National Newspaper Week is October 1-8

Next week is National Newspaper Week.

Our National Editorial Association and our Georgia Press Association and their memberships are taking time out from promoting National Weeks of many kinds to promote a National Week of our own. And so October 1-8 has been the date agreed upon by all of us newspaper people as National Newspaper Week.

Heretofore, during this week, year after year, we have renewed our "pledge" to produce a newspaper of which our community can be proud. We have talked about our "heritage," about the "Freedom of the Press," of "Your Right to Know"—all of which are but slogans which conjure up mixed interpretations and mean many things to many people.

However we do now say that the newspapers and newspapermen all over this nation are on constant watch against the abridgement of the things represented by such slogans. It is enough to say that if a newspaper is not aware of its responsibilities to its community it becomes a short-lived institution.

Our first obligation is to print the news. The second is to try to guide public opinion by interpretation. The third is to furnish wholesome entertainment for our readers. The fourth is to be of service to the community. The fifth obligation is a very important function financially—to merchandise goods and services through its advertisements.

To those critics who take a cynical attitude toward a newspaper's activities to obtain advertising, we would remind them that there is nothing more silent than a closed newspaper.

Newspapers like to feel that they are performing a special public service. When they are good newspapers, they undoubtedly are. But so do all honest useful businesses perform a public service—even a special public service. They who build homes certainly do so. The grocers and distributors of food obviously are essential in our scheme of things. So are the merchants, the bankers, the doctors, the lawyers, the laborers, the craftsmen—a long, long list of occupations. Newspaper people should not feel that they alone are striving to perform a special public service. All sincere workmen are trying to do that.

One hundred years old

Back in April 27, 1887, a group of Bulloch County men got together and organized the Ogeechee Lodge No. 213 F. & A. M. They received their charter in October of that year and on October 2, 1987, the present members of the Ogeechee Lodge will observe the One Hundredth Anniversary of the lodge, the first meetings, until late in 1888, were held in the then Union Church. It was that year that a two-story building was erected at a cost of $700 on lands belonging to James Young Sr. The lower floor was used for a school room and church and it became known as the "Masonic Hall and Academy Building." This meeting hall was about one and one-half miles west of the Union Church.

Those first Masons named John B. Hussey their first Worshipful Master, R. Edfield their first secretary and Daniel Brower their first Tyler.

Since those early years the Masons here have a long record of community service and it is with pride that we join the citizens of this section in congratulating them on the One Hundredth Anniversary of the organization of the Ogeechee Lodge.

Better understanding

Members of the Statesboro Woman's Club now have a better understanding of the problems which surround the production of a weekly newspaper and of a radio program.

As part of its year's community theme the communications committee presented a program which included a discussion panel made up of the publishers of the two local newspapers, the correspondent of the several daily newspapers and a representative of the local radio station.

The functions of these media of communication in our community were discussed. It is out of such public discussions that better understanding of community problems evolve.

We thank the Woman's Club for their recognition of the press and radio and the part we play in our community.

She's arrived

It pleases us no end that one of Statesboro's young ladies has reached what is considered "tops" in the entertainment field.

The former Miss Lucille Purser was home on a visit last week following an extended engagement at the Hotel Pierre in New York City where she was a headlined attraction. Before that she was a featured soloist in the famous Tony Pastor Band. And recently a recording company released a record of two of her songs.

We join her family and her friends in congratulating her upon her success and wish her well for her future.

OFFICIAL RELIEF FOR US ALL...

MEET MY NEW FRIEND, JOHNNY APPEASED

Walt Disney gave me a new friend the other night when I witnessed his presentation of "Johnny Appeased" on television.

I have heard the name of Johnny Appeased all my life, but it meant nothing to me until now. And what a story it is for American minds, cluttered with all the claptrap of confused and complicated living!

It seems that Johnny Appeased lived a long while ago, about the time of the great push toward the West. He was an authority on apple trees, and made his living planting them and picking their fruit. As he worked he sang a lovely song—"The Lord's been so good to me."

One day, Johnny Appeased watched a procession of covered wagons pass by and he had a yearning to go with them as they pushed back the frontier. But as he looked at his frail body and remembered all he could was to plant and pick apples, he sadly gave up the idea. Then a strange thing happened. His guardian angel appeared, pumped up his courage, and sent him on his way with the assurance that apple trees were needed all over the country.

