The youngest person to take part in the ceremony was eight-month-old Sonia Nesmith, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Nesmith.

The ceremony was surrounded with an air of dedication, and the entire meeting was one of wonderful fellowship and will be long remembered by all taking part.

Santa Claus came and gave out the gifts to the children and "secret sisters." Gifts were also exchanged with all present taking part.

And so they scream!

The 1956 traffic death figures are screaming to high heaven.

More than 40,000 people were killed in the nation during the twelve months of 1956. That's five per cent more than 1955 when 38,426 were killed. More than the all time high of 39,969 recorded in 1941.

With our great nation making progress in every other phase of living one would expect a little progress in the business of saving lives by the great multitude of our citizens who use the so-called great necessity, the automobile.

But no! In the fifteen years since 1941 we've lost ground. And in spite of all the hue and cry by safety councils, by safety experts, by highway experts, by traffic engineers.

One hears a sort of defense—"But there were so many more automobiles on the highways in 1956 than there were in 1941!"—but what about all those "safety" devices the automobile manufacturers claim for their respective makes? Aren't they suppose to sort of offset the greater number of automobiles on the highways... how about these wonderful through-ways, turnpikes, freeways, and other fancy names for highways? Aren't they designed to make driving the greater number of cars safer?

All these years we've joined the voice of the other weekly newspapers, the daily newspapers, the slick magazines, the rough magazines, the radio, the television, the billboards, the safety councils, the safety engineers, the traffic managers, the highway engineers, the civic organizations, the schools, the parents—all shouting the wonderful goal of driving to live—only to have our voice, with theirs, drowned out by the crash of thousands of traffic accidents every day.

One thousand, one hundred and fifteen persons killed during the combined holidays of Christmas and New Years—a new high.

And now law officials throughout the nation, according to an Associated Press news account in last Friday's newspapers, are turning to get-tough policies to cut down the highway slaughter.

We take our stand with them. Let law enforcement officers show no quarter to those guilty of reckless driving, driving while drunk, ignoring the legal speed limit, ignoring the rights of others on the highway.

Let the courts throw the book at those brought before them for violation of traffic regulations.

Jerk the driver's licenses away from those who sow death and destruction on the surfaces of our highways.

Use every means at command of the law, use every method that can be devised by safety experts, use radar, use electrical timing devices, use unmarked patrol cars, have patrolmen hide behind billboards, pine trees or any other obstruction.

Use spot checks for the drink-driving driver, for license violation. Require birth certificates for the teen-agers making their first application for driver's licenses.

How happy this week in the New Year would be and how wonderful the Christmas holiday would have been in the homes of those 1,115 persons who died on our highways during the past two long holidays, if such a tough attitude and policy had been in effect during 1956.

And you and we can help by assuming absolute responsibility for obeying all the laws which govern our use of our highway. And so we ask, what of 1957, safety-wise?

Give this month

Last week the annual March of Dimes was kicked off in Bulloch County as well as in every county in the United States.

This is a crucial year in the history of this great annual appeal which has come to be known as the March of Dimes. Many people now feel that the fight against polio has been won since the certification of the Salk vaccine as a preventative of the dread disease.

How wrong can people get? Today there are more than 80,000 people in the United States suffering from the after-effects of the disease. There are some right here in our own community. And now we're faced with the tremendous task in getting people to take advantage of the vaccine. President Eisenhower recently called attention to the fact that 17,000,000 doses of Salk Polio vaccine are lying around because of public apathy. About 43,000,000 people have been inoculated—but there are still 80,000 who have not.

Funds are still needed with which to continue the research program of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Funds are needed to maintain the re-habilitative care of new and old patients.

And there is the tremendous task of getting folks between the ages of six months and thirty-five years of age to take the Salk Vaccine.

"Let's Finish the Job" is the cry this January.

Do your part—give to the March of Dimes in January.

Birdwood College

Primitive Baptists over the State of Georgia and Florida received good news just before the New Year which brings them happiness.

It was announced by Dr. W. N. Danner, registrar of the University of Georgia, that Birdwood College at Thomasville, Ga., has been accredited by the University. This means that students at this Primitive Baptist college in Thomasville can transfer to the University of Georgia in Athens and receive credit for the work they have done at Birdwood.

Elder J. Walter Hendricks, prominent minister in the Primitive Baptist Church, is the President of Birdwood College and has been its prime mover since its establishment.

We commend Dr. Hendricks and the members of the Primitive Baptist Church for the recognition they have brought to the college. With the assurance of credit at the University attendance at Birdwood becomes more attractive to those seeking higher education.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3.

