WEEK ...SEPT. 20-26 ...and Rockwell of Statesboro wants you to observe the occasion with them...

An Open Letter to All Our Friends and Neighbors

September 20-26 has been designated Georgia Industry Week, and in observance of the occasion, we are having an Open House on September 23 from 12:30 p.m. until 3:30 p.m. There will be escorted tours throughout the production areas and plenty of Cokes, and coffee.

This is your invitation to visit us at that time.

Georgia Industry Week is held for the purpose of acquainting every one with the importance of industry to the economy of the state, and the particular community where the industry is located. The occasion is also designed to emphasize the fact that Georgia industries produce quality products in large quantities for use throughout the world. To emphasize the importance of industry and new jobs, the Chamber of Commerce published these average figures some time ago. They are based on 100 new jobs in a community.

74 additional jobs created
$590,000 more in personal income each year
$270,000 more in bank deposits each year
$360,000 more in retail sales per year

To use some more recent figures, the Georgia Power Company estimates that new plants and industries in Georgia in 1958 alone resulted in 6,800 people being employed with a payroll exceeding $20,000,000. Multiply these news jobs by the existing ones and it is easy to see that industry does play a large part in the economy of the state.

Georgia-made products such as transformers, aircraft, meters, and electronic equipment are in constant use in our country's defense program where quality is a must. The quality of Georgia products is seldom excelled, and sometimes exceeds the standards expected.

In our own plant you will probably notice the emphasis on quality and the equipment used to insure quality production. This is not a special effort by us to impress visitors, but a full time program conscientiously carried out so that our customers will constantly be assured of getting the best in metering equipment.

We said that Georgia products are used all over the world. Look at some of the shipping labels on the crates in our Shipping Room. It is very likely that they will be going to customers in South America, Canada, or Europe, to name the more common export countries.

Yes, Georgia Industry Week is a special occasion, and we are proud to be one of the thousands of industries within the state. We are proud of being part of this community, and of being able to share in its development. We are proud of our employees whose diligence and loyalty have enabled us to become firmly established.

Come out next Wednesday and let us show you Georgia Industry at work.

Sincerely,
W. M. CONNOR,
General Manager,
Rockwell Statesboro Corporation.

Preston tells Rotary about visit to Moscow

Congressman Prince H. Preston told members of the Statesboro Rotary Club and their guests Monday that "we must take every opportunity we can to get our way of life over to the Russians" in his report on his recent trip to Moscow to inspect the United States exhibit in Moscow.

Congressman Preston explained that, as a member of a subcommittee which appropriates funds for the state department, he visited the exhibit in Moscow to "see for ourselves what has been put together" in the exhibits.

Beginning with his boarding of the Pan American jet in the U. S. he gave a vivid description of his trip. He was struck by the absence of automobiles on the wide boulevards of Moscow. "A few trucks, but many cars," he said.

He pictured the indifference that his party ran into in the Moscow hotel where there was little interest in the needs of the guests. "The plumbing was poor, the construction poor," he said.

In describing the buildings he said "The Russians have built a facade of beauty, but slums are behind."

He found the exhibit that the U. S. and 900 U. S. businessmen had managed to get together in Moscow in four buildings to be remarkable. He described the vast crowds, "60,000 a day," which he said attend the exhibits.

The Russians viewed with eagerness and a great deal of curiosity. They inspected the model of an average American house. They were delighted with the color TV, the sewing machine exhibit, the Poliorama camera demonstrations, the automobile exhibits, the fashion show, the voting machines.

He described a church service which he attended at a Baptist church where over a thousand Russians were worshipping.

In closing his report Congressman Preston warned, "we must keep our powder dry." He described the Russians leaders as having no national integrity. "If we could deal with the people there would be hope for peace," he said.

Surviving are her husband, Linton G. Banks; one son, Dekle Banks; Metter; one daughter, Mrs. J. T. Sheppard, Kingston, N. C.; one sister, Mrs. Walter Holland, Register; two brothers, Seth Dekle, Tampa Fla., and John E. Dekle, Jacksonville; six grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted Wednesday, September 23, at 11 a.m. at the Bethlehem Primitive Baptist Church by Elder Dent Temple and Elder Rollie Riner. Burial was in the church cemetery.

Palibearers were Kennedy Dekle, Clyde Dekle, Frank A. Brown, Hilton Banks, Earl Kennedy, and Osborn Banks, all nephews.

