Your 1961 can be filled with abiding joy

Since time began man has attempted to label life's greatest thing—one has said "It is an idea whose time has come." Another has assured the world that the greatest thing in the world of all time is love. Another declared it to be inspiration.

Since everything is relative, no one can say with finality what the greatest thing is. It's one thing to one, another to his neighbor.

Thinking upon the coming New Year we suggest that Hope is worthy of being considered among the greatest things in life. The Apostle declared it to be one of the abiding things. He lists Faith and Hope and Charity as the three great things. They too are relative. There is little charity without belief at least in the worth of man, and there is little hope without that faith which declares life to be more than a dizzy whirl.

While there is hope there is life. Indeed hope is the mainspring of life. Without expectancy of better days and more prosperous years, mankind long since would have ceased to struggle against the great odds ever besetting him and his kind.

With the advent of 1961 there is no greater thing a man can do than to keep the flame of hope burning on the altars of this world.

Looking beyond the years hope transcends the momentary scene and lifts the heart, borne down heavily by the terrifying happenings of 1960, and allows man to catch glimpses of a finer and more enriching year to come.

Say to yourself, "I will start anew this year with a determination to be a friend to mankind, to begin each day with a song, to give each hour a holy significance—and making this decision daily, you will find your 1961 to be filled with days of deep and abiding joy."

Happy New Year!

Our 'growth rate'—and taxes

We have heard a great deal about the nation's "growth rate" recently. A good many people feel that we just aren't growing fast enough economically.

Without arguing the pros and cons of that, it should not be forgotten that our tax laws stand solidly in the way of maximum growth. For instance, most other industrial nations give more favorable tax treatment to industries which wish to replace and modernize their plants than we do. Our laws, with their obsolete depreciation provisions, heavily hamper this kind of progress.

A well known economic forecaster, William F. Butler, writes in Nation's Business: "If we are to grow, if we are to compete with other industrial countries whose plants are becoming steadily more modern, we have to provide greater encouragement to saving and investment and encourage a higher rate of replacement so that our plants will become steadily more modern, more efficient. This is the major problem we face."

So Santa Claus brought your son a shotgun, or a BB gun or a Twenty-two. And that ended Santa Claus' part of the gift.

But when he left these gifts under the Christmas tree for your son, he left a responsibility to you... the responsibility to instruct your son in the proper handling and use of the gun in order that he might secure the maximum enjoyment from it with the maximum safety.

Have you done that yet? If not, make it your number one New Year's resolution to do so.

These things are important.

Help prevent crippling diseases

In our day-to-day fight against illness we seek to cure. But an even greater victory is to be won on the day when medical sciences can actually prevent disease.

Every January that day of ultimate victory is brought closer as The National Foundation calls upon us to "Prevent Crippling Diseases" by giving to the New March of Dimes.

As a banner for The National Foundation, "Prevent Crippling Diseases" must not be regarded as an empty slogan or vague promise.

Who can ever forget that when through this, the world's largest voluntary health organization, we have found the means of preventing paralytic polio with the Salk vaccine?

Who can doubt that with the support of the public this same organization will guide the way to a preventive for crippling birth defects and arthritis?

But the support of the public is vital, because The National Foundation derives all its funds and all its volunteer workers from a direct appeal to the American people.

Therefore, all of us help prevent crippling diseases when we say YES to the New March of Dimes in January.

You need a set of resolutions?

If you are given to making New Year's resolutions, here is a list which might be given consideration, in the event you are at loss as to what sort of resolutions you should make.

I RESOLVE:
To recognize weaknesses in government, but I'll not harp on them.
To do my part to strengthen local, state and federal government.

To give my moral support to those with the needed character and competence who are thinking of making government service a career.

To remind my friends to think more of what they owe their community and less of what it owes them.

To remember that "Let George do it" is the motto of those who selfishly expect others to provide good government for them while they do nothing but complain.

To pray for government officials that they may have both the wisdom and courage to think and act on principle, not expediency.

To ask God to give me the wisdom and courage to live up to my civic responsibilities.

Keeping these resolutions will make you a better citizen in our community during the year 1961.

