A HOLE IN THE GROUND

School Days

SCHOOL OPENED ON Monday. And hundreds of youngsters in Statesboro, Brooklet, Port, Register, Nevils, will be riding bicycles to school. Some will be driving automobiles. Many will be walking to school.

Many will be going to school for the first time. Last year in Georgia 175 children of school age were killed.

Last year in Georgia 1,013 children of school age were injured.

Last year in Georgia nine children of school age were killed while riding bicycles.

Last year in Georgia 33 children of school age were injured while riding bicycles.

Last year in Georgia 60 children of school age were killed while walking.

Last year in Georgia 141 children of school age were injured while walking.

Last year in Georgia 984 children between 12 and 19 years of age were involved in 984 accidents, in which 79 lost their lives.

To the parents of school children of Bulloch County, we say: "Do these facts mean anything to you?"

Does it occur to you that any one of the above figures could include your child?

Begin now giving your child home lessons in safety. Being safe is not hard. It does not require unusual intelligence. It only requires common sense—and being careful.

There are eight rules for safe use of the streets. If these are impressed upon a child's memory as he begins school they will become such a secondary nature that he will automatically do the right and safe thing throughout life.

Here are the rules:

1. CROSS STREETS ONLY AT CORNERS.
Reason: The motorist does not expect pedestrians to cross in mid-block and often cannot see them as they start across the street.

2. LOOK, BE SURE THE WAY IS CLEAR BEFORE YOU CROSS.
Reason: Even at intersections, the motorist does not expect a pedestrian to dart out suddenly from the curb. If there is a signal, the driver expects you, too, to obey it. Also, the driver has many things to watch at intersections.

3. WALK—DON'T RUN—STRAIGHT ACROSS THE STREET.
Reason: If you walk you are not apt to stumble. Any approaching driver can judge better what he should do. He doesn't expect anyone to dart out. Crossing diagonally takes longer and is much more hazardous.

4. KEEP OUT FROM BETWEEN PARKED CARS. NEVER RUN BETWEEN THEM.
Reason: It takes quite a distance to stop a vehicle, even if it is not going very fast. If a person steps out from between parked cars, the driver often cannot see him until he is right upon him.

5. OBEY POLICE OFFICERS, SCHOOL PATROLMEN AND SIGNALS.
Reason: They are for your protection, and drivers expect you to obey them.

6. PLAY AWAY FROM TRAFFIC.
Reason: Playing in the streets, including "hitching on" vehicles, is one of the largest causes of accidents to children.

BE DOUBLY ALERT ON SLIPPERY STREETS.
Reason: When streets are wet you may slip or your umbrella may hide vehicles from your view. Vehicles may skid and not stop quickly. Rain makes it harder for the driver to see.

WALK ON THE LEFT SIDE OF HIGHWAYS, FACING THE TRAFFIC (Where there is no sidewalk).
Reason: Then you face approaching vehicles and can know when it is necessary to step aside as vehicles pass on a narrow road.

Maybe our readers become tired of our continually harping on safety—safety for our children. We are interested in seeing our children living. We are interested in their going to school without danger of being injured.

Tell your children about safety. Read these simple rules to them. Explain why they are good rules, and why they should be observed.

Make sure that your son and daughter get to school and back home—safe and happy—every school day.

THE PROPER EXAMINATION AND FITTING FOR GLASSES.

Last year the horse show was considered a success. This year's show promises to be even a greater success. Entries are coming in from all over the nation. The show has been made a two-day affair, instead of the one-evening affair of last year.

It's a big undertaking for a civic club, but its purpose makes it worth the time and effort.

It becomes a responsibility of the citizens of Bulloch County to support the Lions Club and its horse show. First, because it's for a wonderful cause. Second, because you'll see some of the country's finest horseflesh. Third, because you'll see your neighbor there.

WE ADD OUR VOICE TO THAT OF DR. LUNDQUIST. We, too, think the Lions Club is doing a great job in providing underprivileged children with glasses.