There is a thrill and joy in the heart of a farmer as he watches the seed which he planted grow and develop to maturity producing fruit. However, a greater thrill and joy is experienced in parents' hearts as they watch their child grow and develop to maturity. This is the fullest expression of life and development.

As in physical life, so in spiritual life, growth must begin in birth. The necessity of spiritual birth is set out in John 3:1-21 in Jesus' conversation with Nicodemus. This spiritual birth is brought about by faith in God's redemptive work through his Son Jesus Christ. As parents rejoice in the birth of their child, so does God, Jesus, in Luke 15, uses three parables to illustrate the joy of the Heavenly Father over every lost one who is found; he rejoices to see new children born into his great family. Jesus is very clear in his teaching that this remarkable event comes only through the rebirth—spiritual birth.

Having begun in spiritual birth, spiritual development is accomplished by spiritual growth. Just as it is tragic to see failure of physical growth, so it is tragic to see failure of spiritual growth. The writer of Hebrews 5:11-14 is faced with this problem among his readers. They had been Christians long enough to have experienced some maturity, but they are still babes. Even in the Twentieth Century, Christians are sometimes slow in spiritual development.

Just how is this spiritual growth to be realized is shown in 1 Peter 2:1-3. Peter speaks of the negative and the positive approach to a growing spiritual life. On the negative side he says that the Christian is to lay aside malice (evil plotting), guile (insincerity), hypocrisy (pretense) envy (desiring that which another has), evil speaking (any conversation which is unbecoming to a child of God).

The positive approach to spiritual life is found in verses two and three of this passage. Here Peter speaks of the Christian as a newborn babe desiring the sincere milk of God's Word and tasting the graciousness of God. Two ideas for spiritual growth are presented here—nourishment and Christian experience. When I think of Christian experience my phases rush to my mind—Prayer, Bible Reading, and Giving are some of the most important.

Spiritual development which begins at birth and proceeds in growth is crowned by maturity. The Psalmist expresses his own experience in Psalm 116:8. "For Thou hast delivered... my feet from falling." This is a word

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

FOR THOSE OF YOU WHO MAY HAVE WONDERED ABOUT THE OMISSION OF THE NAMES OF JUDGE J. L. RENFROE, SOLICITOR GENERAL WATSON USHER, STATE SENATOR F. EVERETT WILLIAMS, AND REPRESENTATIVES FRANCIS ALLEN AND WILEY B. FORDHAM, IN OUR STORY ON LAST WEEK'S FRONT PAGE ABOUT THE OFFICIALS IN THE COURTHOUSE.

The reason they were not included was because they were elected in the September 12, 1956, state primary and not in the November 16, 1955, county primary. We hope that this straightens this out.

WE WERE SET BACK on our heels Thursday morning of last week when we read in the daily newspapers that Princess Grace of Monaco, the former movie star, Grace Kelly, had toppled from first place to third place in the list of the ten best-dressed women in the world. That worries us to no end. Now, anything can happen.

WE STILL NEED some compost for our flower borders. We asked for some several weeks here in this column and not a single person answered. One person did suggest that we use the "bull" that he thinks goes in this Uneasy Chair, but we ignored him. But seriously there must be a shortage of garden compost. We can remember when there was plenty. Guess it's the switch to tractors that accounts for it.

THE REPUBLICANS are using a tried and tested method of winning friends and influencing people. This week Mr. and Mrs. Bob Winburn, staunch Democrats, received an invitation to attend the inauguration of President Dwight David Eisenhower and Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The invitation was about nine inches by twelve inches and was a beautiful specimen of the graphic arts. Cost twelve cents to mail. Mr. Bob allows as how he guesses he'll not accept.

HAIRCUTS in some barber-shops in Atlanta have gone up to $1.50. Which is another reason why it's wonderful to live in Statesboro. However, we note that the local tonsorial artists get a dollar "flat-top" hair cut, so popular with the white buck and blue jean set. But the man with the average head of hair still gets his cut for seventy-five cents. We who have little to cut and on whom the barber can do a complete job in jig time also have to pay seventy-five cents. We have been campaigning for years to get special lower rates for us whose hair presents no challenge nor problem to the barber, but so far we've knocked ourselves out in vain.

In spite of the fact that these men are pioneers they still profit by information from many other brave and heroic men of the earlier part of this century and some dating even back to 1775 when Captain James Cook at two points penetrated the Antarctica region. Then in 1843 Sir James C. Ross discovered Ross Sea. In between were many other brave men and then there was Richard Byrd's expedition. He discovered a great territory and named it Marie Byrd Land. This was in 1929.

