

Renovation Near Completion On Administration Building

Major work on the administration building will be completed by the first of next week, President Zach Henderson has reported.

Painting of the classrooms, which have been completed, will begin within the next few days. This will be the climax of a program which was started during the summer for remodeling the classrooms and offices of the administration building. The project will not be completely finished until the beginning of the winter quarter, but the classrooms will be finished and ready for use within the next few days.

New type fluorescent lighting fixtures will be installed in all classrooms at an approximate cost of eight thousand dollars. The entire cost of the renovation will run well into $50,000. This money was set aside by the regents some two years ago, but because of shortage of materials and labor, the work was only recently started.

The gym will not be completed until after the first of the year because of extensive work that is taking place. The locker rooms, laundry rooms and the dressing rooms are to be located downstairs, while the offices and classrooms will be in a new section of the gym which will extend sixteen feet toward West Hall.

The dining room will receive no small share of the repairs taking place.

COTTON MARKET QUOTAS NOT NECESSARY IN 1949

It won't be necessary to have cotton marketing quotas in 1949. To make marketing quotas mandatory, the total supply of cotton on hand would need to be more than seven percent above normal supply. This is not true at the present time, according to T. R. Breddlove of the Production and Marketing Administration, Athens.

Bulloch County Farm Bureaus

PRESTON TALKS TO WEST SIDE FARM GROUP

The Republican party is known as the big business party, while the Democratic party is known as the farmers' friend, Congressman Prince H. Preston told some 200 West Side farmers on Tuesday night at their regular Farm Bureau meeting.

Congressman Preston warned them that the Republicans have control of both houses now and may hold this margin or even increase their strength in November. Therefore, it is more urgent than ever that farmers be well organized and ready to protect their interests, he thought.

Mr. Preston enumerated the many advantages of organized effort and recommended that farmers of the South build an organization this year such as they have never had before.

R. P. Mikell, county farm bureau president, pointed out the present trend of publicity being given the farm price support program by city papers and others, leading the public generally to think that these support programs are the direct cause of the high cost of living. He cited many instances where this publicity was wrong, and urged that farmers build a good farm bureau this year. Mr. Mikell said of the various channels into which the farmer's money goes as he spends it as compared with the salaries of the various farm agents, because of his wide diversity of spending for many items, must be prosperous or the country would have to lower its standard of living. The general public spends its money in only a few places and a reduced income does not affect the general economy of the nation as would the farmer's spending.

Paul Nesmith, president of the West Side chapter, asked Mrs. Hamp Smith Jr., Mrs. L. P. Joyner, Carter Deal, W. Eugene Deal and Sam Brannen to work out a program for taking care of the young people at the meetings so that they also could enjoy attending. This committee has in mind the establishment of a recreation room in the old cannery plant.

COLONIAL STORES, LIONS, McCORRIE FURNITURE CO. FIRST GAME WINNERS

The Lions Club team defeated Smith-Tillman Mortuary 2,263 to 2,185 pins. McCorkle Furniture Company was victor over the Men's and Boys' Store team 2,236 to 2,235; and Skate-R-Bowl defeated the Denmark Candy Co. team 2,273 to 2,208.

George M. Miller
Funeral services for Mr. George Miller, age 64, who died at his home in Port, were held Thursday, Sept. 16, at 3 p. m., from the Payne's Chapel Methodist Church in Jenkins county, with Rev. J. E. C. Tillman and Rev. Carl Sampey officiating. Burial was in the church cemetery, with the Smith-Tillman Mortuary in charge.

PRESTON AND YANDLE FARM BUREAU SPEAKERS

Congressman Prince H. Preston and H. R. Yandle, director of public relations for the Georgia Farm Bureau, will headline the Ogeechee Farm Bureau program Tuesday night, Clate Mikell, president, announces.

Mr. Mikell pointed out that county and community officers of all Bulloch county chapters of the Farm Bureau had been invited to attend this meeting. He is particularly interested in having every farmer in the Ogeechee community present, whether a member of the organization or not.

The story these speakers have to tell on agricultural problems will be of interest to everyone, Mr. Mikell thinks. The meeting will be held in the school lunchroom at 7:30 p. m.

Angus Cattle Sale to Be Held at Bulloch Stockyard Next Month

Memorial Park Gets Equipment For Playground

Max Lockwood, director of recreation for Statesboro, announced this week that playground equipment has been erected in Memorial Park and is now ready for the pleasure of the city's and county's youth.

