Oil Progress Week is planned

The importance of telling Oil's story of progress and service during Oil Progress Week was stressed at a luncheon at the Elk's Club.

Plans for the 1956 celebration of Oil Progress Week, October 14-20, were discussed at the meeting and a schedule of events was set up. L. H. Young, Gulf Oil Corporation of Statesboro, Ga. is oil industry information area chairman.

"Oil Progress Week this year will feature a nation-wide salute to the country's 200,000 service station operators and their employees," L. H. Young, area chairman said.

A special team of state industry men, volunteer members of the oil industry attended this meeting and participated in discussions. They included: R. T. Remler, Gulf Oil Corporation, vice chairman from Savannah; C. R. Pound, Bulloch County chairman of Statesboro, market- ing on the national level; John Mathers of Sinclair Refining Company from Atlanta, who will work as a representative of the Georgia right to operate our own schools in accordance with customs and traditions." He continued: "So there won't be any mistake, let me tell you right now that the Oil Progress Week is against any efforts on the part of the Federal Government to destroy states' rights by legislation or court rulings which are designed to upset the friendly relationship between the states and the Federal Government."

Hagan promises to work for segregation

Rep. Charles H. Preston has been charged with being "neglectful and timid" in the school segregation decision of the United States Supreme Court of May, 1954. In a series of stump speeches around the district recently, Elliott Hagan, candidate for Congress, told his audiences that Preston "lived within walking distance of the United States Supreme Court for two years and never raised his voice against the school segregation decision of May 17, 1954, until faced with the necessity of returning to the First District and explaining his neglect and timidity to the people."

Hagan, a Screven County farmer and businessman, promised: "As a member of Congress, I shall work day and night on the national level to represent the people of Georgia in seeking to repeal the effect of this (segregation) decision, and guarantee to the states the right to operate our own schools in accordance with customs and traditions." He continued: "So there won't be any mistake, let me tell you right now that the Oil Progress Week is against any efforts on the part of the Federal Government to destroy states' rights by legislation or court rulings which are designed to upset the friendly relationship between the states and the Federal Government."

Invest in our C. of C.

The Statesboro Chamber of Commerce "kicks off" its annual membership drive for 1956-57 on Tuesday morning, September 18.

Members will gather at Mrs. Bryant's Kitchen at 7:30 that morning for breakfast after which they will give the city a real "going-over" to renew memberships and secure new members.

The 1955-56 membership was approximately 200. A city the size of Statesboro should have more than 300 members in the organization designed to do the most for the citizens who live here.

At a recent meeting of the organization the membership voted unanimously to engage a full-time secretary-manager to handle the many duties which come within the realm of Chamber of Commerce work.

A. B. McDougald, president of the organization, urges all present members to be ready to renew their membership when members call upon them.

The growth of Statesboro is spilling out all over.

And this growth does not just happen. It is promoted and the Chamber of Commerce is the spearhead for the plans which result in our progress.

If you are a member—renew!

If you are not a member—join!

Invest in and have a part of the great progress of this community, the best in the nation.

They got out the vote

They did a good job and one that needs being done each election day.

And for it we commend the members of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, affectionally known as the "Jaycees."

Yesterday they provided transportation to every voter without a way, who asked for it, a way to the polls here in Statesboro.

These young men were not concerned about for whom the voters they gave the transportation were to vote—they were interested only in providing a way for voters to get to the polls. They were just "Getting-Out-The-Vote!"

It's a worthy project and one deserving of the community's approval and applause.

A commendation

This week we are publishing excerpts from a letter written by a tourist to Mayor Bill Bowen in which the tourist commends members of our police force for courtesies and consideration he and members of his family were shown while forced to spend some time in Statesboro.

We are prone to give our local police a fit for things done or things undone which do not please us. They make a case against us for speeding and we blow our top. They give us a parking meter ticket and we scream. They ask us to keep our dog at home and we fuss and fume. They caution us about running through stop signs and we get our dander up. They go about doing their duty and when it interferes with our personal comings and going we rant for their badge.

But much of the time they go about doing favors, extending courtesies, offering help, showing extreme consideration, far and beyond their duty. And for these things we commend them.

This week comes an opportunity to commend them for the good will they have brought to Statesboro as a major city on U. S. Highway 301, a principal North-South tourist route.