Join the farm Bureau Tuesday, September 29

Tuesday, September 29, is the big day for the rural citizens of Bulloch County, as well as every other county in Georgia where agriculture is a principal source of income for its citizens.

For that day is "Farm Bureau Day" when farm leaders in our community will combine their efforts to enroll every farmer and every citizen interested in farming into the Bulloch County Farm Bureau.

Governor Ernest Vandiver is adding the strength of the office of Governor to the objective as expressed by the leaders of the Farm Bureau. The Governor has officially proclaimed September 29 as "Farm Bureau Day." He says:

"I am confident that this organization will continue to serve the best interest of the farmers and other groups when sound thinking is demanded of our leaders when all segments of our economy are affected by these decisions; and "This organization can do more effective and constructive work and render greater service to our commonwealth by substantially increasing the membership in each of the one hundred fifty-nine counties; and

"It is essential that our farm people co-ordinate their interest by supporting the new programs so ably outlined by the membership of the Georgia Farm Bureau Federation."

W. C. Hodges, president of the Bulloch County Farm Bureau says that membership in the Farm Bureau "gives us a voice in agriculture, and the opportunity for farmers to determine the future of agriculture."

We urge all citizens of our county who are interested in the welfare of his family and of his community to support our farm leaders in their drive to increase the membership of the voice of agriculture, "The Farm Bureau."

They'll get better

Our Statesboro High School Blue Devils have not won their first game yet. But, let's not let this fact get us down. There is still a lot of football to be played, and our boys are improving. Continue the firm support given them their first games and they'll show you their appreciation.

And keep in the back of your mind . . . it's not the winning of the game, but how the game was played, which means so much in this competitive sport.

The sweet potato

The spotlight of attention will be focused on the Bulloch County sweet potato this week.

Several Bulloch County sweet potato growers are taking a batch of that wonderful Bulloch County produce to Atlanta to be sold at Rich's Harvest Sale on Thursday.

Atlanta housewives will have an opportunity to satisfy their yearning for a sweet potato pie like the ones they remember eating before they moved from the rural areas of the state into our state capital. They'll have visions of the candied sweet potatoes like they used to eat back home and then there is the old-time baked sweet potato with the skins still on at the edge of a plate with a fried chicken. And that fluffy sweet potato soufflé!

Oh, it should be a great day for those people in Atlanta who remember the sweet potato of their childhood.

Look Who's In The Dog House

This Week's Meditation

By Lawrence E. Huston Jr.

POSITION AND POSSESSION

As I settled down Saturday afternoon to get a look-see at the opening collegiate football game on television, I had little idea that I would be building this thought around a national sport.

Of course, I like football. It may be because I was unable to play it while in high school and college. It probably fascinates me because I know so little about it.

Here is what I learned on Saturday afternoon. Louisiana State University and Rice Institute were locked in a vicious battle of brawn and brains.

More than once, I watched the Rice team quickkick on first or second down. The announcer explained that we were witnessing two types of football tactics. Rice was playing "possession football" while Louisiana State University was using the tactic of "possession football."

Rice was saying to L. S. U.: "I would rather you have the football than for me to have it deep in my territory." That is "possession football." On the other hand, L. S. U. was using every means to keep its hands on the ball all the time. That is "possession football."

One does not have to read the letters of the Apostle Paul until he realizes that Paul felt very strongly about the matter of "possession" and "possession" religion. As far as he was concerned, position might have its place on the football field, but nothing but possession should count in the field of religion.

People do read ads

When occasionally someone tells me that he is not sure anyone reads the ads in the paper, I am tempted to tell the story of the ingenious newspaper editor who convinced the small town merchant that such was contrary.

Having been turned down time and again by the merchant who told the editor that "nobody reads the ads in your paper anyway," the editor made a proposition.

"Just let me fix you an ad for next week's paper. There'll be no charges. I'll prove you're wrong."

"O.K.," said the merchant. "The job is yours."

The day the papers hit the street the store was swamped with people—all carrying cats of all sizes and descriptions. Some were scrawny and haggled. Others were purring and composed. But they were all cats, hundreds of them. The storekeeper was taken aback. He demanded a copy of the paper.

There was, all at right, it simply read: "WANTED: ALL CATS," and carried the signature of the store.

The point was proved. People do read the ads, and especially if the copy is such that it strikes a respondent note.

