By E. T. "RED" MULLIS
Soil Conservation Service

Cooperators of the Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District are fast coming to a practice that, to me, is as important as parallel terraces. This practice is field borders. Field borders, boiled down to their basic meaning, are strips of perennial vegetation—either grasses or legumes, or both—bordering a cultivated field next to woods or fences.

Safe drivers to get new insurance rate

A "safe driver" insurance plan, under which motorists will pay automobile insurance rates based on their driving records, was approved for Georgia by Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey on March 10.

The plan is being offered by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association on behalf of their more than 400 member and subscriber companies writing automobile insurance in the state.

The Insurance Information Institute reported that Georgia is the 34th state to adopt the plan as proposed by these two national rating organizations.

Insurance Commissioner Zack D. Cravey said that the State has estimated that approximately 82 per cent of Georgia's drivers would be eligible for the 15 per cent "safe driver" discount.

Under the "safe driver" plan, the premium for a private passenger car would depend on the three-year driving record of those who drive the car, said the Insurance Information Institute.

The policy rates for which the household qualified would be figured on a "point" basis. Points would be charged against the applicant for the accidents and traffic violations during the past three years.

Each chargeable accident which resulted in bodily injury to property—including property of the owner—would result in a one-point penalty.

Each chargeable accident, each of which resulted in property damage of $50 or less, would result in a two-point penalty.

Reckless driving, a series of violations requiring a filing of evidence of financial responsibility, would result in a three-point penalty.

Driving while intoxicated or under the influence of drugs, failure to stop and report when involved in an accident, homicide or assault resulting from operation of a motor vehicle, and driving while license is suspended or revoked, would result in a four-point penalty.

In addition, one point would be charged for any other motor vehicle violation which requires filing of evidence to show financial responsibility.

A CLEAN RECORD for the three-year period—no points charged against those who drive the car being insured—would bring a 15 per cent reduction in the basic premium.

One point would mean paying the basic premium, plus five per cent.

Two points would cost the applicant 50 per cent above the basic premium; three points would double the basic premium, and four points would require the basic premium, plus 150 per cent.

NO POINTS would be charged for accidents in some instances. These include damages caused by "hit and run" drivers, provided the accident is reported within 24 hours; accidents in which the policyholder's car was legally parked; being struck from behind by another car if the driver of the struck car is not convicted of a "moving" violation in connection with it; accidents in which the policyholder or other operator in the household is not convicted of a moving violation but the driver of the other vehicle is convicted. An accident also would be point-free if the driver or owner of the car he was driving got reimbursed or obtained judgment from another person responsible for the accident.

Local citizen may get income taxes paid free

Someone in this community may have his 1960 income tax paid for him—free.

This prediction comes from the Bay Petroleum Corporation which today pledged to make refunds to 100 lucky taxpayers who win a simple contest. The oil firm will market new, high quality gasoline under a new name.

Contestants are asked to choose one of five names proposed for the new product. These are TOR, TORCO, OCTE, EN, TENNECO, or BAY PLUS. All those who select the name which the company will adopt for the gasoline will be eligible for a drawing on April 26. Winners will be determined by the drawing.

The contest opened Wednesday, March 8. Interested persons may obtain free entry blanks at local Bay gasoline service stations. All entries must be postmarked by April 17.

Bay is conducting these contests in stations throughout the country and estimates it will spend up to $200,000 to give the tax refunds. A maximum of $2,000 has been set for each payment.

Officials of the petroleum company explained the contests were being held "to help celebrate the fact that we are the fastest growing petroleum company in the nation. We've achieved this dynamic growth through the help of our wonderful customers. Now we want to do something special for them."

Almost all shrubs need regular waterings during the first growing season after transplanting, says Extension Horticulturist Gerald Smith.

Georgia farmers grew 93,000 acres of soybeans in 1960 with an average yield of 18 1/2 bushels. It would require 949,138 acres at this yield to produce the soybeans used in the state for broiler feed alone, says J. R. Johnson, Extension agronomist.