Their thoughtfulness and courtesy and consideration make one family think well of our community, and that's good.

It was fun

The menfolk were conspicuous by their absence. But that is their loss as testified by the few men who attended the performance of "My Fair Lady Fall Fashions" presented by the Woman's Club at McCroan Auditorium last week.

And the ladyfolk had fun.

Narrated by Mrs. J. O. Johnston, the fashion show became alive and went off with a flair. The models were all perfectly at home in the fashions furnished by Mr. Minkovitz of H. Minkovitz and Sons. The purpose of the show was fulfilled to the satisfaction of the sponsors and the library, the beneficiary, is well on its way of becoming air conditioned for the comfort and enjoyment of its patrons.

We commend the Woman's Club and the members who assumed the responsibility of putting on the show. We commend Mr. Minkovitz for cooperating with them in furnishing the fashions. We commend all who had a part in making the project successful.

It is hoped that other organizations will follow the lead taken by the Woman's Club and help with their project to air condition our library.

We say thanks

The county owes thanks to the Georgia Historical Commission for providing the historical marker now standing on our Courthouse Square proclaiming to all who will read it that our county was created in 1796 and that it was named for Archibald Bulloch and that our first county officers were Charles McCall Jr., sheriff; Andres E. Well, Clerk of Superior Court; George Elliott, Clerk of Inferior Court; Francis Well, Register of Probate; James Bird, Surveyor, and Carrott Williams, Coroner.

Bulloch County has a rich historical background and one which should be kept alive, and this marker will help.

Back with us

For the past several weeks we have been missing two things in our neighborhood, the song of the mocking bird and the dog packs on our lawn and in our neighborhood.

This week both are back with us.

We welcome the song of the mocking bird.

We can't say we welcome the dog packs which gather in our yard.

Honorable William A. Bowen,
Mayor, City of Statesboro,
341 Savannah Avenue,
Statesboro, Georgia.
My dear Mr. Mayor:

My husband and I feel that we would be most ungrateful indeed if we did not write to you about some of the most outstanding fine people we have ever met. These fine people are all residents of your lovely City of Statesboro, Ga.

While driving through your city on Sunday, July 29, we were unfortunate enough to be involved in a slight accident. Our car was damaged. One of the girls in our car put her tooth through her lip. Your Chief of Police, Ben F. Allen, who investigated the accident was the kindest and most considerate man we have ever been privileged to meet. The chief went out of his way to bring this girl to the Bulloch County Hospital for treatment. He made all arrangements to have our car towed to a garage and contacted the insurance agent for us.

We did not want to continue home without having the necessary repairs made on our car. We thought we would be delayed just one day, but as it happened our car was not ready for us until Wednesday afternoon, August 1.

Chief Allen realized that tourists so far from home were at a complete loss without their car. He saw to it that we had transportation to a restaurant for dinner and also to any motel of our choice. The chief told us he would be most happy to be of service to us at any hour of day or night and not to hesitate to call if we needed transportation anywhere. If he was not right there any one of his officers would be only too glad to assist us. These proved to be no idle words. He was most considerate in allowing us to wait, whenever we had to, for adjusters, mechanics, etc., in his office rather than to stand around on the hot streets.

We selected Hodges' Motel for our place of abode during our stay. It was a most fortunate selection on our part. Mr. Hodges and members of his family treated us "royally". Mr. Hodges took us on a very interesting tour of his plantation, to a tobacco warehouse and auction to help us while away some of the time. It never seemed to be a bother to him to drive us into town at any time, to allow us the generous use of his telephone for all our business calls, etc. His motel was one of the nicest and cleanest we stopped at on our entire trip. The food in his restaurant was delicious, nicely prepared, and served by pleasant and sociable girls, all these little things sure added up to make our stop-over more pleasant and enjoyable. We certainly will highly recommend his motel and restaurant to all our friends traveling south.

Mr. James B. Taylor Jr. and his mechanics were most courteous and efficient and did everything in their power to hasten the repair work on our car so we would not be delayed any longer than absolutely necessary. For this we are most grateful and would highly recommend him and his fellow workers for all kinds of repairs on cars and for their courtesy and consideration.

