Band and Choir

Will Make April Tour of Towns

A three-day tour of towns throughout south Georgia by the Bulloch County Band and Choir, which has been definitely set for April 24-26, according to authorities in the music department.

Basic plans for the tour will be laid by faculty members of the music department assisted by student planning boards representing the band and the choir.

Made up of representatives elected by members at large in the concert band, the band planning board includes Mel Seidel, president; Samuel B. Campbell, vice president; Bob Priestly, publicity director; Stanley Brobst, a sophomore representative; Ruth Odum, and Dr. James Jones, freshmen representative.

The board is responsible for making all plans and relations for the unit, and serving as the voice of the band in all music matters. The group has been in planning and rehearsal for several weeks.

Dr. Jim Park, director of the choral program, said that the band and choir are one of the nation's outstanding reading groups. The band is made up of 110 members, and the choir of 120.

ment, livestock disease control and marketing, field crops, soil maintenance, and forestry.

It was considered necessary that farm groups visit experimental stations during 1956 and the years to come. Farm organizations must maintain a good public relations program to acquaint urban people with farm problems. Urban people need to know more about the risks involved in the farm investment and the share of the income from farm products which finds its way back to the farm and rural home.

The income from the 54.5 per cent of land in timber needs to be increased materially through better care and management of the timber.

There is a dire need for adequate buildings for agricultural workers in the county, buildings that can serve the farm people and provide ample working facilities for the agricultural workers.

At present there is very little outside employment available to members of farm families in the immediate community that would help supplement the farm income. The prospects are bright for considerable employment in the near future. However, in 1954, 512 families had other sources of income which exceeded that procured from the farm, 505 worked 100 days or more off of the farm, and 1,230 worked some off of the farm.

Survey Shows College Group Spends Half Million Each Year In Statesboro

Georgia Teachers College students and faculty spend well over a half-million dollars annually in Statesboro, according to a survey conducted by The Georgia-Anne, college newspaper, last week.

The total estimated expenditure last year was $511,708. Of that total, the faculty payroll (less deductions) accounted for the biggest amount, but students accounted for the largest part, out of $146,520.00 for incidental items.

The figures were obtained by personal interviews with some 200 students and from salary figures in the president's office.

Students cooperated by giving estimates of the amounts they spend annually for various incidental items and faculty members simply stated that they spend their entire salaries locally.

One of the highlights of the colorful affair was the announcement of the new club officers for the 1956-57 year. G. C. Coleman Jr. will take over as president in July. Dan Stearns became sergeant at arms and Tom Martin was named secretary. New members of the board of directors are W. L. Lovett, Bob Swint, and Shields Kenan. Hold over members are Billy Holloway, Tiny Hill and Charles Bryant.

Last night's program opened with group singing led by Leode Coleman. Leslie Williams gave the invocation and President Charlie Robbins gave the welcome to the ladies. Commencement speaker was J. I. Clements, coach of the baseball team, presented each team member to the Jaycees.

Below are listed the items in order of the quantity of money spent:

Maintenance, oil and gas for autos, $47,700; food, $35,708; clothing, $20,000; laundry, $18,000; cosmetics and other sundries, $9,194. Total $146,520.

Everett Williams presented the speaker, who for 32 years has been a district agriculture agent in South Carolina. Williams has held offices in the state and national American Legion, and was recently honored in South Carolina for his activities and work in the interest of the American Cancer Society. He is known as "The Man Who Almost Won."

Georgia Teachers College has added four night games to its 1956 schedule, baseball coach J. I. Clements has announced.

There's a reason for that greatness

There's a reason for the greatness of Bulloch county.

There's a reason for the respect and admiration that the people of Bulloch county command all over Georgia.

That reason can be found in their oneness in purpose and reliance upon one another when problems arise which are common to the county at large.

Last week we published the full report of the Bulloch County Agricultural Committee for 1956 in which the problems of the farmer of this county were stated and recognized, and what may be done about them.

Thirty-five Bulloch county citizens — citizens close to the farm and its problems — are on the committee.

The committee recognized the fact that for the farmers of Bulloch county the next few years must be years of "no mistakes."

