STARVING OUT
BOLL WEEVILS

One way to cut down the number of boll weevils is to destroy cotton stalks as soon as cotton is picked, says D. L. Brannon, agronomist - cotton, Extension Station, Georgia Experiment Station.

Use either a stalk shredder or a type of plow that will turn under the stalks. Killing the stalks forces the adult boll weevils to go into winter quarters in a starved and weakened condition and many will die before spring.

STATESBORO GARDEN CLUB AT HOME OF MRS. BERNARD MCDUGALD
The Statesboro Garden Club met on Thursday afternoon, November 12, at the lovely new home of Mrs. Bernard McDougald on College Boulevard.

Mrs. J. C. Hines as co-hostess.

Mrs. Prince Preston, president, presided at the business session after which Mrs. Claude Howard introduced Dr. Zoltan Farkas of Georgia Teachers' College.

Farkas discussed the selection, planting and care of bulbs. He also brought out many new and interesting ideas on the subject. One suggestion which seemed especially good for sandy soil was that of planting bulbs in holes just large enough to accommodate the bulb and subsequent root growth. By doing this, instead of spading the entire bed, the soil around the holes stays firm thus helping to hold the fertilizer near the roots, instead of being washed away.

Before the meeting closed the members discussed the arrangements brought for criticism. These were appropriate for use on Thanksgiving Day tables. The arrangements were brought by Mrs. Buren Altman and Mrs. Olan Stubbs. Mrs. Stubbs used bronze shades of dried materials in one large and two smaller cornucopias. Mrs. Altman had arranged yellow chrysanthemums in a low bowl.

Eighteen members were present.

TOO LITTLE, TOO LATE is the way we Dodge dealers feel about competitors' efforts to match the Swept-Wing '58. They lowered the roof some, but left the sides high. Their windshields got smaller while ours got bigger. So much for styling. Then, for another important comparison, take ride. Here's Dodge with Torque-Aire suspension that just about everybody admits is the greatest advance in sway-free, dip-free, silent going that any car offers. So what do these other cars do? They borrow an air suspension system that's been used in buses for two years! (Costing well over $100.00 extra.) And most of 'em still don't have push-button driving—much less Dodge Torque-Aire—the proven automatic transmission. If you're a little disappointed in the '58 version of your car, come on in and see our Swept-Wing '58. The others are catching on—but they can't catch up.

Chapter IV — Installment 5

Statesboro

Editor's Note: This week we continue "The Story of Bulloch County" which we began on August 29. This week we continue describing the early business community here.

The Courthouse is situated on the highest ridge between the Ogeechee River and the Canoochee River. It marked then, as it marks today the center of town. It is a fact that the water that drips off the northern eaves of the building finds its way down the little stream by the Central of Georgia Railway depot to Mill Creek and thence to the Ogeechee River. That which drips off the South side runs down the little branch by the old Savannah and Statesboro depot into Little Lotts Creek and thence to the Canoochee River.

The year the new Courthouse was completed the following lawyers were practicing in Statesboro: J. A. Brannen and S. L. Moore Jr. as Brannen and Moore; H. B. Strange and Geo. W. Williams as Strange and Williams; Dan R. Groover and G. S. Johnston as Groover and Johnston; H. G. Everett and Robert Lee Moore.

Business flourishes

During this year while the Courthouse was under construction business in town continued to flourish. Mrs. Emma Griner was operating the "Rustin House" and Margaret Lee was proprietress of the "Lee Hotel."

D. P. Averitt was operating as a wholesale and retail manufacturer of and dealer in yellow pine lumber. A. M. Johnson was agent for the New Home Sewing Machine Company, and J. W. Olliff and Company sold W. L. Douglas shoes. S. W. Sutton was operating the "Statesboro Barber Shop" and J. P. Fields was dispensing ice cold soda water. W. T. Smith was running a livery, feed and sale stable and Wm. Huggins was a practical brick layer. George J. Davis was painting buggies and carriages and repairing them "good as new." Mrs. S. A. Wilson was making hats for the lady folk and R. F. Donaldson was operating a general merchandise store handling clothing, dry goods, notions and groceries. And for those who would go to school Parker and Smith sold school books.

Doctors in Statesboro who were attending the sick and afflicted during this year included Dr. M. M. Holland, Dr. J. H. Chandler, Dr. A. H. Mathews, Dr. J. S. Dusenbury, J. B. Cone, surgeon dentist and L. J. McLean, dentist.

