Kiwanis Club elects J. L. Minick new president; J. H. Wyatt is VP

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

The Brooklet Kiwanis Club recently elected new officers to serve for the year 1954, as follows: J. L. Minick, president; J. H. Wyatt, vice president; F. J. Akins, secretary and treasurer; W. H. Ansley, W. D. Lee, T. R. Byran, Hoke Brannen, James E. McCall, and Shelton Mikell, directors.

The members of the Primitive Baptist Youth Fellowship enjoyed a Thanksgiving social in the community house last Wednesday night. Games were played and party refreshments were served by the sponsors. Mrs. F. W. Hughes, Mrs. John C. Proctor, and Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Lanier.

This same group of young people also attended the P.B.Y. rally that was held at Mott Saturday and Sunday. At this rally the Brooklet organization presented a beautiful number on the program, "The Story of Hymns."

The members of the Brooklet organization presented a beautiful number on the program, "The Story of Hymns." Taking part in this program were Gail McCormick, Hilda Deal, Jackie Proctor, Edward Bunce, R. L. Akins, Betty Howell, Sara Grace Lanier, Betty Lanier, and Jimmie Lee McCormick.

The young people were accompanied by Elder Shelton Mikell, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lanier, and Mrs. F. W. Hughes. Miss Anne Akins, a student at the University of Georgia, spent the Thanksgiving holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Akins. She had as her guest, her roommate, Miss Mimi Markon, of Washington, D. C., also a student at the University.

Mrs. Felix Parrish is visiting relatives in Nashville, Tenn. The many friends of Mrs. W. Jones, who underwent a serious operation at the University Hospital in Augusta, are glad to know she is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. John Durden and two children and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Durden and baby all of Savannah, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Durden last weekend.

Mrs. D. R. Lee, who has been ill for some time, was carried back to the Bulloch County Hospital last week.

Mrs. T. E. Watson of Lithonia spent last weekend with her father, R. H. Warnock.

Mrs. Leon Lee Jr. and two little daughters have moved into the Roddenberry house while Mr. Lee is stationed at Norfolk, Va. Mr. and Mrs. Lee have recently purchased the Roddenberry house.

Mrs. H. P. Hendrix spent the past weekend in Savannah with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Humph Smith and Mr. J. H. McCormick, Sr. spent last Thursday at Pulaski as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Griffith, Miss Barbara Griffith and Ronnie Colbert and others during the past weekend.

AN EXPRESSION OF THANKS
I would like to express my sincere thanks to my many friends, during my serious illness in the Bulloch County Hospital. I thank all the nurses for their work and patience with me. I would like to thank Dr. Barksdale for working with me so faithfully, and when my case seemed so hopeless, I know that God blessed his efforts and gave him wisdom in treating me.

The words of comfort and prayers and visits of the different ministers were very deeply appreciated, also the kindness from the churches. I thank the people of this community and other places (also the colored people who live back of me) for their prayers and thoughtfulness. May God bless each one of you in my prayer.

The loving kindness of all you people cause me to realize it is a great privilege to live in a nice community like Statesboro. Though the Thanksgiving season is past, my heart is filled with thanks to God for sparing my life and blessing me so greatly.

"It is my joy in life to find at every turning of the road... The strong arm of a comrad kind... To help me on my way... And since I love alone must make amends... My daily prayer is while I live... God make me worthy of my friends."

Sincerely, Mrs. Odell New, 15, 15 Crest drive, Statesboro.

Jaycees helping Betty Jean Beasley is fill empty Xmas stockings National 4-H winner

Miss Betty Jean Beasley, 18, of Register, Bulloch County, Ga., December 1, was named a national winner in the 4-H dress program at the 33rd annual 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Beasley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beasley, Register, and is active in her 4-H Club work.

Congressman Preston at bat

Congressman Prince Preston has gone to bat for the farmers who live in the section he represents in our National Congress.

Saturday Congressman Preston released a telegram he had sent to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson calling for a revision of the 1954 cotton acreage allotments and terming Benson's decision on the controls as lacking in intelligent planning.

Congressman Preston believes that the cotton acreage allotments as now planned for 1954 will cause many families on cotton farms to be displaced.

Our Congressman claims that a declaration of emergency by former President Harry Truman of December 15, 1950, gives Secretary Benson authority to revise the announced allotments to relieve the situation which has "shocked every cotton farmer in America."

He asked Benson to announce a revised cotton acreage allotment before the scheduled December 15 vote on controls.