Georgia First in Pecan

Georgia ranks first in the nation in production of pecans, according to R. L. Livingston, horticulturist of the University of Georgia Cooperative Extension Service. In 1960 the state produced almost 39,000,000 pounds with an average of nearly 13,000,000. This is a 23 per cent increase over the 1959 production value in the nation.

"I made 35% more cotton per acre by using Nemagon Soil Fumigant"

Reports Mr. Gene McQueen, Route 6, Moultrie, Georgia

Mr. McQueen tells it better than we can! "I have been using Nemagon Soil Fumigant for 2 years. I think Nemagon Soil Fumigant is the difference between making a profit or not making a profit on nematode-infested land. Before Nemagon my cotton crop died at the rate of 80%. Since I started using Nemagon I have a perfect stand."

Like so many other growers, Mr. McQueen found that Nemagon Soil Fumigant pays off in bigger, better yields at harvest.

Nemagon is easy to use. It can be applied as a liquid, granules or mixed with fertilizer and applied in one time- and labor-saving application. It's economical, too! The cost of treatment can be paid many times over in bigger, better cotton yields.

Make this season's cotton the best yet. Use Nemagon Soil Fumigant and knock out nematodes before they cause serious damage. When nematodes attack back with a vengeance, the Southern A&U All Around Champion, Mardi Gras Senior Women's All Around Champion and All Around Champion will be the first to suffer.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Mrs. Henry H. Smith who passed away one year ago today, April 7, 1960.
What would I give to clasp your hand,
Your happy face to see,
To hear your voice and see your smile,
That meant so much to me,
I do not need a special day,
To bring you to my mind,
The days I do not think of you,
Are so very hard to find.
Sadly missed,

want 5 most appearing men

lished throughout the state.
If you are willing to work hard for $100 and up per week, don't pass up this opportunity.
If you are of average intelligence, I want to talk to you. I know that you are probably thinking as you read this advertisement that it is the same as I thought to myself some times "that this is just another ad with a lot of promises." Believe me, I is not.
That two years ago I joined this firm and I regret to this day that it wasn't years ago. I made more money with this firm than I earned with any other firm. I don't care what your previous experience has been, whether it was selling vacuum cleaners, encyclopedias, automobiles, appliances, or any other type of work. I will show you how to earn up to $200 a week with this company. Experience is not necessary. We give you complete training. If you your efforts. The bonus alone will amount to more than many men earn in a year. You will be backed by millions of dollars in advance advertising. This advertising will keep you busy calling on prospects in your territory with qualified leads. You owe it to yourself to investigate. Come in and I will prove to you that you are wasting your time, if you are earning under $1,000 per year. Write D. E. ALLEN, Box

Rockwell celebrates Fifth Anniversary

Five years ago we became conscious that "industry" was moving in. Despite the presence of several small industries within our community we thought of them more in terms of hometown "industries."

Then Rockwell moved in—here was "big industry." A manufacturing plant with millions of dollars invested in buildings and machinery in our community, employing our people.

And Statesboro and Bulloch County began accelerating its move toward the goal of a balanced economy with agriculture at one end of the scales and industry, at the other with the community the fulcrum.

On February 1, 1956, the first Bulloch Countian was employed by Rockwell Statesboro Corporation to work in its new plant located on U. S. Highway 301.

In five years since that day Rockwell has ceased being Rockwell Statesboro Corporation and is now "Our Rockwell." It has become an established part of the community of Statesboro and Bulloch County. Rockwell and Statesboro and Bulloch County belong to each other. Part of our pride in our community includes Rockwell. Part of Rockwell's pride includes Statesboro and Bulloch County. And this mutual pride and respect forms the foundation of a healthy relationship which contributes to the growth and progress of our industry and our community.

To celebrate their Fifth Anniversary as part of our community Rockwell's staff and employees are holding "Open House" tomorrow, April 7, from 3 p.m. until 7:30 p.m. They wish the citizens of this section to visit them to observe the plant in operation, to see their friends and neighbors operating some of their complicated machinery in the process of production. They wish the citizens of this section to meet Rockwell's staff. Informality will be the keynote of the celebration.