The Better Vision for Bulloch County Children program of the Lions Club is one worthy of the support of everyone in the county.

The annual horse show sponsored by the Lions Club is one means the civic club uses in raising funds with which to provide these children with

LETTER FROM COUNTY HEALTH COMMISSIONER

Editor Bulloch Herald:
The Bulloch County Health Department is making some pertinent statements to the paper this week, statements and facts in which we are sure our readers will be interested.

The Lions Club was responsible for providing glasses to 89 school children of Bulloch County this spring and summer. These glasses were purchased for children who were found by the teachers and the health department to have deficient vision. In most cases, the children or parents would have been unable to purchase the glasses needed.

In addition, another 59 children were examined or treated for various other eye difficulties, such as infections.

We wish to acknowledge, and all should show their appreciation for, the fine work being accomplished by the Lions Club. This civic organization is attempting and doing a job which will benefit many school children needing help and who will be our farmers and business people of tomorrow.

We can all show our appreciation for the Lions by making their forthcoming Horse Show a financial success. Go to the show yourself, and influence your friends to go. The income derived will be used to benefit more of our school children this year. So many children's eyes are in need of correction. Won't you help?

W. D. LUNDQUIST, M.D.,
Commissioner of Health,
Bulloch County Health Dept.

CAN YOU WRITE A CHECK RIGHT?

RIGHT—Wallace Cobb, of the Bulloch County Bank, doubts it. He says that it is amazing how many people use a pencil to write a check. He says every time you do it you invite the possibility of it being "raised" on you. Use ink—every time he advises. Following are the five important things to remember in making out a check:

1. The date should be written first and it should be the date on which the check is drawn. If you must make out a check on Sunday, or holiday, date it the previous business day. Never write a future date.

2. The payee's name should be written after the words "Pay to the Order Of." (The payee is the person or organization to whom the money is to be paid.) Spell the name correctly.

3. The amount in words should be stated as far to the left as possible, so that no one may insert a word before it and thereby raise the amount. Fill in any unused space with a line.

4. The amount in figures should be written close to the $ sign, and must agree with the amount in words. If there is a difference between them, the amount in words fixes the amount of the check.

5. Your signature should be written to resemble as closely as possible the signature on file at your bank, and written only AFTER all of the other items have been carefully written.

Never cross out or change any written part of a check. If you make an error write "Cancelled" across the face of the check and file it with your cancelled checks.

AT THE ROTARY CLUB Monday Sheriff Stothard Deal talked on "bad checks" in relating his experiences at the FBI National Academy in Washington. He warned businessmen in Statesboro to be MORE CAREFUL in examining endorsements of checks they are asked to cash or accept in payment of goods purchased. He told how two Rotarians at the meeting had been stuck on bad checks.

Of course, the most important

It will pay in safety and patience to have enough electrical outlets in convenient places. The best time to install these outlets is when the house is being wired.

Black and white streamers hung from the lights and a table decorated as an island. The interrupted poker game was lighted by a dice lamp. On the wall above the card table were four large face cards.

A large bottle with liquid pouring into a mug and the word "RAE" written on it announced where refreshments were served. Refreshments were cookies shaped like hearts, diamonds, clubs and spades, and punch in beer barrels. Decks of cards were sprinkled on a black backdrop in front of the fireplace.

During the program pledges were presented by President Nell Bowen. They sang the popular ballad, "You Are My Sunshine." Willie Jean, the doorkeeper, did a special dance, accompanied by Emma Kelly.

FRANKLIN - Jexall

All's Fair

PEOPLE

THESE HIGH SCHOOL initiations are rough! I'd never pass the seventh grade if I had to do the things made up by these young ladies. But our young ladies seem to thrive on it.

The first step in one society's program took place off Fair road last Friday night. The new members were "beaten" made to suck raw eggs, and drink castor oil. Then Saturday morning they had to appear downtown painted like Indians with lipstick all over their faces and grease plastered in their hair.