Herman Talmadge Reports From Washington

THE FIRST SESSION of the 86th Congress was dominated from the start by the partisan politics and, paradoxically, as it may seem, the country benefited as a result.

The partisanship which always characterizes Congressional Sessions preceding presidential elections was intensified this year by the facts that different parties control the Executive and Legislative Branches and that most of the major presidential contenders are in the legislative branch. Consequently, we saw the White House warring with Congress with the weapons of vetoes, threats of vetoes and appeals over the heads of the lawmakers to the voters and Congress fighting back by going the other way—by vetoing and by breaking his perfect veto record.

IN THE STANDOFF which responded in Congress were checked and the nation was spared the burden of increased federal spending and the disruption of further public works legislation in the field of civil rights.

In all areas of federal activity but one, health and medical research, the appropriations voted by Congress were well below the requests requested by President Eisenhower. More than a billion dollars of the taxpayers' money was saved and prospects were enhanced for the nation this year to have its sixth balanced budget in 31 years.

Despite all the threats and boasts, the race between the two parties to convince a majority of the members of Congress of the need for any further "civil rights" bills and the most they were able to accomplish was to extend the life of the unneeded and unconstitutional Commission on Civil Rights, Seething racial violence and tension in the metropolitan areas outside the country have many legislators pause to stop and think about the wisdom of Congress adding any more fuel to the flames.

WITH THE OFFICE of President, one-third of the seats in the Senate and all the seats in the House of Representatives at stake in next year's elections, it is a foregone conclusion that new pressures for more spending and more anti-South legislation will face the Second session of the 86th Congress when it convenes in January.

We can expect those whose chief stock in trade is South-hating and South-baiting to be more vociferous than ever in their demands for laws to coerce our region. Bills to implement the alarming and arrogant recommendations of the Commission on Civil Rights undoubtedly will be pressed.

Our best hope is that the country which served the country so well this year once again will come into play to thwart the cynical greed value on their political sides on the safety, solvency and unity of our nation.

STARTING CATTLE

R. O. Williams, animal husbandman, Agriculture Extension Service, recommends starting cattle on feed with all the hay they will eat, plus one pound of concentrate per head daily, increasing the concentrate allowance one-half pound per head daily until they are on full feed.

WE'RE HOME from a one-day visit to the great city of Atlanta. And we're glad. We did not enjoy our visit there. We did, very much. We were made as much to home at the Heart of Atlanta Motel, as if we belonged to them. The management there was very hospitable. They sought to fill our every need. And the place, only two blocks from Peachtree Street, is beautiful.

But we still quiver when we think of what could have happened to us when we found ourselves in the middle of the new expressway when we hadn't planned it that way at all.

We entered the city of Atlanta from Covington by way of Decatur. We are familiar with Ponce de Leon Avenue and Piedmont Avenue so we planned our trip to go to the hotel by way of these two streets. Our way showed us that Piedmont would lead us directly to Harris Street where the motel is located.

ACCORDING to plan, we turned left off of Ponce de Leon into Piedmont Avenue and proceeded with confidence to our destination.

But somebody forgot to post a sign at Piedmont and Ponce de Leon to notify out-of-town visitors that Piedmont Avenue was torn up where it crosses the new expressway. Upon being confronted by the threat of a road block, we turned right, the only way we could turn without making a U turn and we understand that sort of traffic maneuver is frowned upon by the Atlanta police. Upon making our turn—BROOM! We found ourselves on the Atlanta expressway, with no sign, no indication, no hints as to which direction we were going, where it was to lead us, or where we could get off. We couldn't see up, high walls hemmed us in.

It was a harrowing experience. We continued along—there was nothing else to do. We couldn't turn around on the expressway. But we did so, to get back on Piedmont so that we could proceed to the motel.

WE CONTINUED moving, seeking an out. Presently, after several hundred yards, we saw what appeared to be an alley leading up into the back yard of some industry. There was a high chain fence there which promised us safety, if we could just make it. We turned right and found that the alley didn't go into the back yard of that industry at all.

"Lost, right in the heart of Atlanta," we told ourselves. If we could just stop and park and get to a phone and call one of our friends, Bealy Smith, Joe Singer, Leo Alkman, Bill Fields, they could send out a search party and locate us and lead us to the Heart of Atlanta Motel. But there was no parking place. So we kept driving, hoping that the way they lead us would turn without making a U turn and we understand

It seems to Me..

