

What Do We Stand For?

The question can rightly be asked, today: "What does the United States stand for in the world?"

Millions of people in far away countries must wonder. Those in eastern Europe who have had the courage and fortitude to resist Communism, which has taken over their countries, must wonder.

They see us aiding Communist Poland. And this is not just aid in foodstuffs, as some would have us believe. This aid has totaled hundreds of millions of dollars over a period of several years. The State Department gave the impression, recently, when Congress for one day cut out all U. S. aid to Communist countries, that only small surplus food shipments had gone to Poland. This was misleading.

Of course, we have been sending hundreds of millions in aid to Communist Yugoslavia far longer than three or four years.

And early this month it was learned that our government was about to resume its large aid program to Argentina.

The present regime is an Army dictatorship, which recently dismissed the President, and then the elected-parliament.

Likewise, we are backing a dictator in South Vietnam hated by most of the people (the Communist being only one of the opposing factions). The Reds will benefit by this, perhaps winning the vast majority on their side, as a result.

For many years the United States stood forcefully for freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom of the press and the right to vote — democracy — for all. The world knew exactly where we stood. One cannot imagine Theodore Roosevelt, for instance, sending millions of U. S. taxpayer-dollars to Poland, Yugoslavia, Fascist Spain, Cuba, Argentina or any dictatorship which suppresses liberty and freedom in the Far East, or elsewhere.

It is hard for the people of the world today to know just what the United States stands for. If so, how can we explain to the peoples imprisoned, imprisoned and persecuted by dictators why we are aiding these dictators?

Since we are certain to lose in every country where we sponsor fascism, or dictatorship, in the long run, it would be better for us to follow a forthright policy and support the champions of freedom and democracy everywhere, even if temporary losses make it seem "expedient" to back this or that dictator. Our present "expedient" policy is costing the country its traditional reputation as the hope for the New World for the suppressed people everywhere.

Claxton Paper Supports Sanders

(From The Claxton Enterprise, Claxton, Ga.)

We have studied closely the records, the platforms and the men. We have talked with both major candidates. We have talked with people who make up part of the citizenry of our state.

We endorse the candidacy of Carl Sanders for Governor.

We respect the opinion of others who differ with us, that is the right of every man in our democratic government. But we can not stand idly by in this campaign without voicing an opinion. There is more at stake than a political race.

Mr. Griffin asks that we overlook the repeated charges of graft and corruption in his administration with the simple statement that "nothing has been proved against me in court." And he intimates that there is some in every administration.

We do not consider that sufficient cause to repeat an administration of that type. The people of Georgia do not have to accept a substitute for honesty and integrity — they need no explanation.

On the other basic issue — integration and reapportionment — he has much faith in Carl Sanders possibly more than Mr. Griffin. The test of leadership is not how loud you holler, nor how much dust you raise — but in where we are when the dust settles, and the tumult dies.

Under our system, often the test is "what can he do for our country," under this questionable virtue we have equally as much faith in Mr. Sanders' ability and willingness to help Evans County.

On one other issue — taxes — we have Griffin's record, and show that he did not keep it as he promised, and can not be trusted to keep it a second time. His philosophy of government is "raise the money so we can spend it" — a poor fiscal policy, at best.

If our stand requires that we "explain" Mills B. Lane, Martin Luther King, Ralph McGill and others then by the same token it requires that Marvin "explain" Cheney Griffin, Red Williams, The Klan, The Columbians, the American Nazis and other people who may espouse some of his philosophy of government. Neither candidate can "explain" the dreams of his opponent.

In conclusion, we know not what others may do, and we have fought for the privilege of every man voting as he wishes — but we endorse Carl Sanders as the best Governor of our state.

Traveling Through Georgia

By Charles E. Hooper

Up in Rabun County, tucked between the lofty peaks of Rabun Bald and Standing Indian, lies an unspoiled region of perfectly developed, open valley, deep forest, rushing streams, mountains, magnificent waterfalls and rambling lakes. What a wonderful way to escape the dull routine and the bustling crowds.

What a tranquilizing effect! That is Rabun, the old Cherokee country with twisting trails and safe motor roads (making many waterfalls, high cliffs and peaks accessible) and where azealan literally cover the area like clouds of color, recalling the festivals of the primitive Indians.

The creek banks and cover, the hill tops, the cliffs, the draughts are on the verge of a riot of laurel blooms, with their soft, restful hues of pink.

That is Rabun, the high country, delightful and beautiful and invigorating mountain air and chilly sleeping-wooding nights. There's the beautiful Tallulah Gorge, surrounded in beauty and depth only by the Grand Canyon.

That is Rabun, one of the finest fishing areas in the country. There are many fishing camps along the shores of the five lakes, and mountain streams provide excellent trout fishing.

Lake Burton, for instance, a-lands beautiful, big trout. There is good fishing for rainbow and brown. Trout are consistently taken from Burton weighing up to eight pounds.

All game fish are in good supply in Burton, including yellow perch, but the perch are stunted and small. Walleye have been introduced in Burton and large brown trout have been stocked, in addition to the native fish.

And the trout fishing is good the year around. Best lures are deep-running spoons and spinners, fished slowly. Bass are hitting well now and will continue through the month. Then they'll be at it again in the fall.

That is Rabun County, home also to Lakes Nacoochee, Tallulah and Tugalo, all surrounded by high mountains and all have excellent facilities for motor boating and rowing. Motor boats may be rented by the hour or day and a number of larger boats are available for charter.

There are many areas with picnicking facilities and there is a wide selection of choice restaurants nearby.

The rock round will have a field day. An abundance of all common rocks and minerals may be found in Rabun and several of the more rare minerals as well. Horses are available for riding over the trails which crisscross the mountains banked with rhododendron, which blooms in July, laurel, fern and myriads of other wild flowers.

Cast care aside. Load the family in the car and "get away from it all" in the congenial surroundings of Rabun. Your neighborhood service station dealer will assist you in selecting the best route to Rabun, shortest to a new rest for living.

What is the use of the intelligence if you do not know what it is?

GEORGIA DEPARTMENT OF LABOR PERSONNEL WIN TOP INTERNATIONAL AWARD FOR 5th CONSECUTIVE YEAR

Atlanta — Personnel of the Georgia Department of Labor have won the top International Achievement Award for the 5th consecutive year. Commissioner of Labor Ben T. Hulet is shown (right) being congratulated by Robert K. Salvers, Assistant to the Under-Secretary of Labor in the United States Department of Labor. The International Association of Personnel in Employment Security established the award 12 years ago, and since that time it has come to the Georgia Department of Labor seven times. This professional organization is made up of personnel in public employment security work from all the states, the District of Columbia, territories and countries from all parts of the world. The annual meeting was held this year in Des Moines, Iowa, where the announcement was made that Georgia was again the winner. In accepting the engraved plaque, Mr. Hulet said, "This award belongs to the Department of Labor workers throughout the state, for without their day-to-day devotion to duty in matching men and jobs, this honor would not have come to our state."

Ellis Cartee returned to South-ern Tech of Atlanta to resume his work there.

Luncheon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bowen and family on Sunday were Mrs. Ruby Tuten and Mrs. W. M. Hawkins in Jesup.

Mrs. Fronnie Hagan has returned to Atlanta after visiting a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Oliff.

Miss Annette Cartee and John Korman of Savannah visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Cartee and family last week end.
