He thinks first of the people of Georgia

There may be more, but we know one man in our state government who thinks more of his service to the people of Georgia than the job he holds.

When Roy Chalker of Waynesboro, director of the State Parks Department, fired 62 of the department's employees recently, without decreasing the service to the people of the state, he manifested a courage deserving commendation from the people of Georgia.

Director Chalker who originated the move himself, estimates that the department would save as much as $100,000 a year by the slash in personnel. In his move to save the state money he states that the savings will be used to improve cottages for visitors to the parks. He pointed out that a number of the dismissed employees were seasonal workers hired in the summer months. However, he said that more than half of the workers were let out for the sake of economy and efficiency.

Mr. Chalker was appointed director of the State Parks Department by Governor Griffin. It's a political appointment. It's a job in which a man might build up a political power and prestige.

And we're sure that Mr. Chalker's action made a lot of people mad—spongers not doing a day's work for a day's pay.

And we're just as sure that his action will be applauded by Georgia citizens who admire a man in public office who thinks first of serving the state and the people in it before the business of keeping his job.

We commend Mr. Chalker. Would that there were more like him in our state government.

Let there be light on the area

Of all the places to be used by couples as a "lovers' lane" it seems unlikely they should choose an elementary school ground.

But 'tis so. Evidence is a plenty that couples are parking on the grounds of the Mattie Lively Elementary School at night.

We suggest that the county erect floodlights on the area or that the chief of police instruct the night patrolmen to make irregular trips through the area to break it up.

It's a situation which reflects with discredit on our community.

Our hat goes up for these two

This week we throw our hat high into the air for two of Bulloch county's young people.

Frank Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Everett Williams, and Etta Ann Atkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse N. Atkins, have been named in the 1956 edition of "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges."

Young Williams is a senior at Georgia Tech and Miss Atkins is a senior at Georgia Teachers College.

The selections were made on the basis of their excellence and sincerity in scholarship, leadership and participation in extra-curricular and academic activities, their citizenship and service to the school, and their promise of future usefulness to business and society.

And knowing these two young people we know them to be qualified for the honor paid them. And so we congratulate them while tossing our hat high into the air.

And our hat's off for the older ones

While tossing our hat into the air for our young people we must throw it into the air again for others—maybe not so young.

One of Bulloch county farmers has won the southeast district championship in the 1955 state five-acre cotton contest. Another, with two of his sons, won second place and still another won third.

So our hats are off for Darrell Hunnicutt for winning the Southeast district championship. He got a yield of 2,850 pounds of seed cotton per acre on the five acres.

For W. H. Smith and sons, Humbert and Lamar, for winning second place with 2,722 pounds per acre yield.

And for John Hunnicutt for winning third place with 2,538 pounds per acre yield.

It's people like these who make Bulloch county the banner county of Georgia.

Education programs help prevent accidents

Every year more cars go on the road. Every year, this means the danger of traffic accidents increases.

Many things are being done to prevent automobile accidents. Roads, although the program is a long one, are being improved. Cars are being made better and safer.

But the greatest factor in safe driving is still the person behind the wheel. To make him aware of the great responsibility he has, an education program is needed.

Newspapers can lead this program. As Basil L. Walters, executive editor of the Knight Newspapers, said in a speech at the Northwestern University traffic institute recently, traffic safety is the most neglected story in America today.

The clinic was sponsored by the Inland Daily Press Association and the Medill School of Journalism of Northwestern to give newspapermen a working knowledge of traffic problems today, and to explain what can be done to improve the situation.

Similar traffic institutes would be a worthwhile project for every press association to sponsor. By keeping newspapermen informed on the traffic problem, they will be better able to educate the public.

The meanest man strikes again

The meanest man in Bulloch county strikes again.

He went into East Side Cemetery and stole a load of sand from one of the cemetery lots.

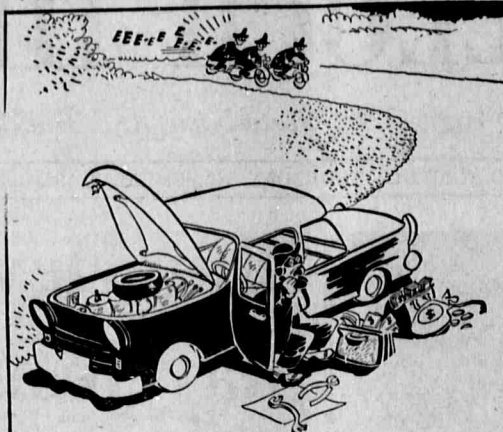

Maybe it was not the same person, but it was the same sort of low down trick as that of the person who stole the shrubbery and containers from one of the graves in the cemetery recently.

