Dr. Fielding D. Russell Receives Senior Class Honor Graduating Students Dedicated Reflector To English Division Head

Russell Receives Annual Honor

By BILL MULLER

The Georgia Southern year book, the "Reflector," was dedicated to Dr. Fielding D. Russell by the editor of the annual, Anne Edge.

Being a man who is seldom at a loss for words, Dr. Russell accepted the dedication and, through a story, stated his sentiments on the award to wit, "Lord, who'd have me now?"

The answer to the question was related in the text of the dedication which outlined the respect students have for Dr. Russell both as an educator and a friend.

Dr. Russell received his A.B. and M.A. degrees from the University of Georgia and his Ph.D. from George Washington University.

While an undergraduate, Dr. Russell was the captain of the boxing team and coached the boxing team at the old Georgia Teachers College which preceded GSC on this location.

September 1932 was the beginning of Dr. Russell's career at this institution and he became chairman of the Division of Languages in 1939.

Among his other accomplishments, Dr. Russell is a member of Alpha Psi Omega, Kappa Delta Pi, the South Atlantic Modern Language Association, GEA, and the Modern Language Association.

Dr. Russell also has served as chairman of the University System Committee of Humanities.

Congress Retreat Begins Tonight

The third annual Student Congress Spring Retreat will be held today and tomorrow for the purpose of enlightening new Congress officers and representatives of the duties of their respective offices and the challenge that is before them.

The first session of the two-day retreat is scheduled for tonight at 7 p.m. in room 113 of the Frank I. Williams Center, according to Student Congress President L. W. Hartley.

The Friday night session will be devoted to introducing the participants in the retreat, which will consist of both old and new Congress officers and representatives.

Gettys To Leave Southern; Accepts Position At WCG

Mrs. Carolyn C. Gettys, dean of women at Georgia Southern College for the past five years, has announced her resignation from the GSC faculty to accept the position of Dean of Students at the Woman's College of Georgia in Milledgeville.

Mrs. Gettys received her bachelor of Arts degree from Limestone College (S.C.) and received the Master of Social Work degree from Florida State University.

She is a native of Mt. Vernon, and a graduate of Brewton - Parker High School in Montgomery County.

Prior to her appointment as Dean of Women at Southern, Mrs. Gettys was engaged in school social work in the Cordele and Crisp County Schools. She was also a classroom teacher at Schley County High School in Ellaville.

She came to Georgia Southern in 1960 to replace Miss Irma C. Morgan, who had served as Dean of Women for two years.

In 1963, Mrs. Gettys represented the First Congressional District on a board appointed by Gov. Carl Sanders to advise and counsel the director of the Department of Family and Children Services. This board was appointed in an effort to reorganize the old State Welfare Department.

Mrs. Gettys made the following statement in a letter to Dr. Ralph K. Tyson, dean of students, concerning her resignation:

"In order that I may accept another appointment, which is a distinct promotion in position

Mrs. Carolyn C. Gettys

and salary, I herein tender my resignation from the position of Dean of Women at Georgia Southern College, effective at the completion of our present contract agreement.

"It is indeed difficult to adequately express my grateful appreciation for the opportunity that has been mine for the past five years. But, it has truly been an opportunity in which challenge, inspiration, supportive encouragement and dedicated leadership have served as catalysts for me, causing me to better produce according to self-interest and ability. It will further prove that these factors will serve as the base which will assist me in extending myself as different and additional duties require it.

"Thank you very genuinely for the confidence that you have always placed in me. Be assured that I shall always be interested in Student Personnel Services at Georgia Southern, and will, in fact, follow your continued excellent program with pride and the very best of good wishes."

Record Enrollment Of 3,590 Predicted For Fall Quarter

The predicted total enrollment for next fall quarter is a record breaking 3,590, according to figures released this week by Lloyd Joyner, registrar.

The figure represents the highest enrollment ever expected by Georgia Southern College. It is 621 students above the previous all-time high which occurred last fall quarter when 2,969 students enrolled.

