Nine GTC Seniors Named to Who's Who

DON ANDERSON

PETE HALLMAN

JANE JACKSON

CHARLES McLENDON

RIC MANDES

Nine Georgia Teachers College seniors have been named to the 1958-59 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges." They are: Donald Dunwoody Anderson, Robert Pete Hallman, Jane Katherine Jackson, Charles Weyman McLendon, Richard Joseph Mandes, Ruth Sutton Odom, George Robert Spell, Mary Ellen Sumner, and Sandra Helen Tindol.

Donald Anderson, social science major from Glennville, holds the vice presidency of Pi Beta Lambda, the presidency of the Primitive Baptist Youth Fellowship organization this year and is vice president of Kappa Phi Kappa, the men's honorary fraternity on campus. Don was recognized for scholarship at Honor's Day last year. He is active on the Reflector staff and the Editorial board of the George-Anne. He is on the board of directors of the college choir and assistant to the O'Ne Hall House director.

Pete Hallman, an Air Force veteran from Mendes, is the editor of the 1959 Reflector and a member of the editorial staff of the George-Anne. Pete is an English major and a former student assistant to Dr. Fielding Russell, chairman of the division of languages here at GTC. Pete was recently tapped as a new member of Kappa Phi Kappa.

Jane Jackson, elementary education major from Crawfordville, is currently president of the Baptist Student Union, Lewis Hall House Council, and treasurer of the Student Council. Jane is past president of Pi Beta Lambda, the French Club, and the West Hall Council. This busy senior is active on the feature staff of the George-Anne and was editor of the "T" Book for 1958-59. Jane has been an active member of the Student Council for the past three years.

Charles McLendon, history major from Cairo, transferred to GTC in 1957, and is current president of the Student Council, the Archaeological Society, and the German Club on campus. Charles is also active in Masquers, the campus dramatic organization, the Radio Club, the Vets' Club, Kappa Phi Kappa, and the BSU.

Richard Mandes, English major from Statesboro, is student teaching this quarter at the Marvin Pittman High School here on the GTC campus. Ric has served actively on the Student Council, the Vet's Club and Masquers. He has the leading role in both Masquers productions of "Teahouse of the August Moon" and "Macbeth," and played a major role in "Dear Charles."

Ruth Odom, music major from Girard, has recently been chosen head majorette of the GTC Marching Band. Ruth has been active in the band and other music activities, as the Music Education Club and the Choir, since her entrance to GTC. She is current president of Kappa Delta Epsilon, the sister organization to Kappa Phi Kappa, treasurer of Sigma Alpha Iota, and secretary of Alpha Psi Omega. Ruth also finds time to enjoy working with the Mas-

Parker Opens Art Exhibition Tomorrow Night

An art exhibit of approximately 20 paintings and drawings all done by Georgia Teachers College art instructor, William E. Parker, will be displayed in the West Hall lounges from November 14-24.

The title of the exhibit will be "Selected Paintings and Drawings, 1955-58."

In describing his drawings, Mr. Parker said, "I in my paintings, am not concerned with a completely objective description, nor am I a logician attempting to find or define the formal essence of things. Instead, I am trying through the resources of my art to convert numerous aspects of objects and of the human mind into compositions interesting for what meets the eye and expressive of my total reaction to what I have seen rather than to that which in any objective or natural sense is there. The objectives which reappear in my paintings may be said to be much less copies of a real world than elements of a reality that is nothing but the painting itself. The paintings become the physical realization of a whole repertoire of passions, experiences, and sensations which may have been prompted by objects before me, but not necessarily dependent on the natural appearance of the objects alone."

"I feel that any unusual art form may become a joyous, interesting, and wholesome account of man's intelligence if its observer is prepared to receive it in an unrestricted theatre of experience. If the individual observer is willing to relinquish the values of an accustomed point of view, it is possible that the forms presented will become marvelously magnetic, and the eye will be compelled to stop and find pleasure in their beholding."

The public is invited to attend the exhibit opening on Friday evening from 7-9 p. m. The division of arts welcomes you to view his paintings on each of the remaining days of the exhibition until 7 p. m.

Mr. Parker graduated with honors from the University of Florida with a Bachelor of Design degree in 1954 and a Master in Fine Arts in 1956. As a graduate teaching assistant and faculty member in the department of art at the University of Florida, he taught design and creative photography and an introductory to painting and drawing, and commercial art, before coming to Georgia Teachers College this year.

Mr. Parker's paintings have been exhibited at the Isaac Delgado Museum, New Orleans, La.; Ringling Museum of Art, Sarasota, Fla.; Forum Gallery, New York, N. Y.; and at the Society of the Four Arts in Palm Beach, Fla. Selected works were shown in the Directors Choice Exhibition sponsored by the Southern Art Museum Directors Association and in the European Exhibition sponsored by the United States Information Agency and the American Federation of Arts. One man exhibitions of his paintings have been sponsored by the Mint Museum of Art, Charlotte, N. C.; the Lowe Gallery, Coral Gables, Fla.; and the Department of Art, University of Florida.

