We got the biggest show in Georgia

Ten big tobacco warehouses.

The largest tobacco market in the Georgia-Florida belt.

For years leading tobacco sales in Georgia.

And with all this we're missing the boat.

Reliable authorities estimate that 3,640 out-of-state automobiles drive through Statesboro every day. Automobiles in which are riding people from all over the country just "looking" sight-seeing.

And we'll bet that more than 90 per cent have never seen a tobacco auction. We'll also bet that that 90 per cent have heard the radio program and the TV program which signs on and off with the voice of a tobacco auctioneer singing his selling song.

And we'll go along with a further bet—that they all would get a terrific kick out of getting in the line behind the auctioneer as he sells a row of tobacco here on the biggest tobacco market in Georgia.

But the sad fact is that these people passing through Statesboro every day do not know that tobacco is being sold here in our community during these next few weeks.

One of the biggest shows in the country going on all day, every day during the selling season.

North Carolina has its historical plays, Florida has its Silver Springs, Virginia has its Williamsburg, and Statesboro has its tobacco market, the biggest in the section.

And it plays to an empty house.

Here are possibilities which would mean much to our community. It might keep people here overnight just to see, first hand, how the golden weed is sold.

Printed cards describing our tobacco market giving directions of how to reach each warehouse could be distributed at motels, restaurants. Provisions could be made to print sale schedules so that it would be known in which warehouses the "show" is on.

Posters could be erected at our city limits announcing the "Biggest show in Georgia" which would stop many tourists to whom the mystery of selling tobacco is something which comes from a radio or TV set.

Think upon this.

An observation which proves worth while

Hubert Calloway, farm editor of the Savannah Morning News, makes an observation which warrants the attention of the promoters of all the tobacco markets in Georgia.

Mr. Calloway said in Monday's Morning News:

"It seems that every market town has a Chamber of Commerce or some such organization, which likes to make boasts and claims. No less than eight market towns this past weekend were claiming the highest average prices per pound in Georgia. Now this can't be true.

"I've been lucky enough to look at a lot of markets. In a day's time you can go from Tifton to Blackshear, and from Statesboro to Hahira, and you'll not notice enough difference to make it apparent so far as prices per grade are concerned.

"There used to be a big difference back in the days of the 'circuit riders' with the tobacco companies. But differences are very small today.

"About the only thing the average price on a market reflects is the quality of tobacco grown by the farmers who bring their tobacco to that market."

Mr. Calloway said a service which would do well to forget the false importance they attach to their claims.

And after all we don't believe it fools the tobacco farmer.

A candidate wants our support

To flatter a newspaper editor is a good way to let his week begin with a song in his heart.

Soon after beginning this week's work we received a long telegram from a candidate for the governor of Georgia, saying he needs our editorial support.

We were flattered.

But if that candidate were to check back on our editorial record we believe he might shy away from our editorial support.

Since 1937 when we established this newspaper not a single candidate we've supported editorially was elected governor of this great state of Georgia.

The nearest we came to it was the year we would have supported Ellis Arnall—had we not joined the U. S. Marine Corps and went off to war and closed the Bulloch Herald for four years.

That's the year we would have had a winner.

Our future is tied to this instrument

Another step forward will be taken at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Bulloch County Development Corporation on Tuesday, July 27, at the Georgia Theatre.

The meeting is called to consider and adopt changes in the corporation's by-laws and increasing its capital stock.

Every person concerned with the future of Statesboro and Bulloch county who holds stock in the corporation is urged to attend.

The Bulloch County Development Corporation is the greatest thing to happen to our community for a long time. It is the instrument to which the future progress of this community is tied.

It deserves the wholehearted support of all.

We're never happy about the weather

We've been screaming to high heaven about the hot weather and the drought this summer.

Back in July, 1924, the people were upset about the excessive rains which did great damage to crops in our county.

Then one day children grow up —happy surprise

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

Perhaps the greatest period in a married couple's life is the time a new baby comes to the in that home. With all the adjustments and disadvantages that come, surely all would agree that the birth of a baby is the most exhilarating experience in a parent's life.

Time moves on and the parent's love for the little one grows deeper and deeper even though they often wonder if this little bundle was from heaven or was there a mistake?