And so this week we say HAPPY BIRTHDAY to Rockwell and all its people, our friends and neighbors.

Don't leave your children unprotected

Are you waiting for the oral polio vaccine to give your children to protect them from the terrifying assault of polio?

Are you waiting because you think it'll be easier for your children to take or because you do not have complete faith in the Salk Vaccine?

Well, we have news for you—according to Dr. John Mooney, acting director of the Bulloch County Department of Public Health, authorities estimate that the oral vaccine will not be available before the end of 1962.

In the light of this estimate, it is extremely foolish for parents to leave their children exposed and unprotected from crippling polio until then.

Parents in Chatham County were warned last week of the possible sharp increase in polio in that county. The Chatham County health commissioner, Dr. W. D. Lundquist, reported that a two-year old Negro boy had been stricken with polio and is in a Savannah hospital totally paralyzed from the waist down. He had not been given the protection provided by the polio shots.

Parents, be warned. Don't let polio strike down your children! Have them inoculated immediately. Children and teen-agers up to nineteen years of age and pre-natal patients may receive the Salk Vaccine at the Bulloch County Health Department free—all four shots.

Hog cholera

While warning parents of the dangers which surround their children who do not have the protection of the Salk Vaccine, farmers are being warned out of breaks of hog cholera.

30,000 to 40,000 hogs were lost to cholera in Georgia last year, costing hog farmers approximately a half million dollars. Commissioner of Agriculture Phil Campbell predicts greater loss this year unless farmers take every possible precaution against this hog-killing disease.

Once hogs are infected there is nothing that can be done to save them.

See to it that your hogs are inoculated immediately.

A Much Taller Youngster

This Week's Meditation

By Rev. Lawrence E. Houston Jr.

IN THE LONG AGO, God said to Moses: "The place on which you stand is holy ground." For any of us, the experiences of the past several weeks have made us feel we have been standing on "holy ground."

Permit me to share several impressions: First, the value and effect of prayer has become more of a spiritual reality. All across the community, Christians have prepared themselves for revival and the triumphant Easter Day through prayer.

My impression is that prayer meetings can be spiritually vital if we keep them on a small, intimate, cell-like basis. Let Christians in a geographical zone bind themselves together in a prayer fellowship.

I SUGGEST there be no sermons, and as little small talk as possible. Instead, let all that is said be directed toward bringing the group into a spirit of mutual honesty and concern, and into vital contact with God.

The element of praise and thanksgiving should return to our prayers. Confession of sin and a need for the presence of Christ should be expressed. Petitions must be tempered with an honest appraisal of self-need.

The most forgotten element of intercession (praying for others) should assume a larger place in our prayers.

IF WE ARE to let the Church be the Church, then we must permit sincere and effective prayer to take its rightful place in the life of the people. Our folk are ready. Now is the time.

AA helps those who come seeking help

By DR. JOHN MOONEY

TURNING FROM our discussion of alcoholism, let us this week review some of the important evidence against drinking at all.

Following is a condensation of an article entitled, "What Drinking Drivers Don't Know," from the Spring 1961 issue of Home Safety Review, a publication of the National Safety Council.

"On His way home from a cocktail party during a light rain and fog, a man plowed into the back of a string of cars at high speed. One person was killed, others injured. In explaining his alcoholic breath to police, the driver delivered the classic alibi 'only two drinks.'"

He even insisted he be given a blood chemical test to prove it. Results showed a .045 per cent concentration of alcohol in his blood, which under state law indicated he was not drunk. (Three times that much alcohol, or .15 per cent, is demanded in most states as proof of intoxication.) No court in the country could hold this man guilty of driving under the influence.

But was he? How much did the alcohol blunt his judgment, blur his eyesight and slow down his reactions? Would he, despite foggy conditions, have seen the cars and stopped in time if he had been sober?

CONTRARY to popular belief, this man who "had been drinking" is a greater menace on the highway than the so-called drunk driver. He is a sneak through yellow caution lights, pass on a curve-in-other words, take chance he would not ordinarily take."

"After two highballs, a driver, devoid of self-criticism, may drive with the artificial sneeze through yellow caution lights, pass on a curve-in-other words, take chance he would not ordinarily take."

