Who will the Teacher of the Year be?

Next spring Georgia's "Teacher of the Year" will receive a statewide salute.

And school teachers from Rabun's Gap to Tybee Light will be given public homage and praise as Georgia businessmen and lay persons recognize the wonderful part teachers play in our lives.

It's all a part of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce program to honor our school teachers.

According to the program a "Teacher of the Year" will be named in every local school system, then Georgia's outstanding teacher of 1955-56 will be selected from this group. All nominees will be honored at a Teacher Appreciation Day banquet to be staged in Atlanta next April. The whole thing is intended to emphasize the teacher's vital role in our life today.

And the fact that it's the businessmen of Georgia who are concerned themselves with this program that makes it important. It indicates that they are taking a closer look at our schools, our teachers and the role they play in our lives.

So it's a good time for us to begin thinking about whom Statesboro's Teacher of the Year will be.

Like a good argument? Come to the library

People who love good lively discussion, leading to friendly argument, are missing a good bet when they fail to attend the meetings at the Statesboro Regional Library on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. For instance, at the last meeting the group talked about the effect President Eisenhower's illness has upon the forthcoming national conventions. Next Tuesday night the group will talk about the North African problem.

If you love argument and like to get new slants on current world affairs, take time out next Tuesday night and come to the library and take part in the discussion. The meetings last only an hour and a half—that is the main part of the meeting. When the moderator closes the discussion those present often stand around and continue the arguments—it's that interesting.

They meet at 8 p. m.

Tree farming can be profitable

More and more farmers are coming to recognize trees as a regular farming crop with a good source of income when properly handled.

A recent story in the Atlanta Constitution told how Lehman Dekle out at Register turned a tract of trees into a steady income crop.

When land is abandoned for farming it can be turned into a money-making part of a farm, when no time is lost in planting it into trees. And when a land owner turns to pinehills as a crop he must take every opportunity to learn how to get the most from his tree crop in the way of forage for cattle, turpentine, pulpwood, saw timber, and other forestry products.

Tree farming can be a profitable venture where proper planting management, and cutting is carried out year by year.

But those who have tried it have found that it pays to get expert help in beginning. Get the best available information on this kind of farming and use it. For those intrigued by the idea check with your county agent, your soil conservationist, your forester. They all can help you.

Our county agent is honored

County Agent Byron Dyer received an unusual honor last Friday night as all the Master Farmers and their wives entertained him and Mrs. Dyer at a special supper at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen. Except for Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Smith Sr., every other Master Farmer family in Georgia has been selected while Mr. Dyer has been county agent.

We think it a unique honor paid Mr. Dyer and we commend the Master Farmer families upon showing their appreciation of our county agent.

One group satisfied another screams

Those who have been screaming about our sidewalks in the business section will soon be satisfied. The city continues improving the surfaces of the main street walks.

Now those who scream for sidewalks for their children who go to and from our schools can be heard. We hope the city can get to them soon.

We don't get it—but we're no politician

The Bulloch County Democratic Executive Committee met here Saturday, October 1, and set the county primary for Wednesday, November 16—one year and one and one-half months before those elected will take office.

By the time the winners take office we will have forgotten for whom we voted.

We don't get it. But then, not being a politician, we would not be expected to get it.

Just as a plain voting citizen it seems to us more sensible to hold the primary next year sometime not too long before the elected officials take office in January, 1957.

Something grand is happening in PTA

Something new is happening in PTA here in Statesboro. Before the new buildings for our elementary schools were completed and filled, attendance at our local PTA left a great deal to be desired.

But at the Sallie Zetterower and Mattie Lively schools something grand is happening.

At the last meeting of the Sallie Zetterower school nearly 200 parents turned up representing nearly twice that number of children.

Don Coleman, principal of the school, said that it was a "wonderful meeting."

We commend the Sallie Zetterower PTA president, Dr. John Mooney, and his group upon the new interest being injected into these meetings.

Wonder what's happening at the high school PTA—or do they have a PTA?

It Seems To Me

By Max Lockwood

these thoughts and that I believe them does not make them real or true. The pattern of all our thinking is developed along the lines of our own experience.

The thoughts which I am about to mention are thoughts which have come to me through observation and through my own experiences with and association with the youth of today. These statements are not directed to any individual nor are they related with any personality in particular.

WHEN WE THINK of our children of today and of their activities and of their environment we immediately ask ourselves "If they have too many interests. We say to ourselves, 'they have too much to do.' We say to ourselves, 'we must limit the activities of our children' and we think to ourselves, 'the church has too much, the school has too much, our friends have too much, the Recreation Center has too much,' and there seemingly is no end in sight to the whirl of living in which we have found ourselves.

