Proof that your weekly newspaper has high readership value is now offered in the form of a scientific study.

This study was made by a group of specialists and it brings to front many interesting facts.

Eighty-seven per cent of all men and 82 and seven-tenths per cent of women read the advertisements as well as the news in the weekly newspapers.

The weekly newspaper reaches a new high when it comes to classified ads. 87 per cent of the men readers and 84 per cent of the women interviewed stated they read the classified ads regularly.

Eighty-four per cent of the subscribers interviewed stated they retained a copy of the weekly paper in their home a week or longer.

One of the questions asked was: "Do you pass your newspaper along to others outside your family to read?" Nearly one-half or 49 per cent answered yes.

THE BULLOCH HERALD

Dedicated To The Progress Of Statesboro And Bulloch County

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1954

'World-unique' event observed here as BC Master Farmers are honored

It could not happen anywhere else on the face of the earth—that which happened Monday night of this week at the Forest Heights Country Club. Bulloch county's eight Master Farmer Families, the largest number of any county in the nation—in the world—were honored at a dinner at the club with George Pete Donaldson, former citizen of Statesboro, and president of Abraham Baldwin College, as the principal speaker.

The Bulloch County Bank played host at the dinner at the Forest Heights Country Club with the officers and directors of the bank honoring the master farmers. W. G. Cobb, president of the bank, was master of ceremonies. County agent Byron Dyer presented the eight master farmer families.

Miss Sallie Hill, vice president of the Progressive Farmers and Homeowners Association, presented the master farmer selections, was presented by Mr. Cobb.

Mr. Donaldson, a native of Bulloch county, spoke to his hometown folk on Bulloch county of old and as it is today. He told of the progress of the South of Georgia and of Bulloch county. In praising the master farmers, Mr. Donaldson told of the long hard road to achieve that title and what it takes to make a master farmer.

President Cobb told the group that nowhere else in the world could a dinner of the type be held. He said that the guests were dining with the "most exclusive club in the world." Others presented by Mr. Cobb were Mrs. Byron Dyer, Mrs. George P. Donaldson, members of the Extension Service staff in Bulloch county; Marvin Coss, representing Congressional representatives of the press and radio present. A musical program was presented during the evening by Jack Austin and Miss Ann Griffin, vocalist, accompanied by Sam Duncan.

Following the presentation of the officers and directors of the Bulloch County Bank, Delmas Rushing, executive director of the civic clubs and businessmen of Statesboro for their cooperation and the bank for the honors bestowed on the farmers.

BULLOCH COUNTY placed a master farmer in 1927, the first year the selections were made in Georgia. W. H. Smith Jr., in 1954 selection named by the Progressive Farmers and the Extension Service, 27 years later.

According to County Agent Dyer, who himself has been named Georgia's outstanding county agent, Bulloch county has had a master farmer every year since 1927. W. C. Hodges was the fourth in 1941, Delmas Rushing the fifth in 1946, Henry Blitch the sixth in 1951 and W. H. Smith Jr. the seventh in 1954. All of these master farmers with their wives were present Monday night with the exception of the late W. C. Hodges who was represented by Mrs. Hodges and their son, W. C. Hodges Jr.

In addition to those selected by the Progressive Farmers and the national Farm Bureau in 1951, was named Georgia Master Farmer by the American Legion, of which he was a member, in World War I and World War II.

Only those members and guests accompanied by a lady will be admitted. There will be no charge for the dinner or buffet supper.

ORDINATION SERVICES FOR LEFTER AKINS - To be held Sunday, December 12, at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Dr. Leslie S. W. L. Kightly is pastor at Bethel Baptist Church, which will preach the sermon. The Rev. L. A. Kightly is pastor at Bethel.

Puppet show at center is Dec. 18 - The puppet show which was originally scheduled for December 11, has been postponed until December 18, so that it will not conflict with the Jaycee regatta before Friday, Dec. 17. Home doors, home scheduled for December 11, Hippy Hops Varieties will be presented at the national Farm Bureau convention next week in New York.