I. I can drive as well or better after a few drinks. "This is nonsense," said Lhotka. "A person only thinks he can, because even two drinks containing a jigger of whiskey or gin can put a 160 pound man in a care-free, careless mood. He is no longer critical of his driving; he loses judgment."

WHEN A STATESBORO business rates "Dealer of the Month" status by his associates over a two-state area, we figure he rates home-town recognition for it.

Emitt, known as "Raub" by his fellow-Rotarians, and his two sons, Lewell and Roy L. known as "Bucky," doing business as "W. C. Akins and Son Hardware," are featured in the March issue of Georgia-Florida Hardware News.

The full page story, together with pictures of the Akins showing them in their recently remodeled store, tells how the business was established on October 4, 1919, by Mr. W. C. Akins. Emitt was associated with his father from the beginning and in 1935, when Mr. W. C. retired, Emitt assumed complete control.

It was in 1933 that Lewell and Bucky joined their father in the business. Then things began to pop. Changes became the order of the day and in no time they transformed the store, with its antiquated lighting system and display counters, and the Victorian front, into a modern building, while at the same time preserving the flavor of the family business.

So we toss our hat high into the air for Georgia-Florida's hardware "Dealer of the Month" for March.

WE'RE GLAD that the idea of cutting a mammoth Confederate flag on the face of Stone Mountain has been abandoned. It was a fantastic idea from its inception and would have profaned the grandeur of that masterpiece of nature.

WE BORROW this story from Leo Akman of the Atlanta Constitution. He admits to borrowing it from John Wiley of Indianapolis, Indiana. It goes like this:

The preacher driving down the highway saw the man in front weaving dangerously, lane to lane. Obviously, the man was influenced by something other than the safe-driving code.

"I am my brother's keeper," the preacher said to himself. "I must save him. Ahead is a sharp curve and a cliff. I do not get him stopped, he will go off the road and down the bluff."

The minister stepped on the gas and got ahead of the errant driver. Every time the wandering one zigged, the preacher zigged. Every time the fellow zagged so did the preacher. When they came to the curve, the preacher, intent on his mission, was looking back. So he ran off the road himself and crashed—bang, down the cliff.

The drunk stopped his own car carefully, went to the trunk and yelled, "Are you hurt?"

"No," the preacher shouted back, brushing himself off and feeling his bruises. "I'm not hurt. The Lord is with me."

"Shay," said the drunk, "you'd better let me ride with me. The way you drive, you're gonna kill Him."

IF YOU ARE interested in boys and you are interested in fishing then you will certainly want to see this combination action on the 29th. The gates to Robbins Lake will open at 9 A. M. and the fishing will start at 10 A. M. The whole event will last about three hours and the boys fishing for prizes for 60 minutes.

Prizes will be given for the first fish caught, the largest fish caught, the largest bass, the largest catfish and there will even be a prize for the smallest fish caught on a hook. All turtles will be worth a silver dollar.

JUST TO BE SURE that you enjoy yourself, whether you are a fisherman or whether you are just coming to join the fun, the Robbins folk will be serving those famous Robbins Hot Dogs and Iced Cokes all during the Rodeo. It's worth a trip from anywhere in the First District just to cash in on this part of the program.

MR. MARION ROBBINS SR., Head Man at Robbins' Company, rates this event sponsored by the Company as first on their list. He works all year to see that the lake is well stocked and cared for and stops the fishing by everyone's days ahead of the contest to have the fish quiet and ready to get on the hook. He will fire the starting gun at exactly 10 A. M.

All the folks at Robbins' Packing Company and all the recreation staff issue you a good bye note to be present for the big event.

BASEBALL will get in full swing within the next three weeks. On Monday the 10th, Pony League will begin play. The following Monday, the 17th, the Babe Ruth League will get under way. This League is something new which should provide much fun in a good brand of baseball.

man drive worse and believe he is driving better."

Dr. Goldberg's conclusion: A small amount of alcohol causes driving performance to deteriorate 25 to 30 per cent.

