Tax payers are urged to make returns early

Early filing of your 1955 income tax return will be a big help to Uncle Sam and will put behind you a detail that becomes a bigger headache the longer you put it off. That's the word from Paul Cobb, district director of Internal Revenue.

Mr. Cobb, who would be very happy to see a steady flow of letters bearing checks and money orders—no cash, please—reminds taxpayers today that payments should again be made to the order of the District Director of Internal Revenue, 449 West Peachtree St., Atlanta 8, Georgia.

"The vast bulk of Georgia taxpayers will find no difficulty in making out their own returns," Mr. Cobb said. "But for those who have a problem or two, our office stands ready to give assistance or advice."

"To obtain help and avoid the rush and pressure of last minute crowds, call or come in now, while our personnel are better able to assist you."

The district director stressed that careful reading of the instructions, accompanying the forms recently mailed out, will enable most taxpayers to prepare their own returns, often in less than an hour.

Concert at TC Feb. 15

The Robert Shaw Chorale appears in concert at the Georgia Teachers College auditorium Wednesday, February 15, at 8:15 p. m., as the second program in the annual Statesboro Community Concert series.

The famous group of 30 singers is familiar to thousands of listeners via previous concert tours, repeated performances with top-flight symphony orchestras, radio and TV programs, and recordings, and the local concert officials feel that Statesboro is fortunate in obtaining the group for concert.

After their appearance here, the singers are scheduled to begin a three-month tour of Europe. Their engagement here is one of the many appearances from coast to coast which marks the tenth American tour of the chorale.

Robert Shaw, director of the singers and the orchestra, which includes 30 vocalists, is a 38-year-old Californian whose talent and energy in the past 10 years have become a major factor in popularizing the art of choral singing all over the country. Shaw has been awarded two honorary doctorate degrees in music and has a growing reputation as a conductor with such organizations as the Boston Symphony, the NBC, CBS, and ABC symphonies, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the San Francisco Symphony, and the San Diego Symphony, of which he is musical director.

On records, on concert tours, and in the Statesboro Community Concert, the Robert Shaw Chorale has been applauded for its fine renditions not only of the classics and the best in contemporary music, but the great popular songs as well.

Mrs. J. Curtis Lane, president of the Georgia Teachers College, announced that the Robert Shaw Chorale has been selected to give a concert at the Georgia Teachers College, February 15, at 8:15 p. m.

This week belongs to our fine Boy Scouts

HARDLY A WEEK goes by but some group is promoting a "special week." Many of these special weeks are just plain silly. Many of them are worth spotlighting. A few are designed to promote the things which we consider the most worth while. Comes this week one such "special week."

February 6 to 12 is Boy Scout Week and comes during the week of the 46th birthday of the Boy Scouts of America.

Scouting comes during a boy's life when it means the most. It often has been said that a boy can always find something to do. This is true. But unless there is some guiding influence the things some boys find to do gets them into trouble. Not so when the boy comes under the influence of Scouting.

You who were Scouts remember your Scouting experiences as the happiest of your youth. The camping experiences, the advancement tests, the merit badge tests, the campfires, the hikes—all together made for forming better character.

Over one million families, together with their eight-to-ten-year-olds participate in Cub Scouting, said to be America's largest and most dynamic parent and boy program. Today there are 1,430,000 Cub packs.

For the eleven, twelve and thirteen-year-old boys there is Boy Scouting, the outdoor program that helps build body, character, and citizenship. Today 1,160,000 Boy Scouts are active in 54,000 troops.

And for the boy over fourteen years of age there is exploring, a rich program filled with high adventure and opportunities to practice good citizenship. Today there are 440,000 Explorer Scouts.

And there are the dedicated adults who give him time and energies as volunteer leaders. Without them the whole movement could never have attained its present stature.

And then there is the citizen who responds annually with cash contributions to help support the movement.

They all make up one of our greatest institutions — The Boy Scouts of America.

And this is their week!

We wonder what they now must be thinking

Now that our representatives have passed the newspaper libel bill we wonder if they feel any satisfaction over their action?

Now that the hue and cry is over, we wonder what must be their reaction. Do they sincerely believe that they have done the citizens of the state a great service?