With this breakdown in the family unit has come more and more interests in the things of life which have been found outside the family circle. This is not only true for the children, but for the parents as well.

And so today we have a problem. We find ourselves living in a society in which we ourselves and our children are faced with the question, how much is enough? How much activity in the home, the church, the school, for recreation? How can we decide?

THERE ARE TIMES when we as parents frustrate ourselves. We take a hands off attitude with our children and allow them to make decisions which oftentimes are detrimental to themselves and to the family as a whole.

We have in our lives today three basic forces which decide our health, both physically and mentally speaking. These forces are education, religion and recreation. We must think of them as they apply to the child in the home, in the church, in the school and wherever else these forces are applied in his environment.

We as parents look for an easy answer to our problems. When we think in terms of dealing with children we even find ourselves thinking of solutions which could be found in an environment filled with miracles.

Now these things which I say to you are things which I believe. The fact that I speak responsibility which is ours. We have failed to study the environment of our children and we have failed to help him select the forces which should be found in his life to help and make him grow. We have become selfish to the extent that we would deny other children the right to a service rendered by any one of these organizations if it would help us in curtailing the activity of our own children. Ours is the responsibility to look and to observe and to help our children to choose.

Simply speaking, each of these agencies offer a service. This service is rendered for a particular purpose. You are the one who should decide if this is the type program into which your child should fit himself. Every program is not designed to reach every child. If your child needs music then place him in an environment where he will receive this instruction or this experience such as the church choir, the band or private instruction, but do not deny to others the right to participate in other fields of interest simply because your child does not have the time or you do not have the time for him to do everything he wants to do.

ALL OF THIS which I have said could have been related in less than 50 words. It is your responsibility as a parent to look at your community and to sit down with your child and to work out a program which will mean the most to him as a person. The school does not intend that your child participate in every program offered there. The church does not intend that your child participate in every activity which is under its supervision.

Those of us who serve you in these agencies try to evaluate our programs and to place something in them which will contribute to the growth of your child. The responsibility is yours to decide which interest your child needs and to plan with him a program of living which will make him into an individual developed to his total capacity.

There is one bright thought which presents itself. There is one element which works as if by magic and when we deal with children we find that it helps to solve all our problems. This magic thing is simple time. These problems of today resolve themselves into the happy experiences of yesterday and many of the tribulations expected on tomorrow never existed save only in our minds.

FOLLOWING THIS LINE of thinking I feel that we parents have failed to accept the

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

Comes once in a while, a news story of a hometown boy or girl making good in far-away places. This week we found a story in a Fairbanks, Alaska, newspaper with the headline:

UNIVERSITY OF ALASKA PROF. NO NEWCOMER

And upon reading it found it was a story on Elizabeth ("Pia") Deal, daughter of Mrs. D. L. Deal ("Miss Lillie") Deal. We use the entire story just as it appeared in the Alaska paper.

"There is nothing foreign about Alaska to Miss Elizabeth Deal who this week joined the University of Alaska as professor of education.

"She has taught two years in the Anchorage public schools where she made many friends and where the trim figure of this girl from the deep South could be seen gleefully skimming down the near-by ski course daily.

"When asked if she learned to ski after coming to Alaska she answered with an implied smile and a soft Southern accent—'Nope, learned it in Switzerland while playing hockey from school in Paris.'"

"Before coming to Alaska and while the UN (United Nations) was in session in Paris, France, Miss Deal was primary administrator of the American Community school there. The pupils of the school were the children of the UN delegates and of other foreign and American diplomats.

"She has taught in Georgia, Florida and the South American schools in Caracas, Venezuela. "She holds a BS and a master of education degree from Columbia University where she is scheduled to complete requirements for the Ph. D. next summer. While at Columbia she was awarded the Gen. Anderson Scholarship.

"She speaks Spanish and French and has a reading knowledge of German and Italian. "That's our 'Pia.'"

Have you always yearned to be a land owner? But somehow just couldn't ever seem to accomplish this? Well, quit yearning and just listen.

You live in the land of opportunity, don't ever forget it. All that's required of you is to keep your eyes and ears open.

Well, of course, you may not be able to be a "Miss Myrt" and win all those thousands. But never you mind, opportunity is knocking right this minute.

Most of us grew up under false teachings, and I shall soon prove this to be true. Most of us were taught that we must show frugal habits, and combining these two characteristics or virtues we might acquire, after many years, some fruits for our labors.