Congressman Preston's telegram to Secretary Benson is as follows: "I wish to join with other representatives and senators in the position they have taken that you have legal authority under presidential proclamation issued Dec. 15, 1950 to increase cotton acreage for 1954. The state of emergency declared by the President after the (Korean) war has not been rescinded by executive order. Many other agencies of the government are still operating under this authority. The acreage figure you have established for 1954 has shocked every cotton farmer in America.

"You will cause to be displaced many thousands of families from cotton farms who for lack of training will be unable to find other employment. With world conditions as they are today and with no assurance of permanent peace in Korea the production of ten million bales in 1954 is not a realistic figure.

"Knowing of your hostility toward the price support program, I feel that your decision was influenced by personal conviction rather than by objective and intelligent planning. You will recall that the House of Representatives in July of this year passed a bill authorizing 22,500,000 acres. To this action you made no protest. I am at a loss to understand why you have reduced this figure to the unrealistic level of 17,950,000 acres. The cotton farmers of the South expect equitable treatment and I urge you to review your action and issue a revised order before December 15."

Preston stated at his office here that the farmers of the First District are more disturbed about this order than any issued by the Department of Agriculture.

The congressman said that many farmers have advised tenant families that they will have to seek employment elsewhere. He added that a large portion of these tenants are "unskilled laborers and will find it difficult to secure employment."

Another 4-H champion

A member of the Bulloch County 4-H Club does it again.

Last year Roger Hagan, a Bulloch 4-H boy, won the National 4-H Club Field Crops Award at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

This year Miss Betty Jean Beasley was named a national winner in the 4-H Dress Revue program at the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago.

Miss Beasley is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harry Beasley of Register.

On December 1 Betty Jean won the national award by modeling an outfit she made herself in her 4-H Club work.

Her winning the award was not a stroke of luck. It was the result of months and years of learning and doing.

Since 1945 the 4-H Club Champion has been making all types of wearing apparel and accessories. She makes hats, handbags, belts, gloves, suits, dresses, skirts, blouses—in fact, all of her own clothes. She has more designs than she has time and material to use.

In addition to her sewing she carried out other projects—she has had a laying flock on nearly 100 hens since 1945; she has sanded tables, dressers and other small items of home furnishings, including refinishing the family piano.

And like all fine champions she gives her parents credit for making her 4-H Club career possible, and her home demonstration agents, Mrs. Dorothy Whitehead and Miss Joyce McDonald, credit for the technical instruction and information which made it possible for her to improve her projects. We're happy for Betty Jean and her parents and all her 4-H Club associates.

For them all we throw our hat high and shout, Hooray for the 4-H.

There shall be music

Christmastime is one of joyful music.

And Christmastime in Statesboro and Bulloch County will be filled with music this year.

Tomorrow night at 8:15 o'clock in the Laboratory High School the Georgia Teachers College Band will present its Christmas Concert.

Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock the Statesboro High School Band and Statesboro High School Choir will present a joint concert of Christmas music.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the First Baptist Church, the annual Cantata will be presented by the Statesboro Music Club. This year's cantata will be "The Story of Christmas."

Statesboro has some of the finest voices and musicians in the country. We are blessed with music. Music directed at the average citizen, just like you and me. Music we can understand and love.

Take time out and hear all these concerts. If time is at such a premium then select one or two to fit your pre-Christmas calendar.

It is more blessed . . .

A human interest story in connection with the visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile resulted when a 296-pound colored woman presented herself to contribute blood.

Bessie Washington Butler, of near Midville, who tips the scales almost to the 300 pound mark, walked in with two dollars in her hand. She said she wanted to join the Red Cross so she could give some blood. Her membership was acknowledged and, after examination, her blood was acceptable.

Her happiness at being allowed to contribute was an inspiration to all who attend the Bloodmobile clinic. And we can't refrain from telling you the rest of the story: When asked how she had heard about the Red Cross Bloodmobile, she said she had read about it in "The True Citizen."

Seventy pints of blood were contributed to the last visit of the bloodmobile. Officials of the campaign stated that more people from out of town. Also, that a large number of colored people were contributors this time.

THE DOLLARS YOU GIVE

By WALDO SHAVER

Opportunity to hike along an open road... With heart and mind from burdens free... Time to gain strength under sun's rays... That's what the dollars you give, give me.

Strength to shoulder life's burden pack... Over a friendly trail kept open and free... Spirit to move forward, but never back... That's what the dollars you give, give me.

Red glowing dawns, silent dawns at night... Twinkling stars over the tallest trees... Memory of singing waters silver bright... That's what the dollars you give, give me.

Glowing coals in the friendly campfire dying... Songs of the trail, stories of things to be... Scouting skills learned without doubt... That's what the dollars you give, give me.

So give—that boyhood's priceless hour... I can grow in strength, in faith, and ready to... To work, to live, to die, with all my power... That's what the dollars you give, give me.

