Negroes say thanks for Blitch Street Center

In no better way can we celebrate National Recreation Month than by expressing our thanks and appreciation to the city of Statesboro, its officials and the Recreation Department for our Blitch Street Community Center.

Few parents realize the true value of play. Though children learn to learn a living and school is essential, they also need to learn about life itself. They learn most readily at play.

Through supervised activities at the center, our children are learning to build sound standards for themselves; they are learning how to get along with people and how to behave in general.

It is our hope that our entire community will progressively continue to cooperate with the program give the supervisor and sports director the support that they deserve and our children the chance to live fully.

To those who have worked for us and have made our center a reality we extend our gratitude.

Have you ever heard someone say "I love reading but I never have a minute to read"? Your Public Library reminds you that even a few minutes spent each day in reading adds up at the year's end to much profit and pleasure.

Nevils Methodist Youth Fellowship presents program Sunday night

By MRS. JIM ROWE

The Nevils M.Y.F. will have a unique program next Sunday night. Many of the members have done extensive traveling and have had many rich experiences during the months of June.

Alwynne Burnes, past president, was chosen to attend "Boys State" at Georgia Tech for one week recently, where he had some rich geographical experiences which he will share with the group Sunday night at the regular M.Y.F. meeting.

John Thomas Hodges, vice president, has just returned from an extended trip to St. Louis, Chicago and other cities with all expenses paid by the publisher of "Farm and Ranch" magazine.

He will also share his experiences with the group. Judy Nesmith, secretary, returned Sunday night from a week at Epworth-by-the Sea where she attended the annual Youth Conference. Judy will give a detailed account of the conference to the group Sunday night.

Stork Shower for Mrs. Waldo Lewis. Mrs. Walton Nesmith entertained Thursday afternoon of last week with a lovely Stork Shower in honor of Mrs. Waldo Lewis. Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. J. M. Lewis and Mrs. D. W. Bragan.

Delicious refreshments, consisting of party sandwiches, cookies, potato chips, and punch, were served. Baby blue and pink baby shoes filled with salted peanuts were given as favors. The money received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Judy Nesmith spent last week at Epworth-by-the-Sea at St. Simons Island.

MORNING PARTY COMPLIMENT TO PATRICIA BRANNEN

Mrs. Cliff Bradley and her daughter, Mrs. Bob Darby of Jacksonville, entertained with a morning party, Monday, July 7, in the private dining room at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen, honoring Mrs. Patricia Brannen, bride-elect of early fall.

The table was centered with a beautiful arrangement of pale cream glads and rubrum lilies. An original bridal game which challenged the artistic talent was very clever. Note paper, tied with bridal ribbons and a pencil, were handed out to the guests with the assignment that each girl present draw her conception of a beautiful bouquet for a bride. Mrs. Aubert S. Brannen Jr. was the winner. Her prize was a whisk brush.

The guests were served a congealed salad, chicken salad sandwiches, cheese straws and punch.

The guests were Miss Brannen, her mother, Mrs. H. L. Brannen, Mrs. Henry Blitch, mother of the groom-elect, and Jimmy's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Dan Blitch Sr., Patricia's grandmother, Mrs. Julian Brannen, Mrs. Robert Smith and Mrs. Aubert Brannen Jr.

Patricia was lovely in a pink and white polished cotton sun dress with a tiered skirt worn with a small white hat with pink rosette trim.

Children from Keith's Sunday school and the nursery and other friends were invited.

MISS CANUETTE HONORED BY FORMER NEIGHBORS

On Saturday afternoon Mrs. Billy Cone, Mrs. C. E. Cone, Mrs. Edward Cone and Mrs. Si Waters were co-hostesses at Mrs. Billy Cone's home on Lakewood Road honoring Miss Lila Ann Canuette at a lovely buffet luncheon.