The report condenses it with the statement "The increasing costs, coupled with the high cash outlay of the present system of farming, makes it more necessary than ever to plan the farm and home operations carefully."

The committee believes that it is absolutely necessary that community meetings be held each month on community levels so that every man, woman and child may be kept posted on economic conditions and methods of meeting the problems of nutrition, home industries, food preservation, landscaping, rural housing, livestock and pasture management, livestock disease control and marketing, field crops, soil maintenance, and forestry.

The committee considers it necessary that farm groups visit our state experiment stations regularly. The committee believes that there must be good public relations with the urban citizens to keep them informed on problems that both the farmer and his family. The committee believes that the citizens of the towns and cities need to know more about risks involved in farm investment and the share of the income from farm products which finds its way back to the farm and rural homes.

We believe that the report of this committee is the proper move in the farmer's struggle for survival. It recognizes the problem, it spells out the underlying causes of the problems and heads in the direction to work out the answers.

We commend the people of this county on their hard, realistic look at what is nearest their hearts — their homes, their children, their future.

Racial tension in Chicago, Ill.

The problem of harmonious relations between the races and the question of segregation vs. integration are quite rapidly becoming matters for serious concern in communities outside the South.

There is the report of Chicago Welfare Commissioner Alvin Rose that more than 75 per cent of the 48,000 persons on that city's relief roles are Negroes and that an estimated 2,500 Negroes are migrating into Chicago each month.

This influx from the South has brought with it problems of its own because the older Chicago Negro residents do not welcome the newcomers.

These racial tensions in Chicago, now being intensified, already have exploded on various occasions in the recent past, particularly in the Trumbull Park housing project where the first Negro family moved in August 1953. At the height of the disorders which followed, 1,100 policemen, or one-seventh of the Chicago force, were assigned to the 462-family project.

The important point is, of course, that expressions of opposition be kept within the bounds of established law and order. Mob action is not within those bounds.

Disorders in one region by no means justify disorders in another. Rather, they emphasize that it is the entire nation, not solely the South or any other single region, which is confronted with the necessity for mutually amicable relations between the races.

APRIL SHOWERS...

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

LAST WEEK we published the full report of the Bulloch County Agricultural Planning Committee, and focused attention on the problems of our farmers.

By the time you read this President Eisenhower may or may not have vetoed the Farm Bill.

Our newspapers are full of it, the radio and TV airmen are swirling with it — the business of wooing the farmer and his family's vote in the forthcoming election. Right now he is being offered a bill of goods by candidates of both parties in the hope he will buy.

With all this interest being centered on the farmer, Leo Alkman, columnist for the Atlanta Constitution, asked the question, "Who is this fellow, he's a physical doctor, he's got so many friends among the candidates."

A friend of Leo's gave him a full definition. He is: "To his wife, the farmer is a big eater, a heavy sleeper, and a worry. To his children, he's a man who always has a chore for them to do. To his neighbors, he is a friend who in need would lend his right arm to them. To do, he's a man with a quiet voice."

"To the merchant on the city square, he's a customer. To the grocer, he's a godsend. To the banker, he's a debtor in the spring and a depositor in the fall. To the insurance man, he's a physical doctor. To the minister, he's a believer in God in nature and nature in God. To the politician, he's someone it's been 4:30 for a long time. The clock in front of Grimes Jewelry Store has stopped. It's been showing 4:30 for more than a week. And we miss checking it for the correct time."

THE U. S. We appreciate the certificate. It indicates that there are those who do understand our desire to serve the community.

IT IS a subject being discussed everywhere—that is good manners or the lack of good manners.

One hears teacher talk about the necessity for opening doors with caution or being sure to step aside lest she or he or they be knocked down by students.

A missionary to Brazil was a recent visitor to Statesboro. He told from the pulpit of one of the churches how very polite the Brazilians (children and adults) are. He later, in a conversation, told an inquirer about this politeness. Regardless of the humbleness or poverty or richness of the family the children were taught courtesy and niceties.

THE COUNTY PAPERS recently carried a news article about a Bulloch county school that had made good manners a school-wide project. (Perhaps that was not the exact subject but it was synonymous with good manners.)