The breakdown according to classification and sex is as follows: Freshman, 425 men and 625 women, for a total of 1,050; sophomore, 375 men and 425 women, for a total of 800; junior, 450 men and 300 women, totaling 750; and senior, 350 men and 300 women, totaling 650.

The college expects an enrollment of 40 special students, 20 men and 20 women. Graduate students will number approximately 300, with 150 men and 150 women.

The freshmen class is the largest of the four classes. Women students outnumber the men students until the beginning of the junior year, according to Joyner.

Senior Lantern Walk Tradition Set For May 30

May 30 and June 6 will be the two most important dates to the seniors of 1965, according to Dr. Tully Pennington, senior class sponsor.

On Sunday, May 30 at 9 p.m., the seniors will conduct their annual Lantern Walk about the campus. This tradition, which was instituted in Dr. Marvin S. Pittman's administration, consists of the seniors walking to the various buildings on campus, reminiscing of their activities in the buildings and their bidding farewell to the campus.

Jimmy Rainwater, president of the senior class, will present his lantern and a challenge for the year 1965-66 to the president of the junior class, Gary Hancock.

This ceremony is considered to be most impressive, and all seniors are urged to participate, said Pennington. Participants will be dressed in their academic regalia, which has been ordered for arrival before this occasion. A fee of 35 cents for the lantern should be paid to Rainwater or Dr. Pennington as soon as possible. Graduation for the senior class is scheduled for June 6.

'Four Seasons' Cancel Concert At Southern; No Reasons Given

The Four Seasons, who were scheduled to appear at GSC on May 17, have cancelled their concert engagement, according to Holt Johnson, president of Sigma Epsilon Chi, service fraternity that was to sponsor the concert.

"They have cancelled their entire Southern tour and gave no reasons concerning the cancellation," stated Johnson.

According to Johnson, money will be refunded to the students who purchased tickets. He stated that a deposit was sent to the nationally recognized group, and the money will be refunded as soon as the Sig Eps receive the deposit. The "Seasons" were originally scheduled to appear at Southern on April 23. This concert was cancelled due to an illness contracted by two of the members.

Johnson refused to comment whether or not any action will be taken concerning the cancellation of The Four Seasons.

The new members will be given an opportunity to become familiar with the purposes of the retreat and of the many facets of the student governing body.

Four committees will be set up during tonight's session. They are the Social Committee, the Constitutional Revision Committee, the Homecoming Committee, and the Honors Committee.

SECOND SESSION

The second general session will begin at 9 a.m. tomorrow morning.

During the session the Social Committee will plan the social calendar for next year and will also study the residence hall special activity fee. It will offer suggestions as to who should handle the fee and how the money will be allocated in the future.

The Constitutional Revision Committee will review the present constitution of the Student Congress and make recommendations if it thinks revisions are needed.

The major plans for Homecoming will be drawn up by the Homecoming Committee.

An Honors Committee will undertake the revision of the criteria for the selection of nominees for "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities."

Specifically, it will study the Price Says Education Is Transmission Of Culture

By BILL MULLER

"Education is the transmission of culture from one generation to another." These words were the core of the lecture delivered by Dr. Kingley Price, Professor of Philosophy and Education at Johns Hopkins University, to GSC students and faculty members last Friday morning.

Dr. Price stated that the culture being transmitted by the educator was not to be considered complex or urbane. It was stressed that the transmission of culture, being a set of beliefs, practices, and values, was by means of an individual dealing with another individual that makes the transmission possible. As a further explanation, Dr. Price said that no culture is innate, although it is inevitable, and that culture is received from an external source. The audience was told that they should consider education as the handing on of values and that there should be an effort to enhance and improve the process by which this is done. According to Dr. Price, today's education system seems to be based on making good citizens and supplemented by the notion that the reason for education lies outside of its stated purpose.