Mr. Parker received both a Phi Beta Kappa Creative Achievement Award and is a member of Phi Kappa Phi Scholastic Honorary at the University of Florida.

Attention All G.T.C. Seniors

All students who graduate in December or practice teach next quarter must have the measurements for caps and gown made this quarter.

These measurements will be made in room 4 of the home economics department, located on the ground floor of the administration building.

All seniors must file an application for their diploma with Miss Perry in the registrar's office.

Masquers' Production To be Seen Wed., Thur.

Next Tuesday and Wednesday night the Masquers will present "My Three Angels," one of the funniest comedies ever to be seen on our stage.

The play deals with the antics of three convicts who have been sent to prison on the Island of French Guiana near the city of Cayenne.

Convicts Take Over

The convicts take over the domestic affairs of Felix Ducotel, Emilie his wife, and Marie Louise, his daughter, for one day; and what a day it is.

Felix is played by Henry Anderson, a newcomer to Masquers. Emilie is done by Ruth Odom, seen many times on our stage in past performances, and Marie Louise is played by Dot Stanton, also a newcomer to the dramatics club.

A monkey wrench is almost thrown into the good works by Henri Lrochard, cousin to Felix and Paul, Henri's nephew. Henri is done by Bill Sanders in his usual fine style and Paul is played by Emory Giles who is doing a superb job of decorating the set also.

Three Angels Named

The three angels are Joseph the embezzler deluxe, played by Mercer McMillan; Alfred the young athletic murderer is done by Carlton Hendrix. Both Mercer and Carlton are new to Masquers audiences. Jules the sentimental convict is played by Jim Fields.

The set is going to be worth coming to see with its bamboo gates, coconut cages and thatched walls. There is excellent Masquers leadership this year. Emory Giles and Jim Fields, president and vice president, are moving things along efficiently. Jim is doing the construction of the set.

Don't fail to be in the audience to see this laugh-filled riot as the three fugitives "for" justice give their own meaning to the word "happiness."

NOTICE!

The dance Saturday night will be a regular school dance of the quarter, however we would like for everyone to come dressed as a character from the comic strip "Lil Abner." There will be prizes awarded for the best-dressed boy, best-dressed girl, and the best-dressed couple. The dance will start at 8 p. m. and will last until 11 p. m. Saturday night, November 15, 1958. It will be held in the old gym.

GIRLS, THIS IS YOUR CHANCE TO ASK THAT SPECIAL FELLOW FOR THE SPECIAL DATE.

MAKE YOUR PLANS NOW TO ATTEND THE SADIE HAWKINS' DANCE SATURDAY NIGHT SPONSORED BY THE RESIDENTS OF SANFORD HALL.

NOTICE!

Osburn, Bishop, Wright, Brannen Are New Officers

After two months of hectic activity, culminating in the gruesome fight for survival on RAT DAY, the freshman class came into its own November 6 with the official election of officers.

The candidates for various offices entered into a vigorous election campaign and carried it through to the last degree of democratic procedure.

When the votes were counted Thursday afternoon, Rick Osburn, an English major from Atlanta was victor over David Cowart of Ludowici, Georgia. Kenneth Bishop from Portal, Georgia was elected to the vice presidency over his opponent, Michael Poole from Warner Robins, Georgia.

In the race for secretary-treasurer, Gail Wright of White Oak, Ga., won out over Judy Fairman from Hinesville, Ga.

Diane Brannen from Statesboro, Georgia, captured the spot for freshman girl representative to the Student Council by a wide margin over her opponents.

The hottest race in the freshman election was between Milton Callaway from Sylvester, Georgia, and Olin Presley from Covington, Georgia, who were running for the freshman boy representative on the Student Council. The results were 116-114 in favor of Callaway.

Approximately 240 freshmen turned out for the election. The enthusiasm and effort generated by the freshman class in this election indicates an outstanding class of which GTC can be proud.

Bouquets of Sunshine

A smile, a kind word, a spare minute—these small acts are never forgotten by those on whom they are bestowed. Walk into the registrar's office sometime and meet two rare personalities who shower rays of kindness and good will on all who call on them for anything. You will find these rare qualities bubbling forth from Miss Lizzie Norman and Mrs. Kate Pate anytime you have to have to call on them.

These two ladies truly deserve the title of ambassadors of cheer and good will. You will always find a smile on their faces and hear a kind and helpful word whenever you need it. Both are always eager and willing to help a student in any way they can. They stay busy, too, but not too busy to stop and lend you a helping hand in the way of information or advice whenever you ask for it.

Such qualities are seldom seen in this mad rush that we find ourselves living in today. But we would all do well to take a lesson from these fine ladies, for such small gestures are never forgotten. Insignificant as they may seem, these virtues are written on the hearts of all who are affected by them.

So we salute you, Miss Norman and Mrs. Pate. Your light of kindness and consideration warms more hearts than you will ever know.

To Put it Mildly...

The Atlanta Journal is setting off a bomb during National Education Week with "How vs. What."

It seems that a student's inability to reach certain requirements is blamed on teachers and teacher-training institutions. One would gather, from reading his Journal, first—that students with high intellectual potentials and financial "pull" take the fields of medicine, law, industry, etc., and second—that the rest (meaning the lower class and more ignorant) take education.