One of the terms used in educational circles is "evaluation." If we will stop to consider this subject of good manners in children we may be able to throw some light in the right direction. To begin with, our missionary visitor said all Brazilians were very polite.

IF ONE OBSERVES closely he will find that adults are being very careless in being courteous. Do you ever whisper when a speaker is speaking? Do you ever interrupt a person who is talking? Do you ever snip your food down? Do you ever step in front of persons who are in line to get to the cashier at a store? You are rare if you aren't guilty. Do you fail to say "thank you" when to talk about during campaigns.

And Leo added:

"And an old-timer is one who can remember when attention was centered on the father, daughter instead of the father's vote."

MORE PRETTY YARDS—The side yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Rowse on East Grady Street is perfectly lovely. The roses are the finest we've seen this year and the pansies around the bed are the richest looking in town. The border along the side of W. Otis Waters' home on Mulberry street, next to where the old Green Ice Company building was located, is pretty bad with the light green of the big poppy bushes above the pansy bed.

It Seems to me

By Max Lockwood

IN A FEW short weeks now politics will be in full swing in the Southland and over the rest of the nation. Here in Georgia everyone is thinking in terms of a Talmadge versus George Senate contest. During these next few months many promises will be made. Some of these promises will be made in good faith and some will not.

Everyone who discusses the possibility of a George and Talmadge contest for the United States Senate says that the contest will certainly come. Many Georgians will have a tough decision to make. Some will vote for the farmer, some will vote for the city dweller, some will vote for their friends and some will vote because of personal prejudices.

The candidate who you decide to support as a Georgian should be the candidate which you are convinced will mean the most for the people of Georgia. Each state in these United States has representatives in the House and Senate for an expressed purpose. The elected representatives of each state is honor bound to represent the people of this section in the Congress of the United States. There are times when his decision may not be the decision he would make if he made that decision for himself alone, but when he speaks to the nation he does not represent just his personal views, but the views of his constituents.

OF COURSE there are many who will not agree with this kind of reasoning. They would say a representative of the people is not bound to represent the people in government, and we expect them to study the issues involved and to vote their personal convictions as to what the decisions they may make as the best for the people back home.

It seems to me that in most instances there is time for him to check back home, to find how the people who he represents feel about the issues involved, and then he should carry out the dictates of the people. It is of course true that in many instances the people may be wrong, but I seriously doubt if the people themselves will make more mistakes than the representative in government who feels that he knows the answer to the questions involved better than anyone else and having this knowledge he casts his ballot for the people.

THERE WAS a great man in government who once said that Government must be of right ought to be, government of, by and for the people. There are times in a man's life when he runs the risk of forgetting these principles of government and when this time comes he does a great disservice to the people whom he represents, he is a member of the State Senate or a member of any other governmental body.

I am a great believer in letting the people speak. When issues are involved and there are differences of opinion then the people must have the right to decide those issues.

During the coming months much will be said concerning the Senate campaign in our great state. The two personalities involved are men of great stature. There will be scrupulous individuals who will attach themselves to the campaign coat tails of these two great leaders. They will use this opportunity to gain for themselves recognition and financial reward should this be possible and they will try in vain to muddy the issues involved so that only those issues which they expressly want the people to see will be allowed to float to the surface.

IF YOU are an honest citizen, if you are sincerely interested in the welfare of your state, then you are duty bound to reserve your decision until the questions and issues of the campaign have been presented for you to study and to see.

There are some things you should remember about this coming election. You should remember that in these United States a man has the right to vote his own conviction. Don't expect him to vote as you vote because he owes you a favor or because he is your friend. If you would control a man's vote because he owes you a debt, personal or otherwise, then you are not worthy of his friendship. If you would not grant to him the same freedom

Still others, the dangerous kind, may contain some recessive genetical trait and upon explosion may present a complex, which must be dealt with or it may get out of control.

Such is spring fever, if it may be just called a fever; not a total breakdown, but an impulsive, having carried a recessive trait that utilized itself without permission, brings about a slowing of the pace. It is a funny indeed.

