Laws mean more changes on farm

Recently the voters of Bulloch county went to the polls and voted the "No Fence Law" in. This, of course, means that farmers will be required to keep their livestock off the highways and state maintained roads in the county after October 1955, and farmers will begin now to make plans to fence their farms in order to comply with the law on or before that date.

Along with this change are rumors that cotton will be allowed again in 1954, which means that many farmers will have to change their future farm plans if they are to maintain or increase their present incomes. This change of course can be only to increase livestock since all basic cash crops will be under allotments and the remaining land will be devoted to feed crops.

Charles J. Vickery, county supervisor, Farmers Home Administration, states that many farmers are not in financial position to make this change as many of the farms in the county are either undeveloped or underdeveloped, and the cost of making the change is rather large in some instances. To meet the needs brought about by these changes, Mr. Vickery points out that the FMA makes long-term, low-interest loans to farmers to enable them to fully develop their farms and are made for the following purposes: Refinance indebtedness against farm, construct houses, tobacco barns, storage facilities, deep wells, fencing, stock ponds, pasture seeds-fertilizer, bulldozer work for clearing and drainage and purchase of additional land in cases where the farm does not have adequate land.

This type of assistance will make it possible for farmers to fully utilize all of the resources of the farm thereby increasing the income. For example, year round employment through better distribution of labor and result in better-farming and better-living.

These loans are made through and in cooperation with Banks, Insurance Companies, and other investors. The loans bear interest at the rate of 4 per cent and are 100 per cent insured to the lender by the Government.

Mr. Vickery also pointed out that Direct Government Loans were made to veterans for the outright purchase and development of farms.

Any one interested in this type of assistance is invited to call by the Farmers Home Administration Office located at North Side Drive (U. S. 80).

Candidates for J.B. Searce Named by Youth Council

STATESBORO YOUTH COUNCIL DESIGNATES NEW AWARD. HONEY BOWEN COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD TO BE PRESENTED.

At a meeting of the Statesboro Youth Council this week the council selected five candidates for the J. B. Searce Community Service Award and a young teenage woman in recognition of outstanding community service. This award will be known as the Honey Bowen Community Service Award. Five young women and five young men were selected as candidates for the award. From this group of five candidates the Recreation Department will select three and a special adult council will select the final candidate from the group of three.

In other business the Youth Council voted to extend to the Statesboro Lions their endorsement of the Lions Safety Drive, or undersized, and the cost of making the change is rather large in some instances. To meet the needs brought about by these changes, Mr. Vickery points out that the FMA makes long-term, low-interest loans to farmers to enable them to fully develop their farms and are made for the following purposes: Refinance indebtedness against farm, construct houses, tobacco barns, storage facilities, deep wells, fencing, stock ponds, pasture seeds-fertilizer, bulldozer work for clearing and drainage and purchase of additional land in cases where the farm does not have adequate land.

Scouts hear VP Nixon at national Jamboree

Special To Herald

BY LLOYD DARBY III

JAMBOREE SCOUTS ENJOY CALIFORNIA WEATHER

"Oh, I wish I was in the land of cotton..." was the stirring words, the 35 Boy Scouts from the Coastal Empire Council joined in with Scouts from other parts of "Dixie" to raze some Yankees, soon to be sorry for stepping into "Rebel Territory," which section is called.

This section is composed of Region 6, Florida, Georgia, North and South Carolina, and is famous for its Confederate money. Rebels would be caught which bounced off a "Yam dance," or its little Civil War.

Of course everything at the Jamboree is not state rivalry, as a matter of fact, there isn't much time for that even, but it seems in here and there.

The most beautiful thing witnessed by the Scouts from Coastal Empire Troop 18, was probably the opening pageant Friday night. During this show, two complete, full-sized locomotives were brought on the stage at the main arena, before fifty thousand boys. Also, a flag ceremony was held which used 2,200 American flags at one time.

Another beautiful show was the Convocation Service held Sunday night, July 19. In this service, 50,000 Scouts dedicated themselves to scouting by lighting 50,000 candles and repeating the Scout Oath. A beautiful spectacle indeed, or as one boy from Savannah put it, "they used 50,000 candlepower to light the arena."

Not only this was at the Convocation, but as guest speaker was the Vice President of the United States, Richard M. Nixon. He spoke on "Scouts, Tomorrow's Leaders." An interesting throughout talk about how a Scout is a privilege to be a Scout and have access to the training of a peaceful mission in life instead of, for example, hate and contempt shown in the German youth camps.