Then the trying periods come in a family when parents all attempt to mould character. The children "grow-up" at every task given them. They compare every duty assigned to them to the duty assigned to the older brother or sister. Then they compare what the younger child has had to do. There is much bickering among the children. Parents continue to love their children. Their love deepens but there are moments of longing for some signs of growth other than physical growth and argumentative development.

Then one day, as though it happens when the parents' backs are turned, the children grow up. When once these young things sought every method of evading tasks given them they now seek jobs to do. They discover things that need to be done. All at once they seem to realize that home was a place that had been lovingly provided for them. Formerly, they had often considered it a "reform school," a place to be endured, or a place to work, and a place to get what was needed.

These same young folks suddenly seek to please their parents out of a newly discovered love, respect and admiration for them. They now hunt things to do to show their love for their folks; mother and daddy now are looked upon with a feeling of deep gratitude.

Could it be that the kingdom of God is something like life in an earthly family?

Surely there must be great rejoicing in heaven when a little new soul is born.

Then the new soul makes its periods of growth. God loves these spiritual children of His but how weary He must grow when He has to listen to the bickering in His family. These children compare every task they do to someone else's jobs in the church family. They try to find out what "brother" or "sister" so and so gives to the church and make their gifts accordingly. They consider whatever they do as a great favor to the preacher, to the church and to God.

But one day, unless this child of God is handicapped or kingward, he grows up in the kingdom. At last he realizes that the world is a place wonderfully, beautifully, gloriously and lovingly made by God for His children. Suddenly this growing-up child deserves to glorify God and for one purpose only. He finally understands love. He hunts for things to do to please God. He praises God all day long. He longs to have God know that at last he realizes what God has done for mankind.

Surely in God's way He, too, must rejoice over his "adult children" just as an earthly father rejoices over his "grown-up children."

BOBBY WILLIAMS NOW IN KOREA WITH SEVENTH INFANTRY

7TH DIV., KOREA—Army Pvt. Bobby Williams, 19, son of Mrs. Juanita W. Robinson, 122 Church street, Statesboro, Ga., recently arrived in Korea for duty with the 7th Infantry Division.

Men of the "Bayonet" division are undergoing intensive training to maintain the peak combat efficiency displayed by the unit from Pusan to Seoul.

Private Williams, an ambulance driver in the 56th Medical Battalion's 556 Medical Company, entered the Army in April 1953 and completed basic training at Camp Pickett, Va.

Let them be turned back for a reward of their shame that say, Aha, Aha!

Let all those that seek thee rejoice and be glad in thee; and let such as love thy salvation say continually, Let God be magnified.

But I am poor and needy; make haste unto me, O God: thou art my help and my deliverer; O Lord, make no tarrying.

OUR DEMOCRACY—by Mat

FROM THE EARLY DAYS, WHEN JUDGES RODE AROUND THEIR CIRCUITS ON HORSEBACK AND SOMETIMES DELIVERED THEMSELVES OF RULINGS WITHOUT DISMOUNTING, WE'VE DERIVED THE FIGURE OF SPEECH "HORSEBACK OPINION." IT MEANS A QUICK, NOT FULLY CONSIDERED OPINION, USUALLY GIVEN WHEN AN IMMEDIATE RESPONSE IS WANTED—AND THAT'S ITS JUSTIFICATION.

WHEN IT COMES TO VOTING, HOWEVER, IT IS OUR DUTY AND OUR PRIVILEGE AS CITIZENS TO OBTAIN AND WEIGH ALL THE FACTS. WE CAN ABOUT THE ISSUES AND THE CANDIDATES, AND THEN, IN NOVEMBER, TO VOTE OUR CONSIDERED OPINION AT THE POLLS.

OUR YOUTH... Kemp Mabry

Someone has said that you never really know a person until you have camped with him. Summer time is camping time. Boys and girls across the country are leaving home, many of them for the first time, for one of the greatest experiences in the life of a young person—a week, a month or two months at summer camp.

So your little boy is going to camp. The camp folders show a lake, cabins, messhall, craft shop, archery range and other facilities. These are fine. What do the folders say about leadership? The key factors in appraising a camp are the food, the waterfront and the leadership.

