New Rotary president

Announcement was made Monday night at the annual Ladies' Night of the Statesboro Rotary Club that Shields Kenan, editor and publisher of the Bulloch Times, has been named president to succeed G. C. Coleman Jr. at the beginning of the new Rotary year on July 1.

Mr. Kenan's selection was a wise one and Rotarians can expect to continue their unpublishing good work in this community under his guidance.

Founded in 1937 the Rotary Club has based its reason for being on promoting good will for the community and encouraging and fostering the ideal of service as a basis of worthy enterprise.

In July Mr. Kenan joins the distinguished list of presidents including Dr. Jim Whiteside, the late S. W. Lewis, the late Dr. A. J. Mooney, Gilbert Cone, A. M. Braswell, Everett Williams, Thad Morris, Horace Smith, Sam Strauss, Zach Henderson, Wallis Cobb, Elder Virgil Agan, Dr. Bird Daniel, Byron Dyer, Dew Groover, the late Alfred Dorman, Dr. John Mooney, Horace McDougald, Dr. Waldo Floyd, the Rev. Fred Wilson, Charles Robbins Jr., and now G. C. Coleman Jr.

The gloomy old days

One of the pleasures of publishing a weekly newspaper is pouring over the "exchanges" the other weekly newspapers with whom we exchange papers. They begin coming in Friday morning and so we give part of each week to seeing what our fellow editors are thinking about. We ran across this bit of thinking which one editor had "clipped" from some other newspaper:

"It is a gloomy moment in history. Not in the lifetime of any man who reads his paper has there been so much grave and deep apprehension; never has the future seemed so dark and incalculable.

"In France the political cauldron seethes and bubbles with uncertainty. England and the English empire are being sorely tried and exhausted in a social and economic struggle, with turmoil at home and uprising of her teeming millions in her far-flung Indian empire.

"The United States is beset with racial, industrial and commercial chaos—drifting, we know not where.

"Russia hangs like a storm cloud on the horizon of Europe—dark and silent.

"It is a solemn moment, and no man can feel indifference, which, happily no man pretends to feel in the issue of events. Of our own troubles, no man can see the end."

Sounds pretty gloomy, doesn't it? Well, the paper from which it was borrowed has this explanation:

The editorial first appeared in Harper's magazine in 1847—110 years ago.—Beaumont (Texas) Journal.

Welcome dentists

Today, April 11, is a day for the kids to take to the tall timbers. For on this day there'll be more dentists in Statesboro than they can shake a stick at.

The Southeast Dental Society is meeting here and brings one of the nation's outstanding dental consultants, Dr. Miles Markley of Denver, Colorado, to conduct a dental clinic.

It is a compliment to Statesboro and the dentists of Statesboro that this important meeting is being held here. It will attract dentists from the entire southeast section of the state.

We commend Dr. Hunter Robertson, president of the Southeast Dental Society, and Dr. John L. Jackson and Dr. Curtis Lane, the hosts for the clinic, upon bringing their colleagues to our fair city, where we know they'll receive the royal welcome.

Congress puts

frosting on the cake

Representative Preston of Georgia, a member of the House Appropriations Committee, accuses Commerce Secretary Weeks of saying one thing to the public and another to Congress about the chances of reducing the budget.

Secretary Weeks, it seems, spoke right up on a TV program and invited the Congress to trim $50 million from the Commerce Department budget. The Georgian says Congress was told by Mr. Weeks to trim $7.5 million in funds for forest roads and $42.5 million in Federal aid to airport construction.

But when Mr. Weeks was called before the committee to further develop the budget-cutting views, Mr. Preston told the House in a speech the other day, Mr. Weeks claimed that he couldn't find any places to cut his budget. The Secretary, said the Congressman, not only is supporting the forest roads and airport items, he is "asking for 28 per cent more money than he had this year."

Well, now $50 million is not to be belittled. It's sums like that, hidden here and there in the budget that adds up to the present $72 billion budget that has aroused the public so much. May be there is a need for forest roads; but we hope that the Appropriations Committee will make the Commerce Department demonstrate the need.

And maybe there is a need for small airports all over the place. But, aside from the question whether the airlines that use the airports ought not to be the ones to build them, there is a further question whether the Federal Government ought to be spending tax money from all the people to help build airports that will serve only some of the people.

It is just this sort of frosting on the cake that Congress can trim easier than anything else. But it is just the sort of frosting that appeals to Congressmen who want to "give" some Federal funds to their constituents. We are happy to learn that Mr. Preston says his committee is "going to show" Mr. Weeks how his budget can be trimmed.

But perhaps Congressional reluctance to forget the frosting was what Mr. Weeks had in mind when he told the public his budget could be reduced and told the Congressmen it couldn't. For Congress, Mr. Weeks reminds us, authorized the $50 million for forest roads and airports in the first place.

EVERYBODY'S BABY

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Come another letter on our observance of the twentieth anniversary of the founding of The Bulloch Herald. William Russell, as he is known around here, but known as "Bill" in Washington, D. C. circles, son of Dr. and Mrs. Fielding Russell, took time out from his seeking an education and helping his Uncle Dick Russell run his Senate office to write us a nice letter. It reads like this:

"Dear Leodel: 'My realization of the value and importance of a newspaper to a people's ability to understand and grasp happenings correctly and fairly has only evolved in the last few years. Yet, last week as I read your editorial concerning your efforts to present issues objectively, with thought to sides involved, I wanted to write and just say thanks, for why should we blind ourselves or our friends with Nationalism, Stateism, and even Townism. Of course we should give our town, friends and even ourselves, at times, a pat on the back for some good we have reached or for an objective obtained. As I see more and more of our country papers, I realize that many times issues are skimmed over when the editor should give his readers a good kick in the pants, and awakened them to the facts.'