Church services also were held for the religions from Catholic to Buddhist and Mormon to Protestant. The Protestant assembly was probably the largest ever held.

But Jamboree life is not all show and meetings, the most interesting part of the jamboree is the regular day around the Jamboree is the swapping. Scouts are really good swappers as Vice President Nixon reported after entering a swap tent and leaving minus a fountain pen. One boy from Troop 18 has a "petrified cat brain" to swap for "blood."

It stands to reason...

Chevrolet trucks must be the best buy!

Big truck users, small truck users, all truck users buy more Chevrolet trucks than any other make. It stands to reason Chevrolet trucks must offer more of what you want.

When you stop to think about it, the best proof of outstanding value in any product is continued public preference. That's the way it is with Chevrolet trucks. They're the top selling trucks in America today... for the twelfth straight production year.

This is a mighty important fact to consider before you buy your next truck. You'll also want to consider that, while Chevrolet trucks give you more features you want, it's the lowest-priced truck line of all! Come in and talk it over with us.

Support prices for peanuts set for 1953 crop

The U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington has announced it will support growers' prices of 1953 crop peanuts to reflect a national average of not less than $27.60 a ton. The figure is 30 per cent of the parity price of peanuts on April 24, when the minimum national support average was announced.

If 90 per cent of parity is set at $27.60 at the start of the marketing year Aug. 1, the support average and the individual support levels for the various types would be increased accordingly.

Minimum supports by type included: Virginia—$29 a ton for peanuts containing 65 per cent sound mature kernels. Runners—$23 a ton for peanuts containing 65 per cent sound mature kernels.

Spanish—$24 a ton for peanuts containing 65 per cent sound mature kernels. The price for other Valencia-type peanuts will be the same as for Spanish-type peanuts in the same area.

Valencia—The support rate for these of this type suitable for cleaning and roasting will be the same as for Virginia-type peanuts will be the same as for Spanish-type peanuts in the same area.

B.C. 4-Hers go to Milledgeville

Miss Betty Jean Beasley, representing county 4-H Club president, and Jappy Akins, the new president, will head Bulloch County's delegation to the 4-H Club Council meeting in Milledgeville next week. They will leave here Monday and return Friday.

Richard Cowart, the new county 4-H president, Miss Wynne Nemith, the new girls' vice president, and Miss Lynn Murphy, the new secretary, will represent the county at the meeting. They will be accompanied by Miss Beasley to Milledgeville, along with Jappy.

Miss Beasley is a returning delegate. Roger Agan, a former county president and last year's national field crops champion, has been invited back by J. R. Johnson, extension agronomist, to help with some of the field crops instructions. Roger was asked to bring his 1952 record book along to use in this study. The farm and home agents will go to Milledgeville with the group.

The five-day program will include speeches by Dr. Arthur Van Gosen, pastor of Milledgeville Presbyterian Church, Atlanta; Dr. C. C. Murray, dean and director of the University of Georgia College of Agriculture; Donald Hastings, president of the H. G. Hastings Company of Atlanta, and chairman of the State 4-H Club Advisory Committee; and Dr. R. C. S. Young, associate professor of business administration and dean of students at the Atlanta Division of the University.

Two congressmen will also be on the program, Congressman J. L. Picher of Meigs and Congressman V. L. Vinson of Milledgeville.

The group will visit Rock Fagel, the state 4-H Club center, and heard Dr. O. C. Aderhold, president of the University.

Bringing natural gas to Statesboro is one of the jobs already assigned to William F. Gignilliat, newly elected vice president of South Atlantic Gas Company, according to an announcement by Hansell Hill, president.

Mr. Gignilliat joins the Company August 1, with the specific assignment of expanding its subsidiary pipeline system to nearby cities and towns in Georgia and Florida.

The pipeline for natural gas is being laid to Savannah. October 5 has been set as the "target date" when it will be turned on.

With a deep feeling of thankfulness

THERE WAS NOT the great tumultuous demonstration which followed at the announcement of the cessation of fighting in Europe.

There was not the great joyful outbursts which followed the cease firing in the Pacific.

Even so there was a deep, heart-felt thankfulness in the being of every peace loving person in the Western world, with the announcement that a truce had been signed in Korea.