Today our modern trail blazers have covered these 822 miles starting from Little America going across Ross Ice Shelf into Marie Byrd Land. The first 150 miles were smooth but the great hazards were found in seven and one-half miles of crevasses between the Ross Ice Shelf and the continent. Where as the expedition had been able to make twenty miles a day until this section of crevasses came up, now it took them amount when one realizes that many of our planes cost several millions of dollars each. And so the arms race goes on. Where it will end and pops up no one really knows but we should be grateful that our armed forces continue to use their skill and knowledge to keep the enemy from our shores by becoming so powerful that they would never dare attack us.

The great danger lies in this atomic idea of repugnance. The Russians have been quick to capitalize on the knowledge that the United States would never become an aggressor and so the Russian plan seems to be to keep us occupied in a series of little wars all over the world, gradually sucking off our energy and there is a limit as to how long we can continue on this type of struggle.

The Russians know that the United States will never send the ATLAS to her shores unless the reason they are interested in it is different area of the world they create hatred for themselves it is true, but at the same time they create hatred for the United States for what difference to the Indian or the Arab or the Egyptian who destroys his home if it is to be free world for his freedom. Freedom is of little value to him if he loses all his resources.

Yes, we face a tremendous task in the year ahead. Almost an unsurmountable one. Only with the help of the All-Powerful God can we hope to survive the struggle which goes on day after day after day—rotations, cover crops, tree plantings, woodland improvement, drainage ditches, irrigation systems, and fish pond stocking were about the same in 1956 as 1955.

I think all the above statements reflect progress by our Bulloch County farmers, and as long as we can progress every year this will be fine. Our challenge for 1957 will continue to be quality work as well as quantity. If a job is worth doing it is worth doing right. Let's do what we undertake to do right. Bulloch County will continue to lead the state and nation if we will hold fast to this challenge.

In the months which lie ahead the United States will announce the mass production of the weapon developed for our defense known as the "Ultimate Weapon." It is a common knowledge now that such a weapon is past the planning stage and that production will start in a matter of days.

Known as the ATLAS, the first intercontinental ballistic missile to be built in America will soon be tested in flight. It is an awful weapon. One that could conceivably destroy our whole civilization.

While the exact size and shape of the missile is secret it is more than 100 feet in length and its speed is in excess of eight thousand miles per hour. Powered by Multiple-stage rockets it has a range of more than 5,000 miles and climbs somewhere near a thousand miles above the earth in flight.

The ATLAS is guided by electronic controls until it leaves the atmosphere on the earth and then will follow a path like a bullet to its target. The new weapon is so accurate at 5,000 mile distance until it will land within five miles of its target. For destructive power the missile carries in its warhead a standard H-bomb with a proximity fuse and the slave warhead for the United States. It is a total destruction in a 450 square mile area.

The ATLAS cannot be intercepted, once fired by any weapon existing in the world today. Thus so far as it is known the new weapon is invulnerable.

Thus it is a tremendous world for his freedom. Freedom is of little value to him if he loses all his resources. Yes, we face a tremendous task in the year ahead. Almost an unsurmountable one. Only with the help of the All-Powerful God can we hope to survive the struggle which goes on day after day after day—

Soil Conservation Service

A completely new year is upon us—1957. The old year 1956 was, in most respects a good year for Bulloch County farmers cooperating with the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District. I think the most outstanding accomplishment in soil and water conservation in 1956 was the high quality of work which our cooperators performed in applying their soil and water conservation practices on their farms.

Keeping the above statement in mind I see some similarities and differences in the quantity of practices applied in 1956 as against 1955. The surprise to me was in pasture planting. A fourth more permanent pastures were planted in 1956 than in 1955. I think this can be explained by (1) The increased popularity of Pensicola bahia grass. (2) Plenty of good grown seed. (3) Ease of planting. (4) Cheapness of cost, and (5) A.C.P. purchase orders for buying the seed, fertilizer and lime.

Pond building was down in 1956 from 1955. Forty-two were built in 1955 and thirty-six in 1956. There are but a few considerably from the 1954 high of eighty-seven built by cooperators of the district. Here is where quality is coming to the front. Less ponds are being built, but much better ponds are being constructed.

Less than half the amount of land was cleared in 1956 than in 1955. This reflects the increased popularity of the farm woodland.

Ten more miles of terraces were built in 1956 than in 1955, with waterway development and erosion control. Community quality is up considerably. Other practices such as crop rotations, cover crops, tree plantings, woodland improvement, drainage ditches, irrigation systems, and fish pond stocking were about the same in 1956 as 1955.