Music Club to sponsor cantata - The Statesboro Music Club will sponsor a Christmas cantata at the First Baptist Church Sunday evening, December 12, at 7:30 o'clock. It will include the combined choruses of Statesboro, Statesboro and the Music Club. The public is invited to attend.

City election draws 84 votes - In an election held last Friday, December 3, that was strictly a gesture, W. A. (Bill) Bowen was re-elected mayor of the city of Statesboro to succeed the late Mayor J. H. Griffin. He was unopposed.

Delegates to the City Council for another two years without opposition. J. G. Watson city clerk, stated that 84 votes were cast during the day of the more than 1,250 citizens who were registered and eligible to vote.

The oath of office was administered to the youth governor by Chief Justice W. H. Duckworth. In his message to the Assembly Youth Governor Harry Ellis told the youth that they must unite their forces and prove to their parents and teachers, our preachers and friends that all their efforts to help us to be alert, intelligent and Christian citizens were not in vain.

He closed with this very stirring statement: "The God who made us all put us here for a purpose. Let us seek until we find it. Let us work until we complete it."

The assembly was conducted as nearly as possible in the same manner as the Georgia Legislature. The assembly convened at 1 p. m. Thursday, December 2. Laver A. Jones, Jr., Governor-elect, Marvin Griffin addressed the young legislators. He urged the youth of Georgia to accept the responsibilities that come with the privilege of governing our state.

Ga. Power to sponsor new type of contest

Plans for a new version of the Georgia Better Home Towns Program, sponsored by the Georgia Power Company each year since 1945, were announced today by Harrie Branch Jr., president.

Under the new program, the Champion Home Town Contest, the most publicized feature of the program for the past seven years will be discontinued. In its place a new system of awards will be instituted to recognize communities making noteworthy accomplishments in one or more fields of civic improvement.

In previous years, in order to participate in the Better Home Towns Program, a community was expected to carry out a well-rounded program touching every phase of civic life. Under the new program, a community can select any one or more of six general fields of activity and direct its efforts actively toward accomplishing progress in the selected field or fields, exercising any degree of specialization which its citizens may elect.

In announcing the new program, Mr. Branch said, "The rapidly changing economic and social picture in the state makes it necessary for us to adjust our planning and our activities to fit the needs of the moment. Reports from our staff and the old Champion Home Town Contest was no longer adequate or flexible enough to meet the needs of many communities."

After the meal Miss White introduced the following guests who gave a few minutes talk each. O. L. Joiner, area supervisor of education; J. H. Wyatt, Ernest Womack, Raymond Hodges, all members of the County Board of education; Dr. Z. S. Henderson, president of Teachers College; Dr. Parks of Teachers College, Mrs. Catherine Kirkland, Bulloch county school supervisor; and H. W. Smith Jr., superintendent of Bulloch county schools.

During winter months, poultrymen should provide for their flocks a 13 to 14 hour day by using a 100-watt bulb for every 400 square feet of floor space in their chicken houses.

Brooklet Cagers Split Twin Bill - BROOKLET, Dec. 6 - The Brooklet cagers split a double-header with Hinesville last Friday night as the girls won 62-38, and the boys lost 60-55.

Myrtle Lee Pyle led Brooklet's girls with 24 points. Hinesville's girls won 55-40 for the losers.

Dale Fillingsworth bagged 36 for Hinesville's boys and Silas Williams hit 18 for Brooklet.

At the recent state-wide meeting of the Tri-Hi-Y and the Hi-Y at the Youth Assembly in Atlanta, one delegation from Bulloch county was present. It introduced a bill calling for a same manner as the Georgia Legislature. The assembly convened at 1 p. m. Thursday, December 2. Laver A. Jones, Jr., Governor-elect, Marvin Griffin addressed the young legislators. He urged the youth of Georgia to accept the responsibilities that come with the privilege of governing our state.

TC wins 88-59 over Atlanta University of Ga.