PHILOSOPHY DEFINED

Dr. Price defined philosophy as a body of literature defining two sorts of things, analysis and speculation. Dr. Price went on to say that philosophy breaks things down into their constituent parts in order to understand them better. The idea of Philosophy, as stated by Dr. Price, is to inspect the idea of a thing and not the thing to which the idea applies. Man's ability to make moral decisions is the factor that makes man stand above other animals, stated Dr. Price, and is a factor in Philosophy. After these preliminary remarks, Dr. Price discussed the relationship of Philosophy and Education. Education offers to the Philosopher an enormous field for clarification and analysis of the goal of education, Dr. Price began. He went further to say that education gives the Philosopher a speculative job to do since the goals of education require a good deal of clarification. A final point made by Dr. Price was that Philosophy offers a chance to the Philosopher to arrive at speculative justification for the goals that education sets for itself. Dr. Price's lecture was the last in the series presented by the Social Science Division for this year.

Circle K Club Places Library Books In New Annex
Service Group Worked For 23 Hours On Massive Project

Library Annex Opens; Circle K Moves Books

By JOHN EDEN
Assistant News Editor

The new 600,000 dollar library annex went into operation this week at Georgia Southern College, after the members of the Circle K Club moved the books from the old Rosenwald Library into the new building last weekend.

The club, which volunteered for the job several months ago, worked straight through from 12 noon on Friday until 11 a.m. on Saturday, completing the transfer of the more than 80,000 volumes in 23 hours.

The operation was supervised by Miss Hassie McElveen, head librarian, Mrs. Mae Olliff, reference librarian, and Mr. James Dowdy, assistant librarian.

Commenting on the amount of time in which the 26 men completed the job, Dowdy said, "It was one of the most remarkable things that I have ever seen take place."

Although the new library is open and is in use, and has been approved by the University System Building Authority, the new furnishings for the three-story building have not yet arrived.

The new furniture, which will include a large, attractive circulation desk, will be used in the entire new addition and the renovated part of the old library.

One of American Seating Company's finest lines, the furniture will be a light wood, some with color-coordinated upholstery.

The card catalog will consist of eight units in the same furniture style. The addition is also equipped with a service elevator for staff use only.

According to Dowdy, some new systems will be employed at the circulation desk in the future, but definite plans have not been decided.

All periodicals are located on the second floor of the old library, with the current periodicals and newspapers in the old Education Room. Periodicals dating back to three months are in the old reference room, and bound periodicals are in the old stacks room.

Dowdy stated that at the present time, a policy of open stacks would be maintained throughout the library except in certain special sections.

All books are located in the annex. The first floor houses all reference books, the card catalog, the circulation desk, and the librarian's office.

The second floor holds the reserve books including the two rooms of special collections, biography, and the 300's and 900's.

The third floor stacks are occupied by the 000's through 300's, the 400's through 800's, and fiction.

Former Student Gets Fellowship

Steffen H. Rogers, a former student at Georgia Southern, has accepted a three-year fellowship to begin graduate study this fall at Vanderbilt University under the National Defense Education Act.

Rogers is presently a graduate assistant at Louisiana State University in Baton Rouge and is working on his master's degree in the zoology department.

His fellowship at Vanderbilt provides more than $10,000 over the three-year period plus tuition.

Rogers completed his undergraduate work at GSC in December, 1964. He began his assistantship at LSU in January and will complete the present semester entering Vanderbilt in September.

Rogers is married to the former Athena Findley, a former graduate of Georgia Southern.

Honors Day Speech Sets Future Aims For Seniors

By TOM KING
News Editor

James R. Golden, speaker for the annual Honors Day Convocation ceremonies held Monday in McCroan Auditorium, stated that we as individuals are not putting the proper emphasis on the proper subjects.

Stemming directly from this point, Golden added that not enough emphasis is put on our present type of government and on the free enterprise system.

"If either of these systems fail, the education that the individual has acquired will mean very little to him in the future," he pointed out.

DEMOCRACY

According to Golden, the democracy in which we live depends entirely on the people who make it up. He stressed the fact that the people have to take responsibility and have to take an interest in the government in order for it to fulfill its purpose.