President Eisenhower made a brief but powerful Statement on Sunday night shortly after the signing of the agreements.

"Tonight," he began, "we greet with thanksgiving the signing of an armistice.

"The cost of repelling aggression has been high...incalculable...it has been paid in terms of tragedy."

The President expressed "solemn gratitude for those who have given up their lives in a foreign land."

He said that the Korean war had proved that "only courage and sacrifice can keep freedom alive upon this earth."

"It is proper that we salute particularly the valor of the armies of South Korea," the President said.

Continuing Mr. Eisenhower said, "each of us devoutly prays that now peoples will no longer resort to futile battle to settle their differences."

"Throughout the coming months we and our United Nations allies must be vigilant against the possibilities of untoward developments."

"We shall feverently strive so that free peoples will be brought one step closer to their goal of peace."

Almost ninety years ago, Eisenhower recalled, President Lincoln delivered his second inaugural address. He quoted from that address as applicable to the present day:

"With Malice toward none, with charity for all, and firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right..."

"This is our resolve and our dedication."

In five short minutes our President gave his people a picture of the United Nations having met the challenge of aggression "with deeds of decision," and a warning that "We must not relax our guard."

And now begins the long, tedious task of writing the peace. Remembering that the true negotiations began on July 10, 1951 it is entirely possible that peace is still a long way off.

So in the meantime we must continue vigilant. The struggle for just and lasting peace has just begun.

For Heroism In Action

BRIG. GEN. P. D. GINDER, commander of the Thunderbolt Division, decorated him with a Bronze Star for "heroism in action against armed enemy" in Korea.

"Corporal JOHN H. EASON, RA 14-470-950, Armor, United States Army, is cited for heroism in action against an armed enemy in the vicinity of To'pimak, Korea. On 26 June, 1953 Corporal EASON was the driver of a tank in an exposed forward position. When the enemy in a fanatical attack overran the position, Corporal EASON calmly stayed at his post until orders to move the tank back to friendly lines. At this time the enemy fired a rocket launcher at the tank and blew a track off. It was then decided to back the tank down the precipitous mountainside behind them. With inspired driving skill Corporal EASON backed the tank off the position and, while moving rapidly backward, managed to get the tank into first gear. This plus the judicious use of one steering lever still useable he managed to keep the tank under control during the plunge down the mountainside. This action saved the lives of the crewmen. The heroism exhibited by Corporal EASON, both during the fire fight on the position and during the plunge down the hill reflects great credit on himself and the military service."

And the citation might have added "...reflects great credit on himself, his race, and the military service," for you see, Corporal John H. Eason, is a Negro.

He is a Bulloch county Negro, and his father, Floyd, and his mother, Clara, of RFD 2 are proud of their son.

There was more to the action than the citation reveals. It doesn't describe the artillery barrage that surrounded the tank's position. It doesn't describe the Chinese Reds closing in after the barrage and trying to drop hand grenades down the tube of the 76 mm gun. It doesn't describe the thoughts of the five men as they worked surrounded by live ammunition in the tank with them.

It doesn't describe the impact with which the rocket hit the tank.

It doesn't describe the terrific effort it took for Corporal Eason to get that tank in low gear and hold it as it zigzagged down the side of that mountain at more than 40 miles an hour.

It doesn't describe the dangerous trek during the night Corporal Eason and his mates made avoiding the communists on the prowling looking for them.

It doesn't describe the encounter that Corporal Eason had with one Red who attempted to bayonet him, and was only saved by his flak vest, and the 45 pistol with which he killed the attacker.

It doesn't describe these five men—four white men and one Negro man—fighting side by side, struggling for the same great objective—that men, all men, of all races, of all creeds might be free from aggression for all time.

We're proud of Corporal John H. Eason. Bulloch county should be proud of him.

Modern lone ranger

A MYSTERY DRIVER in a mystery automobile will tour the United States during the next few weeks with a frame of mind that most drivers would find a little short of heavenly.

He'll drive along hardly giving a hoot whether or not he's being tailed by a policeman—in fact, half hoping he'll be arrested.

He's an unidentified driver in an undisclosed car touring America trying to find out how badly American drivers are being victimized by "speed traps."

His trip is sponsored by the American Automobile Association and Cars magazine after numerous complaints from drivers over the nation that they are being "taken" by traps designed simply to collect fines.