The Georgia Teachers College Professors opened their season on Saturday night with an 88-59 win over the Atlanta Division of the University of Georgia in a very ragged game that saw a new record of 65 personal fouls assessed by officials.

Wo Warren of Ludowick led the Profs in scoring with 12 baskets and a free throw, eight of the baskets coming on long one-handers, for a total of 25 points. Team captain Chet Webb, despite injury to his right arm, scored 10 points because of fouls, fouling time to score 13 points. Ronnie Rush and Doug Coss also scored 13 points each.

President Cobb told the group that nowhere else in the world could a dinner of the type be held. He said that the guests were dining with the "most exclusive club in the world." Be sure to whom you give

About this time of the year you get the feeling of Christmas.

About this time of the year you get the feeling of goodwill toward all men.

And so it is that about this time of the year there are many appeals by individuals and by organizations for contributions in the name of charity.

And you give, and give, and give. But before you give, make sure that you are giving to a recognized organization, not some fly-by-night group out operating a charity racket. If it be an individual at your front door, or at your store counter, or one who has gained admittance to your office, make sure he is worthy of your charity.

Here is the experience of one of the Statesboro ministers at Thanksgiving. He writes:

"Most of us really want to help those who need us, I am sure. There is a problem sometimes in knowing just exactly what ought to be done. This is a case that illustrates what I mean.

"Thanksgiving Day, as we sat at the dinner table, the door bell rang. A young fellow came in and asked us to subscribe for magazines. He had a very pretty little speech. It suited the occasion very well. He knew that he was in the home of a Baptist preacher so he made a Baptist speech.

He said that he had been reared in a Baptist Orphanage in another state, that the superintendent had selected him to go out and get the subscriptions in order to qualify for a big scholarship. He explained that he was a Baptist ministerial student and that he had already chosen the school in which he would enroll next fall. Of course he gave us his name. We had pleasant conversation with him and for all our questions he had right good answers.

But he lacked something in his speech. I did not believe anything that he said. He sounded exactly like an actor. But to keep from being unfair, I wrote an old seminary roommate who is a prominent Baptist leader in the state and town where the boy said he was from. My preacher friend says there is no such orphanage in the entire state. The head of the Baptist Children's Home says that he has never had a boy there by the name the young fellow gave us.

I have no idea who that young man is nor do I know anymore about where he came from. But I am shocked at this sort of thing. A man who will pose sincerely and try to use religious claims and relationships as a means of gaining personal advantage is guilty of a serious offense. I can hardly understand how a man can show such a sacrilegious and impious attitude about things that belong to God and his work. This is also unfortunate for the man who tells the truth."

There are many opportunities here at home for fulfilling our need to give—opportunities provided by Statesboro and Bulloch county organizations which deserve our complete faith. They are doing a wonderful work and if we are to give in the name of charity make your gift to them.

Don't be suckered by a "Christmas - talking" racketeer during this wonderful season of the year.

Don't mar it with fireworks

Christmas is right on us. And school will turn out Tuesday, December 21, for the Christmas holidays.

And your kids—and some grown folk—are beginning to get the Christmas spirit, what with the promotions already going on in our stores, and the hankering to shoot off some fire crackers is beginning to build up.

Kill that desire right now, and begin showing your kids the folly of fireworks at Christmastime or any time.

Shop first at home

It's filled with pretty Christmas gifts, isn't it?

And the prices read right attractive.

And they urge you to "order early."

Your mail is filled with these beautifully illustrated Christmas gift booklets, circulars, and catalogs from firms in all sections of the nation.

Don't let these people compete for your Christmas dollars.

Safety Tips

Too much speed on a wet highway can be fatal. Don't let death take control of your steering wheel. Drive with care—everywhere.

One of the most common driver errors in today's traffic is improper passing. And all too often a driver's first mistake is his last. Before YOU pull out to pass, make absolutely certain you have time to complete it in safety.

When vision is limited by darkness or fog, driver compensation

...adjusting speed to meet conditions... becomes an absolute MUST for safety. So, at night or when driving in fog... SLOW DOWN. Your life may depend on it.