2. An after-work cocktail doesn't impair driving. On the contrary, a cocktail on an empty stomach sometimes gives you twice the "kick" as two of the same after dinner, according to Leon D. Adams in his new book, The Commonsense Book of Drinking. Alcohol without food to retard its absorption gets into the blood much faster. From there it is carried rapidly to the brain.

3. Alcohol doesn't affect me, because I've built up a tolerance for it. Hard-bitten drinkers who boast they can consume half a dozen glasses because their body is used to alcohol are under an illusion. It's physically impossible to build up an immunity to alcohol. A person's body can tolerate only so much alcohol whether it is in a first drink or fifth.

Your A. Q. is fixed.

Everyone knows from observation that the same quantity of alcohol affects imbibers in varying degrees. One person after four Martinis may still be in control of all faculties but his tongue while his companion after the same dosage may be as uncoordinated as a rag doll.

Why? Because everyone possesses an individual Alcohol Quotient. Research has shown that how much a person can drink depends to a great extent on body weight, how fast the small intestine absorbs alcohol, how fast blood distributes it and how fast the liver oxidizes it. In view of the physical basis for alcohol capacity, no one can do anything to raise his A.Q.

Recognizing the differences in susceptibility to alcohol's influence, officials who enforce drunken driving laws measure not how many drinks a person has consumed, but how much alcohol his blood contains—a sure guide to how much he is impaired.

According to Dr. Leon A. Greenberg, of Yale University, who has intensively studied the effects of alcohol, an average man of 150 pounds who downs two jiggers of 90 proof whiskey on an empty stomach will bring his alcohol content in the blood

ROCKWELL BOWLERS DEFEAT TUPELO, MISS IN TWO GAMES

Rockwell's Statesboro Division defeated Tupelo, Miss. winning two games and total pins for three points placing them in tie with Jamestown, N. Y. for fifth place, and a 500 average for the season. Bill Connor had high single game of 231 and Bob Westrick high three game of 568 for Statesboro. Dale Dole of Tupelo had high single game of 203 with Benney high three game total of 544.

up to .06 per cent, which indicates a careless attitude dangerous to a driver. One more drink of the same strength will induce the fellow to become noisy; one more, unsteady and the fifth legally drunk.

Under the same conditions, a 120 pound woman will become intoxicated on four drinks and a 180 pound man on six drinks.

The best advice is still this: If You Drink Don't Drive—even if you had was one can of beer.

ALL IS NOT WHAT IT SEEMS. At first glance it looks as though the administration at Georgia Southern College had devised a fast way to fill the campus swimming pool by tilting the water tank over to spill water into the pool. It is estimated by "two prominent authorities in water and power, W. E. Fillet and Retired Admiral C. Level," that the pool can be filled in three minutes. The truth of the matter is that it's just an April Fool's Day operation dreamed up by the staff of The George-Anne, student newspaper at the college. Looks like it might work, at that.

SHS students to present John Brown's Body

The Civil War is a sword cut across American history. Before it there is one United States, and after it another, and yet there is only one body, and the arteries run through. What songs they would have sung in New England, what romances written in the South, is unknown. An unborn future moulders with John Brown's body in the grave.

The speech students of Mrs. Bernard Morris will present an adaptation done by Mrs. Morris of Stephen Vincent Benet's dramatic work on May 16th at Georgia Southern College. This production will feature a verse speaking choir, a singing choir, soloists, and shadow pantomimes. In 1961 the Civil War was here with us, now in 1961 the students seek to create for you, the townspeople of Statesboro, a dramatization of the hardships, the laughter, the gaiety, the brilliance of this period of our history. There has been a more appropriate time to think about this period in our country's development.

There will be only one production of this drama. It will be on May 16th, at 8:15 in the Croan Auditorium. The admission is 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for students.