Do they sincerely believe that the law they passed improved the libel laws that were already on the books of the state.

Do they really believe they were truly representing the citizens of their home counties and districts?

Do they truly feel that by their action they have increased the responsibilities of the newspapers to the communities in which they serve?

Do they really, deep down, think that the new libel law is going to make the newspapers exercise to a greater degree the carefulness with which they already were publishing the news? Do they really believe that the publishers will turn out the light of publicity on wrong doings which they discover?

We wonder,

Preventing highway accidents is personal

Automobile accidents killed 1,042 people in Georgia in 1955. Automobile wrecks killed 973 people in Georgia in 1954. Automobile crashes killed 937 persons in 1953. Automobile smash-ups killed 1,008 people in Georgia in 1952.

3,960 people killed in Georgia in automobile accidents in four years.

And from these figures we can conclude that in 1956 approximately 990 more people will be killed on the highways of our state in automobile accidents.

Lieutenant Thomas of the Department of Safety of the Georgia State Patrol, speaking to the Statesboro Rotary Club Monday, told the members that if that many people were to be killed by the dreaded diseases like polio "we'd get excited and try to find the causes and fight to prevent them."

To be constantly reminded of automobile accidents by our State Department of Safety is to keep us continually aware of the problem.

But the solution to the terrific death toll lies within each of us and no amount of talk, talk, writing, writing, writing, is going to do too much good.

Until each of us, individually, make the problem a personal one, the high death toll on our highways will continue.

Protect our cotton and peanut allotments

COTTON AND PEANUT acreage allotments not used this year, may be maintained by the farmer, County Agent Byron Dyer, points out this week.

He states that Bulloch county farmers who will not plant their cotton and peanut acreage as allotted for this year, can protect their allotment by turning it back to the ASC office. This action will allow other farmers to plant the cotton and peanuts on their farms.

In this way the county agent pointed out, a farmer may keep his original allotment on his farm, and still not plant his cotton and peanuts. "Where acreage is not planted, and is not turned in to the ASC office, the county loses some of its allotted acreage to other counties and states," he said.

So if you are not going to plant your full cotton and peanut acreage on your farm this year, you can help your neighbor, who would like to plant a few more acres on his farm.

Contact your ASC office in the next few days and tell them your plans. Let's not lose any of our cotton and peanut acreage to other counties.

SALUTING THE 46TH BIRTHDAY OF THE BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

REGARDLESS OF WHAT

citizens of Georgia think of Herman Talmadge as a politician, as ex-governor of Georgia and as a possible candidate for the U. S. Senate, they think highly of his business ability and his business future. Subscription to stock in the new insurance company headed by him exceeded by a half-million dollars the amount of stock available.

WARNING to bachelors. Two Chicago doctors have concluded after studying a group of bald men that baldness does not usually appear until after marriage.

AND IF SOMEONE calls you a "bird brain" you can know that it's really a compliment. Dr. Nicholas Pastore of Queens College says, after a long study of canaries, "The bird brain has a surprising capacity for intelligent behavior."

THIS WEEK'S bright spot came to us in the form of a letter. It was addressed to us from Suite 905, Six North Michigan Avenue, Chicago, and conspicuously marked "PERSONAL." It turned out to be a brokerage firm who "advised" us that our "opportunity" is at its peak RIGHT NOW!

HERE'S AN idea for the Junior Chamber of Commerce. A group of college students would like a bench on which to sit to indicate passing motorist that they would like a lift to the college. The college is now stand at the edge of the traffic lane in front of the College Pharmacy or in front of the Roger Hollenbeck home, waving motorists down. When one stops to pick up a group of the students traffic backs

Thru the F's of Virginia Russell

One morning last week I rushed out to my friend's car to go to school. As I started to get in, I peered in my pocketbook to check on my glasses. I asked the friend to please excuse me for a minute and let me get my glasses. I rushed back in the house and rushed out again. I explained that I couldn't find my glasses so I'd just have to squint all day. About a mile up the way, I looked down at my hand. Yes, it was MY hand clutching MY glasses! I begged my friend not to report me.

