Family of Mrs. Edna Brannen

honored on Mother's Day

The family of Mrs. Edna Brannen surprised her on "Mother's Day" on May 12, when they all came to her home all ready with dinner prepared including a beautifully decorated "Mother's Day" cake. They came bearing beautiful gifts for Mrs. Brannen.

All the family was present including the grandchildren as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Usher and daughter, Carolyn of Savannah. Dr. and Mrs. John N. Shearouse and daughters, Nancy and Sherry and son, Johnny of Athens. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brannen and their two daughters, Susan and Sandra of Vidalia.

Mrs. Brannen was completely surprised and said of the day, "It was a wonderful day."

Professional people of the health fields are a part of civil defense, and will be contacted by their local civil defense organizations. In addition, however, willing hands are needed to do many kinds of work under professional direction. If you have had any related technical training—or even if you haven't, the health service can find a useful job for you.

Thousands of first-aid workers will be needed. This does not mean merely people who have had first-aid training. It means people who can be organized for definite jobs at first aid stations. The health service also must have thousands of women volunteers who have taken home nursing and nurses' aid courses.

Scholarships go to 4 at C.T.C.

Four additional high school seniors with tuition scholarships to Georgia Teachers College, according to announcements made this week.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association and H. Minkovitz and sons, both of Statesboro, have announced two awards each.

The winners are:

Mary Ann Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. El Hodges, Statesboro.

Imma Lou Roach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Roach, Rt. 1, Pembroke, the Dave Turner Scholarship.

Both these scholarships are presented annually by the First Federal Savings and Loan Association.

The first is in honor of Mrs. D. L. Deal, Statesboro High School teacher, for her service to area youth, and the second to the late Dave Turner.

For more than 50 years of community service as editor of The Bulloch Times.

John Arthur Minkovitz, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Minkovitz, and John Iler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Iler, Statesboro, received the Minkovitz and Sons awards. In 1955 H. Minkovitz and Sons established the two awards to be made annually to a Bulloch County and a Screven County high school senior.

The two awards just announced were made to students in addition to the annual Minkovitz Scholarship which was announced two weeks ago by J. B. Iler, president of the association. This scholarship, which covers tuition, room, board, and all fees, went to Mrs. Minkovitz's daughter, Mrs. Minkovitz.

A feature of the program was a recognition of our teachers, teachers, and everyone who has contributed toward making this family night supper such a tremendous success. Supper was served at 6:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Minkovitz.

Following an "Apple for the Teacher" theme, Mrs. Minkovitz read an original poem describing each teacher, and Mrs. Minkovitz presented a paper apple and a red carnation. Mrs. Lois Scorse, our Teacher of the Year, received a "golden apple" corsage. Mr. Joe Neville, a former president, paid tribute to our teachers.

Mr. John Adams, principal, presented a series of color slides depicting the year's work of children in each of the seven grades. The slides were carefully selected to show the parents just what their children have been doing in school this year.

After the program, a social hour was enjoyed. Punch, sandwiches, and cookies were served.

Mrs. Nettie Taylor, principal, presented a series of color slides depicting the year's work of children in each of the seven grades. The slides were carefully selected to show the parents just what their children have been doing in school this year.