This is bunk—to put it mildly!

Some of the finest men and women are majoring, and will continue to major, in fields of education. Why? Because it is what they want, and not because of those "crip" education courses.

As for progressive education in Georgia—where is it found enough to do such a vast amount of damage? It is not! Where then, does the fault lie?

Maybe some of this blame should be shifted to the lazy student. If he puts nothing into his work, how can his parents (or Senator Talmadge) expect him to gain one single thing. Is this to be blamed on the faculty, too? Oh, if only heads could be opened and knowledge inserted! True, not all teachers give the incentive to "dig," but surely something can be absorbed by simply reading the textbook. This fact is often ignored by the modern "scholar."

Some feel that education courses leave a lot to be desired. It isn't difficult to find an argument on this subject. That is a good enough reason to have them in our curriculum. Who is qualified to disagree with top educators of the state? Why would they favor courses which benefit no students at all? They would not! One may rest assured that these men and women will throw them out when they see fit to do so.

While on the subject of education—if Georgia needs such a boost in education, why aren't teachers paid enough so that they can live as comfortably as politicians?

Editor Welcomes Letters

Students who may have disagreements or who wholeheartedly approve of the George-Anne's editorial policies or any articles printed in the paper are asked to submit their ideas to the editor.

The only way that the George-Anne can find out how the students feel about present issues is through individual letters. At this time we have received only a few. The only requirement governing these letters is that they be of a reasonable length and they must be signed.

ray's way...

By RAY WILSON

Following the lead of the Atlanta Journal and Constitution who recently released a special edition, the Face of Georgia, I would like to tell the story of Tecumseh, considered by most, to be America's greatest Indian. He was not a Georgian but had much to do with the early Indian history of Georgia.

The story of Tecumseh, the avenger, begins on the great muddy stream of western Georgia and Eastern Alabama, the Tallapoosa. The Tallapoosa has been described as tranquil, winding, singing, and steel-blue but the best description can be found in the meaning of the Indian word itself. According to the Indians, Tallapoosa means "River of Gold" because during the early years gold was very abundant in the stream itself and the hills that overlook it.

In such a locale as this the Shawnee warrior Puckeshinwa, father of Tecumseh, lived with his wife, Methoataske. But because of conditions in the 1760's of adverse nature, Puckeshinwa and his family migrated to Old Pique, an Indian town near the present city of Springfield, Ohio.

Shortly after arriving there the fifth child was born into the Puckeshinwa family. He was named Tecumseh, shortened to Tecumseh by the whites and known as "Shooting Star."

Puckeshinwa was killed by white men when Tecumseh was about the age of 6. The blow was so hard that it was never forgotten by Tecumseh and requiem offered by his mother was: "Tecumseh, you shall avenge the death of your father and appease the spirits of his brethren, already you are elected chief of many tribes... your feet shall be swift as the forked lightning; your arm shall be as the thunderbolt, and your soul fearless as the cataract that dashes from the mountain precipice."

During the following years Tecumseh was moulded into a warrior by men of Daniel Boone's magnitude and character. Along with others Boone once was Tecumseh's foster brother.

Tecumseh succeeded in leading the Creek Indians into untification and complete defeat of the newcomers until his death on the Thames River in the year 1834. In the end Tecumseh was the victor because the battle was lost because of poor support of the British with whom the Indians were allied.

The Tallapoosa and the Wabash once bore the many canoes of the traveling, solitary Indians. Once, under Tecumseh, they had a vision.

Harold Davis's articles on education in the Atlanta Journal seem to be one of the chief topics of conversation. Davis states that most schools keep their students so busy studying "how" to teach that they seem little concerned about "what" to teach.

Davis's latest article is one big blast against education courses. The Georgia state law requires a minimum of six education courses for all those who plan to make teaching a profession. However, in this so-called survey Davis finds that education professors guide students so that they usually wind up taking extra education courses.

Good points were brought out in this article however, if Davis were to consider the other side of the picture, he would find that some education courses have to be required. They cannot be deleted from the curriculum. He might also ask himself the question, "What good is all this material to me if I don't know how to present it?" Hence, the need of education courses.

Words of congratulations are due the nine people who have been chosen to be in Who's Who. For these people this is the culmination of four years of long, hard work. Each of these nine has not only a high scholastic average but has also been active in campus activities.

If you examine the enviable records attained by these people you will find that they haven't limited themselves to just their chosen field. Also it was found that these students are our social leaders. This proves that the nine aren't just "brains," as we sometimes try to tag outstanding students.

Only one conclusion can be drawn. These people have learned to make wise use of their time.

We all have the same amount of time allotted to us but the difference is how we use it. Whether we spend our spare time aimlessly or put it to the best advantage is our decision to make.

While reading I found some lines that seemed appropriate about this subject. The lines went something like this. When you need a man for a job, you never go to the lazy or the idle. You go to the person who is already at work. If you need a great leader you call a busy man. The passage ended on the thought "Are we busy enough to be called to work?"