Naturally, we hope his way will be full of "traps" and his arrests may if it will help to expose some of the speed-trap racket on our highways. Tourists have been victims of this sort of thing much too long.

Biggest mystery of all, though, concerning the mystery driver is who's going to get him out from under the jails, as the saying goes, each time he tangles with an officer that's more interested in law enforcement than collecting fines?

Up she goes

THIS WEEK we toss up our hat for one of Statesboro's young professional men who has received state-wide recognition as a leader.

Sidney Dodd, Statesboro attorney, has been named commander of the American Legion for Georgia. He was elected without opposition.

His rise in the ranks of the American Legion has been steady since 1946 when he became commander of the Dexter Allen Post, No. 90, here in Bulloch county. He then was named commander of the first congressional district for 1947-48. For two years he was on the department executive committee and a member of national committees each year. He was vice chairman of the Veteran's Preference Committee for the national organization, and is a present member of the National Insurance Advisory Board to the national commander of the American Legion.

Last year he was named Georgia senior vice commander, and then recently, at the state convention in Savannah, he was named to the highest state rank in the Legion.

We congratulate Mr. Dodd.

We commend Mayor Dutton

WE COMMEND Mayor Edward A. Dutton of Savannah Beach upon the fine manner in which he resolved the differences that were building up between the citizens of Statesboro and the resort beach at Tybee.

In a letter to Mayor Bowen last week Mayor Dutton expressed his regrets that the "Tybee incident" occurred which involved some of Statesboro's teen-age crowd.

He wrote Mayor Bowen that disciplinary action had been taken and assured our mayor and the citizens of Statesboro that "there will never be a similar occurrence."

All of which proves that when people get together and discuss their differences, solutions can be found.

Disabled Veterans Deserve Jobs

Editor's Uneasy Chair

We've already admitted that we're no fisherman and that we want no part of the business of going fishing.

But that doesn't mean that we close our column to those who do want a part of the business of going fishing.

And to prove it we are going to use here this week a piece we found in Milton Becker's "Claxton Enterprise." It's about fish bait. We know that every fisherman who is a fisherman worth his hook, line and sinker, will laugh at us and snicker and say to himself—or even to himself—why the pore dope, we've known about that all our life. Ok, so you know. Maybe we'll make some converts for you.

Here 'tis.

The story is about a man who is an expert on fish bait, and how to catch fish bait, there's nothing in the story to indicate that the man is an expert fisherman—just a fish bait expert.

He catches roaches.

He uses cigar boxes with funnels of tin inserted in holes in the bottom of the boxes. One of the rigs is set a little off the floor in the store of a grocery friend. Roaches, he has learned, run in the gizzmo but have never learned the trick of entering the narrow end of the funnel to come out. For catching brain, Mr. Dowdy says, nothing is better than a roach.

There you are.

Take it or leave it and any cracks about our ignorance about such matters will be ignored.

CONVERSATION INFORMATION—There are 935,400 families in Georgia. They own 788,800 automobiles and trucks, 569,300 refrigerators, $11,900 radios, 330,000 television sets and 329,000 vacuum cleaners...all this in an annual buying income of $4,000.

SOME OF OUR KINPOLE who live up in Mt. Airy, North Carolina not, at one time lived in Georgia.

all cows from Georgia should certainly be let in.

A cow that has never seen anything but Georgia has a right to expect nothing but the best when the roll is called Up Yonder.

"Driving from Winston-Salem to St. Pete on Sunday and back Monday was bad enough, but the worst thing is that you have to go through Georgia."

Georgia tried to get out of the United States one time, but some Yankees who had no idea what they were doing since they had never been to Georgia would not go along with the idea.

"Today, after the Yankees have seen the place while on their way to Florida, Georgia could probably leave the Union without an argument."

"One thing that makes people so mad at Georgia is the cows in the road. If there is anything that the State of Georgia, has a lot of, it is cows in the road."

"Georgia Sherman once marched through Georgia, which shows what a rugged type he was."

"Nowadays, most people think they're been roughing it just to drive through."

"The real thing that ended the War Between the States was the fact that when the Rebels saw the Yankees fighting in Georgia, they figured the Northerners were too stupid for sensible men to fool with, and they went back to their plowing."

"Fat Kelly drove to Clearwater last Sunday and drove back here the next day."

"There's not but one thing that's more stupid than a guy who will decide to make a trip like that, and that's the guy who agrees to go with him."

"But we had a nice trip."