But we were rather simple, naive creatures, weren't we? We believed what our parents taught us both by example and precept. (Maybe it wasn't quite that bad because many changes have taken place since our childhood.) So rather than being false, shall we say those teachings are just outmoded?

Well, do let me tell you why all the excitement and argument. I have discovered a "Deed of Land" in my child's possession. He came about it honestly, and it cost him absolutely nothing. More wonderful than that he has not had to pay taxes on it.

Now you, too can become a land owner simply by going to your favorite grocery store and buying a box of cereal. You can't tell you the name of it because the box has been thrown away. But just browse through the cereals until you find one advertising some free land.

According to the poorest mathematician in our family it only takes 6,125,640 square inches to make an acre. If all of Statesboro put their deeds together there might be enough inches to sink a post on which we could erect a platform to hold a pup tent.

Get your deed, fellow townsmen, get it free and let's become landowners together. We could send a representative to Whitehorse to plant a tree on our inches.

Arnold Harville heads 4-H Club

Arnold Harville was named president of the 4-H Club at Southeast Bulloch High School Friday.

Arnold has been an outstanding 4-H Club member at Nevada for several years and was a delegate to the state forestry camp last summer.

Ted Tucker was named boys club president and Annette Partridge girls vice president. Bonnie Faye Ward was elected secretary and treasurer and Marilyn Harville reporter.

Mr. Harville named Carolyn Cook, Jerry Sharpe, and J. M. Aycock to the program committee.

Mr. Troy Mallard was named one of the adult leaders for the club. The officers will submit recommendations for the leaders at the November meeting. This 4-H CNE will meet on Friday morning at 9:50 a. m.

The agricultural picture is not too good from a legislative point of view, W. C. Hodges, county president, reports after attending the Georgia Farm Bureau convention last week. It is a good thing, he pointed out, that legislation is a small part of the farming story. Legislation is necessary to aid in many respects, but the major part of successful farming is left up to the individual farmer and his ability to plan and farm efficiently.

Mr. Hodges headed a delegation of some 25 members of the Bulloch county Farm Bureau that were in Macon at one time or another during the three days. Bulloch county was awarded $175 for winning the stiffer soils seemed to have given the most pounds of meat per acre when fertilized with 400 to 700 pounds of something like a 4-12-12 and side dressed with 60 to 150 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

Rye alone, on coastal Bermuda soils, or in cultivated fields gave a lot of grazing last year for many farmers in the county. Rye must be planted where livestock cannot get to oats or other grazing, since they seem to prefer most any other plant to rye. Four to five bushels of oats per acre well fertilized gave excellent grazing in many instances. Two or three bushels of oats and 2 pounds of vetch per acre, well fertilized, proved to be a good winter and spring grazing crop, one of the best soil builders, and provided a lot of spring hay per acre.

Louisiana white clover gave about the best grazing for hogs and for the longest period in the summer when planted on the lower lands, but crimson

JAN BROWN IS BRIDE OF MORGAN ANDERSON
Miss Jan Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brown, became the bride of Morgan C. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Nevis, Friday evening, October 7, in a candlelight ceremony performed by the Rev. J. M. Tidwell of Savannah.

The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar in the home. The lovely background greenery, combining palms and Oregon fern trees with tall cathedral candelabra holding white burning candles, was enhanced by Grecian urns containing lovely arrangements of white chrysanthemums and gladioli, which completed the altar design.

Mrs. Delmas Rushing accompanied Delmas Rushing Jr. on the piano as he sang "I Love Thee" and "Beauregard." Miss Joyce Mitchell played the bridal music and during the ceremony played "Still is the Night."

The lovely bride selected for her wedding a Lily Ann original opera blue suit, with which she used navy accessories. She wore a graceful sweep feather hat. Her corsage was a white orchid.

The bride's mother wore a French lilac taffeta dress. The groom's mother was attired in a charcoal gray taffeta. Both wore pink carnation corsages. Immediately following the wedding guests were served a buffet supper. The guests were greeted by Miss Maude White.

The bride's table was exquisitely appointed. Overlaid with a linen cut work cloth, the centerpiece was a tiered wedding cake embossed with valley lilies and topped with a pure bride and groom.

Footed antique tiered compotes held dainty arrangements of carnations, tube roses, and pom-poms. Silver branched candelabra held lighted tapers and at the base of each candle were tiny nosegays of white carnations, tuberoses and tiny white satin streamers.

Mrs. H. H. Godbee cut and served the wedding cake. Mrs. Delmas Rushing poured coffee from a marble top antique coffee table.