But no! The intoxication from the sun and the lush waters of spring has a sneaky grip. The dregs from the solar and fluid substance have settled at the bottom and there have acted as irritants. Some do not dissolve. A lot depends upon the nature of the solvent and the extent of the hardness of the solute. Whatever the case may be, any resistance to the dregs creates greater uneasiness and the situation becomes one of co-existence.

THE BULLOCH HERALD

By E. T. "RED" MULLIS
Soil Conservation Service

More interest is being shown this year in pond fertilization by Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District cooperators in Bulloch county. Our farmers are wide awake and take up new ideas and methods quickly.

As a result of this, Bulloch county is, and will remain, the leading farming county in the State and nation.

One important aspect of pond fertilization has recently come to my attention which needs clarifying. Our ponds usually have a lot of decaying leaves, trash, etc. in them which makes the water acidic so acid in some cases that fish will not grow in them.

Numerous reports of fish dying in the summer when decay is just getting under way, and most rapid lead us to believe that non-acid fertilizer materials should be used in the 8-8-2 mixture. Nitrogen is one of the most important fertilizer elements and a form, such as sodium nitrate, should be used according to Mr. Vern Davidson, biologist with the Soil Conservation Service. Sodium nitrate has a basic or neutral reaction and will help to correct the acidity of most of our ponds.

Buddy Barnes, H. P. Womack and others report their ponds after several fertilizer applications. The above may be having some bearing on this.

Enough has been written of acid concerning the value of fertilizer for weed control, fish production, and keeping the water cool in summer to make it unnecessary to repeat at this time.

Mr. Leroy Byrd of Port Republic getting a lot of early grazing from this service, especially this spring, even after the late frost. Service crews are out early and if grazed to keep the water cool in summer, the above may be having some bearing on this.

Farm Bureau group advised how to increase peanut germination

A teaspoonful or two per cent of cress seed per planter full of peanuts will increase the germination materially, about 10 per cent, the Farm Bureau group last week were advised.

Peanut seed this year is good, a lot better than last year, but the addition of some cress seed will be good insurance, even though the peanuts have been treated when shelled.

Memberships not turned in already will have to be reported to the Georgia Farm Bureau on April 30 to count on this year's enrollment. The groups were advised.

WARNOCK Mrs. Inez Mikell was named community Red Cross chairman at Warnock. Mrs. Horace Bird, Mrs. Iris Atkins, and Grady Lee, agreed to work with Mrs. Mikell on the committee.

Rayford W. Williams, county rural chairman, met with Warnock Wednesday night and asked the Farm Bureau to help name the committee.

Charles Oliff, J. B. Iler, and John M. Gay, gave a demonstration on the use of gas burners in tobacco barns, as well as for other uses.

Wind and sand storms plague farmers in Stilson community

By Mrs. W. H. Morris

The high winds during the last few days have done much to damage the farmers crops. The sand has covered corn and some tobacco to the extent that the tobacco will have to be cut over and the corn may have to be planted over again. We had a nice rain here last Sunday night, and where the sand had blown into the corn rows the rain packed the sand and light around the corn so if the ground was not loose it may cause the corn not to come out.

It just seems like tough luck for the farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Scott of Windsor, S. C. spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling and other relatives here. They also spent several days visiting Mr. and Mrs. Larry Bosen at Guyton and Mr. and Mrs. Joe C. Cribbs in Savannah.

FREEZER PACKAGING COUNTS
Home freezers should not be counted upon to maintain quality of food all by themselves. Packaging plays a vital role, too. Main purpose in packaging four or more packages before it is frozen is to keep food from drying out. It pays to use good quality material in the long run. Packaging materials that won't let in moisture or hold vapor next to the food are needed for food to taste fresh.

OFF-FLAVORS IN MILK
The problem of off-flavors in milk may plague the dairy farmer and his customer through July, according to Frank Fitch, extension dairyman. Feeding hay before putting cows to grass will partially prevent the cow's system from being saturated with clover, onions, or garlic flavors.

When establishing a new pasture, it is wise to buy certified seed.

FTA Group to Present Skit At Douglas GEA Thursday

Seven members from the Georgia Teachers College FTA chapter will present a program for the Coffee county GEA in Douglas, Thursday, April 19.