We added those last two paragraphs of Mr. Thompson's column only to prove, by his own confession, that he's pretty stupid, and that you need not attach too much importance to what he has to say.

Our Health Department

The following is a release from the State Health Department, which was written by one of our own Bulloch county citizens, Dr. J. E. McCroan, Jr. We heartily endorse and agree with his statements and recommendations as Bulloch county is one of those counties which has a real hookworm problem. The greatest problem the health department is having today is that of getting the cooperation of parents to submit specimens of their children and on themselves, and then to take the treatment if the laboratory reports positive findings.

We offer the service and beg people to take advantage of them, but still a great many of our farm families continue to ignore the condition.

"Approximately 44,000 Georgia children are now infected with hookworm. What are we going to do about this problem?"

This question was presented at the quarterly conference of regional public health personnel July 22 in Atlanta.

A recent survey in Georgia only 35 per cent of the persons questioned knew where hookworms came from.

Hookworms enter the body through the skin, usually the feet. The hookworms grow inside the body and lay thousands of eggs that are passed out of the body with bowel movements. Lying on the ground, the hookworm eggs hatch out and more hookworm larvae are born, ready to bore through the feet of the first barefoot person that comes along.

"Therefore," says Dr. J. E. McCroan Jr., assistant director of the Epidemiology Division, "I believe that the most logical solution to the hookworm problem is the building of more sanitary privies."

Practically all hookworm infections are found in the 49 counties of Georgia located in the Coastal Plains region. In these 49 counties, 12,094 homes have no toilets whatsoever, and 85,802 homes have open-back toilets, which afford little or no protection against hookworm.

Dr. McCroan says that the economic factors are one of the biggest obstacles, since sanitary privies cost 50 to 75 dollars to build. Tenant farmers are reluctant to construct the toilets because they may move to another farm and could not take the toilet with them.

"It appears that the landowners will have to share much of this responsibility," he stated.

George M. Stenhouse, director of the State Health Department's Division of Health Education, says, "We must use every educational technique available to us in order to motivate the citizens living in the hookworm area to understand the problem and to do something about it."

The question was raised as to the fly problem created by the average privy, as compared with the problem created by the modern inside plumbing. Dr. McCroan replied that house flies are almost never found breeding in enclosed privies.

"We can reduce hookworm by 95 per cent by building the toilets. This will more than offset the hazards of any disease caused by the fly," Dr. McCroan said.

AS PRACTICAL AS A SACK OF POTATOES

Throughout the country, chambers of commerce, civic organizations, banks and other groups are actively engaged in seeking to bring more industry to their communities. They want the spending and the employment that come with expanded industrial activity.

This is a perfectly natural and desirable state of affairs. However, in rural sections of the nation there is another equally important possibility which is generally overlooked.

That is to work for the improvement, in a scientific and orderly manner, of farm production. If, for instance, any region's farm output and farm income could be raised by 20 or 25 per cent the beneficial effects would be felt by everyone. And this would be of lasting service to the country as a whole, which must face the problem of feeding a swiftly growing population from a fixed land area.

Greatly increased farm production is no impossible ideal—it is as practical as a sack of potatoes. It can be accomplished by maximum use of machinery in farming, coupled with proven land conservation techniques. It has been

Bulloch county people have many virtues

BY VIRGINIA RUSSELL

Bulloch countians have many rare virtues. One virtue stands out prominently. They were brought up on "It's more blessed to give than to receive," and Bulloch people are blessed! Not only that, but they are blessed to receive what they give.

Our garden had great promise until the dry weather ruined everything. The amazing thing is that our friends grew things in spite of the weather and shared them with their friends.

We have received peas, corn, tomatoes, okra, squash, grapefruit, cantaloupes, and cucumbers. We enjoyed this variety of living things but we even rejoiced over the gift of steak and chicken.

Such gifts sound too good to be true but goodness seems to exist in large quantities in this place.

To some people there might be a feeling of obligation upon accepting so many wonderful things. This is not so with us. The only feelings we have are humbleness and gratitude. But we don't feel in any way, that we should pay back these gifts. Of course, if we ever have something pretty or good growing, we love to share it with our neighbors and friends.