The funds with which the equipment was purchased was made available by the U.S.O. committee which served here during World War II. It was funds realized from the sale of assets of the local organization when it suspended operation with the close of the war.

Mr. Lockwood invites mothers of all children in the city and county to visit the playground and the community center.

The equipment in the park includes all types, from nursery swings to merry-go-rounds.

The recreation director stated that plans are being made for supervised play for pre-school children on certain days. "You can leave your children there while you shop," he said.

Additional plans call for outdoor furnaces and picnic tables and will be available for birthday celebrations, picnics, and outings.

Mr. Lockwood expressed his appreciation to the public for the cooperation that has been given the recreation program and invites suggestions and criticisms. He may be found in his office daily, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Fire Destroys Bargain Corner

It was the biggest fire in Statesboro in two years.

Last Thursday night, the Bargain Corner Grocery on North Main street, opposite the courthouse, was completely burned out by a fire, according to Fire Chief Logan Hagan, in or near the meat display counter.

There was little flame, but the smoke and heat completely ruined the stock of merchandise.

The second floor, occupied by Charles E. Cone Realty, the Prudential Insurance Company, and law offices of A. S. Dodd Jr., was damaged by heat and smoke.

The Bargain Corner store was operated by Rufus Anderson and T. Jesse Mikell.

The fire came during the city's observance of "Fire Prevention Week."

Blue Devils Whip Sylvania 12 to 7

In a wide-open game in which almost anything could happen, the Statesboro High School Blue Devils defeated the Sylvania High School football team in Sylvania last Friday night by a score of 12 to 7.

Before a record crowd, made up of about an equal number of Statesboro and Sylvania fans, the Sylvania boys drew first blood early in the game when Vernard Thompson crossed Statesboro's goal line.

Following a long run by Emory Nesmith, there followed a series of plays, one of which clicked, with Bobby Olliff carrying the ball.

The half ended with the Blue Devils deep in Sylvania's territory, threatening to score.

Soon after Sylvania kicked off to Blue Devils to begin the second half. The ball was in Statesboro's possession near the center stripe with the fourth down coming up and one yard to go for a first down. The Blue Devils elected to run the ball and Emory Nesmith crashed through the center of the line and came into the clear to run nearly half the length of the field for a touchdown.

It was when Statesboro kicked off to Sylvania that the Sylvania boys took their end, with several long passes clicking, they moved deep into the Blue Devils' territory. However, Statesboro held tight and the game ended with the ball in Statesboro's possession. Final score: 12 to 7.

Statesboro plays Metter here tomorrow (Friday) night at Memorial Park. Game time is 8 o'clock.

Wayne Parfah and James A. Brannen were named managers of the Pilots, Joe Hines and Al DeLoach are managers of the Bull Dogs, Charlie Joe Hollingsworth and Gene Newton are managers of the Cardinals, and Lamar Underwood and Jimmy Jones are managers of the Red Caps.

These young football enthusiasts are receiving training in football fundamentals under the direction of Mr. Lockwood. League games are scheduled for Wednesday and Saturday mornings during the regular football season.

Teachers College President Zach Henderson has turned over that part of the college property back of the South Side Super Market to the use of these youngsters.

County Fair To Begin At Airport Monday, Oct. 25

The Bulloch County Fair will be held October 25-30 at the Statesboro baseball park. C. M. Cowart, general chairman of the fair committee, announces.

At a meeting of school principals recently it was indicated that practically every school in the county would enter an exhibit. The same buildings used in 1947 will be used this year.

School Day will be Thursday, October 28, when every boy and girl will be free to attend for as long as they desire. The teachers will attend a GEA district meeting during the day.

Committees named by Mr. Cowart are: Mrs. Rufus Brannen, Mrs. A. L. Toughest and Mrs. J. B. Fields, exhibits; Rufus C. Brannen, R. P. Mikell, Mrs. R. L. Lanier and Mr. Cowart, finance committee; Mr. Mikell and Murry Mobley, grounds committee; Mrs. Cecil Kennedy, Mrs. Billy Simmons and Mrs. Delmas Rushing, concessions and carnival.

Judges for the fair will again be heads of the various civic clubs in Statesboro.