--- Moore Or Less

By WILLIS MOORE

There is a freshman girl on campus that came to college with one purpose in mind; "to get a husband," she doesn't care whose husband it is... just a husband.

"It is better to go home broke, than never to have loved at all."—You have heard of the sort of man that hits the nail squarely on the thumb.

One of the best known clubs on campus is Masquers. The reasons for its being well known are legion; possibly the outstanding reason is that of the production of a play each quarter. To call one of these renditions a "play" is putting it mildly. A more appropriate title would be "a dramatic production."

The club begins work as early in the quarter as possible, and from then there is no lost motion until the curtain has closed on the last act of the performance. When the play is chosen for the quarter and actors are picked, everyone begins work. There is much said, in this era of movies and television, about "behind the scenes" workers. Someone may ask, "well, what behind the scenes work is there of a stage play? The set, lighting, house management and acting all are clearly seen."

There is plenty work and many workers that go unsung. Problems arise, obstacles appear, and director's nightmares in general threaten a drama.

Little is known of the hours spent in planning, directing and working to make each performance better than the last. While rehearsals are in progress the stage crew is pounding away on sets. Others are designing programs, and still others are making, renting and borrowing costumes. Everyone is working diligently, doing his part to make the play a success.

To give you an idea of the extent that Masquers will go to insure a success, we will give you this example: A little over a year ago, Masquers presented "Tea House of The August Moon." Everything had been done on the set, but there no prop for the jeep scene. The only practical prop was a real jeep. An army surplus jeep was located, a power crane hired and the "prop" was lifted into the auditorium. The only incident of any trouble was that part of the fire escape had to be removed to get the jeep inside. Some other essentials for the set had to be flown from New York, but that was no problem. It happened that one of Masquers members was a jet pilot.

Everything can and does happen during the staging of "the-main-cause-of-a-directors-short-life." As the date draws near, Masquers are found doing the oddest jobs; Girls hammering and sawing, boys doing make-up on actors and others literally flying around putting on finishing touches. As the last curtain falls, an air of relaxation... sweeps over each one who has had a part in the presentation.

People travel great distances to see these masterworks, done right here on campus. Over a period of years Masquers has built itself a reputation for excellent performances. Yet it is surprising to find that so few students at GTC attend these plays. If you have attended one, we need not tell you what you will see. But if you have never been to a rendition of Masquers, we urge you to attend at least one play this year. There will be three; after you attend one, you can see for yourself that Masquers goes all out to bring great theatre art to this campus.

Some of you fellows may want to send your girl this greeting Christmas; "You are a dear, sweet girl. May God bless you and keep you. I wish I could afford to."

Our word for the weak—"A man picks a wife the same way an apple picks a farmer."

God's Message

By FRANKLIN PIERCE

This is the last article in the series on "Four Things God Wante You to Know."

4. JESUS WILL ENABLE YOU TO OVERCOME TEMP-TATION.

I think the most suitable scripture to describe a Christian's life is that of II Corinthians 5:17. "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away, behold, all things are become new."

There is a boy that I know in my home town who would be classified by adults as a juvenile delinquent. He stood outside the church doors looking in upon the youth program that was about to be presented. Some young person came by and after begging him a while finally persuaded him to come in. The boy with the duck haircut, red pants, and red striped shirt took a back seat so as to not be noticed and laughed at. That night the program was to be presented by a young man of his own age who was entering the ministry. At first it was just another sermon until the question was asked, "Do YOU know Christ?" The boy began to listen and strangely enough, he felt the presence of God. That night this boy went to the altar to give his life in service to God. Afterwards, this same boy asked to me, "Franklin, why hasn't someone told me about Christ before?"

Stop reading and look around you. Do you see someone that might be asking you this question, "How do I find Christ?" To those who aren't ashamed to witness for Christ this would be a chance to help someone else to find the Christian way of life. We could show them the master who makes the old things become new. (Proverbs 11:30—"He that winneth souls is wise.")

Coral Reading Group Organized

A new organization has been formed on the GTC campus. Mrs. Winfield Lee, speech teacher and sponsor of Masquers, has found time from her busy schedule to sponsor a girls' Coral Reading Group. This group originally started as a part of Masquers, but is now a separate organization.

This group recently performed at the First Baptist Church of Statesboro and were greatly acclaimed for their readings. The Coral Reading Group now has about twenty members, but Mrs. Lee would like to encourage all girls interested in coral reading to join the organization.

On Wednesday, November 5, the group presented a reading of "The Mountain Whipperwill" to the ACE Club on campus. Those participating in the reading were: medium voices, Jane Dotson, Julia Hendrix, Alva Edenfield, Ann Finn and Lonnie Pritchett; deep voices, Gwen Jones, Barbara Aikns, Joyce Powell, Evelyn Kimbrough, Jean McCrary, Jean Grayson, and Rebecca Brooks; high voices, Faye Hayegood, Juanda Newbern, Janet Lodesky, and Margo Presley.

Kappa Phi Kappa Taps Eight New Candidates

Eight men from the senior, Junior, sophomore, and freshman classes were "tapped" for membership in Kappa Phi Kappa, Monday, November 10. Seniors are as follows: Jack Carter, social science major from Manchester; Pete Hallman, English major from Mendes; and Charlton Mosley, social science major from Statesboro.