We know of no way such vandalism can be stopped. If a person's that mean only the law can handle him—if he could be caught.

But our opinion of him goes lower and lower each time we hear of such action.

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

THERE'S A CONSPIRACY abroad in the land. One which must be scotched here and now.

We first became aware of it Sunday afternoon as we were sitting leisurely in our chair reading the newspapers.

It popped up in the form of a question in Dr. Albert Edwards' Wiggan's column. Like this: "Can sitting too much be a hazard?"

Now we are a great sitter and it never occurred to us that just sitting still could be a hazard. Hark ye to the answer by Dr. Wiggan.

"Yes, sitting too long or too much can be dangerous due to formation of blood clots in leg veins. The clots can break loose and lodge in the lungs with serious results. Riding long hours in planes and automobiles often causes sudden lameness in the legs."

This didn't bother us too much at the time. But when we read that sitting still could be a hazard, we felt a little uneasy.

Then later the conspiracy became more evident. A question in the November issue of Reader's Digest asked, "Why do women go in for concerts and culture so much more than men?"

And the smartie, Judith Churchill answered it like this: "There's a biological basis. Such things call for sitting still, (the caps are ours) and it's hard for a man to sit still. (remember—that's a woman answering the question) Woman's greatest avocation is around her hips.

This anchors her down in chairs and makes her more comfortable (sounds like the ladyfolk want to dislodge us men sitters). A man is top-heavy, with his maximum weight around his chest and shoulders. He's built for action.

We know a lot of sitters who have outlived a lot of the Judith Churchill's men "built for action."

And so we say to the great sitters of our community, just sit tight. Don't be stampeded into any unnecessary action.

We'll keep you informed on the conspiracy, if it persists.

Thru the P's of Virginia Russell

A little incident that happened at our house is rather typical of the youngest generation. A cherished "Ginny" doll cannot be found, although she was a sleeping companion, a day-time companion, a visiting companion, and a church-going companion. Where she is, no body knows. The church has been searched for her, the neighbors' houses don't claim her. She just seems to be lost.

This loss gave me great uneasiness for I was certain that there would be a terrible flow of tears and I always dread to see "heartbreaks." But I got a shock. After the last search for this most beloved doll, the little girl announced, "Well, I'll just have to buy another."

It isn't that I would want my daughter to have my personality. But I feel that I and most of my generation are somewhat alike in that we had so little compared to the children of today. I personally had a lot of tears and a visiting companion, as any other child in our town, but none of us had so much, that we dared not lose it, knowing that we'd "just have to buy another."

At night, as a child, I remember trying to place my little possessions. A sudden rain in the night would wake me, and often filled me with a dreadful fear that some treasure had been left out in it.

Most of us in my generation had a "Sunday" dress that served as a "party" dress, too. It was usually a more delicate material than our school clothes and hung in the closets until Sunday or some other special occasion. Today most children want to wear their "best" to school. It's second wearing. I agree that this may not be too bad in that the clothes are "outgrown" long before they are "worn out," and it may be better to get full benefit from the clothes.

While the other incident may not be too bad, either in that this youngster isn't destructive (she has about every toy she's ever received, and in good shape too), it still sets me wondering. It is good that the younger generation isn't a worrier and isn't upset by the loss of material things. But will they always be able to be casual about such losses?

The lack of thrift is more alarming than the indifferent attitude. We all seem to have so much in abundance that it is hard to explain thrift to children. There is the linen closet shelf with several rolls of toilet paper. Why should a child be told two or three sheets carefully used would be enough? The soap in the tub is not being used. Why should we not have more than one do? Why can't Santa Claus bring an English bike to replace this old style one? Why not bubble gum? Ice cream later on? etc. etc.

All of us are guilty to a degree of wastefulness but we waste away from being so. That each time we resolve never to waste again, we feel concern over waste. A tractor stopped in the field at the end of its ploughing, instead of driven to the shed, shows indifference toward thrift, and sets an unlooker.