THIS IS ONE of those critical weeks in the news in which is found many items of interest about which one is urged to comment.

As I have stated to the readers of this column many times in the past one of my hardest problems in preparing this work each week is to decide on a final choice of subjects.

I've read many columns in which the writer has stated that he just couldn't seem to find anything to write about. There are so many interesting things happening in the world every day until it is hard for me to understand how a writer could find himself without material.

EVERYONE READING the news this week of course would expect to find a long comment on the Khrushchev visit to the United States. I personally have been one of the proponents for a long time of the idea of extending Mr. Khrushchev an invitation. It is my own belief that many of the problems of the world can be solved by these two world leaders. "Mr. K" and "Mr. K." Most of the mistakes we have made in the past is in having been gullible enough to let every fourth rate power in the world sit in on our foreign policy decisions, dictating our actions to us which often times have not been in the best interests of the people of the United States. It is a big mistake for our government to be tied down by a series of treaties which were ill advised and hastily drawn and which give the have-not nations of the world more voice in our national government than we have. Mr. Eisenhower virtually finds himself in a position of having to consult with the British, the Germans, and the French before he can visit the rest room in the White House.

ON MEET THE Press on Sunday Night, India's delegate to the United Nations, who also happens to be her Minister of Defense, stopped the show as I'm concerned when he made the following comment: "Can the United States refuse to admit Communist China to the United Nations on the basis of her having been a war-like nation when we have sponsored such entries into the U. N. as Italy, Italy and the Japanese? Makes for a good question. I think I personally don't believe that Communist China would join the U. N. if she were invited to do so. Its a strange thing how little things can practically break up two happy homes.

It all started to come to a head last week when our nurseryman friend stopped in after seven a.m. to say about the trees I had asked him to cut. The time came too soon for me to leave for school so Pa was left with our mutual friend.

During the day when there was a moment to think I kept a myself why I felt so excited. Then it would come in the trees were being cut and I'd get a bulb bed over very soon.

So as soon as I reached home I ran to look at the cleared area. There it was exactly like I left it. Finding Pa, I asked what happened.

"Now, Honey, we decided that nobody with good sense would cut down two pretty oak like these," he informed me.

Of course, I knew I shouldn't have left those two men together. The family friend was now concentrating per head daily, increasing the concentrate allowance one-half pound per head daily until they are on full feed. You are running my yard. This

We found ourselves, as if by magic, moving in the swift traffic of Peachtree near the Imperial Hotel. Glory be! We knew where we were. For we had tramped up and down Peachtree a many a time while we were at Georgia Tech.

WE REMEMBERED that from Peachtree Street the motel was only two blocks back to the Rhodes furniture Street. Then the business of the one-way streets confronted us. But to our delight we found that Harris Street was a one-way street going the right way. So we turned left at Harris and presently found ourselves in the safety of the great Heart of Atlanta Motel.

Oh, it was a welcome site. NOW—from the comfort of our Uneasy Chair we suggest that someone in Atlanta could win the everlasting good will of the people of the state of Georgia if he would see that proper notice be posted on streets which are closed at construction points on the expressway. And party and locate us and lead us to the Heart of Atlanta Motel. But there was no parking place. So we kept driving, hoping that the way they lead us would turn without making a U turn and we understand

NOW THAT THE Colleges have succeeded in keeping all the bright boys out of college, I wonder if the percentage of failures will still be as high. The quarrel of educators has been that the ill-prepared students had been admitted to study at the college level and thus it was certain that a percentage of students would fail. Now if all who are admitted to college are required for college level work, will the instructors feel the responsibility for passing all students of will the old thought that "You Are Now On Your Own" prevail? If the student is expected to do all by himself, why not just have supervised study periods under the direction of the students themselves and let one instructor in each division give the final examination? I wonder if the purpose of the college entrance examination is to keep people out of college or to see what needs to be taught to those who do succeed in getting in. There is no doubt in my mind that every student with a high school diploma should be given some chance to try to make it on the college level. How can a tax supported institution do less?

Woman's club has first fall meeting

By Mrs. Edna Hoefel

The first fall meeting of the Senior Woman's Club was held Sept. 17 at 3:30 p.m. at the Recreation Center. Mrs. W. Ellis gave the collect and led the Pledge of Allegiance to the flag. The Georgia Song was sung, accompanied by Mrs. Georgia Brett.