I think all the above statements reflect progress by our Bulloch County farmers, and as long as we can progress every year this will be fine. Farm Bureau

J. H. Wyatt says American Farm Bureau strongest farm organization

The American Farm Bureau is still the best and most powerful of all farm organizations. J. H. Wyatt, vice president of the Bulloch County Farm Bureau and a delegate to the national convention, told the Brooklet chapter Wednesday night.

Mr. Wyatt enumerated some of the points of interest to farm people in the southeast that the American Farm Bureau officials do not see eye to eye with the leaders in this area on. He pointed out that, by and large, the farmers from all sections were together on the major issues and that the organizations in the southeast could accomplish a lot more by sticking with the national set-up and fighting the battles within the family than they could if they pulled out and went it alone.

STAR SPEAKER
Of the numerous famous men on the Miami program, Mr. Wyatt singled out Senator John F. Kennedy's talk as being the highlight and the speaker that most nearly hit the nail on the head when discussing farm problems and methods of solving them.

John Rushing, the Brooklet president, reported that 132 members had joined their chapter this year and that a few more would be added shortly. He pointed out that the chapter had a good record in 1956. Mr. Wyatt stated that from all indications now they would be in position to sign up those that wanted to put corn, cotton, and tobacco in the soil bank around January 20, 1957.

The cotton payments will be slightly higher for the county this year, due to two factors. First, the county average yield has been increased to 386 pounds and the price paid for the yield increased slightly. The tobacco payment will be the same, eighteen cents per pound. Corn will be 99 cents per bushel on the 20.1 average yield per acre.

Community committees are now in the process of getting these average yields on

Guardettes hold special meeting

The Guardettes of Battery A, 101st AA Gun Battalion, held their regular monthly meeting, Thursday evening, January 3, at the home of Mrs. W. C. Harper. The meeting was called to order by the president and the business session was underway.

The Guardettes were organized for the purpose of uniting the wives, mothers, and girlfriends of the Guardsmen in friendship and in service, to stimulate further interest in the National Guard, to render social and financial assistance to be unit, and to make the army more comfortable for the Guardsmen.

The greatest inconvenience to the Guardsmen is having to do without water. The most important project of the Guardettes at this time is to get water lines run to the army building. Other projects are to furnish the army with kitchen cabinets, coffee urns, coffee mugs and silverware.

The Guardettes are selling subscriptions to the Reader's Digest for the purpose of obtaining a coffee urn. The Reader's Digest is published monthly and one dollar pays for an eight month's subscription. Anyone desiring a subscription for himself or as a gift, and anyone who would like to help the Guardettes in getting the coffee urn, may do so by calling any of the following: Mrs. Leland Riggs, Mrs. Benton Strange, Mrs. W. C. Harper, Mrs. Paul Moore, Mrs. William G. Cone, Mrs. A. V. Blackburn or Mrs. Clarence Brack.

Among the social events that have taken place the most outstanding was the Christmas party for the children of Battery A. The party was held at the National Guard Armory Tuesday evening, December 18.

The beautifully lighted Christmas tree and the Santa Claus pinups and other decorations gave the room a festive look. The main attraction of the evening was the arrival of Santa Claus as the record player played "Here Comes Santa Claus."

After talking with each child, he presented each with a gift from under the tree. Punch, cookies, nuts and candy were served. It is planned to make this an annual affair.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday evening, February 7, at the home of Mrs. A. U. Blackburn at East Jones Ave. The time has been changed from 8 o'clock to 7:30 for the winter months.

The bank, since it was organized in 1923, has been entirely government owned.

"These purchases of stock in the bank, together with the merger of the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia into the bank on January 1, were provided for in the Farm Credit Act of 1956," Mr. Nessmith stated.

"The corporation was also a wholly government owned organization," he pointed out. "The Intermediate Credit Bank is the chief source of lending funds for this and other P.C.A.'s."

Mr. Nessmith said that the bank, together with eleven other similar banks in the United States, in turn, get its lending funds by selling debentures—short-term bonds—to investors without any government guarantee, he continued.

"We will also accumulate additional investments in the bank as it declares patronage refunds from its savings," Mr. Nessmith stated.

"As the investments of this and other P.C.A.'s grow, the government owned stock will be repaid. Eventually the bank will be wholly owned by farmers through their Production Credit Associations."

"The production credit corporation, which has just been merged into the Intermediate Credit Bank, provided the original capital to start all P.C.A.'s. Over the years it has also supervised and provided services to the associations. This supervision of the Production Credit Association and services to them will now be provided by the merger institution—the intermediate credit bank," Mr. Nessmith said.

The Statesboro P.C.A. is entirely owned by its 915 farmer members. Last year members borrowed $885,750.00 from the association to finance their farm operation, in Bulloch and Evans Counties.