Our Bible

By BOB SHOTTS

The Gideons "The word of God is quick, and powerful, and sharper than any two-edged sword." (Hebrews 4:12). "It (the word of God) shall not return unto me void." (Isaiah 55:11). The Gideons not only believe these verses of Scripture, but have practiced, and proved them. They are as well as other Christians know that our Bible doesn't just contain the word of God, but is the word of God.

Their slogan is "Around the World With the Word." So far they have put out around 26 million Bibles and Testaments. One peculiar feature of the Gideon program is that they have not seen any need for putting out any literature or commentaries with or in their Bibles. Is it so strange that anyone should be able, and is able, if he can read, to pick up a Bible and understand it? This is just what many religious leaders fear. As people take God's word for just what it says, taking the plain common sense of it to be good sense and then seeking no other sense, they come up with Biblical Christianity that often varies from their particular denomination.

More power to the Gideons and to God's Word as it goes around the world. "Let God be true but every man a liar." It's high time we all got back to the Christianity of the Bible.

OUR NATIONAL GUARD

The National Guard offers many advantages to those men who have never served on active military service. Those who join the Guard before they are 31 1/2 years old will not be called into the regular army pay forces as long as they remain active in the Guard. Those who join after that age are eligible for the draft but if they join the Guard they will receive training which will make their adjustment to the armed services easier and also they may earn a rating in the Guard which will make it possible for them to enlist in the army with a rating rather than be drafted as a recruit.

After a short time in the Guard each man becomes eligible to attend regular army schools. In addition to purely military subjects it is possible to study radio and electronics, motor vehicle repair, principles of leadership and others. Some of these schools last for as long as a year during which time the student lives the life of a soldier and receives full army pay.

Other advantages include the pay which you draw each drill night and the points which you earn toward retirement. In addition each Guardsman is serving his country and is fulfilling his military obligations. Don't forget the social contacts and new friends which you make in the Guard. Remember also that if there ever should be another armed conflict that you can go in with your friends rather than

Christmas card history

BY NEXT WEEK you will be in the midst of getting off the balance of your 1953 Christmas Greeting Cards.

You'll be trying to remember if you mailed one to Aunt Matilda, or to John's first cousin who moved out to Wisconsin last year.

And deep down you wish that the business of "exchanging" Christmas Cards had never been conceived. Well, maybe you don't exactly wish that, but...

Have you ever wondered just how the custom of exchanging Christmas Cards came about?

Well, our modern Christmas customs all have a history that seems both fabulous and incredible when traced from their origin to 20th Century America. Yet, few if any among them have changed more in appearance, and less in purpose, than the traditional custom of wishing loved ones a happy holiday season.

Even centuries before there was a Christmas, people celebrated the coming of the new year, and favored this season for exchanging friendly greetings—just as we do with Christmas cards.

"Happy New Year" messages scrawled on papyrus have been found in Egyptian tombs of the 6th century B. C. But the first ready-made holiday greetings were copper pennies sold as good luck charms in Rome during the 1st century A. D.

be called into some strange outfit where you know very few or none of the members.

Headquarters Battery announces two new enlistments: Robert E. Rudolph, both of Statesboro. Battery A announces six recent enlistments: Donald R. Glison, Jimmy H. Bryant, and Clifford W. Bryant, all from Savannah; Robert W. Dixon, William Glenn Thomas Jr., and Lester Devon Kellner, all students at T.C. Pvt. Dixon's home is Kite, Georgia. Pvt Kellner's home is Vidalia, and Pvt Thomas lives in Jesup.

The curious tokens of friendship and esteem carried Latin inscriptions wishing, "A happy and prosperous New Year to me" (the recipient, that is.) Usually they pictured the Roman god, Janus, whose twin faces looked onto the past and into the future.

After Roman times, there is no record of ready-made holiday greetings until 1450, when woodcut New Year's cards appeared in Germany. (Those medieval in style, the design motifs were often similar to modern Christmas cards. Scenes of the Christ Child and gift-bearers were especially popular.

Their greetings ranged from crude German rhymes to elegant Latin verse. Gradually, other European countries adopted the greeting card custom. But another 400 years breezed by before England shifted the emphasis from New Year's Day to Christmas.

By 1700, however, English school children were bringing "Christmas Pieces" home to delighted parents. The Christmas Piece was a lesson in penmanship, with good wishes carefully inscribed and engraved pictures dramatizing important events of the year.

It's quite likely, in fact, that the very first Christmas card was conceived by William Maw Egley Jr., while performing this scholarly Yuletide chore. A 16 year old engraver's apprentice, Egley printed 100 copies of his card in 1842, one of which has been preserved by the British Museum in London.