Tales Out of School

By BERNICE MCCULLER

LOOK WHO'S ON THE ROAD:

Our records show that we will have about 408,000 children on the Georgia roads twice each school day. Watch out for the big yellow buses. They are carrying a precious cargo. Half of the school children of Georgia are in these buses, riding to and from school twice each day. The hours are about 7:30 to 8:00 in the mornings, and from 3:30 to 4:30 in the afternoon. We have nearly five thousand buses and drivers. They go ten times around the earth in mileage every day! It costs about $30 a year a child or sixteen cents a day, or eight cents a one-way ride.

NEW STAFF MEMBER: Dr. Morrill Hall from the U. S. Office of Education is now a member of our staff in the State Department of Education. A native of Swainsboro, Georgia, he and his family now live in Zion. He succeeds Irvy Evans, who lives at Woodbury and has retired. He will be our representative in nineteen Middle Georgia counties. Our other area men—those who work with school superintendents on local school problems—are: Oscar Jenkins, Statesboro; Dr. Frank Jenkins, Atlanta; R. G. Williams, Americus; J. M. Jarrard, Gainesville; Fred Blackmon, Thomson; J. H. Morrison, Waycross; J. G. Garrison, Okefenokee and Jack Lance, Calhoun.

NO PRESENT: Sarah Singleton, instructional supervisor in Whitfield County, tells this tale from school's beginning. Little girl came home after the first day and informed her mother that she did not like the teacher. Here was her complaint: "She smiled at me and took my hand, and said, 'Now Mary, you sit in this desk for the present.' And I sat there and sat there and she never did give it to me."

FUTURE TEACHERS TO MEET: The Future Teachers from Georgia high schools and

This Week's Meditation

By The Rev. L. E. Houston Jr.

And so the story goes. Johnny Appeased traveled far and near, making friends with both men and animals alike; planting apple orchards; and always singing—"The Lord's been so good to me."

Disney closed the story by showing the shadow of Johnny Appeased spreading his influence for good and for God over the entire countryside.

When the program ended, I had a peculiar feeling. It was unlike any feeling which I had experienced before as a result of television. A sense of peace swept over me and I felt I had clean down inside. And I began to think how good the Lord had been to me.

Then, a verse from the Acts of the Apostles came to mind. "They even carried out the sick into the streets, and laid them on beds and pallets, that as Peter came by, at least he might fall on some of them."

And I began to pray—"Lord, let me that simplicity of faith; that insight of gratitude; and that love for all God's creation which Johnny Appeased possessed. And like him, send me on my way to do good in the land; to sing the song of Thanksgiving; and to spread my influence for Christ wherever I go."

I think you would like Johnny Appeased as a friend, too. I'll be glad to share him with you.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Our "Story of Bulloch County" has turned into a county-wide cooperative. More and more people are offering us help and we are tremendously pleased. Add to those who are so generous are Mr. Dan Bland who has loaned us a 1910 map of Bulloch County, Mrs. H. H. Cowart who loaned us a map of the county made up by her husband the late H. H. Cowart, Miss Henrietta Hall who called to give us some information about "The Lost Road" of Bulloch County. The latest to call is Miss Inez Williams who has a wealth of material. Dub Lovett has loaned us a 1903 copy of the Statesboro News. Mrs. Inman Kram loaned us a 1903 issue and a 1901 Statesboro News. Mrs. Joe Franklin called to furnish us information and Mr. Shields Kram loaned us a 1903 issue and a 1913 issue of the Statesboro News.

It's very gratifying to know that there is a deep seated interest in the history of Bulloch County and the project to put it in some form for future reference. ... OH, HOW TRUE!—Sometimes after a couple of words, we wish we hadn't started talking. ... DO WE TAKE OUR Country Club for granted? Just another club in our community? If you do, do a little reevaluation of it as an asset to our city and county. It plays a heavy part in industry's evaluation of the community as an industrial site. It had its share in the overall picture which attracted the officials of Rockwell Manufacturing Company. It's a factor in every case of investigation of our possibilities as an industrial site. Sure there are other considerations more important—but we're convinced it plays a part in our future. It deserves its proper recognition.

While you and I sit in our air conditioned or fan cooled living rooms and read and worry about the next war which may or may not be just over the horizon, there are millions of men and women over the face of the earth who still fight the forgotten wars of yesterday.