By 1897 the late Gus Floyd, one of the town's leading Negro citizens, had established his barber shop where Lanier Jewelers now stands and haircuts were twenty-five cents and a shave was only ten cents. G. L. Davis had opened a gunsmith, sewing machine and bicycle repair shop. Mr. J. L. Mathews had been named superintendent of the Dover and Statesboro Railway which had been completed on November 16, 1889, and made the ten miles between the two stations in forty-five minutes.

In 1897 long staple (Sea Island) cotton was selling for 9 1/2 to 10 1/2 cents per pound and short staple cotton was bringing 4 1/4 to 4 1/2 cents per pound. Mrs. Sarah E. Brannen re-opened "The Drummers' Home" on North Main Street near the courthouse square and was offering rooms for $2 per day and furnishing free hack service to and from the railroad depot and a free sample room. H. B. Franklin was offering the newest buggies and the fastest horses at "The Bon Ton Stables," and advertising teams and drivers furnished at all hours, day or night. "The Racket Store" was offering a good black clay worsted suit for $6, "worth $10." A bargain in ladies' fine shoes were offered for $2 reduced from $2.50. "A nice line of all wool red and white flannel from 12 to 24 cents a yard" was offered by this store. C. A. Lanier was offering capes at a bargain as well as stock food for making hogs fatten in a hurry.

Mr. J. Z. Kendrick was the agent for the Rocky Ford Brick Company and J. G. Mitchell announced that he was ready to "build anything from a baby carriage to an omnibus."

In the last week in November of 1897 the Kell Rifles put on a big entertainment at the opera house and paraded the streets in dress uniform and practiced volley firing. On November 27, 1897, Miss Minnie Mathews and Mr. W. L. Zetrouer were united in the bonds of wedlock by the Rev. J. A. Scarboro.

At the year's end in 1897 Maxey E. Grimes had firmly established his jewelry and optician business which he began in 1892. W. Ward set up a shoe repair shop and S. B. Kennedy opened a new dental office in the Olliff building.

And on December 17, 1897 a play entitled "Ten Nights in a Barroom" was presented in the Academy.

First bank is organized

While the new Courthouse was in the process of construction in 1894 the businessmen of the town began feeling the need of a place to bank their funds and that year the Bank of Statesboro was organized with a capital stock of $50,000. D. R. Groover was made president and H. S. Blitch, cashier. The board directors included B. T. Outland, J. C. White, J. C. Jones, J. A. Fulcher, J. W. Olliff, D. R. Groover and H. S. Blitch.

By 1900 the population of Statesboro had increased to 1,150 and the need of another bank was felt resulting in the organization of the Sea Island Bank in 1901 with capital stock of $25,000. Judge John F. Brannen was named first president with Mr. R. F. Donaldson, cashier. The directors were R. Simmons, J. A. Brannen, S. F. Olliff, F. D. Olliff and M. M. Holland.

Three years later in 1904 the First National Bank was organized with capital stock of $25,000. Brooks Simmons was named the first president with J. E. McCroan, cashier. The board of directors were F. P. Register, W. W. Williams, F. N. Grimes, M. G. Brannen, Jas. B. Rushing and F. E. Fields.

In 1902 Statesboro's water supply came from W. D. Davis' Water Works. He had an artesian well about 400 feet deep and because there was no natural flow from the well water was pumped into all sections of the town through a system of pipes. In 1903 a stock company was organized with a capital of $20,000 for the purpose of improving the water plant and put in a system of electric lights. However there was a delay in securing the franchise from the City Council made up of J. G. Blitch, J. C. Jones, W. H. Simmons, J. L. Olliff and A. J. Franklin and Mayor G. S. Johnston, and it was not until later that the system was installed.

Forester C. Nelson Brightwell, Agricultural Extension Service, says trees that have been "worked out" for naval stores should be harvested as soon as possible to permit young pines to become established.

That year the tax digest for the town showed $352,528 of which $348,308 was returned by white citizens and $4,220 was returned by Negro citizens.

Residents of the town that year could purchase ice from the Statesboro Ice Manufacturing Company "manufacturers of hygienic ice from distilled water and bottlers of high grade soda waters" or from the Statesboro Bottling Works, "D. Barnes and Company, proprietors, manufacturers of high grade soda water."