Miss Sarah Brown, Miss Carol Godbee and Miss Patricia Hall served chicken salad sandwiches, open face heart-shaped and ring sandwiches, Mrs. George Strickland, and Mrs. Clinton Rushing.

Others assisting with entertaining and serving were Mrs. George Strickland, Mrs. Clinton Rushing, Miss Della White, Miss Lucille White and Mrs. Chancey Mitchell.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER HONORS MISS BROWN
Mrs. H. H. Godbee and Mrs. J. S. Anderson entertained at the Godbee home with a miscellaneous shower tea, honoring Miss Jan Brown, prior to her wedding on Friday.

Receiving with the bride were Mrs. J. S. Anderson, who met the guests; Mrs. H. H. Godbee, Miss Jan Brown, the bride-elect, her mother, Mrs. Hugh Brown; the groom's mother, Mrs. James Anderson, and Mrs. Morgan Anderson.

A color scheme of pink, green and white was carried out in the decorations and refreshments.

Arrangements of gladioli, roses, dahlias, altheas, tube roses, magnolia leaves and English ivy were grouped in artistic color harmony and placed in all the rooms where guests were entertained. Each

OUR HEALTH
By K. R. HERRING

MANY WOMEN SUFFER NEEDLESSLY
Many women suffer needlessly every month. Aside from the pain that must be endured, there is an upset of the entire nervous system. Irritability, melancholia, depression and headaches are some of the common symptoms.

The nerves which control the function and activity of female organs also lead to the muscles of the back, legs, and bowels and other organs. These nerve trunks emit from the spine in approximately the same place. Slight spinal or hip displacement causes irritation of these nerves with the attending combination of symptoms and trouble. That is why headache, legache or constipation are also associated with each period.

The Chiropractor locates and removes nerve irritation through spinal adjustments and by so doing removes the cause of the trouble and nature does the rest.

RARE FLOWER BLOOMS FOR MISS HATTIE POWELL

Hattie Powell is the proud owner of a blooming rare flower with a bloom measuring almost 14 inches across. The specimen is a cactus-like member of the milkweed family, and is known to botanists as the Staphelia Gigantea, but more commonly called the "living rock" or "carrion flower," because of the odor of its flower. However, the beauty of the plant overshadows the very unpleasant odor of the blossoms.

About two years ago, Hattie Powell purchased the plant from a plant dealer in the Statesboro area. She was very pleased with the plant and it has since become a prized possession.

The plant is now in full bloom and the flowers are a deep red color. The plant is very hardy and can withstand cold weather. It is a very interesting plant and is worth seeing.

RECEPTION AT H. MATTHEWS

A reception was held at St. Matthews Church Sunday evening, September 25, welcoming the new bride, Hattie Powell, and her mother, Mrs. J. L. Zetterstrom. The church was filled with guests and the atmosphere was very festive.

The Daughters of American Colonies organize chapter

Ten years ago mankind expressed its will to survive in a sane and decent world by creating the global institution we know today as the United Nations. The founders held then, and its 60 member nations hold now, the belief that the welfare of humanity is, in our time, a practicable objective.

This is new, in point of time, but there are times in history that other declarations have been made. Wars were fought to preserve freedom and ideals for mankind.

The Daughters of the American Colonists are seeking to keep fresh in memory the heritage of our forefathers, endured to keep man free, to hold and maintain the sacred rights and to set a pattern of life that might prevail in dignity, in pride and in accomplishment.

Statesboro is signally honored that our town has been selected as the official place of meeting for the newly organized St. Philip's Parish Chapter of the Daughters of the American Colonists.

On Saturday, October 8, the state officers and chapter regents from throughout Georgia and surrounding states gathered here to assist in the organization. The history-making meeting was held at the lovely home of Mrs. J. B. Averitt.

The decor of the home was beautiful collections from England and France, and was more charming with the lovely flower arrangements used on the speaker's table, where lay an antique gavel, a gift to the chapter from Mrs. E. S. Preetorius. The yellow roses in boat container, the Steubin luster, flag of the United States and the DAC flag colors accented in the flowers used.

The dining room was elegant with the table overlaid with

Junior Woman's Club hears expert on civil defense

The Statesboro Junior Woman's Club met at the recreation center October 13th with a wonderful attendance and program.

A lovely musical program was presented. Joy Hatcher and Gene Sanders who are attending Georgia Teachers College, each gave two vocal selections and were accompanied by Sara Cannon, Mr. Josh Baldwin, who was in Statesboro last week promoting the membership drive of the Community Concert Inc., rendered two piano selections, Bourree by Bach and Clare de Lane by Debussy.