Premiums for the fair will be $100 for first place exhibits; $75 for second place, and $50 for all other creditable exhibits. The premium list for colored exhibitors will be $75, $50, and $25.

It's Too Bad Girls, The Man Was Just Kidding

It's too bad, girls. The man was just kidding. Last week The Herald carried an advertisement in the classified section, inserted by a man who signed "J. B. R."

He was wanting a wife—"Happiness is all I am seeking in the world," he advertised. He offered himself, his $170 a month salary, his $2,000 life insurance policy—"double indemnity"—his bedroom suite, and "other fixturs" to "the right one."

He figured his financial status at $3,000. "For interview Call 39 and ask for J. B. R.," the ad concluded. The advertisement was picked up by the radio and by state and regional papers and was given a good play.

And appearing in this week's paper, got in a car and hurried away.

It's too bad, girls. $170 a month, a $2,000 insurance policy (double indemnity), a bedroom suite, and other fixturs are right hard to give up these kind of times.

Challenge Seen In Library Gift

At a meeting of the executive board of the Statesboro Woman's Club Tuesday afternoon it was announced that Mrs. Ivan Hosteler, a former member of the Woman's Club and now living in Raleigh, N. C., had made a contribution to the fund for the Bulloch County Library building, now under construction.

Members of the board considered this contribution by a former citizen, now living out of the state, as a challenge to the present citizens of the community.

"And it should be a challenge, not only to the members of the Woman's Club, but to every citizen in the community," they say. Meanwhile, with the building fund still incomplete, construction on the new library building continues. It is located on South Main street next to the Rushing Hotel. When complete it will be one of the section's most beautiful buildings. Walter Aldred is the architect and contractor.

Anyone wishing to add to this building fund may mail a check to Mrs. Alfred Dorman, chairman of the building committee.

MARION ROBBINS WILL Expand Meat Plant West of Statesboro

Marion Robbins, meat processor of Savannah for a long time, has purchased the local plant built by Sam Diamond and Sons out near the Statesboro Livestock Commission Company barn.

Wallace Cobb and the Bulloch County Bank, Chas. E. Cone, F. C. Parker Jr., and others have made an effort for some time to persuade Mr. Robbins to buy the local plant. He had planned to bring a packing plant here in connection with his partner at that time, Roger Wood. Since the partnership has been dissolved Mr. Robbins and a son will operate the plant here.

The plant will be enlarged before opening, Mr. Robbins stated. Some processing machinery will also be installed.

Mr. Robbins has bought livestock on the local market for some 12 years and is known to all local farmers who raise livestock. When asked by Chamber of Commerce officials if there was anything the organization could do to help him get the plant in operation, he stated that all he wanted was the good will of all the people of the county.

A HOLE IN THE GROUND

We Can Be Rid of Hookworm

BULLOCH COUNTY can be rid of hookworm. And the Bulloch County Farm Bureau, together with the State Department of Epidemiology, is showing how it can be done.

Recently, Dr. J. E. McCroan, of Waycross, formerly of Statesboro, and now senior biologist in the Department of Epidemiology, was the guest speaker at the Statesboro Rotary Club.

Without pulling punches he told the Rotarians—leaders in business, professional, and agricultural activities in Statesboro and Bulloch county—that in Bulloch county 36.6 percent of the persons examined were found to have hookworms.

He explained why this is so.

The hookworm parasite breeds and begins its dirty work around, in, and near open-back toilets. It is picked up by humans and finds its way into their bodies, there to multiply and grow, sapping body strength and vitality until the affected persons are incapacitated.

Dr. McCroan explained that there is a treatment for hookworms—"But that is not the solution. The solution lies in sanitation. If we had 85 percent sanitation hookworms would 'hit the skids' and disappear," he said.

Then, taking figures from a survey of home sanitation and hookworm infection made in 49 counties of Georgia, he showed that Bulloch county, "Where Nature Smiles and Progress Has the Right of Way," has 72 homes with no toilets at all.

Two thousand seven hundred eighty-three homes in Bulloch county—an enlightened community—with open-back toilets! 2,885 homes in Bulloch county with no toilets at all and open-back toilets! 532 percent of all the homes in the county—over one-half of the 5,369 homes in this great county!

There is little consolation in the knowledge that our neighbor, Candler county, has 70.7 percent of its homes with no toilets and open-back toilets, with a hookworm rate of 40.7 percent.