We are tempted to say that every boy should have a camping experience. The rural boy needs the association and skills learned in camp. The city boy needs these as well as the experience of living in the great outdoors. Most agency camps are organized to provide an exhilarating and maturing experience for normal boys and girls. The close community relationships in camp can do much to take the rough edges off the spoiled brat. The sissy may come home a different, happy boy. The average boy will grow and develop new skills. But don't think that camp is the maladjusted child who needs highly trained guidance. Few agency camps have a psychiatrist on the staff. Don't expect the impossible. Let the camp director and his counselors.

The bans of the camp director's life is the over-protective mother who has to come visit her little boy every few days. If the boy is homesick, it only increases the difficulty for mama and papa to run up to camp every week. Give him a chance to try his wings. The camp folders ask you not to send food. Some parents can't read. There is a well-balanced diet of good, if not so rich, food for each meal. Candy and cake and junk smuggled into camp have been responsible for many a sick boy in camp. Give him a change. You're paying for his food at camp. Let him eat it. He'll learn to eat those vegetables you never could get him to consume at home.

You have the right to know about the waterfront, supervision, the food and the messhall, and the type of counselors in camp. When you are satisfied that these are satisfactory, say a prayer for the camp director and stay away from camp. Now abideth waterfront, food and supervision, but the greatest of these is the counselor.

Most of the camps have rigid standards met, either agency maintained or those set by the American Camping Association.

Camping is an American institution, said to be the only significant contribution America has made to the field of education. Almost all youth serving agencies have camps or conferences now. The first summer resident camp was the YMCA Camp Dudley in New Jersey, which is still operating. Camping is now available to seven and eight year olds. Family camping is being tried in several sections of the country.

Even the GI learned about camping. The GI learned just what his fellows were like in the frozen winter of 1944 in the Battle of Northern France we saw men stealing firewood from their fellows while others were sharing their last stick of wood with their buddies. You never really know a person until you have camped with him.

Send your boy to camp. It's a good investment.

The family of T. Y. Akins gathered at the old home place here in Bulloch county on Sunday to observe Mr. Akins' seventy-fifth birthday which was on Wednesday, July 14.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Elton Akins and children, Gilbert, Thomas and Virginia of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. Estus Akins of Atlanta, Lester Akins of Savannah, Lehman Akins of Olfitt Akins and Mrs. Pearl Akins, all of Statesboro and Bulloch county; Mrs. John Skinner, Mrs. Akins' sister of Statesboro; and Mr. and Mrs. Worth Skinner of Statesboro.

A surprise birthday dinner was served.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

HERE'S WHAT THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHERER WILL BE:

Friday, July 23... Sunny
Saturday, July 24... Hot
Sunday, July 25... Sultry
Monday, July 26... Sultry
Tuesday, July 27... Sultry
Wednesday, July 28... Sultry

BUT DON'T BLAME US IF THE ALMANAC IS WRONG.

STATESBORO is not the only community where baseball is suffering.

According to Ed Danforth, sports editor of the Atlanta Journal, "an army of volunteer physicians has gathered at the bedside. More remedies have been suggested to bring the color to its rain-checks and the sparkle to its turnstiles than you can set down. Most of the treatments have involved dynamiting TV aerials, hiring hill-billy bands and other less horrible courses. Few physicians have suggested a major operation on the game itself."

Here in Statesboro the "physicians" think money is the cure. They are seeking $4,000 to cure the Pilots of their local ills.

Back to Ed Danforth: "Carl Broome of Nahant, voice of the Brantley Enterprise, broke out a page-one editorial recently that at least invites baseball men to think."

"Carl describes himself as a former first baseman with a good deal of experience in the game of football to make it a faster, more interesting game."

"Baseball he says, has done nothing to change the rules since the slow-moving horse-and-buggy days. Broome suggests rules changes. One is:

"Allow the batter to run to either first or third base when neither of these bases was occupied by a runner. When the runner reached second base, let him swing the bat in either direction, provided no batter was

IT SEEMS TO ME... Max Lockwood

From the mountains of North Georgia to the St. Mary's River, and from the Atlantic Ocean to Columbus Georgia, the political hay is being sown across the state. A record that is unblemished and not connected to any of the political factions which have raised their heads over the state to appear with different candidates on their platforms.