During the business meeting, an announcement was made by Mrs. Chic Jones Jr., president, that the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club is organizing and promoting the Swainsboro Junior Woman's Club. Also the main community project for the year was discussed and voted on, which is, "The Prevention of Deafness of Bulloch County Children."

The guest speaker was Mr. Jack L. Grantham, Atlanta, state communications coordinator of the Department of Civil Defense. Mr. Grantham began by relating the serious position of the world that exists today and centered his talk around what each person can do to protect himself in case of emergencies.

One example he gave was that if 100 airplanes carrying the A-bomb or H-bomb were sent from Russia, our defense could only knock out 30 planes, thus getting 70 safely to their destinations. These 70 planes could bomb at least 40 of our largest cities killing one-third and injuring one-third of our population. He cautioned to always be on the alert for sabotage. Guided missiles can now be launched from ships; H-bombs can be carried in suitcases and germ warfare could

Fall Enrollment Ends; 750 is Near Record

Registration for the fall quarter at Georgia Teachers College is now officially ended and the latest figures concerning enrollment according to Miss Viola Perry, registrar, show a total of 750 students now attending. This is an increase of 8 over the figures released last week.

There are 385 men and 385 women enrolled, a difference of only 20, and a closer ratio than has been recorded here in a number of years. At no time in the history of the college have the men outnumbered the women.

According to classes there are 289 freshmen, 178 sophomores, 151 juniors, and 132 seniors.

The number of students registered this quarter comes close to breaking the record of 766 set in 1949, the year when so many veterans were in school. This year 120 of the men are veterans.

Importance of an underground shelter. This should be made by allowing 3 square feet per person and deep enough for standing comfort. For example, a family of four should have at least 12 square feet. This should be covered with boards as a roof and at least 3 feet as a wall. A pipe should be inserted in the roof for ventilation with a cap to keep out the rain and packed with pads for filtration. An should be made with three or four turns because radiation will enter only the first two turns. Do not leave the shelter until an all-clear signal is given or someone contacts you and makes preparations to remove you from the contaminated area.

Mr. Grantham stressed the importance of a good civil defense unit in every town. He stated that safety could be promoted by showing safety films in clubs, organizations and schools; by making available to the public first aid home nursing courses, and by stockpiling medical supplies in schools or public buildings.

New Sections Added
A few classes have grown so large that extra sections have been added and a number of new courses.

Coach J. B. Seearce Predicts Profs to Have Good Year

By GENE BASTON

A native of Kentucky, born at Frankfort April 10, 1914, Coach James Boyd Seearce Jr., is beginning his ninth year as athletic director and head basketball coach at GTC. As a member of the Eastern Kentucky State College quintet, 1934-35, he was the smallest basketball player in the South.

Coach Seearce received his BS degree there in 1936 and began his coaching career the next year at Jenkins (Ky.) High School. The following year he moved to Georgia as physical education and athletic director at Norman College.

In 1941 he was appointed head coach and athletic director at North Georgia College where he remained until he entered the Navy as an ensign in 1944. Following his discharge from service in 1946, he went to Cumberland College as athletic director and coach. That year his Cumberland team won the southeastern junior college tournament at Milledgeville, Georgia.

Comes to GTC
Coach Seearce came to GTC in 1947, after receiving his MA degree at Eastern Kentucky. As chairman of the division of health and physical education he has brought it up to the status of a major sequence in the college curriculum.

His Professors led the nation in total offense in 1950, and set a new national scoring record in 1952 with an 85.4 point average. This was a new mark in both NCAA and NAIA play, but has since been broken by West Virginia State.

Predicts Good Year
When asked, Coach Seearce predicted that his 1955-56 team will be as good if not better than the previous years. He added, however that this year's schedule is tougher than last year's.

George Firor, Agricultural Extension horticulturist, says the Blakemore strawberry is the most popular Georgia variety planted. Other varieties he recommends are the Missionary, Abitron, Pocahontas, and District 25 consists of the four-year colleges in Georgia and Florida not considered as major colleges by the NCAA. Last year's champion, Fla. State University, is now rated a major college and will not be eligible for participation.

The Statesboro winner will represent the district at the national tournament at Kansas City on March 12-17, 1956.

GTC placed second at Tallahassee last year, losing to Florida State University 91 to 83.

Cash crops occupied 5,000,000 acres of Georgia land in 1950, but these crops were planted on less than 5,000,000 acres in 1950.