Mrs. Jake Smith, who presided in Mrs. J. E. Bowen's stead, introduced the new members and visitors. She announced that the programs were all lined up for the coming year, and the various committees could be obtained to clip into last year's Year Books.

There will be a Sweet Sale on Saturday Sept. 26 in the Old Maxwell Store next to Minkovitz, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon. Those donating sweets are asked to please put a price on each and a label, telling the kind. The boy's new dormitory at Tallulah Falls School will be the recipient of the receipts of the sale.

October will be Tallulah Falls School month, and the club has planned a trip there on the 13th and 14th in a 39 passenger bus. If there are 39 passengers, it will cost $6.92 per person for a round trip. There will be accommodations for one night at the Lakeside Motel at $3.50. We will return on the 14th. It should be beautiful in the mountains in October, and everyone is urged to take advantage of the trip. The bus will start from Statesboro.

October 24 will be Tag Day for Tallulah, and we are asking the Girl Scouts to assist in the campaign. Mrs. Edna Hoefel then gave a report on the Club Institute held at Tallulah Falls, and Mrs. Percy Bland reported on the Flower Show School which is to be held in Statesboro Sept. 29, 30, and Oct. 1.

Ninety million dollars are spent each year in the United States to remove litter from the highways. 750 to 1000 people are killed each year as a result of littering. The Senior Woman's Club is going to ask the Girl Scout to help in their Litter Bag campaign.

The Education Department has awards for which to work. The first is the Edith Adams Ritchie Education Cup, the second a $10 award, the Epistol, Sigma, award from award to the club having the most members in their reading club, and the third, the Freedom Educational Program Project. There is a $50 award for the letter that goes to the club having the best program on "Freedom Under the United States Constitution."

BY E. T. "RED" MULLIS
Soil Conservation Service

Mr. J. T. McAllister, Conservation Equipment Engineer with the Soil Conservation Service, and "Father of Much Farming," was in the county last week looking at our much planted soybeans. I took him to see several plantings made by cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District. Among them were Henry S. Blitch in the Westside Community; Frank Proctor in the Ogeechee Community; Shaw Brothers, John McCormick, John Cromley, William Cromley and John Rushing.

This brief study was quite revealing. On Mr. Blitch's farm we saw very good soybeans—above the average, and clean because of his ingenuity in cultivation. We also found worm and beetle damage which Mr. Blitch quickly checked by spraying. He said they came so quickly that almost took him overnight. We also found root knot nematode damage where soybeans followed soybeans.

On Mr. Proctor's farm we saw some mighty good soybeans and some pretty woody where soybeans followed soybeans (all much planted). But Mr. Proctor showed us something of great importance. Where he had much planted soybeans last year followed by cotton and corn. Some of this is side by side and anyone can just look and see the tremendous difference.

Scale insects are often serious pest to ornamental plants here

By Roy Powell
County Agent

Scale insects are often serious pests of ornamental plants. Mealybugs, was scales and the cottony cushion scale are members of this type of insect. Some infest the foliage of plants; some attack the twigs and branches, while others are found doing both foliage and branches.

These insects injure plants by sucking the juices from branches, twigs, or foliage. Infested plants are unhealthy and make little growth, their foliage may fade and drop early, and branches may die.

The eggs of scale insects hatch in one to three weeks into tiny crawlers. These active crawlers move about readily in search of tender new growth. When a suitable spot is found, they insert their mouthparts and settle down. In the case of most female scales, they remain in this spot the rest of their lives.

Malathion sprays containing one tablespoonful of the liquid (emulsifiable) concentrate of four tablespoonfuls of the 25 percent wettable powder per gallon of water will control most scales and mealybugs. Care should be taken to get thorough coverage of parts of the plants.

By Roy Powell, County Agent

Failure to obtain good coverage will result in poor control. One of two additional applications at three-week intervals may be necessary to get rid of infestation completely.

FALL CALVING
The fall calving season has already begun, and getting the dairy cow off to a good start is a most important part of every dairy operation. Now is the time to consider care of the cow at calving time.

A week or two before the cow is due to calve, she should be kept under close observation. Correct breeding dates will help in determining the time of calving. Outside in a well sodded area is an ideal place for cows to calve if the weather is mild.

After the calf is born, it is best not to draw all the milk from the udder for a day or two. Leaving some of the milk in the udder may help to prevent milk fever.