Be smart, practice safe driving. Wednesday, December 15 is S-D Day. It's a day set aside for you to demonstrate that traffic accidents can be reduced when you do your part. Let's make everyday safe driving day and save more lives in traffic.

Youth is a thing of the spirit... and beautiful

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

There are twenty-five-year-old folks who are old and there are eighty-year-old folks who are very young.

Youth is a thing of the spirit. It's a beautiful thing to see a person retain youth as he adds years.

Add to this youth, service and there's a rare combination. Few people seem to ever attain this goal. One of these people, however, has been honored by the Brockton, Massachusetts chapter of the American Guild of Organists.

Many of us know Mr. W. B. Sutherland who has visited with his son an daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Sutherland of Statesboro. Mr. Sutherland is a remarkable person. He was honored for his seventieth year in the service of church music.

The organist of the various churches in Brockton gave a recital in honor of Mr. Sutherland.

Besides his great interest in music, Mr. Sutherland possesses a keen wit, and an alert mind. He sometimes substitutes for his youngest son who is church organist for the First United Presbyterian Church in Brockton. Mr. Sutherland sings in the church choir.

We thought the program of music honoring Mr. Sutherland interesting when we were privileged to see it that we wanted to share it with others.

"In the goodwill of the president and members of the Brockton chapter of the American Guild of Organists, this program has been assembled.

"For seventy years Mr. Sutherland has led the praise in churches on both sides of the Atlantic, and with distinction.

As a lad of fourteen years, he began as organist in a church in Dundee, in his native Scotland. Since then he has played organs in several churches, Dundee, Braughel, Perth, and in a number of the states of this country. Music is always good merchandise.

"It may be said that, not too many, is given the privilege of being so active for so long. It must also be said that, not many have been so diligent and faithful, in the discharge of the responsibility which gift brings.

"With this program, we do honor, in our fashion, one who, in all the differing circumstances of life, has made melody with the years.

"Who can measure the worth of such a life, given to the service and edification of others in the battle of life? Who can tell how many have stilled their troubled spirits in the throbbing of the great organ? Or what healing has come to minds diseased, in the life of the chords struck from a higher life?

"It is success in living to have brought a smile to some face. To have made hope possible in some hard driven heart.

"It is fulfillment of a mission to have given men and women cause to think away from the harsh materialism of their world, and make them feel the reality of the intangibles; to bring them into the power, and under the spell, of the deep harmonies, and the scales mounting to Heaven itself. One has lived, and not in vain, when the years have been made a Jacob's Ladder, and others have climbed. All this, our friend has done.

"We salute our colleague and brother, and in expressing our gratitude, we pray God's richest blessing upon him, and his family, and that they may be spared long, to live for the things which cannot die."

HE CAME BEARING GIFTS—and what a gift! 'Twas a batch of Bulloch county cane syrup. Beautifully clear, lovely colored cane syrup. And to a man whose boyhood staple food was hot, fat, round biscuits, yellowed with butter, and a bottle of Bulloch county cane syrup, the gift came with all the significance of Christmas-time. Paul Simmons of Metter remembers us each year about this time with this gift of gifts.

THE ONLY TROUBLE with doing your Christmas shopping early is to get your whereabout on the same schedule.

TAKE TIME OUT and go see "Ramshackle Inn" tomorrow night (December 10) at the college auditorium. Curtain time is 8:30. It is presented by the Statesboro Little Theatre and includes your neighbor in the cast. You'll enjoy it.

GOT YOUR HOME entered in the Western Union Christmas Lighting Contest? Begin thinking about it. You have until Friday, December 17, at 12 o'clock noon to become eligible for one of the prizes.

AND DON'T FORGET the Christmas Concert of the Statesboro High School auditorium Sunday afternoon, December 12, at 3 o'clock. The school band, two mixed choirs, a boys' chorus, and a girls' chorus will give a varied music program.