HARRY SMITH is a bewildered. His daughter, Harry says, "I'm supposed to be a jeweler, but I spend most my time shopping for halters, blankets and lead lines for Lynn."

JANE BEAVER is a horse enthusiast, too. No moving picture pin-ups on her walls—just beautiful pictures of sleek and handsome horses.

Of course, BERT RAMSEY thoroughly enjoyed the reception they had for "Tiny" and his bride, Patsy, Saturday night, but it was made more enjoyable by the orchid she wore on her shoulder. Isabelle McDougald loaned Mrs. Ramsey her "wedding" orchid for that night. The blossom really got around and looked lovely on both ladies.

And Mrs. Jim Donaldson and Mrs. Talmadge Ramsey decorated the club for the occasion, and Mrs. Bert says they can fix anything for her now on. It was so lovely.

ANN WATERS' dance Friday night to the Skater-Hall for an afternoon of skating. They returned to the Garvin home for birthday cake, ice cream, and punch.

MRS. L. R. KENNEDY gave a party for Kennedy Bennett, who celebrated his eleventh birthday Friday.

Those present were Bob Brannen, Aubert Brannen, Cary Donaldson, William Bland, Van Tillman, Tommy Anderson, Jerry Anderson, Nickie Brown and Jimmie Brown.

After and exciting baseball game in the yard, the boys enjoyed a weiner roast, ice cream, cake and cokes.

One of Kennedy's gifts was a cocker puppy which he named "Mike."

Miss Martha Williams assisted Mrs. Kennedy in serving.

MASTERS ROBERT BRENT WATERS celebrated his fourth birthday Sunday. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alys Waters, invited members of the family to dinner for the occasion and had a beautiful birthday cake. Brent started to kindergarten Monday, and loves it.

GWEN WILSON, of Savannah, was visiting the Hudson Wilsons when her eleventh birthday rolled around and Louise saw to it that Gwen had a fancy cake—even if she was away from home.

LORINE MIKELL surprised Hubby Edwin with a decorated cake for his birthday. The two of them had a quiet celebration. BILLIE JEAN GARVIN was eleven years old Friday and her mother had a surprise birthday party for her. Nickie Brown, Sandra Martin, Jean Martin, Jerry Register, Patricia Lanier, Ann Lamb and Evelyn Jones all came to Billie Jean's with gifts.

Mrs. O. M. Garvin, Billie Jean's mother, took the young guests out to the Skater-Hall for an afternoon of skating. They returned to the Garvin home for birthday cake, ice cream, and punch.

WINTER GRAZING

By following approved procedures of culture and management, it is possible to develop high-carrying capacity pastures in the state that provide as much as five to seven months grazing in late fall, winter and early spring.

Before last week's column on inventions went to press, I asked a lot of folks for their personal opinion on the greatest invention. The answers were interesting and the reasoning was, too. So, here they are:

Dr. Ben Deal immediately stated that penicillin was the greatest discovery—greater than airplanes and atomic bombs. Then he thought awhile and said, "I guess the prophylactic treatment for hydrophobia was really the greatest. If you had ever seen anyone suffering the convulsions of rabies, you'd agree."

Mrs. Barney Averitt and Lucille Thompson agreed on the electric stove. We take it for granted now and don't think a thing about it when we flick a knob and it miraculously produces heat.

Harry Cone cupped his chin in his hands and said, "In my business, I have to believe that the automobile is the greatest—and, of course, the FORD automobile, because they really started the mass production of cars."

Rev. Earl Serson came back with the "Printing press and the alphabet." Without them there would be no books, not even blueprints for these other inventions, and no way to learn...

John Erickson, Industrial Arts instructor at the college, said, "The nut and bolt" because it insures dependable machinery, and without them, modern gadgets of all kinds would be unsafe. He added that the wheel was also a great invention.

Rev. Harnsberger cast his vote for the radio because it was the only contact with home while serving as missionaries in China. They could go to Shanghai and tune in San Francisco and it was so good to hear a voice from home.