Julian Deal, a junior industrial arts major from Statesboro, was the only member of his class tapped.

Sophomores chosen were: Albert Burke, physical education major from Wadley; Jim Curry, business education major from Swainsboro; and Stacy Wells, English major from Hinesville.

Hearn Chosen

Vernon Hearn, a business major from Augusta, was the only freshman elected to become a member of the organization.

Beta Chi Chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa was established on this campus in the spring of 1956 under the direction of Mrs. Parrish Blitch, faculty advisor. Members are selected on scholastic and leadership ability.

The purpose of Kappa Phi Kappa shall be to improve the cause of education by encouraging men of sound moral character and recognized ability to engage in the study of the problems of education and in the application of its principles. The fraternity emphasizes among its members social intercourse, scholarly attainment, and professional ideals.

Present membership in the GTC chapter of Kappa Phi Kappa includes president, Harry Cowart; vice president, Don Anderson; secretary, James Johnson; treasurer, Melvin Johnson; historian, R. L. Akins; and publicity chairman, Ed McLesky.

Other members of the organization include: Harris West, Arthur Sparks, Ronald Lifsey, Paul Scott, Emory Giles, Roberts Adams, and Gene Scarborough.

Blitch is Sponsor

Mr. Parrish Blitch of the business department is the sponsor of this honorary fraternity.

Dr. Zach Henderson, president of GTC, and Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, are honorary members.

During Monday's program the members of the sister fraternity, Kappa Delta Epsilon, were introduced. They are Ruth Odom, president; Sara Miller, vice president; Ellen Sumner, secretary; Barbara Faulk, Martha Bacon, Linda Hardie and Pat Fletcher.

Also Frankie Booth, Bobbie Butler, Wanda Broome, Betty Sue Mashburn, Miriam McClain, Jan Powell, Linda Sikes and Barbara Williams.

Miss Helen Taylor of the business department sponsors Kappa Delta Epsilon.

Don Anderson, vice president of Kappa Phi Kappa, directed Monday's program for Harry Cowart, president.

Freshman orientation, registering alumni at Homecoming, and helping establish a sister organization, Kappa Delta Epsilon have been the big projects for the fraternity this year.

Inquiring Reporter

By FRAN DIXON

Very often we hear students discussing the social life on our "Sweetheart Campus. The Inquiring Reporter decided it would be nice to air some of the pros and cons on this subject. The question asked was: What do you think of the social life on GTC's campus? Do you think there's room for improvement, if so what are your suggestions for improving the social life?

Hansel Allen—I like it as it is.

Name Withheld—Girls ought to stay on campus on the weekends and take a look at the boys: the boys should stay and take a look at the girls—then maybe if the boys would ask a girl for a date once in a while, the social life would be greatly improved—anyway, that's how I caught my man!

Charlie Griffin—I think the social life on GTC could be improved very much if more students stayed here on weekends. There would be plans made for more activities.

Paul Scott—I think there is too much social life as it is. There are too many clubs and activities. More time should be spent on studying. I'm opposed to social life—there's just too much of it.

Jeane Fulford—For people who enjoy dancing, the social life on campus is very adequate, but not everyone enjoys dancing and some other form of entertainment should be provided for those students.

Christine Williams — There's always room for improvement, but there is as much social life as the student has time to enjoy on campus.

Phil Gresham—I'm satisfied as is, but I do think there are too many club meetings going on.

GTC Librarygrams

By MRS. BOBBY COBB, Serials Librarian

Quite a few new faces grace the shelves in the Periodical Room of the library this year. Many students will be surprised to find the wealth of material available "downstairs" in the library. Some of these magazines are just waiting to greet you.

Though not a new magazine, the "Political Science Quarterly" is a new addition to our periodical collection. This publication is edited for the Academy of Political Science by the faculty of Political Science of Columbia University. Though scholarly, these papers on current political problems may be read by any layman interested in current affairs. Signed book reviews fill about 40 pages of each issue.

"High Fidelity" covers all music, from Scarlatti to Satchmo; appeals to everyone who enjoys listening to music at home. It's authoritative LP reviews (written by experts in over a dozen different fields) are a source of reference for every record collector. And so are the tested-in-the-home reports on new sound equipment . . . and . . . the informative articles about and by well-known musical figures. "High Fidelity" is published monthly.

With the phenomenal growth of art interested "Art News" will sure interest all students who want to enjoy the finer things of life. Each issue contains five full color plates, authoritative feature articles on the work of the old masters and contemporaries and complete information about all exhibitions. "Art News" is published monthly, except July and August.

Miss Ela Johnson has donated to the periodical room "Together," a monthly publication of the Methodist Church. This magazine is one of inspiration and information . . . and will be of interest to all students, as well as the Methodist. We wish to thank Miss Johnson for this gift.

Watch this column for summaries of other new magazines, and come to the periodical room and see for yourself our new, as well as the old.

Vet's Corner

By JIM WALDEN

"Hi, youall!"