Like so many today, it was actually a combination Christmas and New Year's card, carrying what was to become the most famous of all holiday greetings—"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You."

Worldwide interest in Christmas cards blossomed at London's "Second Great International Exhibition" in 1862. Thousands of visitors left talking about the display held there by Charles Goodall and Sons, and the firm was quickly swamped with orders.

Overseas, in 1875, a Boston lithographer, Louis Prang, published the first American Christmas cards. Other publishers soon followed suit, and with the 20th century a new era began.

Designers introduced symbolic motifs still popular today. Christmas trees, holly wreaths, carolers, church bells and many others. Santa Claus appeared on cards for both young and old. Christmas card craftsmanship, moreover, has continued to improve. Better reproduction processes are available. Color schemes are richer, warmer. But the reasons for sending Christmas cards this year are essentially the same as in Roman days—when the gift of a lucky penny recalled fond memories and promised future happiness! And so your Christmas Card.

Don't laugh at the man who put his wife out

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

As far back as a year ago we were taken aback by a certain act. During the Christmas holidays we had driven to town to perform several errands. We were busy with our thoughts as we drove along, probably planning meals and organizing some work that had to be done. When we "came to" we were three miles out in the country on the way to our school.

We kept quiet about this little episode. We didn't want people to talk and then we were afraid, too, that the highway patrolman might take our drivers' license away. But we did jerk ourselves up and give our self a stiff lecture about absent-mindedness.

But last week we were really humiliated. We called a lady about a program. We noticed by her voice that she didn't sound as peppy as she usually sounded. We inquired about her and she explained that she was fighting a cold. Then very politely she asked how we were. We said, "Fine," and then we said, "How are you?" There was silence on the other end of the line until we realized what we had said and then we had to laugh. Nevertheless, we wondered what she was thinking about us, and how long it'd be before we were taken out of society.

We couldn't help wondering if this was an individual case or if there were others in our boat. We decided to observe rather closely. We noticed that one of our friends would have run through a red light had she not been reminded that the light was there.

We noticed another friend riding by a place she was supposed to stop. She did a couple of absent minded things afterwards. When confronted about this she confessed that she had wondered lately if she was just getting old. She is quite young. We assured her that it was not age.

In years past we have noticed our very young children do very absent-minded things such as put the sugar dish in the refrigerator and the butter on the shelf in the cabinet. Our own mother has never lived down an absent-minded trick she pulled. Our youngest brother needed some money and our mother couldn't find the money to give him. After long searching the money was found in a neat roll in the refrigerator.

These acts are symptoms of something. Perhaps the experts would have the exact name for it, but we wondered seriously if it isn't simply a case of over-doing. Trying not only the physical self as well as the mental self.

Since it is evident that we aren't the only inflicted ones we would like to again suggest that somebody, somewhere organize a new club, "The Stay at Home Club." The head of this club declares he'd become a charter member. This club could meet, every member in his own home, above with his family, twice or three times a week and as people began to see how nice such an organization could be, we might meet, separately and alone, more often.

W.S.C.S. MEETING
Monday, Dec. 14 at 4 p. m. is the time for the meeting. The topic, "Gracious Gifts are Given" will be presented in three parts, "Gifts of the Nation," "Gifts of the Masters," and "Gifts of the Sowers of the Seed."

Those attending will be inspired by the development of these topics toward a new gratitude for the gracious gifts that come to us from many lands at Christmas.

We will also be brought to recognize that in sowing seeds of joy of love, of peace, we will reap richer experiences in life through service.

Special music has been arranged.

Looking for a real deal?

Now's the time to save money!

Today's local delivered price of the BUICK SPECIAL 2-Door, 6-Passenger Sedan Model 48D (illustrated) $2381.27

Optional equipment, accessories, state and local taxes, if any, additional. Prices may vary slightly in adjoining communities due to shipping charges. All prices subject to change without notice.

We feature the delivered price of the Buick pictured here to make a point about the big trade-in allowances we're giving today.

The price you pay for the car itself—the local delivered price—is the first thing to look for when you're bargain-hunting.

It's this figure less what you get on your trade-in that determines your real cost—the dollar difference you pay. That means—keep your eye on the dollar difference. The more car it buys, the better deal you make.

So with our low delivered price and the high trade-in allowances we're giving right now—we think we have a whale of a buy for you.

And when you check into things, we believe you'll discover this: You get more room and power for your money in this Buick than in any other car on the market. You get hundreds of pounds more automobile here—more strength in the heavier chassis, more safety in the thicker structural members—than in a long list of cars at this Buick's price or higher.