Percy Averitt stood firm in favor of the hot water heater. He insists that plenty of hot water for a bath is a luxury and that when shaving time rolls around, there's no substitute for them when shaving time rolls around.

Powell Whitfield said the discovery of the atomic bomb was the greatest. Not just because of its destructive powers, but because it has good qualities which may soon be used in the treatment of diseases which we now believe incurable.

Preacher Jackson said "Fire." Then he reconsidered and decided that fire would really rate as a discovery and the wheel was the most wonderful.

Mrs. J. V. Hardy, who lives out near Lakewood, said she was always fascinated by airplanes. While her son was so far away, he got home by plane in such a short time that it was unbelievable, and she can still remember the speedy service on airmail letters.

E. B. Rushing believes the atomic bomb the greatest. He feels that the scientists who first split the atom were trespassing—"that's God's business."

Ether Grass said she thinks the telephone is the greatest invention, and I don't believe she was prejudiced just because her job is with the phone company.

I stopped Cameron Bremeth and H. S. Parrish on that hot Saturday afternoon when Acting Governor Thompson spoke here and they agreed that the electric fan and air-conditioning were wonderful—especially on such a blistering day.

Lila Averitt firmly voted that running water—or the plumbing that made running water possible—was the greatest. She said she'd rather feed a wood stove all day long than to have to run and fetch water from the ground when it came time to wash the dishes.

Don Thompson voted for the wonderful hunk of machinery makes it possible for folks to get more things from the ground faster—the essential things—vegetables, fruits, cotton and trees—things that take care of all our needs.

Mrs. G. W. Hodges couldn't decide between her kitchen appliances and her Sesley mattress. She said she could get along without a car, radio or fan, but when it came to the stove, refrigerator and mattress, they were necessities.

Arthur Turner said the fellow who invented the Linotype "went crazy, but that machine saves him from working his fingers off. He said it takes an eccentric person to invent anything like that, anyway."

Ellis goes back to fundamentals and swears by the wheel and the hot water heater.

4-11 Club Congress in Chicago

With the forthcoming National 4-11 Club Congress in Chicago, more than 26,000 rural boys and girls from all parts of the nation will have attended the event since the first meeting in 1922.

Miss Betty and Ellie Ruth Belcher, of Savannah, were week end guests of Mrs. J. M. Belcher.

Miss Mary Agnes Flake, of Savannah, spent the week end here with Mrs. Grady Flake.

WINTER GRAZING

By following approved procedures of culture and management, it is possible to develop high-carrying capacity pastures in the state that provide as much as five to seven months grazing in late fall, winter and early spring.

Before last week's column on inventions went to press, I asked a lot of folks for their personal opinion on the greatest invention. The answers were interesting and the reasoning was, too. So, here they are:

Dr. Ben Deal immediately stated that penicillin was the greatest discovery—greater than airplanes and atomic bombs. Then he thought awhile and said, "I guess the prophylactic treatment for hydrophobia was really the greatest. If you had ever seen anyone suffering the convulsions of rabies, you'd agree."

Mrs. Barney Averitt and Lucille Thompson agreed on the electric stove. We take it for granted now and don't think a thing about it when we flick a knob and it miraculously produces heat.

Harry Cone cupped his chin in his hands and said, "In my business, I have to believe that the automobile is the greatest—and, of course, the FORD automobile, because they really started the mass production of cars."

Rev. Earl Serson came back with the "Printing press and the alphabet." Without them there would be no books, not even blueprints for these other inventions, and no way to learn...

John Erickson, Industrial Arts instructor at the college, said, "The nut and bolt" because it insures dependable machinery, and without them, modern gadgets of all kinds would be unsafe. He added that the wheel was also a great invention.

Rev. Harnsberger cast his vote for the radio because it was the only contact with home while serving as missionaries in China. They could go to Shanghai and tune in San Francisco and it was so good to hear a voice from home.

Percy Averitt stood firm in favor of the hot water heater. He insists that plenty of hot water for a bath is a luxury and that when shaving time rolls around, there's no substitute for them when shaving time rolls around.