The group will present a skit, "At Saint Peter's Gate," intended to portray in humorous manner the negligence of some teachers to participate in programs aimed at promoting the teaching profession.

Five teachers who have passed on, appear at Saint Peter's gate requesting a crown which they think is their just reward.

Saint Peter, in reading from his "Doom's Day Book," points out to the many instances where they failed to keep in stride with improved educational methods and failed to take an active part in furthering teaching as a profession.

Billy Jackson, Ed Abercrombie, Mary Jane Harper, Joyce Jackson, Carole Hatcher, Clarence Miller, and Albert Cornelison are the seven members taking part in the skit.

The seven and FTA faculty adviser Shelby Monroe will take the skit to the FTA convention in Atlanta, April 19-20, and 21.

The local chapter will pay half the trip expenses and the representatives will pay the other half.

EXTRA GOOD because it's NATURAL

CHILEAN NITRATE—WORLD'S ONLY NATURAL NITRATE

Whatever the crop—corn, cotton, tobacco, small grains, fruits, vegetables—Chilean Soda nitrate dressings and side-dressings give the best results, lowest costs, largest net profits.

Natural Chilean works fast. Corn responds heartily at rates up to 500 pounds per acre or more, 40 to 50 days after planting. The nitrogen in Chilean is 100 per cent fast-acting nitrate—invaluable at the critical stage of crop development.

Natural Chilean boosts yields. On cotton, side-dressings of 300 pounds or more, 35 to 40 days after planting, produce heavy-yielding, early-maturing plants. On pastures, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia, too, it's a more efficient summer fertilizer than ammonia, too.

Natural Chilean contains sodium. Ammonia nitrogen is acid-forming and must be changed to the nitrate form in the soil, but every ton of Chilean contains sodium equivalent to 650 pounds of commercial limestone for destroying soil acidity.

Natural Chilean benefits crop and soil. It corrects acidity, improves nitrate, phosphate, calcium, magnesium and minor element availabilities. Chilean is one of the most efficient and economical nitrogen fertilizers for side-dressing summer crops. Ask for Bulldog Soda. Look for the Bulldog on the bag.

Axelson Accepts Publicity Post At Furman Univ.

Joseph A. Axelson, who was part-time student and full-time publicity director at GTC for the past two years began his duties April 2 as field secretary for the Purple Hurricane Club of Furman University.

He will have offices in Greenville, S. C., home of Furman University, and will direct the organization of Furman alumni clubs in the Carolinas.

While on the campus as student and sports publicity director, Axelson organized and served as secretary of the Athletic Alumni Association, was editor of The George-Anne one quarter, conducted a daily sports program on radio station WTVN, and worked as a correspondent for a number of Georgia newspapers.

A native of Illinois, he elected to remain in Georgia after his discharge from service at Camp Gordon, coming to GTC at that time to begin the sports publicity work.

He has completed five quarters of work here, as a transfer student from North-western University where he has won two quarters away from his journalism degree.

No Parent's Day For This Year

An official announcement from Dr. Zach S. Henderson discloses this week that "Parents' Day," held here for the two past years, will not be held this year.

Because of so many activities being programmed for this quarter, the administration felt that sufficient time and effort could not be spent to insure success of the event.

According to Dr. Henderson, the plan worked well this year, but got less response the second year. School officials believe this may indicate a tendency for parents to have less interest in such a program after once being formally introduced to the college on "Parents' Day." For this reason, the administration is considering plans to hold that special day once every two years instead of every year.

Roaches, which cause a lot of trouble in the kitchen thrive on waste food and other garbage. The best way to get rid of them is to clean up, thereby removing their food supply.

FARM WATER SYSTEMS!

The 41 Rural Electric Cooperatives of Georgia have promoted running water for the farm and home for many years as one of the needed facilities for modern living.

Today, the use of low-cost Co-op electricity puts farm water systems within the grasp of every family's pocketbook.

The modern farmer and farm wife are using electricity to bring water conveniences into their way of life. Housework is made easier by having plenty of water—hot and cold—at the turn of a faucet.

Farm Production has increased because electricity made water available at any spot on the farm—as easy as flipping a switch. But the job is not over. Many farms and homes in rural Georgia still do not have running water.