OUR YOUTH... Kemp Mabry

In Mount Olive, Mississippi, at the age of six years, Chester Swor developed osteomyelitis which seriously impaired his walking. Since that time when he was for several years confined to hospital and to bed at home. Books and reading have been a vital part of his life. Physical lameness, he insists, has been one of his greatest blessings; certainly it has not hampered his achievements.

In an average year, Chester Swor travels more than 25,000 miles conducting spiritual emblems weeks and counseling with young people in colleges, churches and summer camps. Countless students are being introduced to Christian life at its best as he yearly visits 40 or 50 campuses.

Graduating from D'Lo (Mississippi) High School, he went to Mississippi College where he was graduated in 1929 with a Latin major. He earned his master's degree in English from the University of North Carolina in 1934. He also studied at Columbia University. Baylor honored him as Doctor of Humane Letters in 1945.

For nine years Dr. Swor served as Dean of Men at Mississippi College. Since 1942 he has given his full time to speaking. We first met him in 1947 in Marietta where he was billed as nationally known youth speaker. In 1949 we met him at Columbus where we packed the auditorium with hundreds of teenagers eager to hear Chester Swor.

We heard him speak in La-Grange and many times in At-

IT SEEMS TO ME...

Are you an optimist or a pessimist? I try to think always from an optimistic viewpoint for I believe a person can better understand the things around him when he tries to see the good in everything. It seems to me however, even the most optimistic of us sometimes fall as we are confused with the many different aspects of living in the world today.

On the question of foreign policy there are so many of us who are confused and we don't really know just what viewpoint constitute an optimistic viewpoint. I have studied the newspapers and have read the speeches being made by our leaders on the national level and at best the only conclusion that I can reach is that simply said, we don't have any foreign policy. Certainly, no person will claim that our foreign policy has followed any pattern of development that is alike to any two sections of the world.

It is a small wonder that the persons living in other sections of the world are confused as to the vision of our country when we here at home have failed to understand the changes in American political thinking in recent years.

There are many things which are confusing to me and though I certainly realize I am no expert and of course do not have the knowledge as to just what the aims of our government are, still I am an American and I have the right to know what the objectives are which the government has set for itself.

CHRISTMAS was a magic wand over this world in which we live, and we see it as something beautiful in which everything is softer, more lovely. Though for only one day, it is a day when men really do set aside ill will, and a goodness prevails. It has a mental and spiritual health-giving quality that refreshes mankind like a tonic. Nothing during the year is so impressively convincing as the vision of Christmas brings of what this world would be if love became the daily practice.

What a world we will have when at last men heed His advice to "love one another!"

FIFTEEN DAYS until Christmas. Thirteen days in which to do your shopping. It's less than you think. Shop your home town merchants first. They will not rush you or give you the brushoff if you are inclined to take your time making up your mind. After all, they want you to be satisfied. The both of you are going to see another face to face in the weeks and months ahead—after Christmas.

One quart of milk supplies all the calcium needed daily by the average person, as well as 93 per cent of the riboflavin, 50 per cent of the protein, and two-thirds of the vitamin A.

Agonomists say planting small grain with lespedeza one or two years is one of the best soil improvement practices.

One experienced young husband says: "We are a Committee on Ways and Means. She supplies the ways. I supply the means." Another domesticated male pounds his fist upon the table, causing only the dishes to jump, and vociferously proclaims: "I'm the boss around here."

And then, looking sheepishly up at his wife, inquires: "Ain't I?"

Most worn-out solution is: "Why, the man is the head of the house." To which the reply is made, "Well, he may be the head, but she is the neck that holds the head. If the President errs, the entire nation suffers the consequences. If the shepherd sleeps or is negligent, the sheep go to ruin. If a blind man leads blind men, both fall into a ditch. A church can hardly rise above its pastor, or a home above its head. Who is the head of your home?"

We are told that in a survey of a thousand marriages it was found that in homes where the wife was the head 47 per cent of the couples were happy. In homes where the man was the head 61 per cent of the couples were happy. In homes where a partnership prevailed 87 per cent of the couples were happy.