THE ROAD BACK

It was over almost before it began. That's the way Christmas Day seemed to me this year. I think this always happens to us when we develop a sense of expectancy—when we look forward to a certain day or season. But, this kind of experience is not ours alone. It happened to those lowly shepherds who came to the stable in Bethlehem, but who could not stay. Back from that moment of unqualified joy they had to return to the humdrum, common place duty of tending their sheep.

MANY TIMES the road back is a hard road. It is easy to go with hurried step when a great expectation awaits us. It is difficult to return to our ordinary duties when that experience was great but fleeting, and when we feel the emotional tide beginning to recede. As one has said: "The trouble with so many people... is that they often feel they are walking the road back."

Surely, there is always a sense of letdown after the Christmas season. But, what is more pathetic is the fact that the real meaning of Christmas is often thrown out with the dead Christmas tree.

The road back is a hard road to walk when one believes that it is impossible for our world to be made over in the light of the Christmas message. It might have been so with the shepherds, except they took with them on the road back, undimmed and undiminished, the high meanings they experienced at Bethlehem.

AND WHAT WERE these high

What is Maturity?

By DR. JOHN MOONEY

THE FOLLOWING is a condensation of an editorial entitled "What is Maturity?" which appeared last year in the PAA-HALL PRESS, a magazine published by inmates of a prison in Hawaii.

"Maturity is the growing awareness that you are neither wonderful nor hopeless. It has been said to be the making of peace between what is and what might be. It isn't a destination. It is a road. It is the moment when you wake up after some grief or staggering blow and think, 'I'm going to live after all.' It is the moment when you find out something you have never believed in isn't so, and, parting with the old conviction, find that you're still you, the moment you discover somebody can do your job as well as you, and you go on doing it anyway; the moment you do the thing you've always been afraid of; the moment you realize you are forever alone, but so is everybody else, and so in some way you are more together than ever; and a hundred other moments when you find out who you are. It is letting life happen in its own good order and making the most of what there is."

IT MEANS OUR charitable offerings. If we give of our possessions to those who are less fortunate and do it through pity, our only rewards are a little more pride, an income tax deduction, and the haunting tension of guilt. The only real feeling of fulfillment, contentment and joy comes when the act has come through love.

If the minister wants to draw his congregation closer to God, he must love them. If the teacher expects to train the young minds in her class, she is helpless unless, first of all, she loves them. To treat his patient successfully, the doctor must love him.

JESUS NEVER said we had to like anybody. He did not say we had to respect, admire, revere or worship anybody. He did, though, point out the futility of dealing with others except on the basis of love. We might well examine our own capacity for love. It will not be perfect. We are not expected to be perfect. We need only be aware of our remnant of deficiency in understanding love as Jesus taught it. We can Without altering this literary gem in any way, we can add to it another moment, the moment when we become aware of the true meaning of the word, LOVE.

A few days ago the Christian world commemorated the birth of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, an event brought on by God because He loved the world. Jesus lived a life of love, then suffered and died because He loved mankind.

ALL THE LIVING DAY TAXES

HENRY SUBURBAN reaches out at 7 o'clock of a wintry morning to turn off the alarm clock (price: $5; tax: 50c). He pushes down the electric blanket (price: $28; tax: 84c), climbs sleepily out of bed. He walks across the bedroom floor of his house (price: $12,000; annual property tax, $209) and switches the electricity, lighting a bulb (price: 33c; tax: 2c).

To music from a bedroom radio (price: $30; tax: $1.80), Henry shaves with his electric razor (see above). As a radio newscaster reports that Henry's state is preparing to increase income taxes and impose a general sales tax on everything, Henry anyone buys, Henry slaps a handful of bay rum (price: $1.30; tax: 13c) across his jaws.

HE DRESSES quickly, hurriedly, fastening a cuff link (price: $5; tax: 50c) and the clasp (price: $3; tax: 30c), puts on his Swiss wrist watch (price: $60; tax: $6), and rushes down the stairs. Tricked under one arm is a leather brief case (price: $25; tax: $2.50) which carries papers from his real estate office, including one deed (properly valued at $3,000 stamp tax, $3.30).

In the kitchen he's just in time to snatch two slices of bread (at least 161 hidden taxes) from the electric toaster (price: $18; tax: 48c), lift his coffee from the gas stove (price: $100; tax, $5.70), and grab a glass of fruit juice from the refrigerator (price: $300; tax: $9).