THEN I DID ask my son if he had "emptied the dog and walked the trash can?" and I mentioned that we would like the letter to be mailed in the "new fangled" thing in front of the post office. The children at school laughed when I suggested that they put their trash in their desks and their books in the trash can. One child looked at me strangely when I asked her to pick some paper off the floor and put it in the "dirty clothes chute." Well, there's nothing like a public confession, even before I found out what Dr. Alvarez would say about this.

THE REASON for such a confession is that I have just mailed a letter that came to me about the "heart drive." I can't tell you when it's to be because I can't remember. I reminded myself of my family. I had everyone searching for the letter. When it was finally located I brought it upstairs but I spied an interesting booklet, "Projection Techniques in the Public School Curriculum."

up to the traffic control light. Why not a couple or more benches a little further down the street, properly marked, so that when local motorists see students sitting on them they may pull their car up to the curb, out of the flow of traffic, to invite them to ride to the college. Seems like a good idea to us. And it'll be a good will builder.

THE CARMICHAEL-MONTS portrait memorial fund continues to grow. As of Monday morning, $530.90 has been received with which to provide a proper memorial for Miss Mary Lou Carmichael and R. M. Monts in the high school building. During the years from 1918 through 1955, 2,083 graduates have gone out of the Statesboro High School, carrying the combined stamp of Miss Mary Lou and Mr. Monts or the stamp of one or the other.

LAST YEAR approximately one-half of all the adults in the U. S. went to church during the average week. On Easter Sunday, April 10, 1955, an estimated total of 80,400,000—nearly six in 10 adult Americans—went to church. These figures were determined by Dr. George Gallup's American Institute of Public Opinion. Dr. Gallup found that more women than men attended church, that persons who have had the advantage of a college education go more often than those who had a high school education. And persons with a high school education, in turn, attend more frequently than those who have not gone to high school. Highest attendance was found in small cities—those between 2,500 and 50,000 population. Statesboro's in that group.

When I finally pulled my head out of this letter with the heart information was gone. The family had gone to bed, too, so I hunted alone, to no avail.

I DO REMEMBER some things about the letter, though. I remember that heart disease is one of our greatest killers. I remember that it not only attacks our men and women (most especially our men) in their most productive years but certain forms cripple our children's health. While we have given heavily to polio drives through the years (and thanks be to God, polio may be licked!) we have not been as generous to the heart drives, and heart diseases kill far more people than polio.

What I read about rheumatic fever recalled to my mind a little boy I taught several years ago. He looks so fine and healthy as he plays on our school ground today. But several years ago he limped up to my desk to bring me a paper. I whispered and asked if his cowboy boots hurt his feet. He told me that his feet were sore and hurt when he was barefooted. That day at recess he had a terrible nosebleed—the worst I ever experienced. I wrote his mother a note and told her what had happened and explained that the nosebleed did not seem ordinary. She wrote me back and told me that the doctor had put the little boy to bed for at least six months. He had rheumatic fever.

It Seems to me

By Max Lockwood

IT'S SUNDAY afternoon in Bulloch county, Georgia and its raining. Not the quick shower type that rushes down to earth and then into the gutters and the ditches, doing little good to our parched soil. It falls slowly and steadily as it has for 36 hours now, and it continues.

For the past few years we have become conscious of the meaning of the rain. For a long period of years it had come to us. We had needed it and then as if God had Willed it so, it failed to come. Farmers worried as crops failed to grow. Townspeople wondered as our prosperity began to suffer. Many faces have been lifted upward as many have softly voiced an earnest prayer, "Lord, if it be Thy will, let us have the rain."

And so, it has come. Not in autumn yet. Not enough rain for us to grow complacent again. Enough to bring again the confidence that the farmer must somehow find anew each spring as he sets about to fight the fight once again against the elements and the beetles that somehow always manage to find their way again into his fields.

As the rains fall they bring with them a feeling of goodness and cleanliness which we all long for. There is a feeling of freshness in the air as we stand at our doors and look out into the open. Yes, it is a good feeling, this desire it gives us to lift our faces and breathe deeply of this new, clean air.

IT SEEMS TO ME this is a good time of the year for us to look around us and think of all the blessings which surround us in our towns and in our communities. Here in Bulloch we are blessed people. We have a county which excels in so many ways.