Mr. Sorrier, the insurance agent and his adjuster from Savannah, did everything in their power to arrange settlement for us. They did far more than they were obliged to do in order to expedite matters for us.

For all these things we are most grateful. We felt that you would be particularly pleased to hear that we consider all members of your police organization, without exception, to be of the highest calibre, all extremely courteous and considerate, far beyond what their duties demand.

Chief Allen has been in only a short time, we understand, and we are sure that he

"Thank heaven for the cool weather," said one lady.

Another said, "You'll be wishing for warm weather before winter is over."

The first lady said, "I won't complain if icicles hang off me. I'm so tired of this hot weather." Doubtless most of us feel a sympathy for the lady whose endurance of the heat was about worn out.

So on last Saturday morning, I too felt a new zest for life. It was not hard to jump out of bed and hurry to the kitchen. A cool weather breakfast of broiled apple slices, bacon and fried eggs hit the spot. Every member of the family remembered to say, "I enjoyed my breakfast" without prompting or lying.

By the time the paper reaches the subscriber's home, our hot weather will probably be back again for a while, but nevertheless fall is upon us.

Who will be sorry? Not the mothers, if the street pot in a recent Atlanta Journal is any indication. All were asked if "Are you glad school has started?" In varying degrees from "Heavens, Yes!" on down each was glad to get the kids out of her hair and out from under her feet.

Teachers are glad for fall weather because a roomful of hot, tired, TV-weary children can't learn and can hardly keep their tempers sweet.

Farmers are usually glad for fall because it brings the harvest. They may be disappointed in the results but they finally want it done for and long for another chance to start over again.

In fact, most of us are glad for this change because we seem to weary of the same old thing. Our thoughts naturally turn to our brothers and sisters who live near the equator of our earth and never enjoy the seasons as we know them. They have only hot dry, and hot wet weather—day and night. Perhaps they are glad for the rain and glad when it stops and perhaps never having known a difference feel no great inconvenience by their climate.

Then our kinsmen in the far north whose seasons are light and dark know no fall weather as we know it. Their dark, cold winters set in and for months they see no light. How many of us would last a dark season through shut up in a low, smoky, windowless home with members of our family and all in one room? Perhaps, spiritually these people possess a depth that we with so much never attain. Surely we who enjoy such a climate as ours (with the delightful and varying seasons) have a greater obligation to our fellowman and to God. Surely

Meditation for This Week

By THE REV. J. W. GROOMS

THE COMFORT OF PRAYER. TEXT: "Be careful for nothing; but in everything by prayer and supplication, with thanksgiving, let your request be made known unto God." Philippians 4:6

"Prayer is the rope up the belfry; we pull it and it rings the bell up in heaven," so said Christmas Evans, the great Welsh preacher. To know that the bell rings, and to have its music flood our lives, this is indeed a comfort to Christians.

This then is our first thought, that of the comfort of prayer:

1. TO THE INDIVIDUAL. What a never failing source of comfort prayer is! The history of each individual Christian and of the amount of comfort and blessedness he has received could be almost accurately recorded by a statement of his habits of prayer. All Christians, young and old, in every walk of life, Christians of all ages and all classes under all kinds of circumstances have tested and have attested to the wonderful comforting power of prayer. "Since I began," said Dr. Payson, when a student, "to beg God's blessings on my studies, I have done more in one week than the whole year before." Martin Luther, when pressed real heavy with his gigantic task said: "I have so much to do I cannot get along without three hours a day in praying." These men, as have all faithful Christians, found the comfort there is in prayer.

2. TO THE RACE. What prayer has been to the individual it has been to the race. Think what volumes of prayer have gone up to God! Its comforting power to the race cannot be over estimated. It has been the source of untold blessedness to the multitudes of the earth. It is well and right for us to widen our prayers to include others besides ourselves. Not to do that is a selfish prayer and a selfish prayer will not help us much.

OUR SECOND THOUGHT is a question. Are you getting comfort out of prayer?

It is sincerely hoped that you are, that you find it every day a source of help and comfort in life. But if you are not finding it such a blessing it is well to learn the reason.

One reason may be that you are not keeping particular place with Christ. You fail to meet him at the appointed place. If you regularly go to the meeting place he will be found by you there. Irregularity in your habits of prayer may be the reason you no longer get comfort out of prayer.