A GLANCE out of the window shows it's begun to snow, so he calls to his wife (marriage license: $2) to telephone (monthly telephone bill: $12; tax: $1.20) for a taxi. Too many other people want taxis on a snowy morning, so Henry gets out his own car (price: $2,500; total sales tax: $250) and drives to the station (license: $5) to the railroad station.

Henry relaxes at the station with a cigarette price per pack: 13c; tax 15c, lit by a match (tax: 2c per 1,000). Aboard the train, he settles down to a hand of bridge with three cronies, using at our door. Almost without exception we have failed to back our Allies as they have tried to protect their foreign investments and even here at home we have sat idly by as millions in investments have been confiscated in Cuba. Those investments had been made at the request of that Government and were largely responsible for any progress made in Cuba in the past half century.

The nineteen-fifties will go down in world history for American as the years when this Nation failed in its leadership of the civilized world. It has been a period in our history when decisions have not been made and in one in which so many of those who served in applied positions in Government have been totally unprepared for the job.

The President has so surrounded himself with advisors and assistants that even the most trusted leaders in the Government have not been able to reach him. Men selected to guide and determine policy have returned, the Eisenhower years have to a large degree been men of strength and character but it is rather difficult to guide people who have so little to offer in the way of leadership. We have without doubt lost much ground in this important area of human relations and a great deal of the responsibility for Communist gains in the world can be laid

IF THIS WRITER were running true to form, the readers could possibly read something about New Year's resolutions or the like. Ordinary the writing would take place Sunday night or the like. Instead it is Christmas Eve and who can think about resolutions for another year before Christmas comes?

THE YEARS HAVE a way of passing prayer and conscious effort reduce this deficiency and gain deeper appreciation of the meaning of love.

LOVE IS HERE in the form of God's love for us and ends with Christmas. It is on the minds of men even when it is not recognized as such. Jesus is telling us that love is the way to God. The denial of love or the placing of other motivating principles ahead of love is a sign of emotional, mental and spiritual immaturity.

During the New Year let's meditate on Jesus and love. The two are the same. When we understand and feel this identity with ourselves, we are truly becoming mature.

A LONG TIME ago we used to spend Christmas Eve in one of our former homes and travel to the other former. However, God being willing, Christmas Day after church we will take our trip to the homes of our friends, spending the night with one family and having dinner on Monday with the second.

TWO OF OUR neighbors find themselves in the same boat. Both have already left to spend Christmas with their children. While traveling in different di-ing of course, a deck of cards (price: 40c; tax: 13c).

IN THE CITY on his way to the office, Henry stops to buy a roll of camera film (price: 40c; tax, 2c) that he promised his wife (registration of birth: $1), and the lipstick (price: $1; tax, 10c) he promised his wife. Because there are friends coming to Henry's house in the evening, he buys a bottle of whiskey (price: $3.40; tax: $2.10).

Arriving eventually at the office, Henry sighs (no tax) and settles to a day's work (annual income: $7,500). Federal and state income tax, $986. If he works hard for the rest of his life, he will be able to provide the government with a handsome slice of inheritance tax. And if he dies in a state that is fiscally tolerant, he can take comfort in the thought that his casket — provided it cost less than $100 — will be exempt from any sales tax.

Bridesmaids luncheon

Mrs. Inman Dekle, Mrs. De Vane Watson and Mrs. Jim Donaldson were hostesses Saturday 1:30 p.m. at the bridesmaids luncheon at Mrs. Dekle's lovely home on Donohoe street.

A line arrangement of dried sage plants and hydrangeas in an antique brass urn on a table in the foyer was a festive Christmas beauty of white chrysanthemums with gold and green accents in the living room. The mantel was banked with gold magnolia leaves, flanked by brass and candle holders holding gold candles.

The table in the dining room, overlaid with an exquisite cut glass centerpiece, was a masterpiece of silver and gold. The centerpiece was a large, ornate, silver and gold centerpiece. The table was set with white linens and gold and silverware.

The menu consisted of French cut green beans with small potatoes, chicken almond loaf with mushroom sauce, peach pickles, sweetbread salad and hot biscuit, strawberry meringues and coffee.