There is little consolation in the knowledge that in neighboring Screven county the percentage of homes with no toilet or open-back toilets is 81.0 percent and the hookworm rate is 34.6.

Dr. McCroan stressed the damage that this disease does to the children of a community, and pointed out that unless steps are taken to do away with open-back toilets and provide homes with sanitary ones the community will suffer in direct proportion to the percentage of hookworm cases.

He then presented the brighter side of the picture.

The Bulloch County Farm Bureau has taken the lead in the state of Georgia in ridding our community of this strength-sapping disease.

Cooperating with Dr. McCroan and the Department of Epidemiology, the Farm Bureau leaders and members are assuming the responsibility of taking the idea of proper sanitation to all the homes in rural Bulloch county.

Securing the additional cooperation of the Southern States Iron Roofing Company, a pit-toilet house has been designed which confines the hookworm parasite to a very restricted area. This company is building the toilets of aluminum at a very reasonable price. They are recommended by the Farm Bureau and are now being installed in many sections of the county.

We commend the Department of Epidemiology, the Farm Bureau, and the Southern States Iron Roofing Company for their part in "cleaning up" our county and ridding it of hookworm.

We feel sure that with such leadership as provided by the Bulloch County Farm Bureau, other county farm bureaus will assume the responsibility in their respective counties and, in time, the entire state of Georgia can be rid of hookworm.

Are You Between Ages 18 and 26

WERE YOU BORN between August 30, 1922, and September 19, 1930?

Have you become 18 years old since September 19, 1948?

If you come in these age groups and have not registered under the new Selective Service, this is not for you.

But, if you come in these age groups and have not registered—then it is to your advantage to read on.

It has been reported by the State Headquarters for Selective Service that a large number of persons who were required to register during the period from August 30 to September 18, 1948, have failed, and refused to do so as provided under Section III of the Selective Service Act of 1948 and the Proclamation of the President dated July 20, 1948.

The Act and the Proclamation made it the duty of every male person in the United States between the ages of 18 and 26 to present himself for, and submit to, registration.

It is inexcusable if you are in that age group and did not register; and the Act provides for proper penalty for your delinquency in your duty.

For your information—if you are not aware of the seriousness of your neglect—the Act provides: "That a violation of the Act, including failure to register, shall, upon conviction in any District Court of the United States of competent jurisdiction, be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years or a fine of not more than $10,000, or both such fine and imprisonment."

In addition to this penalty, the Act provides for the classification of the delinquent into Classification I-A or I-A-O, and he is made available for immediate induction into the armed forces.

Delinquent persons were given until October 6 to report to their board for registration. After that date any person who has failed or refused to register will be treated as a delinquent and will be liable for prosecution by the U. S. District Courts.

If you are ill, or otherwise prevented from registering at the proper time, it can be arranged for your registration without penalty.

It would be good idea to check up on your status register, get it done NOW.

Just because we are not in a shooting war does not mean that Uncle Sam is playing games with his new Selective Service.

See Mrs. Ida Matz in the courthouse. She can give you the correct dope—it might save you a lot of trouble.

IT WAS BOUND TO HAPPEN

THOSE "STOP" SIGNS DON'T MEAN A THING

The City of Statesboro has gone to a great deal of expense—

—we referred to it recently as an "investment," but the way automobile drivers disregard them, they can be considered an expense in setting up the road.

"STOP" signs at street intersections over the city. Since we had taken a crack or two about the lack of them, with their erection, we have been particular in observing the auto-driving public's reaction to them. The city might just as well have saved the money and put it on the swimming pool "that isn't there."

For the past two or three weeks our "IT DIDN'T HAPPEN HERE" corner has been filled with some other item. We were reminded of that fact Monday at noon. Well, we are about to catch up on the different things that are happening elsewhere that do not happen here. Statesboro is doing o.k.—much has happened here that does not happen in other communities similar to Statesboro. In spite of the constant question, "Why can't we get some industry here?" we are doing all right.

Here is an angle: Has it ever occurred to those who ask that question that our own college, Georgia Teachers College, has a payroll that is equal, if not more than equal, to that of many "factory" payrolls? All of that money finds its way into the coffers of Statesboro. Then there are 723 students out there—all within one mile of Statesboro—and if each one spent only $1 a week that would be $2,882 a month, and the average spent by the average college boy or girl will run higher than a dollar.