Perhaps these figures ought to give us the answer. Home is not a place to be ruled. Home is a place to be shared. Home is a place where the husband and the wife are fair—53 per cent fall. Homes with the husband as the head are better—only 39 per cent fall. Homes with a partnership arrangement are still better—

HOW CHRISTMAS COMES

Christmas comes with smiles and laughter. It comes with toys and Christmas trees. It comes with sparkling joys—but it comes with greater things than these. Christmas comes with thoughts of starlight, shining in a dark sky, and of angel voices singing "Glory be to God on high."

Christmas comes with many parties, games around the Christmas trees.

It comes with lots of fun—but it comes with greater things than these. Christmas comes with thoughts of starlight, shining in a dark sky, and of angel voices singing "Peace on earth good will to men."

So we welcome glad Christmas, coming with its games and toys, stockings bulging with their secrets.

To surprise the girls and boys. But the thoughts that make us most joyful Every hour of Christmas day, Is the thought about the Christ-child lying in his bed of hay.

Farm Bureau

J. H. Wyatt was named president of the Bulloch County Farm Bureau Wednesday night. A. J. Woods was elected at Portland Thursday night and L. Herbert Deal remained at Middleground Thursday night.

Mr. Wyatt has his same officers for another year. John N. Rushing Jr., as vice president, and William Cromley as secretary and treasurer.

To work with Mr. Woods the Portland group elected M. L. Taylor vice president, and Billy Brown secretary and treasurer.

Middleground remained J. I. Smith vice president and Benny Earl Deal secretary and treasurer.

BROOKLET FARM BUREAU
John C. Cromley, chairman of the county ASC committee, advised the Brooklet chapter that cotton allotment notices were being mailed out and that the voting on quotas for another year would come up December 14. He also stated that they had been advised that there would be a 5 per cent cut in tobacco allotments for 1955.

O. E. Gay, vocational teacher, presented a series of slides on the life cycle of the heel fly and the damage the grubs did to cattle. He recommended that cattlemen use rotenone on their cattle now, either as a spray or dust and rubbed in. Some HBC added to rotenone will help with the lice control efforts, he pointed out.

With a feed shortage facing the local cattlemen, cows will probably have one of the hardest winters in several years to go through. Farmers cannot afford at any time to try feeding and caring for cattle infested with lice, grubs and worms, but this more true with a feed shortage facing them, he stated.

Frank Furr, local accountant, outlined some of the proposed changes in income tax reporting for farmers that would be effective starting January 1, and the need for being ready to take advantage of the social security program farmers would also be under starting this first of the new year. Mr. Furr stated that breeding stock should be listed for a normal life span depreciation in the report next

Basketball Band Will Perform At Half-time shows

The college basketball band will perform only four times at half-time shows this season due to the limited seating capacity in the gym. The dates they are to perform are December 13, January 22, February 19, and February 19.

The college basketball band is not the full marching band but consists of 16 instrumental music majors from the marching band. The seniors in this group plan the program for each ball game and are in charge of rehearsal. They rehearse at 10 o'clock each night in the gym because it is in use at all other times. This arrangement is the only one of its kind in the south.

When the new gym is completed and put in use, the basketball band and majorettes will perform together at every game. They are looking forward to performing in the new gym when they will have enlarged floor space and more freedom and variety in types of shows used, reports Dana King, assistant professor of music.

Doll Show Here

Announcement was made this week of a doll show to be staged at the Laboratory High School, December 9, at 3:30 p. m. The show will be sponsored by the Association of Childhood Education.

Miss Bertha Freeman, associate professor of education and sponsor of ACE, states that children of Statesboro and Bulloch county may enter their dolls in the show in the following categories: oldest doll, prettiest doll, ugliest doll, tiniest doll, and quietest doll.

Before the doll show there will be a brief program of dance in the Laboratory School auditorium.

