P. Jones, outer guard. Other Statesboro members who attended were W. B. Martin, G. B. Franklin, B. B. Scott, D. Friedman and W. H. Ellis, and Messrs. Larson form Swainsboro and Marshall from South Carolina. There were also a number of visiting knights from Hagan and Claxton.

LITTLE LOCALS

The monthly teachers' institute last Saturday was largely attended. The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Junior Order will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

It is predicted that the postponement of the county primary will result in the entrance of a number of new candidates in the field after April court.

Prof. D. L. Deal, late of the Augusta medical college, began school at the Bird academy, five miles west of Statesboro, last Monday for a five months' term.

The carpenters have about finished the work of remodeling the Hays' residence on South Main street, recently bought by Mr. E. A. Smith. The appearance of the house is greatly improved.

The protracted services at the Methodist church began Sunday, and will continue morning and evening for probably ten days. The evangelist, Rev. J. M. Bass, is a forceful preacher, and interest in his meetings is growing.

An idea of the amount of garden truck that is being raised in this section may be had from the fact that one merchant has sold during the season 84,000 cabbage plants. None of these were sold in large quantities, only two lots of 1,000, and most of them were sold in 100 lots.

The Excelsior public school opened for the spring term Monday under the management of Prof. H. C. Hardy, of South Carolina. Prof. Hardy taught the school last spring, and that his services were eminently satisfactory is proven by the action of the trustees in employing him for the present term.

Mayor Moore had four penitents up before him Monday morning charged with being drunk and disorderly. Two who were before him for the first time were let down easy—only $15; while the other two, being their second visit, were assessed $20 each. The mayor confided to the boys in open court that when they came again it would cost them more.

If any one should find a gold watch, a Smith & Wesson pistol and $12 in cash laying about the streets, the return of the same would probably be highly appreciated by the young man who lost them while on a jamboree last Saturday night. The total value of these articles is $46, which, added to the $20 fine in mayor's court, has made the price a right expensive one.

My spring stock of clothing, hats and gents' furnishings is now complete, and I invite you to call and inspect it. I am pleased to say that my selections include the best to be had in every line, whether it's a shoe, a hat, a tie or a suit of clothes, and my prices can't be beat anywhere. The people are familiar with the lines I handle. Then it is enough to say that I have never had a more complete stock than now.

They Come Our Way.
The Times subscription list grows apace. They come our way every day. Within five days there have been added to our books, voluntarily, the following:
T. H. Burns, J. R. Lee, W. M. Holloway, Metter; Eli Beasley, Parrish; J. W. Holland, John S. Waters, C. M. Anderson, John Anderson, Register; D. L. Deal, J. E. Rushing, B. L. Swinson, J. R. Groover, Statesboro; L. P. Garrick, Stillson; Mrs. J. A. Parrish, Wacissa, Fla.; M. C. Proctor, Meldrim; R. H. Brown, Swainsboro. They subscribed because they want, reliable news, and because they can get it from this source.

PERSONAL POINTS

Miss Ruby Durden, of Summit, is the guest of the Misses Sample for several days, having arrived yesterday.

Mr. Warren Howard, of Savannah, spent Sunday night and Monday with his brother-in-law, Dr. C. H. Parrish.

Rev. G. W. Mathews, presiding elder of the Dublin district of the Methodist church, was a visitor to Statesboro yesterday.

Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Parrish were visitors to Millen last Sunday where they spent the day with Mrs. Parrish's brother, Mr. Newt. Woods.

Mr. L. C. Glisson returned Friday from New York, where he spent a couple of weeks buying spring goods for the Turner-Glisson Co.

Messrs. J. J. Zetterower, B. T. Outland and W. T. Smith left Saturday for Tennessee, where they will spend several days selecting horses for this market.

Mrs. Cage Groover has recently returned from a visit of several days spent with relatives in the vicinity of Stillmore, and reports a most enjoyable time.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Lee, of Americus, are spending several days in Statesboro visiting the families of Messrs. Perry, W. L. and Ed. H. Kennedy, Mrs. Lee's brothers.

Mrs. W. L. Kennedy is quite low, having been taken suddenly last Wednesday with a nervous attack, followed by fever. Her condition is extremely critical and grave fears are felt for her recovery.

Mrs. R. H. Brown returned yesterday from a visit of several days with her husband, who is employed with the Augusta & Florida railroad at Swainsboro. Mr. Brown will move his family to that place about the first of May.

The many friends of "Uncle Algerine" Trappell, at Metter, are pained to learn of his quite serious condition, from which the doctors express little hope of his recovery. The old gentleman was taken suddenly a week ago, and is steadily sinking.

Messrs. Sam Simmons and Daniel and Benjamin Deal are a trio of young gentlemen who are spending their vacation at home after a five months' term at the Augusta medical college. They are bright young men, rank well in their classes, and their friends are delighted at their prospects of success.

Prof. and Mrs. C. A. Strickland were with the home folks here Saturday and Sunday. Prof. Strickland is principal of the Gilgal school, in Screven, the largest rural school in the county. That neighborhood has always maintained a good school and is careful that its reputation be sustained.

To Address Farmers.