This same candidate is not given much of a chance by his opponents and the thing that hurts him most is the fact that many voters don't think he can win. Still the significant fact is one that is easy to see and one that almost any of the unbiased political observers will point out. As a usual thing in Georgia politics most of the voters could have told you by this time in the political picture which candidate they would support in the primary.

The situation now however seems to be that few of the voters have made up their minds as to which candidate they will support and the political story being told is, every candidate still has a chance to win during the last week of the campaign. It seems to me that this may be the year in Georgia when a dark horse will sit in the governor's mansion following the general elections in the fall.

When this candidate came to Bulloch county a few days ago he left behind him many impressed people and not a few votes even though he stammered a little as he presented his program. One felt that it came from the heart and from the shoulder and there was no effort to hide behind long-winded phrases and political backslapping.

The segregation issue is not an issue in this campaign. The folks in Georgia know how Georgia stands on the segregation question. We expect any Georgian selected by Georgia voters to maintain the segregation issue. I believe the governor is at an end when a candidate can rattle rouse and cloud the issue so that he can capture the votes of those who are involved. What is your program for the people, for Georgia? What are your plans for continuing the progress that has been so ably set in motion by Georgia's most progressive governor, the Hon. Herman Eugene Talmadge?

One of the candidates in the race for governorship is quietly going around over the state presenting the people a sound

NOVELTY CLUB WITH MRS. GEORGE P. LEE

On Wednesday afternoon Mrs. George P. Lee entertained the Novelty Club at her home on Broad street. Mixed summer arrangements and lovely pot plants were used in the decorations. The guests were served homemade ice cream and pound cake.

In games and contests, prizes went to Mrs. W. E. Helmly, Mrs. Ellis DeLoach, Mrs. Frank Upchurch and Mrs. Hugh Turner. Others present were Mrs. C. P. Clanton, Mrs. W. T. Coleman, Mrs. O. M. Lanier, Mrs. Jesse Mikel, Mrs. H. M. Teets, Mrs. V. H. W. Whig, Mrs. Iann of Starke, Fla., Mrs. Turner's mother, and Mrs. Nellie Miller.

LINDA LEE HARVEY ENTERTAINS FOR HER COUSIN

On Thursday night, Linda Lee Harvey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Harvey Jr., entertained with a scavenger hunt at the home of her grand-mother, Mrs. George P. Lee, honoring her cousin, Sylvia Kitchens of Hinesville. They were served open-faced sandwiches, potato chips, cookies, mints and candy.

At the party were Bobbi Ann Jackson, Carol Huggins and her visitor, Dottie Dunn; Mary Lou Dossey and her guest, Mary Ann Dean; Althea Hudson, May Jean Green, Dianna Hodges, Sue Ellis, Dale Byrd and Patricia Ann Harvey.

MRS. SALLY AYCOCK IS HONORED AT COVERED DISH SUPPER

Mrs. Sally Aycock, who has been in Texas with her daughter for the past 13 months, has come back to Statesboro and her native county. At present she is making her home with her sister, Mrs. Maggie Denmark. On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. J. H. Rushing honored Mrs. Aycock with a covered dish dinner at her home on Fair road. It was a real get-together where old friends reminisced. Those who came to welcome home Mrs. Aycock were Mrs. Maggie Denmark, Mrs. W. R. Woodcock, Mrs. Mace DeLoach, Mrs. Aylie Trappell, Mrs. Bryd Buie, Mrs. Keturah Akins, Mrs. J. S. Palmer, Mrs. Annie Shuman, Mrs. John Kennedy, Mrs. Rhoda Latzack, Mrs. Nona Anderson and Mrs. Jane Miller. The covered dish dinner really covered everything in the good old fashioned dinner style. They needed no other entertainment. Just get them together and they have wonderful times.

Mrs. Aycock's present plans are to buy or build a home here with us.

MRS. E. W. BARNES ENTERTAINS QUEEN OF HEARTS

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. E. W. Barnes was hostess to her bridge club at her home on Savannah avenue.

Artistic arrangements of summer flowers and dried arrangements of hydrangeas combined beautifully in the decorations.