We look to our farms and we find our master farmers unmatched in number anywhere in the world. We find our Farm Bureaus working day after day to make better use of our agricultural program in our county. And standing with the farmers in their organizations we find our merchants and local citizens in the ranks of the farm membership working side by side with them for a better Bulloch.

In our schools we find dedicated men and women working to keep our school system strong. There isn't a county in Georgia which can boast a better school program for white or colored. Our Georgia Teachers College makes it possible for us to keep qualified men and women as teachers in our schools when other systems cannot find teachers who meet even minimum qualifications. Adequate buildings have been completed and a program for consolidation has been carried out to give maximum service to each child in such a way that the best interests of our people have been served. It is incredible that this program could have been carried to completion without a tax increase on the local level.

WE HAVE a hospital with a reputation of which we can be proud. It is staffed with well trained personnel and our doctors are among our best citizens, all working together to strengthen our communities. In the medical profession of our county we have young men and women who have brought with them that vigorous effort always needed and appreciated in any community.

In our political affairs there has remained the spirit of co-operation and understanding among the thinking people of our community as each has recognized the right of all to cast the ballot according to the dictates of his heart. Defeated candidates have continued their best efforts toward the betterment of the programs coming under their direction. We have not plagued as other counties have been with the jealous narrow people who seem to be able to gain power in some communities in our state.

THE PEOPLE of Bulloch county have reserved a place for God in their lives and I believe that we have been richly rewarded as a result of it. Our churches have found strength through membership and our membership has found strength through church life. Everywhere in our communities new churches have grown as men and women have found the urge to worship God. Some of these

H. H. O'Quinn was superintendent of Statesboro's new high school

EDITOR'S NOTE—This continues the history of the Statesboro Public School as compiled by Miss Elizabeth Sorrier, librarian at the Statesboro High School. Last week we carried the history from the founding of the Statesboro Academy, about 1890, up to the time H. H. O'Quinn became superintendent of the Statesboro High School.

Between 1901 and 1903 the Statesboro High School was chartered with H. H. O'Quinn as superintendent.

P. D. Seckinger became superintendent in 1903 and continued as head of the school until 1905. It was in the spring of 1905 that the first diplomas were issued to nine young ladies.

The next school year five young ladies were graduated with George B. Franklin as superintendent. In the fall of 1906 the town of Statesboro levied a tax of two mills and the Statesboro High School became a true public school. Until that time the superintendent paid himself and his teachers from tuition charged the pupils in addition to the little help which came from the county.

DURING THE NEXT school year, 1906-07, two rooms were added to house the first and second grades and P. A. Brinson joined Mr. Franklin on the faculty. There were five graduates in 1907, four girls and one boy, John R. Fowell Jr.

The next year Mr. F. A. Brinson became the superintendent and the graduation class grew to eleven members. The following year, 1908-1909, sixteen graduates under J. L. Renfro, the present judge of the Bulloch Superior Court.

In 1909 W. A. Mulloy became the superintendent and in the spring of 1910 there were nine to graduate. Two more rooms were added to the school annex. In the spring of 1911 there were eight graduates.

J. C. Wright became superintendent in 1911 and remained one year. There were nine to graduate in the spring of 1912. G. E. Usher became superintendent in 1912 and during 1913 the upper story was added to the grammar school annex and the present heating system was installed. Mr. Usher remained superintendent until the spring of 1914. In the spring of 1913 there were 27 graduates but the next spring there were only nine.

Harold D. Meyer was superintendent for one year, 1914-15. There is no record of the number of graduates this year.

B. B. Earle was the superintendent for the two years, 1915-1917.

It was in 1917 that R. M. Monts became superintendent and remained here until 1936. His first year there were only four high school teachers. In 1918 class rooms were added to the second floor of the main section of the present grammar school building to the rear of the present auditorium. In 1922 the grammar school and the high school separated. The new high school building, the present building standing on West Grady street, was completed and the first graduating class to come out of it was the class of 1923 made up of 45 seniors.

C. E. Wollett followed Mr. Monts and was here through 1938. Mr. Sherman was superintendent from 1938 through the spring of 1941. Then John H. Morrison was here 1941-43. B. L. Smith was superintendent for two years, 1943-45. Mr. Sherman returned in the fall of 1946 and is still the superintendent.