HERE IN AMERICA there will be a time when we shall have to pay for the shameful neglect of those who have given us almost to the point of the supreme sacrifice in battle for our country. ... HERE IN AMERICA there will be a time when we shall have to pay for the shameful neglect of those who have given us almost to the point of the supreme sacrifice in battle for our country.

There is little, if any, room in our hospitals for these men. If they have lost a leg or an arm, or if they carry with them great scars in the flesh we will somehow, in our embarrassment, find a place for them. If they carry with them the never-ending battle of the war in their minds and if they cannot clear from their thoughts the horrors which have so brutally been tattooed there we call them "drunks" or "never-do-wells" and save our conscience the best way we can.

EVERY AMERICAN should,

as a part of the community.

DONE YOUR CHRISTMAS shopping yet? If not then you are already behind. Editions of last week's Atlanta and Savannah newspapers are carrying advertisements urging readers to get on with their shopping for Christmas. Got us worried. We thought 'we had plenty of time to get in our Christmas shopping. After all we got... my goodness only seventy-six shopping days! They're right, we better get busy!

LEO AKMAN has found us the writings of Mark Twain who said he felt sorry for the man without enough imagination to spell a word two ways.

at some time this year, visit one of the many hospitals across our land which houses the wounded of all our wars and sit and talk with them for just a little while. The members of the United Nations should return to their homelands once each year and visit one of their hospitals and see those who still fight the last battles conjured up by these leaders of the world and ask what they think was accomplished by the war.

While the guns sound and the planes roar there just isn't too much we can do for those who wear the uniform of our country. When the sound of battle is silenced and the war of words begins we slowly turn our minds away from all which is connected with the memory of the battle and soon all is forgotten in our time of peace.

HAVE WE FORGOTTEN the youngest whose father fell. Do we look at him, now in "high school" or college, many times a confused youngster who never had the guidance he so badly needed from a father, and just feel sorry for his family?

There are many who still live and fight the conflict of the older wars. In hospitals and camps in every state they sit in loneliness and oftentimes in complete despair as a forgotten group of people who won the Georgia Teachers College will open officially September 23, 1957 for the freshman class. With its opening begins a new little lonely. This is hard for us old timers to realize. The F.F.'s (First Families of Statesboro) just can't conceive of it. Nevertheless, I am told that new people spend lonely hours here.

WHEN WE came to Statesboro twenty-five years ago we found a friendly community, a warm church and a small family-like faculty. There was much entertaining where small groups enjoyed each other's company and we learned to love each other. All of this is a thing of the past. The community is becoming almost city-like, there are new people in the churches, and our faculty is two or three times as large as it was. Few people take time or have time to entertain each other in their homes.

WE USED to call on the newcomers in our church and on our faculty. Now we have grown most negligent about this, too. We hang our heads in shame. Perhaps the guilt should not be placed entirely on our heads. Very often calls were made but there was never a response or a return, shall we say? Very often the new people stayed a year or so and moved on.

NEVERTHELESS, there are those who come who desire friendship and we all ought to

THE BULLOCH HERALD

OUR SOIL • OUR STRENGTH • SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE By E. T. "RED" MULLIS

Lawrence Allmon, Soil Conservation Service trainee from Newton in Screven County, wound up his training session last week here in Bulloch. He returns to the University of Georgia in Athens where he will be a senior in the agricultural engineering school. Even though he was officially in a training capacity, he was also a lot of help to us here in Bulloch. We will greatly miss Lawrence. He will graduate next June and go out on his own unless he decides to take his master's degree which he is considering very seriously.

Last week we went around to see some results of our coordinated effort to get better ponds constructed in Bulloch by the S.C.S., Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District and the A.C.P. The results are outstanding.

J. I. Smith has a beautiful pond on his farm near Middle-ground. Felix DeLoach has a nice small pond on his farm near Clito. John D. Lee has a very dependable and beautiful pond on his farm in the Ogeechee Community. I could go on and on naming farmers who have benefited from this cooperation. A few will suffice to illustrate the point.

These small farmers could afford to build good ponds on their farms. The A.C.P. furnished about one-third of the cost of construction. The River Soil Conservation Service was able to furnish all the technical assistance needed.

Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau chapters working on 1958 membership campaign

Community Farm Bureau samples year year, provided they are evenly distributed over the year.

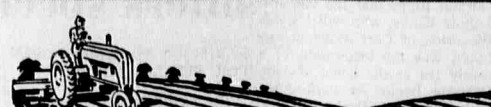

If your farm belongs in the 85 per cent where samples were not taken last year, you'd better check up and make certain what the fertility level of your fields and pastures are. You wouldn't apply fertilizer blind-folded. So why decide how much fertilizer to apply without first making a soil test?