The wasters aren't confined to the youngest generation or mine or any special one. We see beautiful new cars driven fast and stopped suddenly, wearing out brakes and tires and using more gas when a slower speed would have saved all this and brought the person or persons to the destination almost as soon and much more safely.

But for those of us who had thrift drilled into us, the throwing away of boxes, string, tin cans, if you please, all such items cause us real concern. These can't be saved because

It Seems To Me

By Max Lockwood

The South needs him, the nation needs him, this Richard B. Russell of Georgia. We need his leadership in something bigger than the United States Senate and the people of the great sovereign state of Georgia should use every resource at their disposal to nominate this man on the democratic ticket as the Vice President of the United States.

Richard Russell believes, as time is virtually impossible to elect a Southerner to the presidency. We should therefore make every effort to present to the nation a Southerner who can guide us from our nation's second highest office.

Richard Russell believes, as time is virtually impossible to elect a Southerner to the presidency. We should therefore make every effort to present to the nation a Southerner who can guide us from our nation's second highest office.

I believe that this great man will offer himself to service if sent out the call. We need him and even with the risk he will have to run I believe we should ask Richard Russell to make whatever sacrifice he would have to make.

If he is nominated, if he is elected and whatever other it's involved is important, that we in the South stand and offer to the nation a man such as this to serve us from this high office.

We in the South have twiddled our thumbs as both of the major political parties have sold us down the river. In the national conventions they humiliate our delegates, they challenge our rights to speak and openly declare that they can win without the South and to hell with our politics and our beliefs.

The Democratic Party as we know it in the South has ceased to be. Its leadership is made up of so called liberals who don't believe in anything but the right to do as they please and to change their ideas and their ideals as often as is necessary to perpetuate themselves and their followers in office.

Someone has sold us a false bill of goods. They have told us that the people of America will not accept the leadership from the South. This is a lie. The people of the South are not so easily fooled. We have the strength and the courage to stand up to the leadership of all these states accepted the leadership of such men as Russell George and the people of Georgia, Rayburn of Texas, Burns of South Carolina and the many many others.

We have let the political leaders of the two parties sell us this bill of goods, not the people. Is it not true that we in the South and in the mid-west can combine our efforts and our strength and defeat any nomination which is placed before the national convention of either political party? We have the right to join together, we Southerners, under Southern leadership and say listen to us, listen or we will defeat you, we surely as an election is held, come November in any election year.

We in the South are no longer to be ignored, we cannot afford to be. We are growing every day as industry comes to us and it is but a short measure of time before there will be a great change in the political history of this nation for as surely as night follows day the time is short when the South shall have gained the leadership of the nation.

There is only one possible way that this can come about. Let us say to the leaders of the two political parties, "You had best sit down and talk with us. You have ignored us long enough and we no longer intend to let you say you do not need us and you are not concerned with our beliefs and our leadership."

How I hope and pray that the leadership of the Democratic Party in Georgia will say to Richard Russell, "We want you to consider this nomination for the vice presidency. We want you to speak up and let us tell the nation that we have a man here in our great state who will rise and speak. A man who can combine years of service to his party and to his country. A man who has a record of leadership which few can claim. Yes, we need you, Senator, we need you to lead us, the Democratic Party needs you and the nation needs you."

It is a call to service which I hope cannot be denied.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS DEBORAH PRATHER IS ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. George Prather of Statesboro announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Deborah Prather, to George Raymond Mitchell Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Raymond Mitchell of Atlanta.

The wedding will take place December 27 in Statesboro. Miss Prather, a graduate of Statesboro High School, is in her senior year at the University of Georgia. She is a member of the Alpha Delta Phi Sorority and Phi Upsilon Omicron.

Mr. Mitchell, a graduate of North Fulton High School, is a senior at the University of Georgia. He has served as president of the Sigma Chi Fraternity, is a member of Sigma Delta Chi, and represents the School of Journalism of the University Student Council.

MRS. HARVEY ASSISTS DAUGHTER IN HALLOWEEN PARTY

Mrs. Carl Harvey gave a Halloween party Friday evening at her home on Jones avenue for her daughter, Charlotte, and her friends.