Lemon chiffon pie and iced tea were served the guests. Mrs. Jimmy Gunter won beads and ear bobs for top score. Mrs. Joe Neville received

MISS FLOYD FETED AT LUNCHEON

Miss Patricia Lanier, her sister, Mrs. Avant Daughtry and Mrs. Linton Lanier were hostesses at a luncheon July 16 at the private dining room at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen honoring Miss Virginia Lee Floyd, bride-elect of August 6.

The centerpiece, a pink crystal basket filled with pink asters and ferns, set the color motif of the refreshments and other table appointments. Place cards were wedding bells tied with pink satin ribbons. The cocktail was grape juice; the congealed, a delicate pink, was sweetheart salad. The main course offered fried chicken, string beans, potatoes au gratin, hot rolls and iced tea with lemon pie for dessert.

Places were laid for Miss Floyd, Mrs. J. T. Sheppard, Miss Sue Simmons, Miss Jackie Zetzer, Miss Barbara Ann Brannen, Miss Donell Thompson, Miss Melba Prosser, Miss Billy Tillman, Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman, Mrs. Emory Godbee and Miss Patricia Lanier acting hostess.

Miss Lanier presented the honor a salad plate in her china.

PIRATE THEME ADDS ORIGINALITY TO WEDDING PARTY

Bucaneers and roving seamen with skull and crossbones would have felt at home Wednesday evening at the Simmons home with a pirate party. A long table covered with a red checked table cloth and centered with a fruit arrangement and lighted by candles at each end of the table. Other tables were covered with blue and checked table cloths. Fish nets, boat paddles, sea weed, and anchors added atmosphere. The guests were served ham biscuit, fried chicken, old-fashioned mashed potato salad with yippy vinegar, butter bean casserole, sliced tomatoes and a variety of homemade cookies.

Mrs. John R. Godbee of Griffin assisted the hostesses in serving beautiful cakes frosted in green with open-faced party sandwiches and salted nuts. Twenty guests were present. The hostesses presented Miss Floyd an ice tea glass in her crystal pattern.

MRS. HOWARD HOSTESS TO BRIDGE GUILD

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Claude Howard entertained the Bridge Guild at her home on College Boulevard. Summer flowers made attractive arrangements in the lovely home. Sandwiches and party cakes were served with limeade and sherbet.

MISS FLOYD FETED AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Frank Mikel, Mrs. Edward Cone, Mrs. Billy Cone and Mrs. R. L. Cone Jr., were hostesses at a lovely luncheon July 15, honoring Miss Virginia Lee Floyd. The private dining room at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen was the scene of the luncheon. The beautiful centerpiece combined the talents of the hostesses. It was a tall apex from which a profusion of white Altheas, white gladioli, ivy and fern tapered out in pyramid effect for a gracefully long design down the table where places were laid for 20 guests. The bride's place was directly under a group of wedding bells suspended from the top of the central arrangement. By her place was a dainty white corsage. All places were marked with hand-painted cards in wedding bell designs.

The four course luncheon began with tomato cocktail, followed by sweetheart salad. The main course was broiled chicken with rice and giblet gravy, string beans, Harvard beets, spiced crab apples and rolls. Ice cream topped with cherries teamed up with lovely cakes for dessert.

MYSTERY CLUB WITH MRS. CECIL BRANNEN

Mrs. Cecil Brannen was hostess to the Mystery Club at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Claud Howard, on College boulevard. Roses and gladi were used in decorating. The guests were served limeade with lime sherbet with lime slices and mint adding to the cool appearance of the refreshing drink. Chicken salad sandwiches and pimiento sandwiches and little embossed cakes were served.

Mrs. Frank Grimes, with high score, received a water set, pitcher and matching glasses; Mrs. Thad Morris with second high, received padded table cloths. Novelty paper napkins went to Mrs. Charlie Cliff Sr. for low. Mrs. Heyward Foxhall received pearl ear bobs for floating prize.

container. A bud vase went to Mrs. Frank Mikel for cut. Floating prize, a dainty apron, went to Mrs. Bill Brannen. Winning cut, Mrs. Robert Donaldson was given a flower container.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Riggs and children, Anne and Jean Banks, spent last week in Atlanta. Anne and Jean visited relatives while Mr. and Mrs. Riggs attended a rural letter convention in Gainesville. After way's cottage.