Also, maybe you are overstrained with labors of life. You are too hurried to stop with God a little. The things you have in hand seems to be so important that you must give them attention. No wonder you fail to get comfort out of prayer. You cannot give yourself to Christ until you possess yourself.

I beg you to take time for prayer. It will surely help you.

more is expected of us. Do we take for granted the blessings that are ours? Or do we take time to sit down alone with God for a period of time?

It would be well for us to dwell at length on the fact that the changing seasons are a delight to us; but that because God never changes we are able to have the peace of mind to enjoy these seasons.

This week in West Virginia Governor Marvin Griffin is meeting with the governors of fifteen other Southern States. The problem of school integration is not officially on the agenda but you can bet your bottom dollar that this will be one of the primary problems under discussion.

One of the real problems facing these chief executives is the use of the National Guard to force integration of the races in the public schools. If the governors fail to use the Guard to maintain order then the Federal Government will send troops to force the people of the South to violate the very principles of the Southern way of life.

IT IS HARD for me to believe that the men I know who wear the uniform of the Georgia National Guard would march down South Main Street in Statesboro shoulder to shoulder with fixed bayonets and deny the citizens of this community the right to freedom of speech or the right of freedom of assembly. I can hardly understand how these men could find the stomach to mount huge tanks and line them around the Bulloch County Courthouse Square and enforce martial law at the discretion of a Federal district judge. It is hard to believe that these men would close our stores, our churches, and our public places of assembly and march to jail any of our citizens who protested such a move. God forbid that such an action could ever be taken in our town and God forbid that such an action could ever be taken anywhere in our nation.

ON THIS VERY night such action has been taken in other states. On this very night men and women in whole counties have been denied their right to peaceful assembly. On this very night men and women have seen destroyed by tanks and guns the principles by which they have seen their families reared for generations. Gone is their right to freedom of choice, gone is their right to freedom of speech, gone is their right to freedom of assembly and everywhere bigots of race hatred shout from the pages of the press all over the nation that these men and women dare protest this destruction of their freedoms.

IN THE BORDER states of Tennessee and Kentucky where these riots have broken out only a few members of the Negro race are affected. Little trouble was expected in these areas. In

Hazel Creasy leaves England with many wonderful memories

By HAZEL CREASY

EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the fourteenth of a series of articles written by Miss Hazel Creasy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Creasy Sr. of Nevils, which will cover her trip as an International Farm Youth Exchange delegate to England and Wales. She was one of the county's leading 4-H Club members, having held six offices in her local club and served as president and secretary of the county 4-H Club council. She was twice state champion in frozen foods and was an alternate national winner in the project one year. She received the highest honor that can come to a 4-H girl in Georgia, that of Master 4-H member.

IN FOUR DAYS I will leave England. As an IFYE delegate, I leave with some wonderful memories of the English people and their way of life.

Today my English mother prepared a very special dinner for me. Very traditional-old English style complete with roast beef and Yorkshire pudding. This bit of kindness is so typical of all the families I have lived with during my stay since April.

England usually judges Americans by the movies they see and by American tourists. Consequently there are many misconceptions about the American way of life. Some of these are that Americans have plenty of money and do very little work, and that all farms are like ranches and that everything is mechanized to the last degree. When I mentioned that the size of the average farm in Georgia is approximately 103 acres, in one room! Perhaps, spiritually these people possess a depth that we with so much never attain. Surely we who enjoy such a climate as ours (with the delightful and varying seasons) have a greater obligation to our fellowman and to God. Surely fact, in Tennessee no trouble was expected at all. Clinton is traditionally a Republican stronghold and during the War Between the States this portion of Tennessee fought on the side of the Northern states.

It is easy to see what is going to happen in the other states in the South as this martial law is clamped down upon us. The people of Alabama, of Mississippi, of Georgia and of South Carolina will not submit.

I do not believe that the members of the Georgia National Guard are going to fix their bayonets in my town. I do not believe that the Georgia National Guard is going to drive down South Main Street in Sherman tanks and help destroy the way of life by which they have lived.