CONTROL OF SOIL INSECTS

Dr. C. R. Jordan, Extension entomologist at the College of Agriculture, reports recent research work has shown that the principal soil insects attacking sweet potatoes can be controlled effectively by the use of insecticides mixed with fertilizer.

The insecticides recommended for this purpose, he says, are Heptachlor and Aldrin. The materials should be used at the rate of two pounds of actual insecticide per acre.

FERTILIZER DOLLAR GOES FAR

Fertilizer prices, in terms of plant nutrient content, have advanced less than 10 per cent since 1939. But Extension Agronomists B. J. Bergeaux and Ralph L. Wehnt point out that, at the same time, prices of all production items have more than doubled in the same period. "Today's fertilizer dollar goes further than ever before," they declare.

WHERE DOGWOOD GROWS BEST

Dogwood in the native state usually grows in a semi-shaded location. Gerald E. Smith, Agricultural Extension Service horticulturist, says there is less likelihood of encountering difficulty with the tree if such a location is selected for planting.

Poultrymen at the College of Agriculture Extension Service say that coal or wood brooding stoves may be ideal for winter weather, but they add that gas, oil, or electricity are better for warm weather brooding.

Urging Georgians to refresh with milk, Extension Service dairy marketing specialists say it provides the protein, calcium, and other essential food elements that restore the body to peak performance in a hurry.

INCOME TAX FACTS

Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, January 10, 1957

How to Save Tax Dollars

(This is one of a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Accountants, in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Between now and April 15, over 100 million Americans must file a tax return to report their 1956 income to the federal government. On the basis of past experience about one out of every four returns filed will contain an error of $2.00 or more. Last year these errors totaled over $100,000,000.

To help you prepare a correct return and avoid mistakes that cost you tax dollars, this new series of articles will give you a series of eight articles prepared with the cooperation of the national and state organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article deals with problems faced by almost any one who has to make out a return. Later articles will give special hints on deductions you may take, particularly if you own a car, home or business. Use this series along with the official instruction book which comes free with your tax forms.

Common Mistakes

According to the results of a sampling by the Internal Revenue Service, the mistakes most often made by taxpayers fall into these four groups:

(1) Incorrect listing of income. This is the main source of error, partly because of debatable questions involving business income. Individuals make mistakes too by leaving out such items as interest on savings accounts, dividends and contest winnings, or by including items which are exempt.

(2) Errors in personal deductions. This category includes the deductions taken when the 10 per cent "standard deduction" is not used. Important deductions from income are state and local taxes, interest paid on loans, charitable contributions, medical expenses, losses from Non-Taxable Income. It is important to remember that all income is not taxable. You should not include in your return any income which is listed in the official instruction book as exempt. This includes interest on state and municipal bonds, most government payments to veterans and their families, life insurance proceeds upon death, gifts and social security benefits. The tax instructions from the Internal Revenue Service contain a list of the types of income which should be omitted from your return.

If You Changed Jobs

Here is a special point to watch if you worked for more than one employer during 1956. You may have overpaid your social security tax. Each employer is required to withhold social security amounts to 2 per cent of the first $4,200 of your wages. If you worked for only one employer, this would amount to $84. However, if you worked for several employers, more than $84 might have been withheld. Check your W-2 withholding slips and see whether the total F.I.C.A. (Federal Insurance Contributions Act) is more than $84. If it is, you can claim credit for the excess in the "taxes withheld" column of your income tax form.

The instruction book which comes with your tax forms gives further information. Help is also available by telephone or at offices of the Internal Revenue Service. The Revenue Service urges you to consult properly qualified advisors if you decide to seek outside help.

"Gold Diggers' Road," now generally abandoned except for a stretch along U. S. 19, began on the Chesapeake River where it connected with a route from South Carolina and went through Dahlgren to Aurora in Lumpkin County.

Newcastle H. D. Club has meeting

The New Castle Home Demonstration Club held its annual Christmas party at Mrs. G. B. Bowen's outdoor kitchen, which was very attractively decorated for the occasion.

Mrs. Bowen opened the meeting with an inspirational message on keeping Christmas. The group joined in singing several of the Christmas Carols, led by Mrs. Bowen.

New officers were installed, with Mrs. Thigpen directing the candlelighting ceremony. We were delighted to have Mrs. John B. Anderson and Miss Leila White from the Nevils club as visitors.

Everyone enjoyed an hour of fun, with Mrs. Gear and Mrs. Thigpen in charge of the games. After the exchange of gifts, punch was served with a variety assortment of party sandwiches and cookies.