"The trouble with politics today is not the people who are involved in them but the people who are not," stated Golden.

In speaking of the free enterprise system, he said that profit has a great odor and that people use this system to their personal advantage to gain self recognition.

The Ford executive defined "the free enterprise system" as a healthy horse pulling a sturdy wagon."

In closing, Golden stated that a pseudo-sophisticated attitude is taken by the American public.

HONORS DAY

The Honors Day program is set aside to honor those students who achieved special recognition, students who have excelled in leadership-service and those students who have maintained a high scholastic standing.

Those students who received special awards were Penny Trapnell, Alumni Association Scholarship Award; Ruth Gassett, Alpha Rho Tau Award; Tommy Holton, Bulloch Herald Journalism Award; Lynne Storey, National Business Education Award.

Also, Wayne Harrell, Wall Street Journal Award; Johnny Johnston, Delta Sigma Pi Scholastic Key; Gary Roberts, Hester Newton Award; Mary Louisa Mitcham, Miss Home Economics Award; Martha Lamb, Home Economics Staff Award; Also: Wendell Ramage, Mas-quers Award; Nell McBride Gibbs, Herbert Shippey, Rebecca Murphy, French Awards; Henrietta Glissen, German Award; C. L. Daughtry, Rockwell Merit Award; Carolyn Cramer, Sigma Alpha Iota Leadership Award; Heien Adams, Sigma Alpha Iota Scholarship Award; Ken Smathers, SGEA and SNEA Awards; Jerry Peavey, Statesboro Music Club Award.

ORGANIZATION AWARDS

The Student Congress Outstanding Organization Awards were awarded to the outstanding organizations in their respective classifications. The outstanding departmental organization were American Home Economics Club.

Alpha Phi Omega received the service organization award, and Phi Mu Alpha was recognized as the outstanding professional organization. The outstanding interest organization was the College Young Democrats.

A Spring Swing Evaluation

Spring Swing Week, the sophomore class' attempt at notoriety, seems to have been a success in its first year as a large-scale campus activity.

The George-Anne would like to congratulate the sophomore class and those who implemented "Spring Swing Week," and we would like to offer our suggestions for a bigger and better one next year.

First of all, those who planned the activity seemed to apologize for the planning whenever an inconsistency was brought to their attention. The fact that Spring Swing Week was a new event on campus should not have been an excuse for inconsistency in planning and intruding on the plans of other activities.

The sophomore class should have given some consideration to the Masquers spring production of "Bus Stop." For the three nights that the dramatics group presented their play, the sophomores scheduled three campus-wide activities—a scavenger hunt, a dance featuring the Drifters, and a concert featuring the Platters. Why weren't the Masquers included in the plans of "Spring Swing" for at least one night out of the whole week? Or is the recognition of academic theatre at Georgia Southern by the sophomore class too much to ask?

Just prior to the beginning to the week, a desperate appeal was made to the members of the Student Congress for help with the activities which were to take place in the academic divisions. This was the first time the Congress was notified that it was supposed to have a part in the gala affair, but when anyone mentioned the phrase "Student Congress," he was told that this was irrelevant to the discussion.

Also, the money formerly allotted to the Congress through the dormitory fee was given to the sophomore class without the official consent of the Congress members. The Congress still maintains it only gave lip-service to the plans and did not in any way offer financial backing.

Therefore, we feel that in planning next year's Spring Swing Week, those who implement the plans should work more closely with the Student Congress and not simply academic classes in one division.

For "Spring Swing, 1966," we would like to see (on the academic side) the appearance of a well-known speaker for one night and the deletion of a social event to give the program more balance. We feel the tug-of-war, the dance by the Drifters, the concert by the Platters, and most of the other activities met with more than reasonable success and we would like to see the competition continue for next year's affair.