I DO NOT BELIEVE that segregation is unchristian. I do not believe that my mother and my father and their parents before them were idiots and race haters as they are depicted by the Yankee press. I believe that the men and women of the South developed a way of life by which the white and Negro could live together in the South and live in harmony and peace each with the other. Most of the Negro people I know believe as I do that the Negro race can better itself only as it remains a free and independent force to work for its own welfare as a race.

What have these members of the Supreme Court accomplished by this ruling that segregation must end? I am afraid to say that this Court by this ruling has ended the progress being made by our Negro race in many sections of the nation and indeed in many areas this advancement has been retarded or set back for more than a decade.

IN MANY AREAS white and Negro distrust and suspect each other. Men, white and black who have lived together and worked together for generations now find themselves in a period of suspicion and uncertainty. All this is true simply because men and women of little understanding have usurped the power of our sovereign states.

If the Supreme Court has the power to integrate our schools, it has the power to integrate our church, if it has the power to integrate our church it has the power to integrate our social activities and on and on does this power go and grow as a huge cancer which will eventually destroy us.

I would never stand idly by and watch a child persecuted regardless as to the color of his skin. I do not know a single Negro person whom I would not make every effort to protect from harm. I do not know a single person in my community

Home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Terrell hit by small wallop-packing twister

By MRS. W. H. MORRIS

Tuesday, September 4, a twister struck and tore down the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Terrell at Hubert, near Stilson. It was very small but packed a lot of force.

It hit Mr. Terrell's peanut field before it reached the house and seemed to be about two yards wide there. It partly pulled the peanut hills out of the ground; anyway the peanuts were showing that were in the path of the wind.

Mrs. Terrell was at home alone about 2 p. m. Mr. Terrell and son, Neil, and Harmon Cribbs had gone to Statesboro on business. The children were at school. Mrs. Terrell was alone when she noticed the cloud and thought it would rain and stepped out on the long back porch to take in the fresh air that were out on the porch. She had no warning of the twister which struck the house while she was taking in the fresh air. When the twister hit the porch and ceiling collapsed where she was standing. Something must have knocked her down near where the string-type washing machine was standing. She escaped without being hurt but for a sore spot about her shoulder. After crawling out from under the wrecked house, top Mrs. Terrell stopped a passing motorist and sent word to Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morris, who called different neighbors, and very soon there were enough folks there to move the furniture from the wrecked house to another house that a neighbor let them use. The heavy rain that followed the twister wet everything and almost ruined every thing. As far as we know this is the only damage the whirlwind caused.

Mr. and Mrs. Laven Sanders of Savannah visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sanders, and Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Shurling. They were proud of the fact that they had purchased a lot on which they plan to build a house in Pembroke. We wish them much luck and happiness in their venture.

Using More Electricity

Twenty years ago the average Georgia rural family had few uses for electricity beyond electric lights and a refrigerator to keep things cool. Today scores of appliances are kept handy for everyday use by the people.

This rapid growth in the use of electricity is one of the most amazing things about Georgia in the development of our state. Georgia is growing and electricity has played a vital role in this growth.

Each year Georgia's 41 rural electric cooperatives are extending the services they offer to serve more families and to serve them better. Today, the electric service in the rural areas is just as good as the service given any big city user of electricity—and besides, the cost is lower, too!

When Georgia farmers banded together to form cooperatives in order to bring their communities the wonders of electricity, it was true democracy in action. The member-consumers own the rural electric cooperatives. They have made them grow on the Georgia scene.

For over twenty years now, Georgia's 41 rural electric cooperatives have been striving to bring you an abundant supply of electricity at the lowest possible cost.

who would not agree with me in these thoughts. At the same time I believe with deep conviction that our way of life here in the South is the better way.

I believe when the time comes for change it will be peaceful.

Christian change from within. All the power, all the force, all the money the rest of the country can muster cannot better the position of the Negro race in the South. This is a simple fact, far behind all this effort there is no sincere movement designed to help these members of our colored communities.

The TWO national political parties are fighting a great fight. Out of the struggle will come the election of our next president. Let both of these candidates beware that out of this disregard for the sovereignty of our states they may well be elected to lead a country which shall no longer exist for this thing which the Supreme Court has set about to do can well mean the destruction of our civilization.