FARM LIGHTING Now, before the short days and long nights of winter set in, is a good time to check up on the out-door lighting system around the farm. Some may need repairing and you might want to add new fixtures this year. Remember a well-lighted area is a safer area. Also for safety, be sure to use weather-proof wiring for all outside lighting fixtures.

Outdoor lights, besides aiding with early morning and late evening chores, can also do a lot to beautify a farm home. Two or three small floodlights will greatly enhance the beauty of a farm home or flower garden.

SWINE PROGRAM

What is the value of pasture in a swine program? Research is giving us some of the answers to that question. W. J. Hays, swine specialist, Agricultural Extension Service, University of Georgia College of Agriculture, says results of information on the subject show some interesting facts. The research was done at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station and Dr. O. M. Hale, assistant animal husbandman at the Coastal Plain Experiment Station in Georgia, has gathered

Nevils P.T.A. honors teachers at Nevils School Thursday night

By MRS. JIM ROWE

The regular meeting of the Nevils P.T.A. was held Thursday night of last week and was a reception for the teachers of the school.

Mrs. Teel Nesmith, chairman of the hospitality committee, met guests at the door. Mrs. Ray Trappnell, president, introduced the guests to the teachers.

A short program was given for the social hour. Those taking part were Mrs. Ray Trappnell, Penny Trappnell, Jane and Julia Bragan, Judy Nesmith, Donna Sue Martin, Martie Nesmith, Mrs. Ray Trappnell, Mrs. James E. Beall, principal of the Nevils School, introduced Dr. J. D. Park, the speaker for the evening.

Mrs. James E. Beall, principal of the Nevils School, introduced Dr. J. D. Park, the speaker for the evening. Dr. Park talked on the American Indians. The children were entertained with games and a short program under the direction of Miss Leila White, with Sandra Neel, chairman of the children's party.

Jane Bragan and Miss Maude the information from the tests. He says no men often have overlooked the advantages of good pasture for brood sows. His effort to lead a greater utilization and return to the economic advantages when grazed by brood sows than by other classes of hogs.

During the fall of 1954 the Kentucky workers evenly divided twenty brood sows at breeding time placed them in either a field of approximately one acre of Balbo rye or in a dry lot of same size. The rye was well fertilized and drilled at the rate of four bushels per acre. The sows were hand fed twice a day a well balanced complete mixed ration. The daily amount of each group of sows was regulated so that the sows on rye and those in dry lot gained about the same during the gestation period.

The sows grazing the rye farmed more pigs and at the same time required less grain and supplement than the sows in the dry lot. On the basis of the total feed cost per sow, the acre of Balbo rye saved $94.35 worth of feed, according to Kentucky workers' calculations. That the rye provided valuable nutrients for the brood sows having access to it is suggested by the fact they farrowed 0.7 of a pig more per litter than the others. The tests were continued during the winter of 1955-56 but more about the next week.

SOIL TESTING

Agonomists at the University of Georgia Agricultural Extension Service say soil testing is basic to a sound fertility program. It is impossible to give accurate, practical and economical fertilizer and lime recommendations for raising the fertility level of any soil without first knowing what the soil needs. Soil testing is the only means available for finding out what a soil needs for optimum crop production.

BRIDE-ELECT CENTRAL FIGURE AT LOVELY TEA
On Friday afternoon Miss Jean Banks, daughter of Mrs. Gordon Riggs and the late Mr. Lennie Banks, who will become the bride of Carl Atkins in October, was the inspiration of a lovely tea at the home of Mrs. Osborne Banks on Park Ave. with Mrs. Edwin Banks and Mrs. Edna Beasley co-hostesses with Mrs. Banks.

The living room and reception hall were decorated with white gladioli and ferns. The bride's table in the dining room was overlaid with white satin damask cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white pom poms and button chrysanthemums, mingled with ivy.

At each end of the table were four branched candelabra with epergnes filled with chrysanthemums and ivy.

Miss Glenda Banks served lunch from a crystal bowl at one end of the table. Opposite Miss Banks, Barbara Anderson served individual cake from a silver tray.

Mrs. Bernard Banks, Mrs. Edna Beasley and Mrs. J. W. Donaldson Jr. were assisted in serving by Misses Beverly Joyner and Jane Smith.