The reason we feel this way is that on some few occasions we've done a little deed of kindness (indeed) and felt so warm and cozy and glowy inside because of having done something kind. We've imagined our crown up in heaven and we could just see one of the Helpers up there putting a little star in it. In fact, we've tried it on and decided it needs many more stars. But before we adjusted the thing on our head, we very well so the star could shine to a better advantage there, we tried it on and decided it needs many more stars. But before we adjusted the thing on our head, we very well so the star could shine to a better advantage there, we tried it on and decided it needs many more stars. But before we adjusted the thing on our head, we very well so the star could shine to a better advantage there, we tried it on and decided it needs many more stars.

MISS REMINGTON WEDS IN BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY

The First Baptist Church was the lovely setting of the wedding ceremony Wednesday afternoon, July 22, uniting in matrimony Miss Ann Remington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hinton Remington, and Mr. Luther Swicord Jr., son of Mrs. E. L. Swicord and the late Mr. Swicord, of Savannah.

The Rev. George Lovell Jr. read the nuptial vows before a large assemblage of relatives and friends using the impressive double-ring ceremony.

The lovely altar decorations were in keeping with the classic beauty of the church. Two state-of-the-art trees interspersed with greenery formed a background for tall cathedral candles. Similar arrangements of gladioli, all at a lower level placed at the front of the altar rail in front of candelabra and candles defined the pyramid effect.

The altar rail, draped in white, had a brooch of Southern smilax which completed the effective decorations.

Mrs. William Smith, organist, played the traditional processional and recessional marches and presented a program of organ music prior to the entrance of the bride party. Dr. Ronald Neil sang "Through the Years," "If God Left Only You," and "Bless This House" at the conclusion of the rites.

Mrs. Wayne Culbreth served as bridesmaid, and Mrs. James A. Brannan as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Creighton Perry, of Atlanta, and Mrs. G. L. Hodges of Swainsboro, sisters of the bride; Miss Jenny Devlin of College Park, Md., a cousin of the groom, and Miss Barbara Ann Brannan of Statesboro.

The junior bridesmaids were Misses Marsha Cannon and Lynn Darby.

Their dresses were fashioned of white nylon net and Chantilly lace, posed over tulle. The fitted bodice, worn with a matching lace-edged stole featured circular bands of lace combined with finely pleated net. The full skirts were made of multiple folds of filmy net over tulle with circular lace bands set in the bodice. They carried crescent-shaped bouquets of white gardenias interspersed with miniature ivy.

Harry Swicord of Savannah, brother of the groom, was the best man. The groomsmen were Jack Devlin, uncle of the groom, of College Park, Md.; Gene L. Hodges, Creighton Perry, Dr. Wayne Culbreth, Vaughn Dyer and Royce Mook, of Colquitt.

The blonde bride, petite and lovely, entered with her father by whom she was given in marriage. Her wedding gown of Chantilly lace, fitted bodice and full skirt was exquisitely designed in the traditional manner with fitted lace bodice applied on the yoke of illusion edged with seed pearls at the neckline, and fastened down the back with small lace covered buttons. The long fitted sleeves ended in points over the hands. The full skirt of diaphanous tulle extended into a graceful chapel train. Her veil of illusion, appliqued with lace was attached to a Juliet cap of matching lace. Her only ornament was a bracelet once worn by her grandmother.

The reception room and dining room were beautifully decorated with white gladioli and asters. The bride's table with imported lace and linen cutwork cover was exceptional. The lovely with the three-tiered wedding cake, embossed with white roses and topped with a miniature bouquet of gardenias, making a lovely centerpiece. The cake was set on a satin and net ruffled encircled with gardenias.

Opposite the cake was a crystal epergne holding white carnations and gladioli flowers with burning candles.

Assisting in entertaining and serving were Mrs. Barney Averitt, Mrs. Wallis Cobb, Mrs. Thad Morris, Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. Loy Waters, Mrs. Linton Lanier, and Mrs. E. N. Brown. The bride's register was kept by Mrs. Vaughn Dyer and Miss Betty Smith. Presiding at punch bowls on the lawn were Mrs. Bill Olliff, Mrs. Sue Slaughter, Mrs. Bucky Atkins, Mary Jeanette Agnes, Patsy Odom, Betty Anne Sherman, Jackie Zetterower, Marilyn Nevils, Donell Thompson, Shirley ledge, Margaret Ann Dekle, Edna Vonnack, and Mrs. Hal Waters.