To secure the services of this outstanding authority on charm is quite a distinction for Statesboro. Miss Bell has traveled extensively throughout the United States while completing speaking engagements, appearing on television, and working with Hollywood studios where she gathered the beauty secrets of the film stars. She has recently returned from a European trip which took her to Italy and Paris, France, where she was in attendance at the most famous fashion opening of the world.

Miss Bell writes a syndicated column on beauty for national and local papers, and is rated among the top ten in her field in the country. She is the author of two books on beauty—"Alice Bell's Beauty Book" and "Beauty Can Be Fun."

Miss Bell will take her class at the charm school behind the scenes in private dressing rooms of station, screen, radio, and television stars to show the use of exercises in relieving tension and in improving the figure.

A most interesting demonstration will be given by the charm artist showing the walk that is taught all models including correct posture, gesture of the hands, and relaxation exercises which professional models must utilize. The entire class will participate in these exercises from head to toe, which are most effective.

Demonstrations on proper eye make-up and hair-do's, designed for various-shaped faces, will be given by Miss Bell on various volunteers in the group.

The course will include figure inventory, color and fabrics, and fashion applied to you.

Miss Bell says: "Charm is not inherited, but developed and acquired, and can be had by every woman. Fashion is like a foreign language in that it must be studied. Every woman can be attractive and Hollywood has certainly proved that. Charm opens all doors—the question is, does it open the front door or the back door?"

The cost of the course is $5, and tickets may be secured from any B. & P. V. Club member or at Henry's Department Store.

Zetterow PTA has first meet

The Sallie Zetterow P.T.A. held its first meeting Monday night, September 10, in the school cafeteria. Each enrollment was given by Elder T. Roe Scott and president's remarks were given by Dr. John Mooney Jr. He introduced Mrs. R. L. Cone Jr., program chairman.

Mrs. Cone spoke as follows: "The National Congress of Parents and Teachers has as its theme—'The Family and the Community—each serves both.'—The P.T.A. serves both."

"Each of us lives in a family; each family lives in a community. The more we strengthen the one the more we safeguard the other. Never have we been more keenly aware than we are today of that interlocking relationship. Nor have we ever realized more fully than we do today that to serve children and youth the P.T.A. must effectively serve both the home and the community."

"And so it is from this theme that we fashioned our theme—'Foundations for Many Generations'—The most important business in the whole world is the building of future citizens strong in body, healthy in mind and free in spirit."

"We do know that teachers do a great part toward the building of the future. We do know the dynamic influence that teachers are in our society, the work they do in helping us mold personalities and careers and the work they do as components of our own organization. And so tonight it is to them we pay tribute."

Mrs. George Byrd read a poem, "Where School Bells Ring," and each member of the faculty was presented a corsage or boutonniere. Following this, a reception was held in their honor.

Mrs. Cone announced the theme for the year, 1956-1957, "Foundations for Many Generations." Mrs. Cone presided over the meeting. Mrs. Hunter Robertson, membership committee chairman, announced that 263 paid members had been enrolled.

Soil Conservation Service

It's mighty good to be back on the job of conserving our vital soil and water after a couple of weeks on vacation. I think the main value of going on vacation is that it gives us a renewed perspective and vigor for doing our job better.

The Ogeechee River Soil Conservation District and it many its many hundreds of cooperators in Bulloch County is a pleasure and inspiration to work with.

The conservation reserve part of the Soil Bank is very much in the minds of many of our cooperators. They are wanting to make plans to establish grass and trees on land that should be put in permanent vegetation. In other words to use each acre on their farm for what it is best suited and treat according to its needs for maximum returns and conservation. It looks from here as if some parts can qualify this year if application is made before October 1. If co-operators have some idle land it might pay to investigate it by October 10. They will be checked, policies issued and coverage will become effective November 1.

This service program operates on a quarterly and semi-annual basis with the Farm Bureau, Mr. C. Miller pointed out. However, those not enrolled by October 10 will have to wait a year to get in the group plan that still take coverage under the program on an in-

200 more homes may now get natural gas

Beginning tomorrow morning the Natural Gas Department of the City of Statesboro will begin taking applications for piping natural gas into an additional 200 on the first-come, first-served basis at no charge to the property owner or user except the $10 deposit required at the time of filing application.