The calf may be removed from the cow when the calf is from 12 hours to two or three days of age. The sooner the calf is taken away, the less the cow will fret over its loss. However, the calf should receive the colostrum milk until the cow is ready to go in with the regular milking herd.

The cow should receive as much roughage as she will eat, provided she is accustomed to a liberal allowance of roughage. Concentrates should be fed sparingly at first, then increased gradually. The cow should normally be getting her full concentrate allowance by three weeks after calving. It may require longer for very high producers. Too much concentrated feed immediately after calving is likely to cause digestive disturbances and hinder the reduction of swelling in the udder. The quantity to be fed just after calving is usually four to eight pounds a day, depending upon the size of the cow, her production, and the quantity she was accustomed to before calving.

Extra care at calving will pay off in extra milk during the lactation.

FOOTBALL PROGRAM REGISTRATION REACHES ALL TIME HIGH

The Statesboro Recreation Department today announced today that registration in the Midget Football program had reached an all-time high in the history of the recreation program. More than 200 youngsters have registered for fall sports with the program already having moved into high gear.

The Midget Variety will play today to the Midget Variety from Wayneboro in the Memorial Stadium on Saturday night of this week. Game time is 8 P. M. with admission being 25 cents for all students and 50 cents for adults. Proceeds from the game will be used to pay for equipment already purchased.

Governor Ernest Vandiver made the announcement Thursday of last week after being advised by the State Agriculture Department of a need to switch from a program of "control" to one of "eradication."

Phil Campbell, Commissioner of Agriculture, and W. E. Blasingame, state entomologist, reported that unless some action is taken Georgia farmers could eventually lose $60,000,000 annually in crop damage.

The "control" program cost the state federal governments and individuals $2,000,000 from 1950 through 1960. The entomology department reports that the state's $50,000 for "eradication" will be added to $50,000 more from the federal government.

It was explained that the counties to be treated are not necessarily the ones with the worst infestation. They are mainly the ones on the edges of the infested areas. The purpose is to prevent spread to new areas.

The entomology department reported a total of eighty-three infested counties.

The bug destroys most vegetables and cotton. As many as 250 adult beetles have been collected from a single cotton plant.

The pest a native of South America was first found in the United States in 1936. Since then it has spread from Florida to Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and New Jersey.

155 FB MEMBERS AT MEETING HERE
More than 155 members of the Farm Bureau from seventeen counties attended a meeting at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen on Tuesday night of this week to make plans for the annual one-day membership drive scheduled for September 29 and to hear Congressman Prince Preston.

Bulloch shares in funds to get rid of beetle

Bulloch county is one of eight counties in Southeast Georgia to share in $50,000 to be spent this fiscal year on eradication of the pesky whitefringed beetle in twenty-three Georgia counties.

Governor Ernest Vandiver made the announcement Thursday of last week after being advised by the State Agriculture Department of a need to switch from a program of "control" to one of "eradication."

NOW... '60 CHEVROLET TRUCKS

WITH REVOLUTIONARY TORSION-SPRING SUSPENSION THAT GIVES ASTONISHING NEW SHOCKPROOF ACTION !!!!!

Chevy's done the next best thing to paving every road in America!

First they threw out the front axle and put in torsion-spring independent suspension. Then they built wide-base coil rear springs into most light-duty models, variable-rate leaf springs into heavies. That made it a ride you have to feel to believe. A ride that lets you move faster to get more work done in a day's time.

Brannier bulldozer build!

Frames are stronger, cabs 67% more rigid. Front wheels and tires are precision-balanced. And that new suspension cushions jars and road shock that used to spell slow death for the truck's body and sheet metal.

More comfortable cabs!

Easier to hop in and out of too. Many models are a whole 7 inches lower outside. Yet there's more head room inside, plus more width for shoulders and hips. More real comfort!

Big in the power department!

With the industry's most advanced gas-saving 6's. With high-torque Workmaster V8 performance in heavyweights. With new 6-cylinder or V8 power available in L.C.F.'s.

More models than ever!

New 4-wheel-drive models and tandems and high-styled Suburban Carryalls. It's the handsomest, hardest working Chevy fleet ever to report for duty. See your dealer soon for a ride!

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!

The Jesup Yellow Jackets defeated a stubborn Statesboro team 13-0 in Jesup Friday night before 2,500.