Day lilies decorated the living room. A large mixed arrangement of summer flowers was used at one end of the dining table from which the guests served themselves.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Knight, Miss Lila Ann Canuette, Bill Knight, Mr. and Mrs. John Grapp, Cecil Canuette, the Rev. Robert Smith, Harold Hunzicker, Jimmy Tillman, and Miss Dolly Brunson of Springfield, Misses Jane Beatty, June Edenfield, and Gail and Ann Grapp.

BRIDESMAIDS LUNCHEON

Mrs. Waldo E. Floyd, Mrs. J. P. Colberry and Mrs. John Foy Sr. were hostesses at the bridesmaids' luncheon Saturday, June 28, at Mrs. Floyd's home.

Miss Canuette and her attendants and the ladies from out of town were seated at two tables, one in the dining room and the other on the enclosed porch. The tables, overlaid with white linen, were artistically decorated with white bells with silver clippers.

Lovely bouquets of stalla daisies with English ivy trailing the length of the tables added to the charm.

The hostesses' gift to the bride was a dozen hemstitched linen tea napkins.

Lila Ann wore for this party a white linen sheath dress with a round yoke in front, sweeping down in the back for a deep V, dramatically accented by a black stole. She wore a small black and white hat.

Lila Ann presented silver buck marks to her attendants.

Miss Lynn Collins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Collins, reports a wonderful time at music camp at the University of the South, Seawane, Tenn.

R. E. McLemore of Albany, Ga. joined his family, Mrs. R. E. McLemore and children, Andrea, Gail and Bobby Jr., who have been with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orville McLemore on Thursday night through the Fourth. Esther McLemore is enrolled in the teacher's workshop at G.T.C.

Visiting the Grady Attorneys for the Fourth of July holidays were Mrs. Attaway's sisters, Misses Mae and Edna Williams and her brother, Ray Williams, all of Atlanta.

Mrs. Louise Simmons, Bridal Consultant, can plan your wedding to perfection. H. W. Smith, Jeweler's complete National Bridal Service offers every bride undreamed of services in planning that wonderful day.

REHEARSAL PARTY FOR CANUETTE-KNIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Knight of Bushnell, Fla., entertained the bride and groom, the attendants and out-of-town guests with a lovely party at Hodges Party House Friday evening for the Canuette-Knight wedding.

The bride's table was centered with a low arrangement of white flowers, flanked by candelabra with the centers showering white flowers, greenery and bridal satin streamers.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Knight, Miss Lila Ann Canuette, Bill Knight, Mr. and Mrs. John Grapp, Cecil Canuette, the Rev. Robert Smith, Harold Hunzicker, Jimmy Tillman, and Miss Dolly Brunson of Springfield, Misses Jane Beatty, June Edenfield, and Gail and Ann Grapp.

Her long hair became a problem

Because her hair was too long to have it cut off. For sixty-four years Miss Eunice Futch had no trouble with her hair. She just took good care of it, never doing anything to it except to wash it in rain water when she felt it needed washing.

Then not too long ago Miss Futch became ill and had to go to see the doctor, for the first time in her life, as a patient. She then spent ten days in the local hospital and then went to the Eugene Talmadge Hospital in Augusta for further treatment.

It was in the hospitals that her hair became a problem, for you see, Miss Futch's hair is not just ordinary hair. Red in color, without a sign of graying, Miss Futch was unable to care for it while lying in bed and the nurses were unable to help her with it. When she returned to her home with her sister near Stillson, she found that her problem was still with her. So she cut her hair off.

The reason Miss Futch's hair had become a problem was that it was longer than she is tall, nearly three feet longer than her five feet four inches height. One "switch," which she described as a "short switch" measures six feet. And managing hair that long created her problem which she solved by cutting it off.

While combing her hair she stood on sheets of paper on the floor in order to keep the ends clean.

Miss Futch is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Futch of Bryan County. She was born on August 22, 1893. Until she was eight years of age she wore her hair in a single bob. She is one of five children, three of whom are still living. She lives with her sister and her brother lives close by near Stillson.