See your Co-op manager about adding a farm water system. Georgia's Rural Electric Cooperatives offer the services of low-cost electricity for you.

Junior Womans Club

The Statesboro Junior Womans Club met Thursday afternoon of last week at the Recreation Center with Mrs. H. P. Jones Jr., president, presiding.

The Rev. William J. Erwin, pastor of the local Methodist Church, was guest speaker. The topic of his discussion was "Spiritual Values in Home Living," and was related to the well known statement "Families that pray together stay together." According to and proven by figures taken from a survey of home life, cases where neither husband or wife participated in church life was in the higher bracket for divorce rates and active church workers presented a lower divorce rate, commented Rev. Erwin. Basic acts of civilization and fall in proportion with quality of home life. He explained to us the extent that the Hebrew people emphasize the value of home life. They observe the feast of the Passover, which presented the nation of Israel was primarily the outgrowth of spiritual life for our forefathers, which in turn meant a great deal to American civilization, therefore, our thoughts go back to people with ideas and who were willing to endure hardships to establish churches, strive to abide in peace and gather around family altars in pioneer homes, which presented spiritual elements. Their trust and faith in God gave them determination to push forward, from their places, which were carved out in the wilderness. Rev. Erwin declared that spiritual devotion is one of the finest elements of a person's life and should be a must in the home. If not taught in the home, it is almost impossible for a child or grown-up to obtain proper and fulfilled training elsewhere. The schools are not equipped well enough for this type training, and if not

IMPROVED PEANUT PRODUCTION

To improve their 1956 peanut crop and to increase income from peanuts, Georgia farmers should place major emphasis on these items: (1) select adapted soils; (2) use recommended varieties of certified seeds, and (3) control weeds with Craig herbicide 1 and help prevent diseases.

LOOSE SMUT CONTROL

Loose smut, a grain disease that infects almost all Georgia barley fields, can be controlled with the hot water treatment of the seed. J. R. Johnson, Extension agronomist, says the seed to be planted should be soaked in cold water for 12 to 18 hours, and then placed in a bucket with a constant temperature of 127 to 129 degrees Fahrenheit for 13 minutes.

begin in the home it makes it doubly hard for the church to accomplish with the child what the parents should train them for seven days a week. He further stated, "Some say they don't have the time due to their full time outside or inside activities. Other complain of the fact that there are too many in the family for them to train each one properly," commented Rev. Erwin. However, according to our speaker, Susanne Wesley, wife of John Wesley, was the mother of 19 children and at that time there were no public schools, so the mother set up a school in her home. By the time each child was 8 years old he was able to speak Latin and Greek fluently and a certain time was set aside each week for the spiritual training of each child.

He said any family is doomed which fails to recognize spiritual values as a part of their society. Some of the reasons which cause such situations are disintegrated home life, low moral standards, and disintegrated religious life. The home is the basic unit of society. The speaker stated that the prospect for America's future pertaining to home life, on the dark side, is that eventually one in every three marriages will end in divorce and described the present situation in some homes as being similar to a "filling station," "run in, eat, sleep and then out to other activities." The brighter side presents a greater desire for spiritual values than any other time. He gave us an illustration: A spiritual life mission has been established which requires you to pledge to have a daily devotion in the home and that now more than ever material is available for establishing spiritual home life.

Hints for the Farm and Home

The home freezer always should be grounded to prevent possibility of shock to the user, and it should be level to assure top performance.

Georgia's 1955 dairy reports indicate that milk production increased by 120 pounds per cow last year—more than during the previous five years combined.

Burns are principal work centers for dairy farm chores and it is important to find suitable locations or storage places for feed, tools, and other equipment.

Commercial broiler growers frequently use faulty management by crowding, lack of feeders, filling feed troughs too full, inadequate ventilation and ineffective vaccination.

Walks should be arranged according to contours of the yard, Thomas G. Williams, Extension landscape specialist, advises. If the slope of the ground permits, a straight walk is usually more practical.

Falls kill some 2,000 persons on the farm each year. Studies show that about 700 deaths occur in the course of work around the home.

April is an ideal month to participate in a spring cleaning week or work on community welcome signs and road markers.