Things for PTA's here and there to investigate in communities

TALES OUT OF SCHOOL —

THINGS TO LOOK INTO: I'd like to see a PTA here and there look into such questions as these: What is the tax levy and why? Why only a third of the first grade is still there on graduation night? Where there are more than 100,000 children absent every day from school? Where there are good used teachers in your community, with fine, college-trained minds that should be giving out sparks of exciting education to your boys and girls.

PTA PRESIDENT gave me this one—

How can you know when your youth is spent? When your get-up-and-go has got-up-and-went?

PICTURE OF A TEACHER: Dr. J. D. Park of Statesboro did an interesting survey of the teacher shortage in Georgia not so long ago, and came up with these conclusions: The existing teacher supply in Georgia is at its lowest point so far in the present crisis. The situation will

MAKING FACES—TEXT: "The show of their countenance doth witness against them."

Every day we meet many people and look into their faces. Some of these faces are hard and unpleasant, others are pleasant and beautiful. At one time, maybe many years ago, each of these faces had the privilege of expressing kindness and beauty. We know that 10 years from now, as today, we shall see hard, cruel faces as well as noble and kind ones. These faces are going to be made by our individual selves, mostly early in life.

AS THE ARTIST makes his picture line by line, so are we just as surely making faces. We can see the artist at work because he works on the outside of his picture. We cannot see our friends or ourselves at work, because it is all done on the inside. The artist works with a brush, but we work with thoughts, words, and deeds. Whenever we are tempted to say an unkind word or do an unkind deed to hurt somebody else, then we ourselves receive the greater harm. In time they may forget our cruelty, but it is built into our lives and finds its way to our faces, where it is seen by the world.

IN THE THEATER men paint their faces to fit the continue and may worsen slightly during the next four years. The quality of teaching service has risen despite the shortage (84 per cent of Georgia's teachers hold degrees, whereas only 40 per cent did 10 years ago).

TEN THINGS YOUR CHILD SHOULD LEARN: How to study (if he doesn't learn, he might be kicked out of college when he gets there). How to get along with folks. How to manage money. How to do good work. Some hobby. How to eat right. How to drive a car safely. How to understand his own body. How to appreciate his country.

YEARS' WORK: Last year, between January 1 and December 29, the State Department of Education granted to people over 20 who did not finish high school 2,177 High School Equivalent Certificates. That averaged 181 per month. This service is handled by W. E. Parford, director of field services, who used to be superintendent of schools in Millen.

JOSEPH NEIL IS HONORED ON HIS BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Ronald Neil entertained Friday afternoon with a party for her son, Joseph. Mrs. Neil invited his friends in the first grade to come and help make Joseph's seventh birthday a memorable one for him.

Joseph's plans were carried out in detail and the results were most gratifying to everyone concerned. The guests were seated at a long table, gay with a red and white table cover. In the center was the birthday cake, resplendent with red candles, red and yellow roses. They were served "Jersey Cows," which is better known to just plain adults as ice cream floated in ginger ale. Cream to the bowl. Individual ice cakes, each with a red candle, were served along with the ice cream and ginger ale.

The boys were given pistols as favors and the girls enjoyed their gifts which were necklaces.

Those present were Carol Alexander, Sandra Lee, Marty Byrd, Bessie Braswell, Angela Mock, Penny Harper, Susan Howard, Leah Mikell, Kathleen Barksdale, Deborah Hagins and Anna Hollar. Rains during past week improve prospects for good 1956 crops

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

Everyone has enjoyed the nice showers during the past week. I don't think any section of the county was left out. It has been a general rain and has done much good. Some of the farmers are well underway with cutting land and also breaking land. It is only about a month until planting time. This rain should really be helpful in planting season. If it will continue to rain throughout the crop season, and keep the moisture in the crops, maybe the farmers will make a good crop. The past two crop years the farmers have hardly made enough to break even. So here's hoping they all make a beautiful crop this year.

The tobacco allotments have been cut and the farmers who had small allotments are really hurt by the last cut. Those who have families could hardly make a living as the allotments stood before they were cut. I don't think the farmers with less than two acres in tobacco allotment should have been cut at all. It just doesn't seem like they should have been cut.