The back yard took on a carnival look with var-colored lights making visible witches, black cats, jack O lanterns and balloons. The girls bobbed for apples and played many outdoor games. The guests wore their Halloween costumes. When it got dark they went on an exciting "Trick or Treat" excursion, giggling and frighten-one another. Back to the party at 8 o'clock they were served hot dogs, cookies, lemonade, and candy.

Sharing the fun with Charlotte were Martha Lamb, Tessie Bryan, Jean Sowell, Patricia Long, Jane Everett, Dorothy Donaldson, Mary Emmye Johnston, Jane Dukes, Faye Parrish, Betty Dukes, Wynn Alexander, Linda Rogers, Jamie Rogers, Emily Brannen and Cecile Hagan.

RECENT BRIDE FETED AT TEA

On Wednesday afternoon of last week the lovely Attaway home on Preston Drive was the setting of a beautiful tea as Mrs. Grady Attaway entertained for Mrs. Keith Clements, who, before her marriage, was Miss Juan Griffin of Statesboro and Dublin.

The ranch type home was beautifully decorated in rich autumn shades of chrysanthemums and yellow dahlias. Centering the table was a gleaming brass pair of scales. On each side, balancing disks held a miniature bride while the opposite disk held the groom and yellow chrysanthemums and ivy were used in such manner as to present an off-balance effect which was charming.

Mrs. Perry Averitt, aunt of the bride, poured Russian tea. Dainty assorted sandwiches were served from a silver tray. Individual cakes embossed with yellow roses and salted nuts were served.

Mrs. Attaway presented John and his lovely plate in her china. The honoree wore a two-piece wool suit with a large velvet hat.

Twenty-five guests were invited.

MAD MATTERS

Mad Hatter Strickland was hostess to her bridge club the Mad Hatters, Thursday afternoon at her home on East Grady street.

Her home was attractively decorated with arrangements of yellow and bronze day lilies and roses. A Halloween motif was carried out in refreshments and topped with whipped cream, had candy jack o lanterns on top. The tallies were ghastly. Mrs. S. M. Wall won earnings for top score. For second high, Mrs. R. T. Bryant's prize was also a ring. A telephone index went to Mrs. R. M. Culver for low.

POPULAR COUPLE FETED ON FIRST ANNIVERSARY

Mrs. J. L. Zetterower and her home Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adair were guests at a lovely dinner party Tuesday evening, October 25, given for them by Mrs. Zetterower at her home on Mulberry street.

The table was beautifully appointed with a center piece of white carnations and rising from the center was the white flame burning brightly.

Places were laid for the bride and groom of one year, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adair, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Aldred, Mr. and Mrs. Jack DeLoach of Swainsboro, Mrs. Eva S. Brannen and the hostess.

Dinner was served in four courses, a fruit cocktail, the main course with turkey and dressing, cream cheese salad, and for dessert, pound cake and lemon sherbet.

JOLLY CLUB SPENDS HALLOWEEN

The witches and spooks were on hand at Red Bug Haven Monday night as the members of the Jolly Club entertained their husbands at an outdoor supper sitting around a large bonfire.

Halloween supper was indicated by the decorations and games that followed. Fish, fried, and served with hot corn, and with cup after cup of steaming coffee, cake, a platter of appetizers, and lemon pie was a real treat with no tricks.

Penton Anderson won the prize in a Halloween game. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John P. Darley, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Cowart, Mr. and Mrs. Penton Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Logan Hagan, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Price, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Deal, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mott, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Jones and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carolyn Delach.

Mrs. J. C. BUE HONORED ON HER BIRTHDAY

The children of Mrs. J. C. Bue honored their mother with a birthday dinner Sunday at her home near Denmark.

The aroma of barbecue hovered around, but the table presented a picture of beautiful garnished salads, vegetables, dishes, pickles, relishes, cakes, and pies.

Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Earl McElveen, and daughters, Gail and Ellen, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lanier, Sylvia and Johnny; Mr. and Mrs. David E. Bue and daughter, Mary Play, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Bue and daughters, Lynn and Ginger; Mr. and Mrs. Inman Bue.

Brothers, sisters, and other relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. Dan G. Williams and daughter, Mary; Mr. J. I. Rushing, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Brooks Bue, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Williams and sons, Hal and Bobby; Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Williams and sons, Darwin and Danny; Mr. and Mrs. Cohen Anderson and children, Dale and Randy; Mrs. J. H. Cowan and son, Laymon and Mr. Gene Hodges.