430 in swimming program at Center

Some 430 youngsters are now enrolled in the swimming instruction program at the Swim Center according to information released today by the Statesboro Recreation Department. A breakdown on attendance figures shows that some 36 per cent of the students came from outside the Statesboro area. Even with the extension of the city limits this year the rural attendance in the program continues well above the one-third mark.

Recreation officials stated that the instruction program this year would be extended through the month of August in order that all those who are away for the summer might have the opportunity to take advantage of the instruction program. An increased demand for adult instruction is being made on the department according to Max Lockwood, recreation superintendent. Mr. Lockwood stated that this service will be available to adults later in the summer. Adults may register by phone if they are interested in enrolling in classes and then they will be notified when classes begin.

The registration figure is expected to top the 400 mark set in the program in 1957. New students may enroll in classes any Monday at 10 a. m. when they will be classified at the Memorial Swim Center. New students must enter the water to be classified.

Eat-A-Rama
set at Recreation Center July 23

The Statesboro Recreation Department today released plans for the first annual Hot Dog Eating Contest. Sponsored jointly with the Robbins Packing Company, the contest is being called the first annual Eat-A-Rama.

Scheduled for Wednesday, July 23, at 5 p. m. on the pavilion at the Memorial Swim Center, the event will give boys and girls eight through twelve the opportunity to see who can eat the most of those famous Robbins Hot Dogs. Eight-year-olds against eight-year-olds etc. Youngsters will compete in their own age group and the contest for boys and girls will be held separately.

Prizes in the contest will be announced at a later date. It is anticipated that a large number of youngsters will enter the contest and the public is cordially invited to watch the fun. The contest will last for fifteen minutes with the youngster who downs the most for his age being declared the winner in his group.

July has been recognized nationwide as Hot Dog Month by the United States Chamber of Commerce.

BILL BODENHAMER
CANDIDATE FOR ELECTION GOVERNOR OF GEORGIA

Mr. Preston, who has served for 12 years in Congress, spent last week here making plans for his campaign for a new term, which would be his seventh. Among the preparations was the setting up of campaign headquarters for the coming campaign on the third floor of the Bulloch County Bank Building.

"I plan to wage an active campaign which will carry me all over the First District," Mr. Preston said. "Since Congress is in session, I may find it necessary to make several trips to Washington to vote on vital legislation."

During his trips to Washington to vote on bills and while touring the district this summer, Mr. Preston's headquarters will be in charge of Joe M. McClellan, his staff assistant.

Preston names
Bill Bowen
campaign mgr.

Congressman Prince H. Preston has named Statesboro Mayor Bill Bowen as his 1958 campaign manager and announced the opening of his campaign headquarters in the Bulloch County Bank building here.

Mayor Bowen, a life-long friend of Congressman Preston, has been Statesboro's mayor since 1952. A native of Bulloch County, he is active in civic and church affairs.

"I am happy to announce the appointment of Mayor Bowen as my campaign manager," the Congressman said. "Mr. Bowen is well known throughout the First Congressional District and has enjoyed a long and close association with a great number of the people of the district."

Mr. Preston, who has served for 12 years in Congress, spent last week here making plans for his campaign for a new term, which would be his seventh. Among the preparations was the setting up of campaign headquarters for the coming campaign on the third floor of the Bulloch County Bank Building.

"I plan to wage an active campaign which will carry me all over the First District," Mr. Preston said. "Since Congress is in session, I may find it necessary to make several trips to Washington to vote on vital legislation."

During his trips to Washington to vote on bills and while touring the district this summer, Mr. Preston's headquarters will be in charge of Joe M. McClellan, his staff assistant.

Hagan sets up
platform

G. Elliott Hagan, Screven County farmer and businessman who will oppose incumbent First District Rep. Prince H. Preston of Statesboro in coming congressional election, Monday announced a nine-plank platform advocating segregation, maintenance of states' rights and "foolish spending abroad" by the Federal Government.

Hagan promised to "go to Washington with no strings attached and beholden to no one but the voters of my district," adding that he will give regular reports on how he regards public issues.

The candidate also pledged himself to "oppose with vigor any measures 'designed to drive the small farmer off the farm,' referring to the current Republican farm program.