Perhaps you are wondering why I always use the phrase "Hi, youall!" at the beginning of this column. If you are, perhaps this poem will answer the question in your mind.

DIXIE YOU ALL

Come all of you from other parts,
Both city folks and rural,
And listen while I tell you this:
The word "You all" is plural.

When we say "'You all' must come down,"

Or "We all shall be lonely,"
We mean a dozen folks, perhaps
And not one person only.

Now if you'd be more sociable
And with us mingle,
You'd find that in the native tongue
"You all" is never single.

Don't think I mean to criticize
Or act as if I knew all;
But when we speak of one alone,
We all say "you"—like you all.

—Copied

"Hooray!" A friend of mine came forward with a suggestion for relieving the parking situation. With a little bit of work, the parking lot behind Cone Hall could be enlarged. The little bit of work would consist of tearing the fence down around the old tennis court. Since the court is no longer usable, it appears to be a good suggestion. By doing this, the administration would provide a parking space for those cars that are now forced to park behind the library. "Anybody got any more good suggestions?"

"Oh, yes!" We of the Vet's Club wish to thank everyone for supporting the "Ugly Man's Ball." We are especially thankful to the candidates who entered the contest and to the members of the Home Ec Club who helped us decorate the alumni building.

One more thing. If you're driving this weekend, take it easy, and obey the laws. Failing to do so can be fatal. We had an awful lot of accidents this past weekend. An awful lot of fatal accidents involving friends and relatives of students at GTC. Don't let the next one include you.

Football Novice Attends Game

By MIDGE LASKY

We entered the gate last Thursday evening to what looked like a mowed down corn field. A boy stuck out his hand and we figured he wanted money so we tossed him two bits.

On each side of the mowed-down corn field were two (humph!) grandstands. We were told that the Blue fans sat over there (that's what the boy said) and that the Gold fans sat over here. Because more people were on the Gold side and we're followers, not leaders, we sat on the Gold side.

We sat down and were just getting interested in the game when along came Jerry Brown and Ray Hicks, the peanut vendors, selling their wares. After a bag of peanuts were thrown in your lap you could do nothing but give him the money. Later on in the game these men also sold Cokes except they wouldn't throw the Cokes at you.

Someone screamed, "Look at him run! He scored a touchdown." So you stand up and cheer with the crowd.

Now standing up is a big job because the benches were sort of low, and there was a bag of peanuts in your lap plus your coat and pocketbook. So after removing all this, you finally stand up only to look around and see that everyone else had sat down so because you seem to be the only person standing, with a red face you sit down but quick.

"Another touchdown is scored by Golds. Ah, but this time you're smart. You don't bother to stand up because you figure

Hicks' Highlights

By GARLAND and RAY HICKS

Intramural football got underway monday afternoon with two games being played. The participation in touch football has been terrific this week. Let's hope it continues. The Bears were defeated Tuesday by the Wildcats 6 to 0. The bears were undefeated in volleyball play and the wildcats failed to register a win but touch football has turned the table.

The Blue Devils of Statesboro travel to Sandersville Saturday night to decide the regional title. If Statesboro wins the two teams will meet again the following week, but if Sandersville wins it will be a long ride back to Statesboro. If you can't attend the game WWNS will broadcast it Saturday night.

For the past few hours I have been scanning through a few of the old George-Anne publications. The students that love football would enjoy the 1930 to 1941 issues. Many of you probably don't realize that GTC had a football team. "The Blue Tide," as it was called, played an even 100 games from 1930 until 1941, the last year for football on this campus. The locals won 38 games, lost 57 and tied five.

Did you know that two of GTC's division heads once coached sports here? Dr. Fielding Russell, chairman of the languages department, coached boxing from 1934 until 1939. Dr. Russell boxed at the University of Georgia as an undergrad.

Mr. William S. Hanner, chairman of the exact science division, coached the GTC tennis teams from 1934 to 1941. Mr. Hanner also served as backfield coach for the football teams during this period.

A few weeks ago little Wabash sent his assistant coach, Dean Stephens, to scout Bradley for the game coming up next. Returning home, the plane carrying Stephens crashed and the coach was killed. Bradley kindly offered to send Wabash movies of the game, but Wabash declined with thanks. Instead, Stephens' scouting reports were salvaged from the plane wreckage and, although soaked and soiled, they were used to plot the strategy against heavily favored Bradley. The final score; Wabash 30, Bradley 6.

Cross Country Run is Planned For Intramurals

The primary reason for intramural athletics is to present to the student an opportunity to participate in sports that he enjoys. In order for a program of this nature to be successful, the students have to give their whole-hearted cooperation. Even if you are not playing, get out and cheer your favorite team to victory.

Mr. Jess White and his capable assistants have worked hard on the intramural program and, they have very ably stimulated student interest in the activities.

In order to build up even higher interest the cross-country race will be held November 10. The length of the course will be approximately two miles. All interested students are asked to submit their names to the intramural office before the ninth of November.

DID YOU KNOW THAT?

GTC played a baseball exhibition game against Boston Braves? It's true. On April 4, 1935, the locals journeyed to Savannah, and dropped a 15 to 1 game to the Braves.