Two girls from Savannah will have entries.

night, December 17, for their annual Christmas party. As usual, a Christmas tree will be the centerpiece of the program for this annual event.

Home Accidents Causing Concern

By W. D. LUNDQUIST
Medical Director, Bulloch Health District

Communities, towns, cities, counties and states are becoming more and more aware of the significance of deaths and injuries occurring in homes as a result of accidents. The amazing thing about such accidents is that investigations show the vast majority of them to be preventable. Does that seem improbable to you?

Home accidents fall into two main categories: HUMAN factors and environmental factors. Human factors refer to the MENTAL, EMOTIONAL and PHYSICAL state of the individual at the particular moment. For example, an adult could use with safety a house hold appliance which would be dangerous in the hands of a small child. A 16-year-old boy could, without great risk, climb a tree or a high ladder that would be dangerous for his grandfather. Adults and youngsters alike, when upset, or angry, or tired, are prone to become involved in accidents.

Environmental factors refer to a wide range of conditions and one's home and its contents, which contribute to accidents. An untidy house, with objects scattered on the floor for people to stumble over would be a simple yet dangerous environmental hazard contributing to an accident. Most home accidents are probably caused by a combination of both the human and environmental factors.

Your local health department personnel have been studying causative factors and preventive measures so that they can tell the message to the families of Bulloch county. More and more will be heard by the public about the important subject because we feel that most home accidents causing deaths, crippling conditions and just a few hours of inconvenience can be prevented. Public health people, and in fact the entire community, are and should be in the prevention field when it there are probably more than 100 major injuries. Think of the pain, the blood, the hospital and medical bills, absence from schools for these children, just to mention a few of the inconveniences, a word which is certainly an understatement.

We want you to memorize, yes actually memorize the more IMPORTANT causes of home accidents. They are (1) BURNS AND EXPLOSIONS (2) FALLS, (3) MECHANICAL SUFFOCATION, (4) FIRE ARMS, (5) POISONS. Difficult to remember? No.

Watch this paper for detailed breakdowns of CAUSATIVE FACTORS and PREVENTIVE MEASURES. The reduction of home accidents can only be possible if each individual learns the facts and applies them to himself, home, and family. Yours is the responsibility to digest the material and then make it an everyday living experience. It's easy to do.

GEORGIA CORN ACREAGE
Corn, the principal grain crop in Georgia, is grown in all counties and on most farms in the state. It occupies approximately one-third of the cropland, an average of 3,093,000 of the 10,486,875 acres cultivated annually during the period between 1949 and 1954.

Georgia's Best "Crop"....

... is YOUTH and BRAINS! Yet we were "exporting" this great asset until a few short years ago. Ambitious young rural Georgians looked over the horizon for opportunity. Even for small creature comforts like running water and "indoor plumbing."

Fortunately this trend has reversed itself. Today Georgia's most valuable "crop" stays close to home—and the soil—adding strength to town and countryside.

This didn't just happen! Better rural roads helped. Better farm and home tools—such as tractors, cars, fertilizers and appliances—made farm life more comfortable—and PROFITABLE. Many of these—including running water—required electricity for power.

In 1935, less than 3 farms in 100 had this source of light and energy. Today 9 out of 10 enjoy comforts city folks take for granted. This came about through COOPERATION!

Electric Power—today—reaches over 230,000 rural Georgians over the lines of Georgia's non-profit, member-owned, RURAL ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES.

We are proud to be one of them—for....

Farm Bureau holds December meeting at community house

By Mrs. John A. Robertson

The December meeting of the Farm Bureau was held last Wednesday night in the community house.

A steak supper was served by the social committee. The president, J. H. Wyatt, conducted the business meeting. Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, J. H. Wyatt; vice-president, N. Rushing Jr.; secretary, William Cronley.

John F. Spence, program chairman, presented the following program: "The Cotton Program," John Cronley; slides and discussion on "Head Start," E. E. Gay; "Incubating Eggs and Social Security for Farmers," Byron Dyer and Mr. Pharr. The next meeting will be held January 5, 1955, with William Cronley chairman of the supper committee.