PRIZE BEEF is on sale at Winn Dixie this week according to Meat market manager Harold Waters. The prize beef is the Reserve Champion shown at last week's Stock Show. How Rockwell evaluates community in selecting best site for plant

EDITOR'S NOTE:—It was a little more than five years ago that officials of Rockwell Manufacturing Company began manifesting an interest in Statesboro and Bulloch County as a site for a new plant. Selection of Statesboro was not an accident. Selection of Statesboro was not made on "snap judgement". The final decision to make Statesboro the site of another of its plants came after careful study, careful inspection, all according to standards based upon experience and knowledge. On this the fifth anniversary of the establishment of the Rockwell plant in Statesboro we believe it will be of interest to our citizens to get a picture of what goes into the selection of a site for an industrial plant with extreme high standards like those held by Rockwell. Written by Mr. H. Cambell Stuckeman, vice president of Rockwell Manufacturing Company, he calls it "Community Evaluation in Site Selection."

Selecting the best sites for new plants is one of the most difficult problems faced by many American companies today. Many different factors - many pitfalls - are involved. Selecting a plant site is like choosing a wife - while it is possible to change later, the change may be both expensive and unpleasant.

It is certainly better to make a good choice the first time - and this takes sound planning. The right location is the place where it will be possible to manufacture the desired product and place it in the hands of the customer at less cost than it can be supplied by an existing or potential competitor.

There are many reasons why new plants are built. But - whatever the reason - the same factors must be considered. Among these are:

1. A satisfactory labor supply must be available.
2. The community must fit the company's needs.
3. Technical requirements, such as waste disposal facilities or large amounts of fuel or water must be met.
4. Transportation facilities must be adequate, and
5. Taxes, utilities, operating costs and housing must all be weighed.

Most companies prepare a comprehensive list of factors which must be considered in selecting any plant site. First they must decide what they need before they can evaluate any site. The failure to define needs properly is the single biggest cause of trouble in plant site selection. Once that decision is made, how do we at Rockwell go about selecting the right site? To begin with - because we are only a medium-size company - we do not maintain a permanent staff for this purpose.

In our company usually a one - or two-man team studies the problem and makes the site selection. It is not an easy job, but it is one that must be done.

However, plant location is a difficult problem. Every department assists with suggestions and recommendations. Traffic, industrial engineering, industrial relations, insurance, tax, treasury and legal departments (in addition to manufacturing personnel) are all consulted. The field sales force is called upon for help. This group is far more familiar with the territory than anyone else. We also use professional site-finding companies and obtain much important help from state development commissions, public utilities, railroads and Chambers of Commerce.

The specifications for our new plants are set up by the manufacturing or operating division of the company. These are usually prepared in great detail - including Products to be manufactured - Markets to be served - Location of major vendors - Size of plot - Size and type of community - Utility requirements - Required number of employees (male-female) - Transportation requirements for materials - Raw material needs - Waste disposal, water, fuel requirements. The investigation of these and other factors is more or less standard procedure for most companies. Our problems are different from many others for several reasons:

1. Future operation facilities should be limited to employment in the 300 to 500 range.
2. The markets for the majority of our products are nationwide.
3. Raw materials, and their location in relation to our plants, is relatively unimportant.
4. Large volumes of process water are not required. Once the specifications for the new plant have been set up, a general area is chosen. It may encompass a whole state, a group of states or only a few square miles. We then collect economic, engineering and cost data on the various states under consideration - and the general area is then reviewed by an outside professional factory locating service. These people are thoroughly familiar with the advantages of a particular area and are able to summarize quickly the most favorable locations.

Most states and most municipalities have in the past few years established rather extensive industrial development departments or committees. Our consultants review pertinent data from these organizations and finally recommend several locations for us to inspect personally. We then send several teams at different times to anonymously inspect each community.

We normally consider the smaller towns as being the right size for us because we prefer small plant operations. Such a community, generally speaking, would be able to supply an adequate labor force without placing an undue burden of employment responsibility on us. In places that are too small, we believe we have too great a responsibility for the economic welfare of the community. We over, productivity and other labor relations yardsticks.

We also consider the labor situation of the community. Has it been satisfactory? Does the state have a "Right to Work" law? Has there been general labor tranquility in the area for a number of years? What is the influence of local industry on labor? We conduct a scientific wage survey among the local businessmen and employers in the surrounding area to determine the actual wage rates and existing practices.