The plant of the Statesboro Ice Manufacturing Co. was located on the site where now stands the old Savannah and Statesboro Railway depot at the foot of East Vine Street. J. Gordon Blitch was president. David P. Morgan, vice president and J. Landrum George, general manager and treasurer.

Statesboro's first industry

It was during 1902-03 that Statesboro's first "industry" was established. "The Oil Mill" was located on fifteen acres of land on the Southeastern border of the town, on the site of the present Darby Lumber Company. The cotton seed mill was erected by a group of local "capitalists" who put up $30,000 for the plant. J. W. Olliff was president and J. W. Wilson was general manager.

In the early 1900's Statesboro claimed to be one of the great dry goods centers in this section. Merchants here bought all the staple lines of dry goods such as domestics, sheetings, shirtings, ticking, jeans, by the carload. The three largest dry goods houses in town sent buyers every fall to the Boston markets to renew their stocks. There was little demand for the cheaper grades of goods for the lady folk dressed in "something better than the shoddy stuff found in other towns the size of Statesboro." Flannels, worsteds and cashmeres were in heavy demand.

Indicative of the status of Statesboro is an editorial a 1903 issue of the Statesboro News:

"It was an everyday sight to see farmers' wagons from Tattall, Emanuel, Liberty, Screven, Bryan and

Health Department warns Bulloch County citizens of rabid animals

Two more Bulloch County citizens were bitten by rabid animals and began anti-rabic treatment last week, according to Dr. Hubert King, medical director of the Bulloch County Health Department.

The two new cases bring the total to seven persons bitten or otherwise exposed to rabies during the past six weeks as a result of the serious outbreak of rabies in the county. "The Health Department views the situation as very serious and hopes that the public will cooperate to the fullest extent in the rabies control program now being conducted in the county," stated Dr. King.

Of those bitten or exposed to rabid animals, one person has been bitten by a fox, one by a rabbit, and one exposed to a rabbit. A fox-trap program is currently being conducted by the county under the supervision of the Health Department. This trapping program is being conducted in the northern part of the county in the vicinity of Port, Blitch and Ruby Parish for the purpose of trapping foxes which can obtain fox traps by calling the Health Department.

"Apparently the public is still unaware of the seriousness of this danger, since fox people are having their dogs inoculated against rabies," stated Dr. King. To control this outbreak, it is urged that all dogs be immediately inoculated, that stray dogs and cats be eradicated, and that the large fox population in the county be reduced by a new season standard of 401 net per fox. ## Blue Devils defeat Swainsboro 39 to 0; To play Lakeview in Rossville Dec. 6

Statesboro's Blue Devils won two football games within five days and the Tuesday night win over Swainsboro clinched the Region 2-A title for the second straight year.

Last Friday night Coach Ernest Williams' team defeated Swainsboro County High of Millen 22 to 6, in a non-league encounter. Tuesday night the margin was 39 to 0 over Swainsboro, and the win was Statesboro's ninth in a row.

The team earned the right to oppose Lakeview High School at Rossville on Friday night, December 6, for the semi-final state Class A playoff. The Blue Devils are defending co-state champions, having tied Carrollton 6-6 in a muddy 1956 state final.

The Millen game was played immediately following a very hard downpour and a cold wind. The locals played just well enough to win and were congratulated by the crowd. The issue was no longer in doubt. Fred Shearouse opened the scoring with a 3-yard dash to pay dirt in the first quarter. Quarterback Ben Hagan tallied from 27 yards out in the second quarter and Statesboro led at halftime 13 to 0.

In the third quarter neither team could move the ball until Pete Roberts tackled Wendell Waters of Millen in his end zone for a safety and Ben Hagan completed a 65-yard pass to Ralph Howard for a touchdown. Janson converted twice in three attempts.

Waters moved Millen well via the passing route in the second half, passing to Tommy Neal for one score and moving his team to the one-foot line of Statesboro as the final gun sounded.

The Swainsboro win came a little easier and marked the fifth time this year that Statesboro has shut out the opposition.

Long runs broke the back of Swainsboro coupled with an alert defense which didn't permit them a closer visit to the Statesboro goal line than the 38-yard line. In the first quarter neither team could move the ball until Pete Roberts intercepted a Swainsboro screen pass and returned it 22 yards for a touchdown.

In the second quarter Shearouse and Ben Hagan scored a touchdown apiece on runs of 12 and 10 yards. Janson converted after the third score.