Hagan also promised "all-out effort to obtain more industry for the district," adding that he will aim for industry which will supplement farm income and stabilize local economies.

He urged adoption of a "strong and consistent" foreign policy which will not be dependent on "dollar diplomacy" and giveaway programs.

Other planks in Hagan's platform pledged the candidate's efforts to reduce taxes, support fair labor legislation and a "sensible" veterans program, and to promote "practical measures to safeguard the national security."

A veteran of World War II, Hagan has served five terms as representative and one as senator in the Georgia Legislature.

He is married to the former Miss Julia Carroll and they are continued on page 10

Inman Foy plays world's champ checker, chess player to a draw

It will come as a surprise to many who know Inman Foy, prominent farmer, businessman and member of the Statesboro City Council, played the world's champion checker player to a draw in a game of checkers at the Recreation Center on Wednesday night of last week.

Mr. Foy was among checker and chess players from Statesboro, Savannah, and other sections of the state, who came here to challenge Tom Wiswell, world unrestricted champion at checkers and chess.

Mr. Wiswell is on a U. S. tour and came here and met all comers on the pavilion at Memorial Swim Center.

Among the local players who gave the world's champ trouble were F. C. Parker Sr., Charlie Byrd, Roy Boxer and Hobson Wyatt. Some of the chess players included Henry McCormick, Wallis Cobb Jr. and John Deke, of Statesboro and Spencer Conner and Pearce Conner and Henry Rueter of Savannah.

As a finale to the exhibition, Mr. Wiswell played Mr. Foy a "Blind" game with Foy as the mover for the chess champion. The game ended in a draw.

More than 150 spectators from this section were on hand to marvel at the skill of the local players as they took on the champion.

Mr. Wiswell was sponsored by the Statesboro Recreation Department.

Statesboro tobacco market to open with 11 warehouses set

When the Statesboro tobacco market, already the largest in the Georgia-Florida Belt, opens here Tuesday, July 29, the marketing facilities will be even larger with the addition of another mammoth warehouse.

The eleven warehouses here have a total floor space of approximately 700,000 square feet. One which is designated as Aulbert J. Brannen, formerly a partner in the Sheppard Warehouse, has constructed a new modern 60,000 square foot house located on South Zetterower Avenue.

The new warehouse, located on U. S. 301, north, at Packing Shouse Road, is constructed with metal and steel and will be operated in connection with Brannen's No. 2 warehouse located on South Zetterower Avenue.

The Sheppard interest will continue to operate the large Sheppard warehouse on South College Street.

The Cobb and Foxhall Warehouses on South College Street, is operated by W. E. Cobb, W. E. Cobb Jr. and Erastus Atkins.

The Farmers Warehouse on U. S. 301 north, will be operated by Guy Sutton.

The New Statesboro Warehouse on Hill Street is operated by Cecil Woodson, George Suggs and Ed Wiggins.

The tobacco crops in this section is good, although much lighter in weight than last year. The crop is from two to three weeks late, which accounts for the late opening date.

Woman's Club
now renewing
membership

Mrs. J. E. Bowen Jr., president of the Statesboro Senior Woman's Club, announced this week that special emphasis is being put on the club's annual membership drive. Members who have not renewed their membership may pay their dues of $5 per year to Mrs. Talmadge Ramsey, Post Office Box 87, Statesboro, or to Mrs. F. C. Parker Jr., P. O. Box 244, Statesboro.

The executive board held its July meeting on Tuesday last week at the Statesboro Regional Library with Mrs. Jack Smith, first vice president, presiding. Seventeen members were present.

The board voted to serve coffee and other refreshments to voters who come to the court-house on September 10 to cast their ballot in the primary election.

Mrs. Bowen also announced that the first district fall meeting will be held Tuesday, October 28, with the Statesboro Library with Mrs. Jack Smith, first vice president, presiding. The meeting will be held at 8 p. m. on Wednesday, July 23, on the Pavilion at the Recreation Center.