Rev. C. D. Adams, of Sylvania, organizer of the First congressional district for the Southern Cotton Association, will address the farmers of Bulloch county at the court house next Monday, April 2nd, at 11 o'clock. The subjects he will discuss are such as are of vital interest to our farmers, and he should have a good hearing.

The annual Rally of the Women's Missionary Union of the Bulloch association will be held with the Statesboro Baptist church, April 12th, 9 o'clock a. m.

On the evening of the 11th a preparation service will be held at 7:30 o'clock. All delegates are urged to be present at this service, and to send their names at their earliest convenience to Mrs. Ella Groover.

Subject for Rally, "Christian Stewardship."

Metter Matters.

The W. L. Jones Company, consisting of W. L. and J. C. Jones, have just finished moving into their new store across the railroad from their former location. The building is quite commodious and is well adapted to the needs of the company's growing business.

The blacksmith repair shop of Eld. C. B. Spivey, on Kennedy street, is one of the busy places in this town. Besides his repair shop Mr. Spivey deals in farming tools, buggies, etc.

Metter public school is larger now than ever before, and the people are realizing the need of more commodious school quarters. It is expected that, during the summer, arrangements will be made for the new building.

The new primitive church is just about completed, and is now waiting for the paper hanger to finish up the job. It is a fine building, and will be a credit to the town.

Arrangements have been perfected for a cotton warehouse for this place, and work will be commenced on it in a few days. Mr. Neal Trappell will be at the head of the concern.

For Sale.

My house and lot on North Main street, next to R. F. Donaldson, also the one in East Statesboro.

A BIG ADVERTISER.

Clary Says it Pays if You Have a Bargain to Offer.

Clary's big sale is on to-day for a period of ten days. In conversation with this reporter yesterday he stated that for two days before his sale began he had been feeling the effects of the advertising which preceded it. People have come into town from miles away and asked to be given an opportunity to enter the store and buy the goods he is advertising so cheap; but his store has been closed to the public for two days, and he has been compelled to invite them to call again, making no favorites of anybody. While we were talking, a couple of ladies of the city knocked at the door and almost pleaded for a chance to get in and take first choice, but the same answer was given them: "We'll be ready for you tomorrow."

"These things are due to the advertising the special sale has had, Clary says advertising always bears results for him. His theory is, "If you've got a bargain to offer the people, tell it through the papers; then sell just what you advertise. Don't try to fool your customer. He won't stand for it."

And Clary is right. Advertising doesn't pay unless you tell the people something interesting. He has told an interesting tale in his big advertisement today; and there will be something doing at his place for the next ten days.

NO EARLY PRIMARY

Proposition Was Voted Down at the Mass Meeting.

To OCCUR WITH STATE PRIMARY.

Early Primary was a Foregone Conclusion and its Defeat was a Surprise.

There will be no early primary for the nomination of county officers, but, instead, these officers will be nominated on the same date as the State primary.

This was decided on at the mass meeting held here last Saturday. This action was really a surprise, inasmuch as the advocates of the early primary had been doing a good deal of talking in favor of their proposition, and it was not known that there was any opposition to it.

Saturday's meeting was attended by probably eighty voters, every district in the county except one being represented.

Following the election of A. M. Deal, chairman, and Hinton Booth, secretary, for the ensuing year, a set of resolutions was introduced by R. Lee Moore, by request, providing for a county primary to occur April 18th, in which all white voters who have registered for 1906 and who will agree to support the nominees of the primary should be allowed to participate.

The resolutions were put on passage by paragraphs, and an amendment was offered by W. H. Cone as to the time, providing for the primary on the same date as the State primary. This amendment was put first and received 25 votes. Seeing that the early primary was about to carry, a motion was made at once to reconsider, and considerable speaking was engaged in. Upon a second vote, the amendment was adopted by a vote of about two to one, and the early primary was defeated.

This means that the state and county primary for Bulloch county will occur together on a date to be set by the State executive committee, under rules to be fixed by the State committee. The date for this primary will be probably as late as July or August.

A new county democratic executive committee was elected, consisting of three members from each district, as follows:

44th—J. G. Nevil, A. L. McCorkell, M. J. Rushing.
45th—G. R. Trappell, Jno. G. Williams, Jason Franklin.
46th—Isiah Parrish, R. R. Hudson, J. C. Finch.
47th—W. J. Brannen, J. W. Wright, M. J. McIlvaine.
48th—D. B. Franklin, Eli Thompson, G. R. Beasley.
130th—T. C. Pennington, N. D. Hendrix, L. A. Scarborough.
134th—E. B. Hughes, Don L. Lasker, J. W. Donaldson.
151st—J. A. Warnock, W. W. Mikel, A. J. Knight.
154th—D. A. Brannen, J. H. Anderson, J. R. Groover.
157th—J. S. Crumley, J. A. Metz, M. R. Akins.

At the close of the meeting a resolution was adopted pledging the support of Bulloch county democrats to Hon. J. A. Brannen in his race for congress.

Brannen Cut Rimes.

At a fishing frolic at Kennedy's mill pond Saturday afternoon late, a party of young men became engaged in a difficulty, as a result of which Brooks Rimes was seriously cut by young Frank Brannen, and is now in a quite serious condition. The origin of the row was not learned, though it is understood that there were a number of young men involved.
