Springfield said "I Love You Truly." "O Promise Me," and at the conclusion of the ceremony, as the bride and groom knelt at the prie-dieu, he sang the "Lord's Prayer."

Mrs. Knight is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Canuette. Mr. Knight is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Knight Sr. of Lake Panasoffee, Fla.

BRIDE LOVELY

IN IMPORTED LACE

Given in marriage by her brother, Walter Cecil Canuette, the bride was gown in imported lace and tissue taffeta, fashioned with a sabrina neckline, exquisitely traced with seed pearls. The long sleeves ended in points over the hands. The sumptuously skirted chapel sweep gown featured wide insets of Alencon lace. Her finger tip veil of imported illusion was attached to a lace cap embroidered in seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of Belmont gardenias, stephanotis, and valley lilies, centered with a white orchid with a purple throat.

ATTENDANTS IN

NILE GREEN

Mrs. Loy Waters, matron of honor, and the bridesmaids, Misses Jane Beaver, June Edenfield, Dollie Brinson, and the junior bridesmaids, Ann and Gail Grapp, wore identical dresses of Nile green lace over taffeta with chiffon bodices and taffeta cummerbunds. Their bouquets were crescent arrangements of pom pon chrysanthemums. They wore white mittens. Mr. Knight had as his best man, Bob Veal of Miami, Fla. Usher groomsmen were Lewis Smith, Dick Wolford, and Harold Hunziker of Lakefield, Fla. Mrs. Grapp, the bride's aunt, wore a dress combining a black crepe bodice with a white chiffon skirt. A red velvet rose added dramatic accent at the waist line. The groom's mother was gown in blue lace with matching accessories. Both wore orchid corsages.

ELEGANT RECEPTION

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. John Grapp entertained at a reception. The rooms ensue for the guests, were beautifully decorated with bridal green and white. Arrangements of gladioli and pom pon chrysanthemums were predominant. The bride's table, covered with a white organdy and lace cloth, over Nile green satin, was centered with the tiered wedding cake. At one end of the table was a cascaded candelabrum and opposite it were silver cornucopias of mints and nuts.

Mrs. Floyd greeted the guests and introduced them to the receiving line composed of the hosts, the bride and groom, and lady attendants. At the end of the line Mrs. Clayton James directed them to the dining room where Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Glenn Jennings and Mrs. Wilbur Blackburn were hostesses. Mrs. E. Cone presided in the gift room.

Assisting in serving were Misses Lynn Storey, Sally Coleman, Barbara Deal, Kay Preston, and Cynthia Johnston. Mrs. Joe Johnston kept the bride's book. Miss Betty Smith played brilliantly the ballads and love songs, gliding gracefully into the modern, until the guests departed. Leaving for their wedding trip, Mrs. Knight donned for traveling a red pure silk dress with matching jacket, a white feather hat, black patent shoes and the orchid from her bouquet.

MR. COLEMAN SPRINGS A SURPRISE ON HIS WIFE

On Saturday evening, July 12, G. C. Coleman Jr., staged a coup d'etat when he surprised his wife, Willie Coleman, with an outdoor birthday supper which would have pleased the famous chef in the Starlight room, but G. C. pulls them off like a magician pulls rabbits out of a hat. Willie Coleman's birthday is really at a later date, but he knew that she would be on a trip then, and after all, it was fun for everyone who attended.

The cook-out was on the terrace and the printer's ink is even transporting the rich aroma of Hawaiian steaks, potatoes, dumplings in foil, tossed salad, hot rolls and a cake to top all cakes.

The birthday cake was made strictly according to a picture that Sally and Susan saw in a picture. This cake took the hat a wide brim but with a tall crown, banded with red ribbon with a few flowers added. It was really pretty and simply delicious.

The guests waited in the dark on the patio, with their cars parked in a dark lot. When the lights were suddenly turned on and the guests began singing "Happy Birthday," Willie was quite surprised.

Those present were the G. C. Colemans, Sally and Susan; the Dub Lovetts, the Joe Robert Tillmans, the Tiny Hills, Ed and Katherine Olliff, Charlie and Pat Robbins, Mary Watson, the Sam Browns, the Jack Wynns, Liz and the Minkovitz, Bo and Emily Hook, and Mrs. Nita J. Brown.