The Braves' right-fielder was a pretty good long-ball hitter by the name of George Herman Ruth. The George-Anne for that week said, "The Babe hit a home run many feet over the right field fence in the third inning.

The Babe has just been traded to the Braves from the Yankees, and was starting his last active season. He was listed on the roster as player-coach and vice president.

If you saw the movie "The Babe Ruth Story," you know the big guy hit three home runs in his last game. This, of course, isn't true since he actually played three more games after hitting the three blasts, but that movie was so bad that a small inaccuracy like this went unnoticed.

Bears are Champions; Football Ends Session; Gold Team Victors

By RAY HICKS

The Blue and Gold football teams of Coach J. I. Clements' 422 physical education class played on even terms during the first half of the ball game with the Gold pushing across for a score late in the second quarter.

In the first two periods the defensive lines of both teams made it rough going for the opposing backs. Outstanding line play in the first half by Johnny Seay and Billy Mock of the Blue and Travis Davis and Troy Athon of the Gold is one of the reasons for the low score at the half time. The Gold received the kickoff at the start of the second half and on the first play from scrimmage, Coach Ralph Turner had his halfback, Joel Shirley to pull the old lonesome end trick and quarterback

Jackie Jones hit him with a pass on the Blue's 40-yard line and Shirley went to the Blue's 8 before being caught from behind by Luther Wheelus. Bobby Jack Webb shot across the goal line on the next play for the score.

After the score the game was completely dominated by the Gold and their quarterback, Jackie Jones.

The Blue team, determined to score at least on touchdown, pulled the same trick that the Gold team had with Warren Alexander being the lonesome end and Glenn Clowers doing the throwing.

The game ended with the Gold team out in front 38 to 6. This game ended the football part of the class and all the boys seemed very glad to be finished with the gridiron.

Tables Turned on Joe; GTC Well Represented At Life Scoop Revealed

By JANE JACKSON

Joseph A. Axelson, director of public relations at Georgia Teachers College is the guy who gives all the publicity, but very seldom gets any. Not because he doesn't deserve it however. For that reason and without his knowing it, this feature is being written.

Mr. Axelson's home town is Aurora, Ill. While back home he was well known for his skill in athletics, especially in basketball and baseball. "Little Joe's" basketball coach was his own Dad, Mr. Joseph V. Axelson who retired from the coaching profession after 31 years with 596 victories.

After graduation from high school, Joe enrolled in Northwestern University of Illinois where he studied in the Medill School of Journalism.

Uncle Sam claimed six and one-half years of his time. While at Camp Gordon in Augusta, Captain Axelson served as post athletic officer, was on the Augusta Herald sports staff and was field announced for the Augusta Tigers of the South Atlantic League.

Soon after being discharged from the army, he came to Georgia Teachers College where he was both a student and sports publicity director. Besides these two full time jobs, he was statistician and publicist for the Georgia Intercollegiate Baseball Conference, correspondent for several area newspapers, he compiled, edited, and laid out the annual basketball year book, the athletic alumni quarterly, the individual game programs, directed the local, state, and national publicity of GTC's All-American Chester Webb, and edited the George-Anne. With all these activities our public relations whiz maintained a straight "A" average.

The following year, 1956-57, Mr. Axelson was named field

First District GEA Meeting

Tuesday, November 4, was the date of the First District Student GEA meeting held in Savannah. Among the various groups present were members of the GTC Student NEA, the GTC Future Business Leaders of America, student teachers, and members of the Marvin Pittman FTA.

Highlighting the morning session was a meeting of the Classroom teachers and general meeting for all groups represented. Mr. Ewald Turner, representative of the National Education Association from Pendleton, Oregon, spoke on "The Classroom Teacher—Builder of a Better World."

During the afternoon sessions, the groups went to individual meetings. Each practice teacher went to the group which discussed his major field. At the Student GEA-FTA meeting, Dr. J. D. Park, head of the Education Department of GTC, was the featured speaker. Glenn Clower, state president and a student at GTC, told the group of the Georgia Volunteer Scholarship Plan. After this officers for the secretary of the Purple Hurricane Club of Furman University in Greenville, S. C.

The next year found him back at GTC as director of public relations.

This job requires as it says, publicizing the college. Mr. Axelson also directs the Alumni Association, is publicity chairman of practically every civic organization that he's a member of, is faculty advisor for the George-Anne and Reflector, and is president of the Statesboro division of the Georgia High School Official Association for basketball referees.

He's a pretty well thought of fellow among the students and faculty members too.

For instance they sometimes think of him as the comedian who introduced to the campus in a Friday night movie reminder the incomparable Mae Bush and Otis Glick, and as the one who believes in planning ahead, encourages everyone to THINK, before they foul something up, and reminds his student assistants every day that he'd like to compliment them on their work, but, when will they start?

Mr. Axelson has tacked up on the bulletin board the motto for the Public Relations office—"Accuracy is Our Business, We Never Make Mistakes."

His wife is the former Miss Rae Smith of Washington, D. C. They have two fine sons, David and Mark.

I must confess, had it not been for David I couldn't have gotten complete information about his Dad for this story.