Jane presented her attendants silver filigree circled pins with names and date of the wedding engraved on gift packages wrapped in gold.

Luncheon guests were Misses Jane Averitt, Rose Franklin, M. Jane Averitt, R. O. Frank, Barbara Brunson, Gail Griffin, Mrs. Keith Clements, Mrs. Ronald Ginn, Mrs. Gerald Fletcher, Miss Kay Astel, Mrs. John A. Ogden, Mrs. D. P. Averitt, Mrs. Robert Hubbard, Mrs. Burch Griffin and Mrs. W. W. Graham.

Jane chose for this party a lovely velvet hat and black accessories.

Pittman Park Methodist WMS has Christmas party

The WMS of the Pittman Park Methodist Church held their annual Christmas social in the church parlor on December 12, honoring their new members. A good number of visitors were present. A lovely camellia was pinned on each new member and visitor.

Mrs. A. B. Daniel was in charge of the program. A dramatic presentation of "The Other Wise Man" by Henry Van Dyke was given by Miss Cheryl Wheeler.

Special membership pins were presented by the pastor, the Rev. L. E. Houston Jr., to Mrs. Annie R. Davis, given by Mrs. Otis Hollingsworth; Mrs. John W. Davis, given by Mrs. Annie R. Davis; Honorary baby membership certificates were presented to Tina Macon, given by her grandmother, Mrs. H. H. Macon and Bill Thompson, given by Mrs. W. M. Adams.

Fruit cake, cheese straws and mints were served on silver trays from the beautifully decorated tea tables. Mrs. L. E. Houston Jr., the pastor's wife, served coffee from one end of the table. Mrs. Houston was given a waffle iron and grill as a love gift from the society.

A love offering was taken and sent to their missionaries, Dorothy and David Walker.

The new members are Mrs. Tommy Heaton, Mrs. Warren Oliver, Mrs. Leon Moses, Mrs. Stanley Scott, Mrs. Winnie Smith, Mrs. E. R. McConnell, Mrs. Peter Dawson, Mrs. Joe Warren, Mrs. Ben Haley, Mrs. J. C. Wilber and Mrs. Robert Denon.

Mrs. Virgil Donaldson hostess to Girl Scout leaders

Mrs. Virgil Donaldson was hostess to the volunteer Girl Scout leaders at a lovely morning coffee on Tuesday, December 13.

The Christmas spirit prevailed throughout her home which was artistically decorated with original Christmas decorations which Becky herself had created. A beautiful white tree stood in the living room. Under it were individual gifts of many sizes and shapes, each wrapped most attractively in a different manner, but with no names on them. As the guests were admiring these pretty packages, they did not realize that they contained gifts for each of them. Later each of them was told to go to the tree and select the gift that to her was the most appealing. In this way each leader received a surprise gift of appreciation from the Statesboro Girl Scout organization.

The guests entertained themselves by singing from the new Girl Scout Songbooks which had just arrived.

Delicious refreshments consisting of fruit cake, toasted nuts, party sandwiches, and coffee were served.

No Trumps entertained at Christmas party

Mrs. Zack Smith entertained the No Trump bridge at its annual Christmas party Monday night, Dec. 19, at her home on E. Grady Street with their husbands as guests.

Each club member brought her own very special dish and when combined with other culinary triumphs supper was a gourmet's delight.

Wives and husbands present were Mr. and Mrs. Inman Foy Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Lamar Trappnell, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Spiers, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Curry, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Sorrier, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Franklin Jr., Dr. and Mrs. Curtis Lane, Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr., Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Anderson Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Keith, and Mr. and Mrs. Zack Smith.

Ann Johnston celebrates her third birthday

Little Anne Dekle Johnston may not remember the lovely party honoring her on her third birthday, though she was quite animated and thrilled over her birthday cake, her mother, Mrs. Joe P. Johnston had for her; a cake as requested by Anne. She saw a pretty chocolate cake on television and she wanted one like it and that wish was carried out.

Guests were her grandmothers, Mrs. Inman Dekle, Mrs. J. O. Johnston, Inman Dekle and her uncle John Dekle and her great-aunt Mrs. Anne Oliver. She received many lovely gifts.