The sophomore class has originated the first campus-wide activity for an entire week, and we offer them our congratulations and wish them success in planning another program of the same nature. However, next year's program should not be planned at the expense of the Student Congress and the Masquers simply to offer "big-name" entertainment and dances for one week.

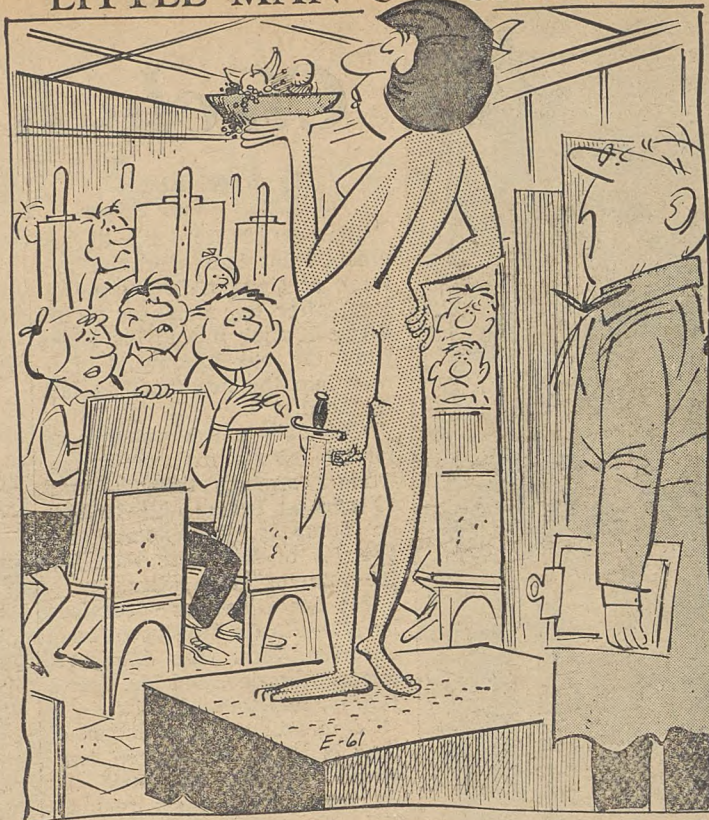

Retreat Provides Opportunity

Many of the issues confronting the newly elected executive officers and members of the Student Congress will be aired this weekend at the Spring Retreat, a planning conference held annually during spring quarter.

The main purpose of the retreat, according to Congress president L. W. Hartley, is "to enlighten the new representatives about the duties of their offices, the challenge that is before them, and the many facets of a student governing body."

The Spring Retreat provides a vast opportunity for the Congress to promote student leadership at GSC. Although it is held at the end of the present school year, it marks the beginning of the planning that is necessary for the success of next year's program.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"I'M NOT SURE WHAT THE MODEL AGENCY HAS TOLD YOU ABOUT THIS CLASS, MISS GARF, HOWEVER LET ME HASTEN TO ASSURE YOU—"

Letter To Editor

Dear Editor,

Last Saturday's Platters' concert culminated what we hope was the first of a long series of Sophomore Spring Swings.

We are the first to recognize that in an undertaking of this scope there were inconsistencies and rough spots. We do feel, however, that the venture was highly successful. We feel that those who took time to participate, either as a contestant or as a spectator, thoroughly enjoyed the week's activities.

We would like to publicly thank the following individuals and organizations for their cooperation and contributions for a successful week.

For their guidance and enthusiastic support, we thank Dr. Zach S. Henderson, the Student Personnel Services administration and staff, the chairmen and faculties of the academic divisions, Mr. J. A. Pafford and certain members of his faculty, Mr. Bob Pound, Mrs. May Webb and the Student Center staff, Mr. Charles Johnson, the maintenance and security staffs.