Knowing that Mr. Axelson had a great many trophies for various sports I trusted David with the secret about this article so he could find out about the trophies for me.

He did a good job, because he told me, "When Dad wasn't home, Mom and I counted and he has three basketball trophies, one trophy for baseball, one for badminton, and several others that are broken."

It's very difficult to watch a game when you don't understand the first thing about it. And by the time you ask a question about one play another thing has happened about which you don't know so you might as coming year were elected. Carole Jean Collins, a student at Marvin Pittman High School, was elected district director. Mima Hart, GTC student, was named assistant director. The secretary is Lois Mole, a student at Jenkins High School in Savannah.

In the Georgia Business Education Association's meeting, Dr. Sylvester Toumey, chairman of the business division of GTC, spoke to the group. Members of Miss Helen Taylor's methods class presented a skit entitled "Let's Get Down to Business."

Members of the GTC Student NEA attending the First District Student GEA meeting were: Glenn Clower, Thomas Brophy, Bob McKenzie, Pam Taylor, Martha Mitchell, Danny McLaughlin, Judy Eure, Faye Haygood, Lonnie Pritchett, Betty Rahn, Shirley Gaddis, Sandra McAfee, Mima Hart, Richard Berne, and Gene Scarborough. Mr. John Lindsey and Dr. J. D. Park, the sponsors of this organization, were also present.

Representing the FBLA and business department of GTC were: Carol Blanton, Frankie Bqoth, Ernie Borders, James Brannen, Bobbie Butler, Ivy Chance, Norma Cole, Guy Dasher, Ed Drawdy, Reta Durrence, Randy Everett, Pete Garland, Elliott Hodges, Bob Jarrell, Sara Miller, Buddy Rabitsch, Bobby Teasley, and Jeanette Vaughn. Dr. Sylvester Toumey, head of the business department of GTC, was there.

From Marvin Pittman High School were: Denny Rushing, Roy Nichols, James Allen Williams, Carole Jean Collins, Mickey Creech, Willette Wise, Janet Casey, Amy Jean Waters, Nellie Gunter, and Era Quick.

quers and writing for the George-Anne.

Bob Spell, English major from Wadley, was art editor of the 1958-59 "T" Book and will again illustrate this quarter's edition of Miscellany, the campus literary publication. Bob is current president of the English Club, publicity chairman for BSU, and art editor of the 1959 Reflector. He is also active on the George-Anne staff, in Masquers, and Pi Beta Lambda.

Ellen Sumner, elementary education major from Sumner, Ga., represented the ACE Club on campus as a delegate to the National ACE Conference in Atlantic City last April. Ellen is president of the Wesley Foundation and secretary of Kappa Delta Epsilon. She is also active in Masquers, director of Alpha Psi Omega, and a member of the Big Sister Club.

Sandra Tindol, English major from Metter, was the recipient of the 1958-59 Marvin Pittman Scholarship. Sandra is current president of the French Club, secretary of the English Club, and a member of the Student NEA and Student Council. She has served actively in Pi Beta Lambda, Masquers, and the Wesley Foundation.

The following qualities governed the selection of the nine GTC seniors: The student's excellence and sincerity in scholarship; leadership and participation in extra-curricular activities; citizenship and service to the school; and promise of future usefulness to business and society.

SNAPSHOT CONTEST!!

Snapshots are being accepted for the '59 REFLECTOR. There will be five $5 prizes for the five best snapshots turned in.

Make the snapshot on standard size printing paper. Label it with your name, address at GTC, and a caption if so desired. Drop your entry in the box on the door of the Public Relations Office. All pictures will become property of the REFLECTOR.

This snapshot contest will continue until December 5.

GTC Professors Attend Augusta Language Meet

Dr. Fielding Russell, Dr. Lawrence Huff, Dr. Zolton Farkas, and Mrs. Marjorie T. Guardia attended the 28th annual meeting of the South Atlantic Modern Language Association November 6-8 at the Bon Air Hotel, Augusta, Georgia.

GTC's delegation went on Friday and attended a series of sessions Friday and Saturday morning until noon, each member taking his own field of interest. The different sessions were composed of scholarly work and papers in the following departments: English, English literature, and language.

Dr. Russell and Dr. Huff attended sessions such as English Literature I, and Freshman English I. Mrs. Guardia attended sessions of English Literature II and Literature Criticism. Dr. Farkas preferred the German and French sessions. Dr. Huff also attended an American Literature II session that was presided by Floyd C. Watkins, a GTC alumni.

SAMLA's purpose is to promote interest in the fields of English, literature, and languages.

—Advertisement—

"I'd like to advertise in the GEORGE-ANNE," he said, "that I have two boys' names to give away to anyone interested in them." The two names Dr. Bill E. Weaver, professor of education, had picked for his son, to be born on Thursday, October 23, were David Lowell and James Bryan.

As fate would have it however, David Lowell or James Bryan, turned out to be Jane Elizabeth—the third girl in the family.

However, the Weavers aren't to unhappy about the whole thing, not unhappy about it at all, in fact. "It's just that we figured it was our turn to have a boy," laughs Weaver.