They were served birthday cake and coffee.

Shirley Meyers has pajama party

Monday night, December 19 Mrs. John Meyers cooperated with her daughter, Shirley, in preparations for a pajama party at their home on Dinwiddie St.

The over night guests were Jo Mikell, Carlye Rushing, Linda Coleman, Cissy Hayes and Jeanette Riggs. They were served cookies, potato chips, candies, corn cheese and Coke. They played records until the wee hours. For breakfast they were wide awake and enjoyed cheese and egg omelet, fried ham, grits and toast.

THE BULLOCH HERALD

MAINTAINING EGG QUALITY

Maintaining egg quality on the farm is more important today than ever before, according to Extension Poultryman Dewey McNeice at the University of Georgia College of Agriculture. Some point important in maintaining egg quality are cleaning eggs, cooling eggs quickly, picking up eggs several times a day, and maintaining storage room temperature of 55-60 degrees and a relative humidity of 70-80 per cent, he says.

"Overall impact of the economic forces presently affecting agriculture will put pressure upon the individual farmer to increase his volume of business so that his income is maintained on a narrower margin between price and cost," he continued.

"Consequently, farms will continue to grow larger in acreage, use more machinery and employ newer production practices. Overall management ability, particularly capital and credit management, will play an increasingly important role in farming."

Mr. Brannen gave the following explanation of the economic forces that he expects to affect the Georgia agricultural picture in 1961:

Although demand for farm products remains strong, supplies are abundant. With normal weather, supplies will continue to be plentiful and prices farmers receive for their products will probably average a little lower for the year as a whole.

Larger marketings will partially offset lower prices, so gross cash income should show little change from the record level of 1960.

Prices farmers pay are expected to show less tendency to rise during recent years, although they probably will rise a little. Production costs, however, will be higher because of higher wage rates and taxes and larger interest payments on mortgage debts. Farmers are expected to expand the volume of their purchases of production goods.

Higher production costs and more or less steady gross income.

Farm and Family Features

State agricultural outlook for 1961

"More of the same" is the net farm income. During the last decade net income of Georgia farmers has remained remarkably steady while cash receipts from marketings rose by 55 per cent.

Although this outlook for the agricultural economy as a whole suggests fairly stable price and income prospects, such will not be the case for individual farmers or individual commodities.

Except for cotton, acreage and price prospects for most major cash crops are virtually unchanged from 1960.

Cotton acreage allotments are larger than for 1960, and because of the smaller cotton supply for 1960-61, price supports are not likely to be much lower despite the change in basic grade for price supports.

Prospects for livestock are somewhat less promising, particularly for the larger supply indications materialize.

Smaller production of pork and eggs during the first half of 1961 are likely to hold prices above levels of early 1960. The better prices should stimulate production for the latter half of the year, so prices should drop later in the year to levels below those of late 1960.

Larger beef and poultry supplies are expected to keep prices at or below 1960 levels for most months during the year.

CHEAP SEED ARE MOST EXPENSIVE Cheap seed are the most expensive in the long run, says Harvey Lowery, Extension seed marketing specialist at the University of Georgia College of Agriculture. Test after test has shown that the quality seed of a recommended variety or hybrid will out yield seed of poor quality or of an unadapted variety by at least 20 per cent, Mr. Lowery explained.

To Beat the Band

By DALE JENSEN

As the time for Making Resolutions for the New Year draws nigh, we'd like to suggest that all parents make a Resolution to give their children a fair chance in school. By this I do not mean adopt a "hands off" policy in regards to their school work. To the contrary, we urge that each parent take a stronger interest in his child's work, for only through wholehearted participation will the child have a fair chance to get what the schools offer him.

To explain further, many children do not like to study. In fact, the child who will willingly attend to all his homework and show avid interest in all his classwork is rare indeed. To some students, certain subjects are fine, while others are anathema. To other students, all of school comes under the latter classification. We think this is a lot like taste in foods. Many children shun foods which have the vitamins that they need to grow strong, but as parents, we must encourage them, and if necessary, even force them to eat those foods which they need. Often a child does not know what he likes, and after a forced acquaintance with a new food, will eventually come around to complete enjoyment of it. (This writer humbly confesses that before his marriage, he would never touch cauliflower, while now, after gentle but firm insistence on the part of his loving wife, he enjoys it hugely.)