OUR HEALTH

By K. R. HERRING

RHEUMATISM

Much intense pain and suffering has been caused by rheumatism. Rheumatism is a general term applied to pain in the body, and is often named according to its location. It is called lumbago if it affects the lower part of the spine, sciatica if affecting the nerve in the leg, neuritis if it affects the nerve of the skin and so forth.

Nerve irritation accompanied by intense pain in the body is the cause of rheumatism. Focal infections such as abscessed teeth help to form the basis, however, toxin in the body merely aggravates an already irritated nerve and causes more pain.

The primary cause of nerve irritation is usually found in the spine and must be removed to get permanent relief.

(Presented in the interest of Public Health by Dr. K. R. Herring, 34 S. Main St., Statesboro, Ga. Office phone PO 4-2421. Res. phone PO 4-9442.)

Farmers in Stilson community planting oats and other grains

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

PEANUT PICKING ABOUT FINISHED
 Peanut picking is about finished in this section of the county and the farmers who have not already got their Winter grain in are sowing and breaking in oats and other grains for winter pastures. All the ones who have put off digging sweet potatoes are digging them to keep ahead of "Jack Frost." There has been some frost reported on the cool spell last week in real low places.

Stilson Presbyrian Church is planning on starting "Bible Study" on Friday night of this week at 7:30 at the "Stilson Church."

Local board reminds young men to register

The Bulloch County Local Board states that many young men who were serving in the armed forces at the time they were drafted to register have since been discharged from the service, but have failed to register. Although these young men are not subject to being drafted, they are still obligated to be registered or to re-register within 30 days after discharge from the service. Some young men have the mistaken idea that if they are a member of the National Guard or other reserve organization it eliminates the necessity of registering. These young men are required to register within five days after becoming eighteen years of age. Under the Selective Service Act of 1948 ALL young men born on or after August 30, 1922, are required to register at their nearest Local Board. Failure to comply with the act by not registering promptly will leave the Local Board applying special techniques to active or more professional looking garment, making a cotton, rayon, or wool dress can teach tailoring just as well as making a coat or suit. Junior Woman's Club takes on worthy project

Members of the Junior Woman's Club of Statesboro are already aglow with festive excitement. The festive feeling is of triple-triumph caliber. First, they are inaugurating a project which is a real community service. Second, they have chosen a novel way to raise the necessary funds for their project. And third, they feel certain that the cooperation their idea has already met, that they're headed for great accomplishments.

deciding upon a truly worthwhile project for the club, the executive board of the Junior Woman's Club met in the club room and decided upon the project of a need for aid in the care of the deafness among the children of Bulloch county.

It was decided that this opportunity for service be "Jointly" presented. Extensive conversations with Dr. W. D. Lundquist of the Health Department ensued and a special project was agreed upon. The project was to be a fund for the deafness among the children of Bulloch county.

Here are "Miss Mattie's" own words which express her feelings about the school bearing her name:

W. H. Smith Jr., and Mrs. Ray Atkins made the presentation to Principal John C. Adams on behalf of the PTA. The portrait will hang in the school library.

A large crowd was present at the presentation of "Miss Mattie" who was active in primary education in Statesboro from the fall of 1900 until May 1, 1953.

Here are "Miss Mattie's" own words which express her feelings about the school bearing her name:

The financial and director's report will be made, election of directors, and other business of the association will be presented to the stockholders for their consideration.

Henry H. Durrence of Claxton, vice president of the association will make the director's report and address the meeting, giving his vision of the future of our community as we see it today.

The Statesboro PCA was organized in 1933 and has served the farmers of Bulloch and Evans counties with more than 11,000 loans amounting to $4 million dollars. The association is completely owned by 943 farmer stockholders with net worth of more than $188,890.00.

This will be a joint meeting of the Statesboro PCA and the Statesboro National Farm Loan Association. J. Hobson Wyatt, president of NFILA, will also bring a message.

Both Mr. Durrence's and Mr. Wyatt's messages will be timely, interesting and enlightening. The public is invited to attend this meeting.

There will be a cleaning of the Upper Lotts Creek cemetery on Friday, November 18. Everyone interested in re-burial is invited to come and bring tools with which to work.