BLUE DEVIL BAND DOES ITSELF PROUD

The Blue Devil Band did itself proud at Sylvania last Friday night. At the half the band took to the field and after marching its length playing they formed in front of the Sylvania cheering section and made the letter "S."

Then they mixed themselves up and formed the outline of a tremendous bell. While playing the tune, "The Bells of St. Mary," the drum major and musicians formed the clapper and moved back and forth, from side to side, in the bell. Then, not forgetting the hometown cheering section, they formed another "S" while playing the Statesboro alma mater.

We were amazed at how well the center section of the band operated. One entire row is made up of "Tom Thumbs," none of them bigger than a minute—but they blow and beat just as hard as their instruments as Bobby Stephens and Allen Slack blow on their big bass horns. Mr. Katz has done a good job in the short time he has been working with the Blue Devil Band.

Go out to see them tomorrow night when the Blue Devils play Metter in the stadium in Memorial Park (that's the new name for the municipal playground on Fair road).

Dottie Hargrove Mostly With Roses

After long years of buying pretty little dem-tasses and tiny decorative miniature cups and saucers to give high school and college graduates, new brides, new brides, and anybody else she liked and wanted to do something nice for, my mother suddenly decided never to spend another dime for the things.

She now puts her money into regular size tea cups that she claims are useful as well as ornamental.

In her enthusiasm, she even started a collection of her own, the nucleus of which was a Louis XVI cup and saucer made in Silesia and graced with wreaths of roses (pink roses alternating with yellow).

The saucer is deeply scalloped, and some beading and gliding give the pieces character. She bought this cup and saucer in the antique department at Taylor's in Raleigh, N. C., while visiting Thelma Thompson Slagden (fiction writer) and these are for Thelma's use when she visits Thomaston.

In Mom's collection are several currently popular bone china creations, one with yellow roses (tea cup pattern) is for Mrs. Henry Capps to use; and an old-time looking cup and saucer with a pink rose dominating a field of mixed garden flowers and trailing vines is reserved for Mrs. Minor Sharrum.

And a pale green number with widely-spaced sprigs of roses and rose leaves is for my Aunt Bess to drink from.

Then there are delicate china pieces made in occupied Japan and hand-decorated in pink roses; there is a Royal Albert, made in England, but edged in Chinese green instead of gold, and decorated with what is probably a Chinese rose. This is for my brother, because he is the only one of us who has ever been in the Orient.

There is no rhyme nor reason to this collection. Mom buys pieces that strike her as being pretty and keeps them decently and in good order on wooden racks.

One beautiful cup and saucer that hasn't yet been assigned to anybody has plump, smoke gray roses inside its flaring cup and all across its king-size saucer, which boasts golden edges and has important looking beadwork around its scalloped rim. It was made in America by Castleton, Georgia is its name, and Mom thinks it's rather glorious.

Mom has her eye on a lot of other tea cups with rose decorations—there's the Rosent's Park Rose, Noregoy, Wilton, Varenne, Billingsley Rose and Chelsea Rose and, of course, my own china pattern, Rosalinde, is fairly strewn with roses.

Once we got started on rose patterns, there's no limit to the variety you can accumulate. I heard the names of virtually dozens of rose cups and saucers the last time I was home.

All's Fair

Winter may be coming but why should I care? I'll take a trip to Europe in my favorite easy chair.

And when, with Doll in Switzerland, we view ice and snow, 'Twill be so nice and comfy to watch the embers glow.

But when Doll gets to Paris, where they wear flowers in their hair,

And fill the nights with music, and perfumes fill the air— I'll reach up for the sugar bowl and count the pennies there.

And plan a trip to Europe and leave you sitting here.

SOMEWHERE I've read, "Decorate your living room to please everyone, but plan your bedroom to suit the users." I thought of that on a recent visit to Dub, Joyce and Bill Lovet for, surely, here was a living room guaranteed to delight the eye of the beholder. The walls are dark green, with a white ceiling which is a dramatic background for the lovely collector's items that are assembled there. I'll confess right now that I was impelled to invade on this family circle one evening because of the marvelous view I got of the living room from the lovely picture window.