The point is obvious. At this stage of development, many children do not know what they want, and certainly they are not capable of judging what will be of value to them over the long haul of life. Things they are asked to study in school have been selected only after much thought, and consultation with people in business, industry, and the professions, and these areas of study are believed to be the best kind of foundation for achieving success in later life.

At this point, the students' principal responsibility in life is this preparation work, the school work. As parents, don't owe it to our children to encourage them, or even if necessary, force them, to accept this responsibility. For their own sakes? They don't know the value of this training. With their youth, how can they? But as adults, we know what they stand to lose. Let's resolve to give them a fair chance.

HAPPY 1961

Five Georgia counties produced more than 100,000 cords of pine wood each in 1959, reports C. Nelson Brightwell, Extension forestry marketing specialist.

Holding frozen foods for one day at 30 degrees F. damages quality more than storing them for a whole year at zero degrees, according to Miss Nelle Thrash, head of the Extension food preservation department.

Temperatures at which canned foods are stored affect texture, flavor and food value, says Miss Nelle Thrash, head of the Extension food preservation department.

Arcola-Brooklet HD club meets

By MRS. JOHN A. ROBERTSON

Last Wednesday night the members of the Arcola-Brooklet Home Demonstration Club held their annual Family Night Supper at the Community House with 75 in attendance.

Mrs. William Cronley and Mrs. Joe Ingram arranged the program. The lovely Christmas Story was the devotional given by a group of children, followed by a prayer given by Mrs. Walter Hendrix. Due to illness, the president, Mrs. C. S. Proctor, could not be present, so the vice-president, Mrs. William Cronley, presided. The group sang carols, exchanged gifts and drew names for the 1961 "Secret Sisters." A lovely Christmas dinner was enjoyed by the group.

There was a lot of weather in Bulloch County during 1960

It's no great news that there was a lot of weather in Statesboro and Bulloch County during 1960. It's a subject which rates high in the conversation and the thinking of everybody. And that figures—for the weather is important to a lot of people.

To farmers and merchants in Statesboro and Bulloch County the weather is the barometer by which they determine most of their activities.

The farmer, plants, cultivates, gathers his crops, by the weather. His hopes, his despair is controlled by the weather. Merchants buy and sell according to the weather. Families let the weather control what they do, what they wear, what they eat, and where they go.

The records reveal that there was a lot of weather in our community during the year 1960. As we approach the New Year 1961, the editors of the Bulloch Herald present their annual weather review for Bulloch County. Our authority is Mr. W. C. Cromley of Brooklet, official weather observer for the U. S. Weather Bureau. His weather station is located near Brooklet and all our data is based upon his records and weekly reports to the Herald's Thermometer Up and Downs Columns which is on the newspaper's front page every week.

RAINFALL FOR 1960

The recorded rainfall on the county for the year of 1960, through December 18, was 43.38 inches. Normal annual rainfall for the county is 47.55 inches. The month by month rainfall is as follows:

January, 1960, 4.33 inches; February, 4.02; March, 3.31; April, 4.36; May 1.99; June, 2.22; July, 12.22; August, 3.98; September, 3.15; October, 1.27; November, 1.87; December, through December 18, .66.

Rainfall on the county during 1959 was 50.68 inches. Other years: 1958, 43.23; 1957, 54.23 inches; 1956, 43.67; 1955, 34.91; 1954, 26.74; 1953, 46.57; 1952, 46.57; 1951, 36.54; 1950, 43.57.

Bulloch County's greatest rainfall in any one month since 1908, according to the records we keep, was in 1929 when 23.34 inches fell during the month of September. The greatest rainfall in any one day was on September 26, 1929, when 12.75 inches were officially recorded. The day before, September 25, 1929, 4.06 inches fell. Total rainfall for the year, 1929, was 71.35 inches. Normal is 47.55 inches. Another wet year was 1912 when 70.04 inches were recorded.