"I want to congratulate you on the twentieth anniversary of the Herald, but I also want to say I know that the many years ahead will even show the paper to be of greater value in the 'forward look' than the 'backward glance.'

"With the best of wishes for the years to come,

"Sincerely,

"WILLIAM RUSSELL

Rabies poses serious threat

During the past five months, Emanuel County has been experiencing an outbreak of rabies in animals. This outbreak has been predominately in the fox population. During the last months of 1956, some six animals were found to have rabies on laboratory examination of the heads. During the first three months of 1957, some 14-15 animals, mostly foxes, have been found to have rabies. Emanuel County has been conducting a fox-trapping program for about two and a half months in an effort to combat the spread of this disease. Between 450 and 500 foxes have been trapped and killed which will materially reduce the danger to Bulloch County because the disease has been steadily moving eastward to that section of Emanuel adjoining Bulloch County. This danger is very real because of the large fox population in Bulloch. There is every reason to expect that this disease will soon cross, if it has not already done so, the county line into our county. Adding to this grave danger is the large number of dogs in Bulloch that have not been inoculated against rabies. Our veterinarians estimate that between 60 and 70 per cent of our dogs are NOT inoculated.

Rabies in foxes is extremely serious even when the dog population is properly inoculated. For rabid foxes are extremely vicious—attacking dogs, livestock and people like. Counties having outbreaks of rabies in foxes lose thousands of dollars in livestock—lost to mention the danger to human life.

When there is a highly susceptible dog population—due to lack of inoculations—then the disease spreads to the dog which has even more opportunity to bite other animals and human beings. Thus, the danger increases manifold.

Until county-wide measures are instituted, all residents of the county are asked to report to the health department any dog showing suspicious signs which might indicate rabies. Normally foxes are shy and will run if approached by dogs or people.

Rabid foxes show no fear and will invade farm yards in the day time, attacking dogs, livestock, and people. They frequently make peculiar noises and may choke, stagger, blunder around, and fall on the ground. The mouth may be open with drooling or drooping of saliva. When a fox loses its fear of dogs, we can assume that it is most probably rabid. Those residing in the county adjoining Emanuel are cautioned to be especially watchful of suspiciously acting foxes or other animals.

An effective barrier to the spread of rabies is dog inoculation. All citizens are urged to have their dogs inoculated by their veterinarians IMMEDIATELY and not wait until the county clinics can be arranged.

KILL NEMATODES WITH EASY-TO-USE D-D SOIL FUMIGANT

Get your tobacco off to a good start this season by controlling nematodes with D-D soil fumigant. D-D soil fumigant is an easy-to-use liquid. Apply it directly to the soil with gravity-flow or simple pressure equipment. In the ground it becomes a potent gas, killing root knot and other harmful nematodes as it spreads. And a single treatment gives effective control for an entire season.

This season, see for yourself how a pre-plant soil treatment with D-D soil fumigant pays off in bigger yields. D-D soil fumigant is available from your local pesticide dealer.

High Blood Pressure

By DR. K. R. HERRING

The body controls the blood pressure by a n a l l nerves leading to the muscular layers of the blood vessels. Worry, excitement, and faulty diet are all factors contributing to high blood pressure. The underlying cause is pressure on nerve fibers causing irritation with the result that messages from the brain to the blood vessels are wrongly interpreted so that they do not coordinate as they should with the rest of the body. Consequently various forms of degeneration take place, most commonly hardening of the arteries.

Through Chiropractic treatment, the irritation is removed so that normal function can be restored.

Music Majors Organize Special Concert Band

A special concert band composed entirely of music majors has been organized under the direction of Dana King for the purpose of training band directors. The thirty members are playing their major instrument, but are also required to change with other members. The limited facilities necessitated organizing this band in order to include those to whom no private instruction could be given. Tentative plans are underway for two pop concerts sometime in the spring and recordings and tours in the future.

Improvements have been made in the band room to such an extent that it has been transformed from a bare room to one of the best all-round band rooms in this section of Georgia. The entire project was carried out by students under the supervision of Mr. King. Miss Ger-nant, head of the art department, made suggestions in carrying out the blue monochromatic color scheme. Students also built the new instrument and storage cabinets which are adequate enough to cover the present needs of the band. The whole room is set off by the curtains which, in addition to a room for minor instrument repairs is being built.

Civil Defense

max lockwood
Director, Statesboro and Bulloch County

Mr. Coleman is a graduate of Georgia Teachers College and holds a master's degree in administration from Peabody College in Tennessee. He is a native of Fitzgerald, Georgia, and is the principal of the Sallie Zetter-over Elementary School in the Bulloch County school system.

HOW DO YOU VOLUNTEER FOR CIVIL DEFENSE?
Your newspapers, radio or local civil defense organization will be glad to tell you. Also you can watch for announcements from your local civil defense director. Or you can phone or visit your local civil defense headquarters.

Right now your Red Cross chapter is ready to train you in first aid. This training will be required of all civil defense volunteers. But whether or not you are able to volunteer, you should take the latest Red Cross first aid course. Home nursing and nurses' aide courses are given by the Red Cross. Those courses may save a life in your family some day, war or no war.

In addition, the Red Cross needs blood donors. Thousands of pints of blood and plasma would be needed after an enemy attack. The Red Cross is in charge of this part of the civil defense program.