Powell Whitfield said the discovery of the atomic bomb was the greatest. Not just because of its destructive powers, but because it has good qualities which may soon be used in the treatment of diseases which we now believe incurable.

Preacher Jackson said "Fire." Then he reconsidered and decided that fire would really rate as a discovery and the wheel was the most wonderful.

Mrs. J. V. Hardy, who lives out near Lakewood, said she was always fascinated by airplanes. While her son was so far away, he got home by plane in such a short time that it was unbelievable, and she can still remember the speedy service on airmail letters.

E. B. Rushing believes the atomic bomb the greatest. He feels that the scientists who first split the atom were trespassing—"that's God's business."

Ether Grass said she thinks the telephone is the greatest invention, and I don't believe she was prejudiced just because her job is with the phone company.

I stopped Cameron Bremeth and H. S. Parrish on that hot Saturday afternoon when Acting Governor Thompson spoke here and they agreed that the electric fan and air-conditioning were wonderful—especially on such a blistering day.

Lila Averitt firmly voted that running water—or the plumbing that made running water possible—was the greatest. She said she'd rather feed a wood stove all day long than to have to run and fetch water from the ground when it came time to wash the dishes.

Don Thompson voted for the wonderful hunk of machinery makes it possible for folks to get more things from the ground faster—the essential things—vegetables, fruits, cotton and trees—things that take care of all our needs.

Mrs. G. W. Hodges couldn't decide between her kitchen appliances and her Sesley mattress. She said she could get along without a car, radio or fan, but when it came to the stove, refrigerator and mattress, they were necessities.

Arthur Turner said the fellow who invented the Linotype "went crazy, but that machine saves him from working his fingers off. He said it takes an eccentric person to invent anything like that, anyway."

Ellis goes back to fundamentals and swears by the wheel and the hot water heater.

Forest Fires Are On Increase in Bulloch County

District Forester W. H. McComb of the Georgia Department of Forestry, headquarters at Statesboro, reports that there have been more summer fires this year than any summer in the past five years. This report includes all the counties in South-east Georgia, or the First Congressional District.

Most forest fires occur during the fall and winter when the fuel on the forest floor is dead and cured out. The increase in occurrence of fire this summer is attributed to the long periods of hot, dry weather we have had. All county rangers have been notified to be on the alert in order to keep these fires at a minimum.

Summer fires are always more damaging than winter fires because the trees are in the process of growing and the new growth is more succulent and tender, whereas, in the winter, the trees are dormant and are less susceptible to damage.

The damage this summer has been greater than usual because there is a fairly good seed year and the seed which are just beginning to fall from the pine cones are being destroyed by the fires. This will prevent the small seedlings from reaching many understocked areas. Also, this year has been most favorable to the development of insects and the summer fires weaken the trees so that they are more susceptible to their attacks.

The public is cautioned to be particularly careful during dry periods in order to prevent as many fires as possible.

Father Ed Smith, pastor of St. Matthews Catholic Church in Statesboro, has just returned from the University of Notre Dame in South Bend, Indiana. While there, Father Smith addressed a Youth-Forum audience three thousand boys and girls from every state in the Union. His subject was "American Youth in Town and Country."

During his week-long visit Father Smith realized a lifelong ambition. For three days he worked out with the famed Notre Dame football squad. As a particular reward for his devotion to the cause of youth, Father Smith and all the bruises from the "big, lightning Irish" the squad presented him with a Notre Dame football, autographed by all the members of the team and all the coaches, including Coach Leahy. Father Ed says that he is still recuperating.

A work order has been issued and the Bowe Construction Company of Augusta, the contractor, will begin working on the four-lane drive section of U. S. Highway 80 through the city of Statesboro in a few days.

Clearing of the right-of-way is already underway. Trees between East Main and Savannah Avenue have been cut and the project, Mr. and Mrs. Talmadge Ramsey on North Main street is being moved.