1. Main line railroad
2. Satisfactory highway system
3. Adequate water supply
4. Natural gas
5. Suitable site

If a city meets these basic standards, we then study its economics and compile all relevant data in considerable detail.

At this point, I think the most helpful thing I can do is list some of the more important of these considerations by category - together with random examples of how they apply:

The first category is markets. Our newer plants are all located in major market areas. For example, we have a valve plant in Sulphur Springs because of the many customers in this general area.

An even more important category is labor. Is there sufficient labor? We normally receive a minimum of 3 to 4 applications for every job. This, we feel, has one major benefit. It enables us to be extremely choosy in picking our initial work force. As a result, our new plants have been exceptionally good from the standpoint of absenteeism, labor turn-minimize the expense of constructing a spur track.

In some communities we have investigated, not one site shown to us could be served by rail because of the prohibitive cost of constructing a spur. Likewise we do not want to be on a spur line of a railroad which provides spasmodic service.

Truck transportation is extremely important, too. We try to select a community which is on a main highway and is served by several truck lines. There is an additional reason for this. We are proud of all our plants and want them located prominently on main highways where they can be seen.

Airline transportation in the immediate vicinity is most desirable. If it is not available, we at least like to be close to some kind of airport which can be seen.

Incidentally, our Edward Valve products, as well as the controls manufactured by the Republic Flow Meter Company, one of our subsidiaries, are widely used in power plants throughout this country and the world.

Transportation facilities are important.

We want a major railroad near the plant site so as to

FACTS AND FIGURES ABOUT OUR OPERATIONS And What They Mean to This Community

A FIVE YEAR REPORT

Wages - - - - - $4,651,035.00

In the past 5 years our payroll has totalled $4,651,035.00. This compares with a $355,658.00 payroll for our first year of operation in 1956. All of this money has been distributed throughout the community to the benefit of merchants for food, clothing and other necessities of life, builders of homes, automobile dealers and service stations, the utilities, and banks for savings and investment.

Area Purchases - $1,732,034.00

Counting the cost of the building and the building addition, local purchases through the year 1960 totalled $1,732,034.00. This has led to expanded operations and increased employment in this area by those who sell to us. Of course, most of the money we spend is again channeled throughout the trading zone to the benefit of all.

Utility Purchases - $233,268.00

Our purchases for gas, electricity, water, telephone and telegraph totalled $233,268.00 during the past five years. Our growing use of these services has led to increased employment by the utilities, increased local purchases of equipment and supplies by them and again, of course, more money going into local circulation.

Taxes Paid - - - - $439,370.00

Among the principal beneficiaries of our Statesboro operations are the tax collectors. Over the past five years we have paid out in direct taxes $439,370.00. This figure includes taxes at the local level for properties and land, Unemployment Funds for the protection of employees as well as levies imposed by the State of Georgia in the form of Corporate Income Taxes and Capital Stock Taxes.

Employee Health Benefits - $136,771.98

Our insurance program has contributed to the welfare of employees by paying $136,771.98 for employee hospital and medical care during the past five years. From this we have gained a healthier group of employees. Our people have gained through being relieved, in a large measure, of financial stress during periods of illness. And the Statesboro community as a whole has benefited from this expenditure through improved facilities and more professional people to care for the sick.

Farm and Family Features

Plant best seed to get best results

By ROY POWELL
County Agent

To get good yields of soybeans, Bulloch County Farmers should plant certified seed, if possible, and should plant the right varieties for this area. A lot of progress has been made by your University of Georgia College of Agriculture in recent years in soybean varieties. Newer varieties are resistant to nematodes and diseases, grow well under our conditions, do not shatter readily, are easily harvested, and produce good yields of beans high in oil and protein.

Recommended soybean varieties in Bulloch County are Jackson, Roanoke, C-N-S-4, and I.E.W. 45.

Stand is important in soybeans. The way to get a stand is to plant quality seed of high germination. The way to get a yield is to plant a recommended variety that has yielded best in the seed.