Some campus organizations and groups were particularly helpful. We thank the members of the Recreation Leadership class, the Coaching Track and Field class, Alpha Phi Omega, Delta Pi Alpha, Delta Sigma Pi, Sigma Epsilon Chi, Alpha Rho Tau, the Masquers, the George - Anne staff, the Public Relations and the Comptroller's offices,

Unfortunately we had little help from the sophomore class members, but other students and faculty members helped us. We wish to thank Bob Fullerton, Pete Brandon, Bill Nelson, Larry Denby, Jimmy Hilliard Jimmy Peters, Miss Ruth Green, Dr. David Ruffin, Mr. Beachan Beauchart, Mrs. Fred Wallace, and Mrs. John L. Jackson.

Heartiest appreciation goes to the sophomore class members who were outstanding in their efforts. Roger Alderman, Leonard Robertson, Pam Williams, Jackie Mullis, Judith Johnson, Nell McBride Gibbs, Janice James, Jeri Prince, Buddy Aultman, Pete Vivenzio, Janeen Curl, John Boje, Linda Carter and Glen Westberry led in organizing the Spring Swing.

To those who did not participate this year, we say there will be subsequent Spring Swings when you will have another opportunity to enjoy the educational and social activities.

To all who saw fit to label some of the activities as childish and immature, we can only point to the fact that we feel that competing and showing proficiency in your chosen field is anything but immature.

Janice McNorrill

The action taken by President Lyndon Johnson in sending American troops to the Dominican Republic came as a gust of fresh air to a world stifling from the creeping appeasement policies of some countries who don't seem to be quite sure whose side they are on.

"We don't propose to sit here in our rocking chair on our folded hands and let the Communists set up any government in the Western hemisphere," he stated.

The unilateral action of the United States invoked attacks of protest from several Latin American countries, insults from French President Charles de Gaulle and support from U. N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson and former president Dwight R. Eisenhower.

While opposition raged last week and demands for the removal of American troops were repeated, Johnson continued to emphasize that the U. S. would remain firm in the role that it had assumed.

What is the significance of the position taken by the United States?

Our initial goal, when the first troops were sent, was to preserve the lives of Americans living in the Dominican Republic.

As the revolt continued, however, and it became clear that Communists had infiltrated the leadership of the rebels, we expanded our purpose to include the protection of the entire island republic from an overthrow.

Johnson noted both purposes when he stated that "the moment the Organization of American States can present a plan that will bring peace on the island, permit us to evacuate our people and give us some hope of stability in government, we will be the first to come back home."

An unforeseen result of the United States' action may have consequences that reach further than the immediate goal which the U. S. had in mind.

This is the opening of negotiations for the provision of emergency forces that can be dispatched by the O.A.S. to display the initiative that the U. S. showed in the emergency involving the Dominican Republic.

Whatever the results of the Dominican crisis, it is evident that the United States has forced all the American nations to face a test offering quite a challenge.

Cooperation among the American states in the defense of the democratic processes of government could pose a serious threat to continued Communist aggression in the western hemisphere.

On the other hand, the creation strife among the nations could split old loyalties and actually aid in the spread of Communism.

This leaves the U. S. vulnerable to further attack if the O.A.S. is unable to agree on a proper method of defense.

But viewed on a larger scale, when the debates are over and a plan of action has been agreed upon, it will be satisfying to recall that the establishment of another "Cuba" in the western hemisphere was avoided.

The Sophomore Spring Swing activities received both criticism and praise. The question this week was: Do you have any suggestions for improving next year's Spring Swing?

Richard Akin, Atlanta

No. It was good. The Roemen were great!

Marie Alexander, Reidsville

The Teachers should refrain from giving so many tests that week.

Rolf Rawl, Kingsland

Serve beer with the barbeque and let the dance (after the barbeque) last 'til one.

Janen Curl, Atlanta

The preparation for Spring Swing should begin earlier—maybe in September. Also, more Sophomores should take part. I thought the ones this year did a good job, though.

Roger Alderman, Moultrie

Better cooperation and participation of the student body.

Kay Castleberry, Albany

No real improvements are needed. It was a big success.

I think the Sophomore Steering Committee did an excellent job.