The Associated Women of the Farm Bureau met in the homecoming department of the school, and a Christmas supper was served by Mrs. Rupert Clark, chairman, Mrs. Acquilla Warnock, Mrs. C. S. Cronley, Mrs. Raymond Potts, Mrs. W. B. Parrish, Mrs. E. D. Shaw, and Mrs. J. L. Minick. The devotion was given by Mrs. Clark.

Among the supper visitors recognized were Mrs. Waters, Mrs. C. L. Goss, Mrs. Paul Clifton, Mrs. Ralph Hall, Mrs. Orlis Clifton, Mrs. Walter Hays, and Mrs. O. E. Gay and others.

The president, Mrs. Bob Mikell, conducted the business meeting. She announced that Miss Henrietta Hall will represent the Associated Women at the National Farmers Convention in Chicago this month.

The chairman for the meeting on the night of January 5, 1955, will be Mrs. Rosie Rogers.

The Christmas spirit of the meeting was carried out in the exchange of "secret" Christmas gifts.

After the meeting in the homecoming room the ladies assembled in the school auditorium and Mrs. F. C. Rozier, Mrs. A. C. Watts, and Mrs. E. D. Lanier presented a Christmas play, "Under the Christmas Tree," as follows:

Announcer, Jaquita Jones; twin dolls, Patsy Mills and Cheryl Clifton; teddy bear, Clifton Miller; clown, Danny Clifton; soldier, Kenneth Goss; angels, Linda Royal, Julie Rozier, Ginny McElvaine, Dianne Sowell, Bobby Jean Jenkins, Judy Richardson, Barbara McElvaine, Judy Hall and Nancy McGill.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS
The December meeting of the Garden Club was held Tuesday afternoon in the homecoming room at the school. This meeting was "A Garden Club Christmas Workshop," Mrs. Harry Smith is president of the club.

The project chairman, Miss Henrietta Hall, announced that the club this year will sponsor

OUR HEALTH
By DR. K. R. HERRING

CARE OF THE FARMER
The farmer is the backbone of our country in peace as well as in time of war. We can go to a grocery store and purchase our heart's desire in food, yet if it were not for the farmer our tables would be empty. For this reason the farmer's health is of utmost importance. He averages heavier weights, endures more weather changes and probably receives less thanks for his efforts than any other group of people.

Under these circumstances it is only natural that some health problems arise within his body due to the strain his spine has been put to. The same is true concerning the farmer's wife. Health problems are easily solved if the cause is found and corrected. The important word in this sentence is corrected.

If you are ailing, save time, money, and misery by receiving Chiropractic care.

Nevels Future Homemakers of America hold regular meeting

By MRS. JIM ROWE

The FHA chapter held its regular meeting Wednesday, December 1, in the home economics department. The president, Linda Miller, presided. The meeting was opened by a group of girls presenting a Christmas skit, "The Missing Factor." The girls in the skit were, Marie Melton, Linda Miller, Susie Dubois, and Lillian Burned.

At the meeting this month each girl volunteered to sell as many boxes of Christmas cards as possible.

The FHA girls and the FFA boys are making plans for a big Christmas party on December 18.

After the meeting was adjourned Jane Bragan led the group in games. Refreshments were served by Jan. Fitch, Eleanor Edmunds, Betty Lou Wilson, Jane Bragan, Betty Sue McCorkie.

The Nevels Methodist Youth Fellowship and the Brooklet MYF jointly sponsored "Thanksgiving Services" on Wednesday night, November 24, at 7 o'clock in Brooklet.

Odell Bragan, president of the Nevels MYF, led the group in prayer and a responsive reading, "Thanksgiving."

The Nevels Choir sang a special selection, Mary Anley, president of the Brooklet MYF, presided at the service.

The MYF members from Brooklet gave a candle lighting ceremony of blessings. The Rev. W. H. Anley, pastor of the New Hope and Brooklet, gave the benediction.