The small girls who helped were Kay Preston, Dale Anderson, Marjorie Parker, Linda Gay, Amelia Robertson, Gay Wheeler, and Margie Aldrich. Mrs. and Mrs. Swicord left during the evening for Daytona Beach, the bride traveling in a beige linen suit with honey-toned accessories. She wore the orchid from her corsage.

"They plan to make their home in Statesboro."

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

Forestry Unit cites forest law

The Bulloch County Forestry Unit called attention this week to the Forest Laws of Georgia and the increased enforcement which has been placed behind the laws here in this county and throughout the First Forestry District.

"Stated briefly," said Ranger J. W. Roberts, "the principal laws governing burning and firing of the woods divide the infractions into misdemeanors and felonies. A landowner is allowed to burn his own land, but once the fire crosses onto the land of another owner the person who set the fire is guilty of a misdemeanor and is subject to prosecution, regardless of whether or not he intended for the fire to cross over to a neighbor's land."

Roberts, in discussing the fire laws emphasized that the causes of all fires are investigated with a view to prosecution if conditions require such action. The First District Fire Investigator, R. M. McCrimmon, is one of eleven such law enforcement personnel stationed throughout the state in the forestry districts for the purpose of carrying on intensive investigation and enforcement.

Ranger Roberts urged co-operation with the forest law enforcement on the part of all persons in the county to help reduce fire loss.

There will be prayer meeting at the Nevills Methodist Church Monday night, August 3. Every one is urged to attend.

MISS BRANTLEY TO WED

Mr. and Mrs. William Riley will be the hosts of the wedding of their daughter, Miss Mae Angelyn Brantley, to Mr. Charles Sims of Statesboro, on August 1 at the home of the bride.

Miss Brantley was an honor graduate of Wrightsville High School and attended Georgia State College for Women and Georgia Teachers College. She received her B. S. degree in education from Georgia Teachers College in June. She has been employed by the DeKalb County Schools.

Mr. Sims was graduated from Statesboro High School and attended Georgia Teachers College for the past year. He has served with the United States Navy. He is stationed at Jacksonville, Florida, where the couple will reside.

On Saturday evening members of the Pine Grove Missionary Baptist Church, near Metter, surprised their minister on his birthday with a bountiful birthday supper at his home in Statesboro.

They also presented Rev. Olliff with an electric percolator. About forty of their members attended.

Mrs. Olliff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bradley of Lee-field were visitors.

KATHY MORRIS HONORED ON FOURTH BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Bernard Morris entertained with a lovely outdoor supper Thursday from six to seven o'clock for her daughter, Kathy, on her fourth birthday. The children enjoyed sandwiches, potato chips, cake and punch for their party refreshments.

EARL SWICORD HONORS GROOMSMEN AT A STAG LUNCHEON

Earl Swicord was host to the men in the wedding party with a stag supper luncheon at the Friendly Restaurant. The table was appropriately decorated for the occasion.

BRIDE'S LUNCHEON

Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen was the scene Wednesday of the bride's luncheon with her sisters, Mrs. Creighton Perry, Mrs. Gene L. Hodges and Mrs. Wayne Culbreth as hostesses.

The table was centered with a lovely arrangement of mixed summer flowers. Wedding rings were attached to the place cards.

Ann gave her attendants strings of pearls which they wore at the wedding. There were schools present including out-of-town guests.

ALL'S FAIR

Who says we haven't had weddings all summer long? Why we've heard wedding marches and voices lifted in a song... Who says we don't go places on long vacations? Why we've heard about our well-to-do relations... But as for Jane, she simply talks and writes... A trying to keep up with ocean liners and air plane flights... You know our boys and girls who go to summer camps... Make all sorts of stuff from bill folds to pretty lams... There are soft ball games at night at the Recreation Center... But the nights have been so cool the players shiver like in winter... Then we have our summer visitors, the tobacco men and their wives... They add a lot of zest and fun to our placid lives... Now we have to admit that the thing that worries us... Is the High Cost of Living and the bustle and the fuss... That rattles past our bed room on highway 301... Even that is the very thing when we heard the PILOTS WON—Did they?

Statesboro people seem to be out to conquer. With the Ray Howards, the manager at Bell's and his wife Dot, they did all but plant a flag in the very heart of Mount Mitchell in North Carolina. I could keep up with them when they mentioned Asheville, but when they mentioned the night at Bent Creek Branch, I'll admit I was puzzled. I got bent trying to figure that one out. When is a creek a branch? and what makes a