Short punts set up both Jesup touchdowns. Statesboro received the opening kickoff, but had to punt after three plays. Halfback Raymond Ogden returned 16 yards to the Statesboro 34. With halfbacks Ogden and Jerry Joyner and fullback Len Hauss alternating carries, Jesup scored in eight plays, all run inside the tackles. Ogden punched over.

The Jesup Yellow Jackets scored again in the second quarter when they penetrated Jesup's defense. Wendell McGlamary returned the kickoff from the seven to the 46, with a shoe-string tackle from behind preventing him from going all the way. This was Statesboro's best scoring opportunity, although they penetrated Jesup territory seven times.

John Donaldson's Yellow Jackets scored again in the second quarter when they penetrated Jesup's defense. Wendell McGlamary returned the kickoff from the seven to the 46, with a shoe-string tackle from behind preventing him from going all the way. This was Statesboro's best scoring opportunity, although they penetrated Jesup territory seven times.

With fourth and five at the 16, halfback Kenny Cowart passed to Joyner for 14 yards to the two. Joyner scored on the next play and Waters converted. Jesup fullback Len Hauss led all ball carriers in the game with 82 yards in 20 tries.

Statesboro did not attempt a forward pass, and Jesup tried only four. It was a bruising defensive game, led by Jesup's David Connors, Hauss, Marty Fender, and Brooks Purvis, and Billy Aldrich, Jimmy Searce, Jimmy Brock, and Lindsey Johnston.

Jesup plays at Waycross next week, and Statesboro will visit Cochran. Each team will play its first region game.

Statesboro Midget Varsity wins first game from Waynesboro

Statesboro's Midget Varsity opened their season with an exciting 12 to 6 victory over a visiting Waynesboro team.

Wayne Howard, the 80 pound Quarterback, scored a touchdown for Statesboro on runs of two yards and 60 yards.

The first Statesboro touchdown came late in the first quarter after Statesboro had recovered a Waynesboro fumble on the latter's 25 yard line.

Robert Mallard and Jimmy Wiggins pounded away at the Waynesboro line to set up the touchdown. Then Howard sneaked the piskin across from two for Statesboro's first tally.

The extra point attempt failed. Waynesboro then received the kickoff and drove 65 yards for their first and only touchdown.

The game was dead-locked at half-time and remained tied until Howard intercepted a Waynesboro pass on his own 40 yard line and sprinted 60 yards for Statesboro's second touchdown.

With three minutes remaining in the game, the defensive squad was spear-headed by little Ronnie Street who is known by his teammates as the "Tiny Terror."

Street quickly established himself as a strong defender by making or assisting in 18 tackles. Other defensive standouts were John Hart, Wayne Jackson, Mike Miller, and Larry Deal.

There was a large enthusiastic crowd at Memorial Park Stadium to witness the opening game of the 1959 season.

The Varsity squad will travel to Vidalia this coming Saturday night, September 26, to play Vidalia's Midget team. Game time is set at 7:30 P. M.

Statesboro's Blue Devils scored early and late on Friday night to defeat the Cochran Royals, 14-0, in the locals' first region 2-A contest.

Coach Ernest Teel's squad dominated play far more than the score indicated. Unchecked Dublin will be the opponent at Memorial Park Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday night.

Joe Hagan scored both touchdowns, one on a 41-yard keeper play from the quarterback post, and the other on a 10-yard scamper from the left halfback position. Little Jimmy Seace added both extra points via perfect placekicks.

Cochran won the toss and chose to receive. On the first play they attempted a fake pass, with the left end hiding out near the left sideline. The receiver was open, but the pass underthrown and halfback Jimmy Brock intercepted it, returning to the Cochran 48.

After two plays gained short yardage, Hagan ran an option play for his right for 41 yards, getting an important block from halfback Herbert Wiggins at the 25.

The half ended with Statesboro still leading, 7-0, but the Blue Devils threatened three more times, once after a brilliant 45-yard punt return by Brock moved the ball deep into Royal territory.

Several more second half threats went by the boards, but with only three minutes remaining in the game, Jerry Newsome blocked a Cochran punt and Billy Aldrich covered the bouncing ball at the Cochran 43.

Hagan, Wendell McGlamary, and Jimmy Cason moved the ball short gains to the 10. Hagan finally took a pitchout from quarterback Austel Youmans, and scored.