The guests were greeted on arrival by Mrs. Edwin Banks and were introduced to the line by Mrs. Carlos Brunson.

In the line with the bride-elect were Mrs. Osborne Banks, Mrs. Gordon Riggs, Miss Banks, and her grandmother, Mrs. R. L. Lanier, and Mrs. Henry Atkins, grandmother of the groom.

Mrs. Rufus Anderson directed the tea guests to the dining room where Mrs. Edna Beasley was hostess. Mrs. Homer Cason was at the door as the guests departed.

Fifty guests called between 3:30 and 5 p. m.

MRS. MACON HOSTESS TO TALLY CLUB
On Wednesday morning of last week Mrs. Hal Macon entertained the Tally Club and other friends at her home on North College Street.

Mixed arrangements of flowers were used in the decorations.

Chicken and lettuce salad, crackers, olives, brownies and iced tea were served on the arrival of the guests. After the games mixed nuts and Coca-Cola were served.

Mrs. George Byrd received a stunning leopard skin scarf for high score. For low, Mrs. Chatham Alderman won a ball point pen set. Mrs. Ben Ray Turner's prize for cut was a pink flower container accented with rhinestones and flowers. A nifty little lapel pen went to Mrs. Fred Hodges Jr. for best talking.

Recreation Center offers special service

PAVILION TO REMAIN OPEN FOR SPECIAL SERVICE

The pavilion at the Memorial Swim Center will remain open in the afternoons for special groups to enjoy the snack bar and other facilities along with the general public. Groups and individuals are invited to use the pavilion area for parties, skating, picnicking, and etc. during the after school hours and on Saturday morning until noon. There is no charge for the use of the area. Reservations will not be accepted however, since the area will be open to the public at all times.

Young people who wish to entertain their friends at a Coke or Pepsi party or a hot dog party are invited to be among those using the facilities. Each snack bar will offer a limited service to the public consisting of ice cream and beverage privileges.

Mothers having birthday parties in the area in the afternoon will be invited to store other game materials at the bar for serving their group. Youngsters may check out tennis rackets, card games, skates and other game materials at the bar. Michael Rogers will manage the bar during the fall months.

Plan now to call your friends and have a skating party at the pavilion in Memorial Park.

H.G.I. CLUB PLEDGES LARGE GROUND
The members of the Happy Go Lucky Club this year is pledging one of the largest groups in the history of the Club as some 40 pledges attended the first meeting. More are expected to join later. The membership will be about 70 for the year. The club meets on Monday night at the Recreation Center on Fair Road and is under the direction of Mrs. Don Russell.

The dues are $1.00 and other dues are 50 cents per month. Girls in the sixth and seventh grades are invited to join the club.

GIRL SCOUT REGISTRATION UNDER WAY
All girls in the second through the seventh grades are invited to join the ranks of more than 100 scouts expected to take part in the program sponsored by the Recreation Department this year. Already more than seven scouts have registered for the new year.

The swimming pool building is being renovated for use in the sports and activity program. The football program and the girl scout program uses this building for their activities.

The girl scout program is under the direction of Mrs. Virgil Donaldson, who serves as the coordinator and handles the leadership training for the Recreation Department.

More leaders are needed in the Scouting program. The Recreation Department hopes that none of the troops will have to be dropped for the lack of volunteer leadership.

BIRTHDAY PARTIES AT THE CENTER
Parents of small children wishing to use the Recreation Center on Fair Road, the East Side Center or the Blitch Street Center on Saturday afternoons for birthday parties are permitted to do so. Arrangements are to be made at each of the centers. There is no fee. Hours are 3 to 5 p. m. and reservations may be made only for Saturday afternoons.

Miss Morris was lovely in a black velvet dress with off-shoulder neckline, with bodice draped caught with lovely rone stone pin.

Forty guests were invited.

LUNCHEON FOR MISS MORRIS
On Monday, September 9, Mrs. J. P. Foy and Mrs. Aubert Brannen were co-hostesses at a luncheon honoring Miss Jane Morris, bride-elect of September 15, at Mrs. Foy's home on South Main Street.

Dominating the decorations in the dining room was the arrangement of yellow and white gladioli in a silver bowl used as a centerpiece for the table. The four course luncheon was served in lovely blue and white china.

The place cards were white with miniature yellow bouquets and wedding rings.

Their gift to Jane was a silver tray. Eight luncheon guests were present.