The decision to accept these applications followed the result of an audit of the Natural Gas Department which revealed that $12,000 remains in the gas system construction fund originally earmarked for construction of the distribution system.

Since the construction of the distribution system has been completed Mayor W. A. Bowen and members of the City Council have decided to use the $12,000 to add more customers to the system.

These will be handled exactly like the first ones who made applications in the original offering, and will mean that 200 more homes in Statesboro will be added to the system to make approximately 1,550 homes to be served.

The free installation will be done only for first users of natural gas. Those who are present using natural gas will not be eligible for additional piping unless a meter is set and a new account added to the system.

The city officials stated that "if you have been able to convert to natural gas but felt you could not afford the cost of conversion, this is your opportunity. Apply tomorrow at the Statesboro Recreation Center city office on Selbald Street. Remember, this will take care of only 200 homes and it must be on a first-come, first-served basis. The city office is open from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Monday through Saturday and will be glad to accept your application for free piping so that you, too, might become one of the homes served by the City Natural Gas Department."

The first meeting of the Statesboro Little Theater of the 1956-57 season will be held Monday evening, September 24, at 8 o'clock at the Bulloch County Library. All members are urged to attend as plans for the new season will be completed.

The executive committee of the Little Theater extends a cordial invitation to anyone interested in becoming a member of the organization to attend. Membership is open to any white citizen 16 years of age and above. Dues are $5 per year and include a season pass to all productions. Further details will be explained at the meeting or can be had by contacting any officer or member of the club.

Tentative plans for the new seasons include three major productions. The fall play is scheduled to be "The Women" and is to be directed by Mrs. Vera Witte and Mrs. Julie Allen. One of the most successful and funniest plays ever to be presented on the Broadway stage, "The Women" was written by the present ambassador to Italy, Mrs. Clara Booth Luce. Other productions will be announced at a future date.

Officers of the Statesboro Little Theater for the 1956-57 year are as follows: President, Parrish Blitch; internal vice president, Bobby Smith; external vice president, Freda Gernant; recording secretary, Betty Lane; corresponding secretary, Jane Martin; treasurer, Mrs. Julie Allen; business manager, Mrs. Helen Rosengart.

The drive will officially begin Monday evening, October 1, at the kickoff dinner to be held at the college at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Frieda Gernant is chairman of the membership campaign and will be assisted by Mrs. Herbert Kigery and Mrs. James P. Collins.

Mrs. Parker states that the Longenes Symphonette Orchestra has already been booked for one of the concerts and that at least two others have been selected at the completion of the membership drive.

The Statesboro Lions Club has purchased two wheelchairs for the use of the citizens of Bulloch County. President Ray McMichael announced this week that the two chairs will be placed at the local funeral homes, one at the Smith-Tillman Mortuary and the other at the Barnes Funeral Home.

In presenting these chairs, President McMichael stated that the money for the chairs came from the support of the people of Statesboro in the annual broom sale and the community birthday calendar. It is the aim and wish of the Statesboro Lions Club to fulfill needs in Bulloch County as they arise.

The Statesboro Lions Club wants always to be civic minded and community conscious. President McMichael added.

Anyone who has a need for a wheel chair is welcome to go by Smith-Tillman Mortuary or Barnes Funeral Home and pick one up. The Statesboro Lions Club is grateful to these two fine organizations for being willing to be the lending agency for these chairs.

The county's school superintendent pointed out that since 1951, the board, at no expense to the county, has spent about one million dollars to update the white schools in the county and about the same amount to modernize the Negro school program. The board estimates that the program for the white schools, the county, as approved in 1951, needs about $750,000 more with which to complete it.

In announcing the bond election it was pointed out that the board of education is being guided by a recent exhaustive study of the Bulloch County schools made by experienced educators who specialize in planning for the future.

A recent series of stories in the two local newspapers gave the details of the results of the recommendations made by these educational leaders.

SHS Blue Devils whip Coffee County High Comets 19 to 6

The Blue Devils caught fire in the second half when a long touchdown drive ended with fullback George Hagen pushing over from the 5-yard line, and then going through the line for the extra point.

Before the heat of the red hot Blue Devils the Comets wilted and Statesboro scored two more times in the fourth quarter. Halfback Coley Cassidy scored from the two-yard line.
