Bulloch's Fancy Cattle to Go On Display April 30

Bulloch county finest cattle will be on display for the final week at the fat stock show here Wednesday. These some 200 well-fed and perfectly groomed steers have been in the feed lots from 80 days to 150 days and are carrying the flesh that makes them sell for fancy prices.

The finest ring of steers will be brought before the judges at 9:00 A. M. at the Statesboro Livestock Commission Company barn April 30, with the top ring of steers being brought out around 11:00 A. M. Most of the steers will be delivered to the barn on Tuesday, P. F. Martin, general chairman of the show, stated they will be groomed and bedded down for show time the next day. The sale will follow the showing at 1:00 P. M.

A recent development in the awards for the show was the addition of $200 per prize for the 50 individual winners by Allen R. Lanier, president of the Junior Woman's Club.

Lending an air of warmth and beauty to the festive gathering was the big log fire in the open fireplace. The merriment, the leaves and white tapers, established the club motif of green and white, with the accent on white. The table covered with a linen cloth had for its centerpiece a silver bowl filled with white gladioli, white snapdragons and white carnations, flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Silver service at each end of the table, gleaming in the soft candlelight, added to the elegance of the appointments. Floor baskets of white spires and lilacs marked the receiving line and the registration and gift table, where handsome silver gifts from civic clubs of the city were on display.

Mrs. J. O. Johnston and Mrs. Everett Williams were at the door. Mrs. Jim Davidson introduced the guests to the receiving line. In the line were the following past presidents who attended the reception: Mrs. E. L. Barnes, Mrs. W. G. Raines, Mrs. W. G. Neill, Mrs. B. H. Ramsey, Mrs. Alfred Dorman, Mrs. E. A. Smith, Mrs. D. Percy Averitt, Mrs. Virgil Agan, president-elect and Mrs. Bill Keith, Junior Club president.

At the end of the receiving line were: Mrs. Aubert Brannen, Mrs. Hubert Brannen, Mrs. Lorin Darden and Mrs. Ed Prentiss.

Presiding at the silver service were: Mrs. Fred T. Lanier, Sr., Mrs. R. L. Winburn and Mrs. Dew Groover.

Assisting in serving were the following Junior Club members: Mrs. Jake Smith, Mrs. Joe Robert Tillman, Mrs. G. C. Coleman, Jr., Mrs. Rex Hodges, Mrs. Paul Saue, Mrs. Frank Hook, Mrs. George Hagins and Mrs. Raiford Williams.

A delightful musical program rendered throughout the evening by Mrs. Gilbert Cone, Mrs. J. H. Brett, Mrs. Shirley Dodd and Mrs. Dorothy Phillips.

WESTERN AUTO OFFICIALS PREDICT PROSPERITY FOR THIS SECTION

According to C. J. McManus, owner and operator of the Western Auto Store here in Statesboro, his company officials are predicting that this section and other parts of the South are headed for a long term of prosperity.

Mr. McManus has just returned from a dealer meeting in Jacksonville, Fla., and the officials of this section are predicting a large number of sports-loving Auto warehouse there. He states that his company now has more "scarce" items and merchandise on hand than they have had in the past five years. Such items as fishing tackle, white-sidewall tires are now appearing on the market for the first time in years.

When watering the home garden, a deep and thorough soaking, as by a heavy rain, is better than frequent light sprinklings.

Approximately 30 per cent of all fires that destroy homes are caused by careless use of matches and by smoking.

A garden fence will do double duty if pole beans are planted against it. Wood control is also aided in this manner.

The Bulloch Herald, Thursday, April 24, 1947.

ALL'S FAIR

I count my friends as a Catholic counts his beads. They respond to my whims, and supply my needs. For tenderness, when I am glad; For cheerfulness when I am sad; I count them over and over And treasure them in my heart.

And there's not a single one From whom I want to part. THIS IS THE STUFF, Grandma. We may not match your courage, but we do admire it. Mrs. Josh Lanier, of Metter—let's call her Laura—for several weeks was in the hospital here with her daughters, Ella and Alice Watson, and Pearl Brannen lovingly taking turns at her bedside, fearing each day life's frail cord would be broken. (Laura is 80 years young). But Laura had other ideas. She emerged from the hospital and one day bathed and dressed she sat alone in her room, when one of the "girls" came in, she looked up with a twinkle in her eye. "You know, I just had to pull off my shoe and kiss it," and as she looked at her shoe which was only slightly worn, she said, "I want you to write to Judge to send me a new pair of shoes."