Stan Rockett, Vidalia

It should be better organized. This year there were too many conflicting events. Also the Drippers and Platters were not publicized enough; the Rolling Stones got too much publicity.

Lorraine Bishop, Rincon

No. I thought it was a success as a whole. I think it should be an annual affair.

Benny Cowart, Claxton

Don't ask the Rolling Stones to come back!

Sara Jo Lane, Sylvania

I enjoyed it very much. I liked it just the way it was.

Jerry Rogers, Collins

I could think of a lot of things, but you couldn't print them!

Ann Rushing, Glennville

More people should participate in the activities, especially Sophomores, since they are sponsoring it.

David Sands, Daisy

No. I enjoyed it very much, however the faculty could've given less work that week.

Jackie Bullington, Cordele

More emphasis should be placed on the academic part of it. Also, there should be more over-all participation.

The Honors Committee will also study the various campus organizations and suggest the official elimination of some organizations that have become inactive.

THIRD SESSION

Committee reports and recommendations will be made during the third general session which will begin at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow afternoon. President-elect Danny Broucek will preside at the session.

A Student Congress dinner at Wendy's Restaurant will climax the two-day planning conference.

A Congress workshop will be held at the beginning of fall quarter.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Please allow me a word in defense of service fraternities. On many past occasions, I have had volunteer help for college functions which made my job easier. Alpha Phi Omega volunteered its service in furnishing ushers for Honors Day. I appreciate their fine work. I'm sure all are grateful to Circle K for the big job its members performed in moving library books.

I'm not aware of all actions but I do know of many fine contributions of many.

The question has often been asked, "Is he a good sport?" or "Does his school exhibit good sportsmanship?"

When discussing the touchy subject of sportsmanship we tend to take refuge behind trite cliches such as "be a good loser", and "It's not whether you win or lose but how you play the game." We have become so absorbed in the use of such phrases that we seldom take time to consider their original meaning.

"EAGLE BAIT"

It was once said that cries of "Eagle Bait" at Georgia Southern basketball games were an example of poor "Dixie" and the cries of anguish and disbelief that sportsmanship, likewise standing up for the playing of arise when the fans disagree with a referee's call.

In a recent baseball game played on GSC's home diamond a chorus of plastic dime store horns suddenly appeared and trumpeted their merry notes whenever an opposing teammate would make a mistake or protest an umpire's call.

The fairness or unfairness of these practices is not for individuals to judge. One can, however, closely scrutinize the results of such behavior. If not overdone they will give the college the reputation of a "good school that has a lot of enthusiastic spirit." On the other hand, they can brand the college as "an immature bunch of juveniles who can't stand to lose." Such is the case when obscenities are yelled at officials.

Monkey was Lost

School spirit, kept on the level of good sportsmanship, is a lot of fun, even when it is on the other team's side of the floor. During the past gymnastics season my small brown monkey was the object of several controversies as one opposing team tried to confiscate it. The monkey was later found piously sitting atop the other team's training kit. The fun-loving Slippery Rock group then sent us on our way with a three fold cheer for Geoooooorgia Southern. It was amusing to hear yankees try to immitate our southern drawls.

GSC won the meet, but it would have made little difference if the tables had been turned. Roliking fun and good sportsmanship make a game worth playing, winning or losing.

At Home

Another type of sportsmanship is in question when the local fans heap undue criticism on their own team, and officials. During the basketball game with Spring Hill last February, David Owens, star forward for the Eagles, injured his foot. Immediately all persons concerned with the injury were on the floor examining the injured Owens. Coach J. B. Searce stood calmly on the sidelines and didn't move toward the scene of the injury.

A student beside me yelled, "Why don't you show a little concern, Coach?" The menacing stares of several nearby students silenced him without another word being said. The students who started at the defiant agitator had eloquently displayed their contempt for a bad sport.

Coach Searce recognized the fact that he was not needed on the floor. True, he could have made a great display of the concern that all GSC fans know he has anyway, but instead, realizing that he was not needed at the moment and would only be in the way, he stayed clear.