The county's driest spell came in November, 1931, when there was not a single drop of rain recorded as having fallen on the county. During the three-month period, September, October and November, 1931, there was not a single cloudy day and only .97 inches of rain was recorded. 1954 was the driest year since 1908. That year the total rainfall was only 26.74 inches, 20.81 inches less than normal. In June, 1954, only .99 inches were recorded. This was the driest month of that year. However in March, 1955, only .17 inches were recorded.

TEMPERATURE RECORDS

1960 came in a wave of mild weather with the first freeze recorded on January 20 when the thermometer dropped to 29 degrees. Then King Winter took over and from January 20 until March 22, there were nineteen days when the thermometer daily low was below 30 degrees. January 24 it dropped to 19. The day before, on the 18th, it dropped ped to 20. And on the second day of Spring, March 22, 1960, the thermometer registered 30 degrees.

The coldest day in Bulloch County was on February 3, 1917, when the temperature dropped to 10 degrees. During the big freeze of 1950 the thermometer officially recorded a low of 13 degrees on Fri., Nov. 24, the day after Thanksgiving. That was the big freeze when nearly 400 tractors and approximately 100 automobiles in the county were put out of commission with cracked or busted cylinder heads, blocks or radiators. Sixty-five water pumps busted during that one.

And summer moved into Bulloch County early, for on March 27, with spring just a squirt, the thermometer rose to 80 degrees and on April 17 it moved on up to 91 degrees. During the period from April 17, through September 21, there were sixty-six days when the temperature was above 90. It was on October 19 that it rose to 90 degrees for the last time in 1960. The thermometer did not get to 100 degrees a single day during the year, though it did hit 99 on June 16. In 1959 there were three days, June 29, June 30 and July 1, when the official thermometer reading was 100 degrees.

The two hottest days recorded in Bulloch County since 1908 was on August 20, 1925, when the thermometer rose to 107 degrees. It hit 108 degrees again on Sept. 4. In April of that year there were nine days when the thermometer was above 90 degrees. In June of that year there were seven days above 100 degrees. In July it was above 100 degrees on ten days and in August there were seven days when the temperature was above 100 degrees. And in September, 1925, there were nineteen days when the thermometer rose above 100 degrees.

The heaviest snow recorded in Bulloch County since 1908, was on February 24, 1914, when four inches fell on the county. Another "big snow" was in 1925. And on December 15, 1943, approximately three to four inches of snow fell on the county. Snow fell in the county three days in 1958. The first was on February 11. It snowed again on February 13. And on Thursday afternoon, December 11, two inches of snow were recorded by Mr. Cromley at his Weather Station near Brooklet. Statesboro was covered by a snow blanket estimated at two inches.

Rockwell's annual Christmas party features Santa Claus

Rockwell Manufacturing Company held their annual Christmas Party for employees and their kiddies December 17, 1960 at the plant.

The party featured a visit by Santa Claus who had gifts for all the kiddies through 16 years of age.

Jack Savage acted as master of ceremonies and the program opened with the invocation by Clyde Hendrix, a Christmas carol by the audience lead by the Choralists comprised of Steve Pollak, Joe Woodcock, Louis Dupree, N. W. Rowand, Clem Raith, Tom Newsome, Elmer Cullen, Wilbur Semmel, Ray Barge, Andy McClain, Nels McCormick, Wes Krissinger, Bill Taylor, and Henry Appel with Al Alessandri at the piano.

N. W. Rowand welcomed everybody and extended Christmas greetings to all. Service pins were awarded by N. W. Rowand to Steve Pollak for 30 years service, Clem Raith for 20 years service and Tom Nesbit for 15 years service - a total of 65 years experience. The program continued with Christmas songs by the group until the arrival of Santa Claus who passed out candy among the kiddies while gifts were distributed to the various age groups.

Following the distribution of the gifts to the kiddies, door prizes were awarded the following: Kermit Newman, Mildred Harris, Jack Anderson, Penny Hudson, Tom Nesbit, Howard Helmuth, James Akins, Horace Bird, Billy Turner, Don Vestal, Anthony Strozzi and Barney Williams.

After the awarding of the door prizes, the program was concluded with a tasty luncheon served by John Myers.

SANTA CLAUS stops over for the Christmas party at Rockwell. Here he is seen passing out gifts to the children at Rockwell's annual Christmas party.