Mrs. and Mrs. George B. Dixon and sons, Charles and Benny of Savannah, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris on Sunday afternoon, and attended Sunday school at the Stilson Church.

Mrs. Melton Morrison of Savannah visited Mrs. Fannie E. Cribbs on Sunday afternoon and attended Sunday school at the Stilson Church.

Dean Carroll Feels Student Faculty Relationship Best

By JOYCE KIRKLAND

"This is my fifth major position, and I feel that the relationship between faculty and students here at GTC is by far the best of any of the other places in which I have served. There are few very definite problems."

Dean Paul Carroll, who is originally from Spartanburg, South Carolina, came to Statesboro after he had held a long line of educational positions in both Georgia and South Carolina. He was graduated from Wofford College with an AB degree, after which he attended Peabody College for Teachers in Nashville, finishing there with a master's degree in education.

His first job was teaching English at Carlisle Preparatory Military School in Bamberg, South Carolina. He was employed there from 1921-28, except for one year that he taught in the Wofford Fitting School.

As acting director of the laboratory school and as the professor of education at Georgia State College for Women, Dean Carroll remained at work there with one year's leave of absence until 1948. However, during that one leave of absence, he did not remain idle. He was actively engaged in a field research project on education, the facts of which he did not disclose.

Succeeding President Henderson as dean, he entered GTC in 1948. But Dean Carroll didn't stop just being the dean of the college. He is now a most active member of the Rotaract Club of Statesboro, a deacon in the First Baptist Church, a member of the Phi Kappa Phi social fraternity, and a member of the Phi Delta Kappa educational fraternity.

Dean Carroll's many responsibilities do not prevent him from indulging in his hobby, reading. Besides this, his major form of relaxation is working in the yard around the house.

Warning issued on pest control companies

H. T. Vanderford, state entomologist, located here, announced this week that he has received instructions from W. E. Blasingame, director of the State Department of Entomology, and chairman of the State Structural Pest Control Commission, to warn citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch county against unscrupulous pest and termite control operators working in the state.

Mr. Vanderford said that to date, 149 companies have been licensed to do termite, general household pest control or fumigation in Georgia. He said that to become licensed under the new Georgia law, a pest control operator must first qualify by reason of experience or examination and agree to abide by certain standards of conduct in his business and by certain minimum standards in his treatments.

Mr. Vanderford stated that, unfortunately, there are a number of unscrupulous pest and termite control operators in the state and that the Georgia department is checking work done by pest control companies to make sure that the required standards are being met.

He stated that all solicitors and workers of licensed companies must carry at all times a registration card showing the name and address of the company and the signature and picture of the card holder. He urges the public to insist upon seeing these cards and a written contract in case of termite work.

Any complaints can be made to him or to Mr. Blasingame in Atlanta.

Negro farmers hold meeting

The county Agricultural Planning Committee for Negroes held its annual January meeting, Monday, January 23, 1956, at the Wm. James High School. Ninety farmers met there in spite of rough weather, to discuss the "outlook for farming for 1956," and to make plans to start in the right direction for a profitable crop year.

To get these farmers off to a good start we secured the services of Mr. Byron Dyer, Bulloch county agent, Mr. Miles F. Deal, director of the ASC program, and Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Thigpen, farm supervisor—FHA, who discussed the three phases of farming that are considered important at present.

Mr. Dyer discussed the "outlook" situation. He used slides from the Agricultural Extension Service and experiment station to show figures and facts on what the future looks like. After getting the "outlook" information, Mr. Deal discussed the ASC program and the crop allotment situation. Here, he explained how the program works and how it tries to serve the farmer. He assured farmers his cooperation in the line of services and fairness, and appealed to farmers to cooperate with him.

Mr. Vanderford stated that, unfortunately, there are a number of unscrupulous pest and termite control operators in the state and that the Georgia department is checking work done by pest control companies to make sure that the required standards are being met.

He stated that all solicitors and workers of licensed companies must carry at all times a registration card showing the name and address of the company and the signature and picture of the card holder. He urges the public to insist upon seeing these cards and a written contract in case of termite work.

Any complaints can be made to him or to Mr. Blasingame in Atlanta.