Future

I predict that in the not-too-distant future Georgia Southern will have a big time athletic program second to none, including sports which are not financially practical now. Among these are football, track, swimming, and wrestling. Also, the near future should see some new interest placed on the current gymnastics, tennis, and golf programs.

When GSC reaches this status, then a real test of sportsmanship will have to be met. If athletic supporters are already in the habit of exhibiting good sportsmanship when the other sports begin, then the Eagle reputation will grow at a rate that is presently inconceivable, but will soon be a tangible reality.

Southern Falls To FSU Season Closes At 19-7

By HUBERT NORTON
GSC Sports Publicist

Georgia Southern College's baseball Eagles closed out their regular season schedule Monday and Tuesday by dropping a pair of games to nationally-ranked Florida State by 10-4 and 6-2 scores in Tallahassee, Fla.

"It was the same old story for us," said GSC coach J. I. Clements. "Our pitching didn't come through like we expected, and our batters can't seem to hit with men on base."

In Monday's game, second baseman Dick Fernandez and pitcher Chuck Hawkins led the Seminoles over the Eagles. Fernandez slammed three hits and batted in three runs, and Hawkins collected two hits and two runs-batted-in. Hawkins went the distance on the mound, scattering eight hits and striking out seven.

Leftfielder Larry Groce was the only Eagle batsman to get more than one hit with a pair of singles in three tries.

FSU jumped on GSC pitching for three runs in the second inning. The big hit in the inning was a two-run double by Hawkins. The Eagles tied the score in the third, but the Seminoles went back in front with a single run in the bottom third. FSU added two more in the fourth and Gary Nichol's two run homer in the fifth gave the Seminoles a five-run margin.

Barry Brown, who relieved starter Allen Simmons in the third, was charged with the loss, his first decision of the year. Jimmy Dobson took over for Brown in the fourth and finished the game.

In the second game, Randy Brown slammed a pair of home runs to lead FSU to a 6-2 triumph. Brown unloaded a two-run shot in the first inning and another two-run poke in the fifth. Brown singled and scored FSU's lone run in the third.

The Seminoles unleashed an awesome array of power in the first inning. Maury Hopkins tripled, followed by a double by Tom Thomas. Brown then cracked his first homer, and Nichols doubled.

Nichols had a pair of two-baggers for the day and Monty McBryde had a double and a single to aid Brown in the offensive department.

Leahman Stanley and Allen Payne each had two hits for GSC.

Jerry Stephens started for GSC but lasted only 1-3 of the opening frame. Bobby Pierce relieved in the first and finished the game. Stephens was the loser. His record is now 3-3. Cliff Ranew went the distance for FSU to push his record to 7-2.

Eagle Rally Downs Erskine Net Team Splits In Last Series

By JOE CRINE
Staff Writer

Bobby Pierce pitched a seven hitter here Friday leading Georgia Southern to a 5-1 victory over the Erskine Flying Fleet, raising GSC's season record to 18 wins against five losses.

Pierce struck out eleven as he moved his own work chart to five wins and two losses. Larry Edwards started for Erskine and was tagged with the loss, his third in nine decisions.

The Eagles opened the scoring with one in the second. Allen Payne opened the frame with a double. Stan Sumner followed with a single and Payne stopped at third. Sumner moved to second on the throw to the plate. Pierce then came through with a sacrifice fly to right, scoring Payne.

Erskine tied the score with one in the fifth and the score remained even until the eighth when the Eagles exploded for five runs to nail down the victory.

Chico Jones struck out to open the inning but reached first when the third strike escaped the catcher's glove. Jones stole second and went to third on a single by Butler. He came in to score when the center fielder bobbled Butler's single. Butler moved to second on the same play. Sumner then singled scoring Butler. Payne followed with a double sending Sumner to third. Royce Exley hit into a fielder's choice and scored Payne.

Erskine was unable to overcome the four run deficit in the ninth as the Eagles sealed the victory.