One of the girls interrupted: "Why, Mother, those shoes are all right."

"Not nice enough for church," was the quiet reply.

THEN THERE'S ANOTHER young chap who lives a few miles from town...

Dorothy Wilson, who teaches in Milen, was talking about Grandpa Dan Lee to some of her teacher friends, and she mentioned the fact that he was 86 years old. One of the school marmas asked innocently, "Is he up?"

"Is he up?" exclaimed Dorothy. "I reckon if you'd go over to Statesboro 'most any day you'd see him driving his car around town." I understand Mr. Lee got quite a kick out of the reported conversation.

MRS. HILLIARD'S Grammar School Musical Recital is always a source of material for this column. The very young pupils whose budding talents are being sponsor for the ATO Fraternity for the spring quarter is Statesboro's own Sara Alice Darby. Their gift to Sara was a sterling silver compact. Bob is a member of ATO and the popular young couple were prominently mentioned in the account of the brilliant affair in the Sunday society sections. Our folks are definitely "on the beam."

THE LOVELY RECEPTION at the Woman's Club Friday evening sent us down Memory Lane. We know something of the sincere devotion, the untiring efforts, the glowing enthusiasm, the creative talent that has found expression in this noble organization throughout its twenty-five years. We recognize, too, a bit wistfully, that there are those whose physical powers are no longer equal to the demands of our growing town, and so it is with much satisfaction that we salute the Junior Woman's Club. Eighty young women, earnest and capable, have already become charter members. Lenora Keith has the distinction of being the first president. Lenora wants many others to share with her the distinction of being a charter member of this organization.

If you are between the ages of 18 and 35, contact Edith Smith and establish yourself as a charter member of the Statesboro Junior Woman's Club. You'll be glad you did...

DOES TIME HANG heavy on your hands? Are you lonely? Well, you needn't be. I am not suggesting that you join a Lonely Hearts club, but it might be wise for you to take a pointer or two from Will. The Dorman's nephew, who visited here recently, from Montgomery, Alabama. He is a personable young architect, and I'm wondering if Alfred Merle and Paul Sauve haven't got a building bag in their bonnets (now that expression is all balled up, 'cause Paul wouldn't be seen in a bonnet). Anyway, you know what I mean. Jimmie Miller Davis, the visiting architect, has also many other interests or hobbies. They include painting, collecting contemporary paintings, stamps and semi-precious stones, the culture of orchids and African violets. He is also experimenting in dwarfing trees, his present subject being a pine, and he also designs costume jewelry.

DID YOU KNOW that when Jack Averitt sings on the "Musical Memories" program that he wears a tux and that his accompany is the "right feeling" they say it helps them get their musical numbers. Gosh, I'd better drag out my old blue lace—I've been kinder careless about what I've worn when listening—Could be that theory works both ways...

Some Thursday night when I don't feel like cooking... Well, you know what marvelous food Jessie can get together. So, as I say, don't be surprised...

As ever,
JANE.

MRS. F. W. ALSTAEETER, OF SAVANNAH, TO PRESIDE AT DISTRICT LUNCHEON

Mrs. W. W. Edge, general chairman of the local League of Women Voters, has announced the members of the Steering Committee as follows:

Mrs. Willie Hodges, Mrs. D. L. Deal, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mrs. Howell Sewell, Mrs. Alfred Dorman and Miss Eunice Lester.

James P. Collins, operator of the local plant, says that 1,090 families now using the 780 lockers and 400 curing bins are putting the best quality of meats and vegetables in their lockers. When the plant opened in 1944, most users stored the general run of meats. Fifteen per cent of the customers of the plant are share croppers, about 50 per cent are farmers and the others are from Statesboro. The improvement in quality is just as pronounced in the rural group as in the urban group.

During the war when rationing was enforced, those families that had lockers learned the real value of always having good meat and vegetables on hand. The lessons learned in those days are paying off now from time to time and now is the largest in the state. The most recent addition was a modern smoke house.