MISS MORRIS FETED AT BRIDGE
Mrs. James Rushing and Miss Barbara Hodges were hostesses at a bridge party at Hodges Party House Tuesday, September 10, honoring Miss Jane Morris, bride-elect.

The table from which refreshments were served was covered with a white linen cloth. At the end of the table facing the entrance were two white styrofoam hearts serving as a background for clusters of pink frosted grapes and tendrils of ivy, sparkled with stardust, and pink carnations.

Party plates were gay and festive with congealed rainbow salad, ribbon sandwiches, a generous slice of chocolate cake and wedding ring punch.

Miss Lucy Melfon received an honorarium a teaspoon in her chosen silver.

Those present were Pat Lamb, Glenda Banks, Barbara Anderson, Judy Williams, Martha Sue Smith, Virginia Chapman, Penny Rimes, Mary Ann Hodges, Mary Ann DeLoach, Rose Franklin, Lorraine Nabers and Romana Lee.

The bride's place was marked with a wishing ball, large and white and covered with miniature flowers from which white satin streamers fanned out.

The guests in turn unwound the tape on the ball until they came to wish for the bride. When it reached Jane she read the concluding wish. All along the tape miniature toys and ornaments were used.

The guests were served a fruit cup, ham and eggs, grits, toast, breakfast, blacuit, jelly and coffee followed by cookies and minis.

Those present were Miss Morris, her mother, Mrs. B. B. Morris, Mrs. James Rushing, Mrs. Jerry Lane, Mrs. McGlamery, Misses Charlotte Blitch, Doris Rector, Martha Tinker, Anne Preston and Mrs. Prince Preston.

Statesboro Midgets whip Sylvania 20-0

By GIL CONE JR.

In the first home game of the season, the Statesboro Midgets Varsity football team defeated the Sylvania Midgets 20-0, with only three plays run from scrimmage by the local team. Four hundred fans watched the colorful game by the Midgets team, composed of boys eleven through thirteen years of age with a hundred and fifteen pound weight limit.

The first half started with Statesboro kicking to Sylvania. The Sylvania team moved the ball from their own twenty to the Statesboro line by caused Sylvania to take the kick. The kick was taken by fullback Larry Mallard of Hampton, South Carolina.

1957 Soil Bank has important new authority

The Soil Bank's Conservation Reserve program, announced recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, gives county A.S.C. committees important new authority in increasing certain payment rates, John C. Cromley, chairman of the Bulloch Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said today.

The Conservation Reserve program is open for participation by all farmers, whether or not they have an acreage allotment for "basic" crops. Major emphasis under the 1958 program will be on removing idle farming lands from production and on encouraging forestry and wildlife conservation practices.

To take part in the program, a farmer signs a contract with his county A.S.C. committee, agreeing to divert a certain number of acres of cropland to conservation uses for periods of 3, 5, and 10 years.

Under 5 and 10-year contracts, he receives a cost-sharing payment (up to 50 per cent) for the establishment of a conservation use. Under all contracts, annual per-acre rental payments are made to the farmer.

Under 3-year contracts, he receives a cost-sharing payment (up to 50 per cent) for the establishment of a conservation use. Under all contracts, annual per-acre rental payments are made to the farmer.

Preston says President Eisenhower has 'damaged the fibre of our nation'

Congressman Prince Preston gave members of the Statesboro and Bulloch County Chamber of Commerce a lesson in Constitutional history Tuesday as he reviewed the several amendments which have been playing such prominent parts in the recent actions of the U. S. Supreme Court and the President of the United States.

He reviewed, step by step, the event which led up to the President's sending federal troops in to Little Rock, Ark. He stated that Governor Faubus acted wisely in assigning the National Guard at Central High School to prevent violence expected with the admission of the nine Negro youth to that school.

He was severe in his statement about President Eisenhower's historic action in calling out federal troops. He said:

"President Eisenhower has done something to American pride and patriotism it will not soon forget. He has damaged the real fibre of our nation. He has placed a bayonet in the hands of those who would destroy the Constitution of our government. He has revealed his secret feeling about state sovereignty. His dastardly deed sprang from anger at the white people of the South rather than from an altruistic urge to help the colored people of our country. He has placed a bayonet in the hands of those who would destroy the Constitution of our government. He has revealed his secret feeling about state sovereignty. His dastardly deed sprang from anger at the white people of the South rather than from an altruistic urge to help the colored people of our country.