These recommended varieties have been tested by Georgia Experiment Stations and have proven their superiority in yield and lodging resistance. Good seed is good insurance with a soybean crop. It guarantees a high yield from the seed stand. It makes fertilizer, lime and insect control pay dividends.

Each year about this time some pine trees in Georgia develop a spindle-shaped swelling on the branches and stems of the trees. These swellings are covered with blisters filled with orange powder.

These swellings are caused by Southern Fusiform Rust—a disease most common on loblolly and slash pines. It's commonly called pine canker or pine canker rust.

The orange powder in the swellings doesn't cause the fusiform rust, but it does produce the spores that do. When the wind blows, the orange powder is carried to the leaves of oak trees. There the spores that infect pines are produced.

Water, willow, laurel, southern red, and several oaks act as hosts for the production of the pine infecting spores. These spores are released in the late spring and carried by the wind to new pine needles and branch tips. Upon germination, the fungus grows and attacks the living inner bark.

Loss from this disease can run into thousands of dollars each year. The cankers seldom kill pines directly, but they weaken them and reduce their value for products requiring strong sound wood.

As a preventive measure spray needles and twigs of pines five years old or less with ferrous chemical at the rate of two pounds per 100 gallons of water. This should be done when you discover the disease on oaks.

Stop by at my office for complete details about this disease.

POULTRY DISEASE
Poultrymen should be especially watchful for C-R-D and coccidiosis diseases in the broiler and laying houses for the next weeks.

Many broiler and layer houses have wet litter which provides an ideal environment for the development and spread of these troublesome diseases.

It's important to head these two diseases off before they can get a good start in the flock. Removing wet litter and replacing it with dry material is a good prevention measure.

Proper ventilation will keep down moisture conditions in the houses which usually allow C-R-D and Coccidiosis to become a serious problem. Proper sanitation and good management are big factors in prevention also.

CORN SPACING
The spacing of corn plants can be a limiting factor in the production of high, economical yields of corn.

Poor stands mean lower production and, consequently, lower profit. It causes waste of fertilizer and labor efforts.

Plan for about 10 to 12 thousand plants per acre for highest yields. Using a row width of 36 to 42 inches, spacing should be from 15 to 17 inches in the drill for South Georgia.

"I made 35% more cotton per acre by using Nemagon Soil Fumigant"

Reports Mr. Gene McQueen, Route 6, Moultrie, Georgia

Mr. McQueen tells it better than we can! "I have been using Nemagon Soil Fumigant for 2 years. I think Nemagon Soil Fumigant is the difference between making a profit or not making a profit on my cotton crop. Before Nemagon my cotton crop died at the rate of 80%. Since I started using Nemagon I have a perfect stand."

Like so many other growers, Mr. McQueen found that Nemagon Soil Fumigant pays off in bigger, better yields at harvest.

Nemagon is easy to use. It can be applied as a liquid, granules or mixed with fertilizer and applied in one time—and labor-saving application. It's economical, too! The cost of treatment can be paid many times over in bigger, better cotton yields.

Make this season's cotton the best yet. Use Nemagon Soil Fumigant and knock out nematodes before they cause serious damage. When nematodes attack field back with Nemagon Soil Fumigant. Be prepared—order your supply today.

Girl Scouts to hold Honor Court April 17

Mrs. Virgil Donaldson announced this week that members of the six Girl Scout troops in Statesboro will meet in the school hall of the Pittman Park Methodist Church on Monday evening, April 17, at 7:30 o'clock for a Court of Honor. There are eighty-five girls in Intermediate Scouting in Statesboro.

In the grand jury presentations dated Dec. 3, 1960, the following statement is found: "We, the Grand Jury for the County of Bulloch, present the following grievances (vis) 'This county has sustained considerable damages by making use of the same as a bale room and threshing floor etc., and we find the benches and tables almost entirely destroyed and not fit for the reception of the Courts.'"

Evidently the old judge's chair was not harmed and was moved from courthouse to courthouse until it found its way into the clerk's office of the present courthouse.

The exact date that the first courthouse was built is not known. It was a log structure built before 1806. The chair now in the clerk's office is a reproduction of the original.