The marble topped parlor table (a gift to Joyce on her twenty-first birthday from Mama, Cora Smith) held a small hand-painted china lamp of the kerosene age. Over the mantel, picking up the color of the walls and ceilings, was an exquisite still life calling gaily grouping with a piece of pottery to introduce a casual note.

Once given an effusive welcome by the entire family, I settled down to enjoy them by item the lovely home. Bill immediately loved up his chair, while I carefully placed myself on the lovely Chippendale, rose covered, sofa. My feet rested on sage green carpet, matched by the pull drapes at the windows. Over the sofa were Audubon bird prints (gifts from Betty and Matt Dobson), one meadow larks, the other red-headed woodpeckers. Flanking the fireplace were the leather-top lamp tables, and on them lamps with hand-painted Chinese bases with shades like coolie hats. Victorian chairs in red velvet added elegance and richness of color. In the dining area of the living room was an antique, gate leg cherry table. Marking the division on one side were cabinets for silver and china. Here my view of the gleaming white kitchen and out-of-this-world aroma that rose from the Presto cooker made me know that the crackers I ate at Eve were insufficient nourishment.

The family living room was paneled and left natural, with green accents in the furnishings. Here was an interesting old desk, the property of Dub's grandfather. It was lovely—rubbed down and polished by Dub himself. Oh, it's fun to watch our young homemakers showing talent and a sure eye for both beauty and convenience. I forgot to mention that as fast as Joyce

MRS. GEORGE P. LEE was thrilled Friday night to hear her son's voice over the phone. Jim Bennett Lee, who has been in Germany for the past fifteen months, was calling from New Jersey. In the meantime, Mama is probably reading his room and cooking up all manner of good things to eat. . . .

I READ IN THE PAPERS last week where William Henry Cone, son of Hon. and Mrs. Howell Cone, was admitted to the bar in Savannah. During the same week I saw where Billy Donaldson (Pete and Holly's) had got himself engaged to a Trifton belle. Which reminded me of this incident that occurred back when they were yearling boys living next door to one another: The youngsters had gotten into one of those boasting sprees, which, by the way, isn't limited to children only. Henry, after several feeble efforts to establish his importance, finally hit upon the retort par excellence—"Why, me and George Washington was born on the same day." Bill, for a moment, looked defeated—but for a moment only—for, remembering his own birthday, he came back with this withering reply: "Why, that ain't nothin'. Me and Jesus was born on the same day."

SAW Sara Alice Darby down town early one morning last week pushing her handsome son, Brad. Brad was an example of what the stroller-age boy should wear. His blue suit exactly matched one of the property of Dub's grandfather. It was lovely—rubbed down and polished by Dub himself. A CALL AT HENRY'S store gave me more publicity about Miss Georgia. The Printess Club Bulletin featured Gwen West right on their front page. Gwen is now at the University of Georgia and, no doubt, she will cause a ripple in the stag line as she dances out in one of the lovely evening dresses she received as Georgienne Howard, sister of the former Dean Howard, who was among the beauties at T.C., is replacing Gwen at Henry's and is herself most attractive. She, too, attends T.C. . . .

As ever,

The East Side Woman's Club is working with the Recreation Department in making plans for construction of their Community Center. A site has been selected and the building will be placed on city property just north of the East Side Community, next to the new four-lane highway now under construction. Plans are being completed to move the building in at an early date. This community building will be the center of neighborhood activity and will be under the direction and supervision of the East Side Woman's Club. The club is now busy making plans for the Halloween party, an annual event for East Siders.

FOOTBALL RECEPTION

Metter invades Statesboro this Friday night, and the Blue Devils will be working extra hard to keep their "undefeated" standing. The reception will be held at the Community Center immediately following the game. Miss Volma Kemp is in charge of this program, which is sponsored by the high school.

"Oil Progress Day" Recalls Industry's "Pot Still" Days

One day some ninety-odd years ago a tall, stoop-shouldered canal boat man named Samuel M. Kier was stirring a sticky, evil-smelling brew in an iron kettle which squatted on a stove in the cellar of a shack just outside the city limits of Pittsburgh. The mess on the stove was a sample of Kier's Rock Oil.

Instead of a transport system consisting of a few rickety wagons and canal boats, the oil companies have a remarkable system of 150,000 miles of pipelines, plus large fleets of ocean-going tankers, barges, inland-waterway tankers, barges, rail tank cars and tank trucks.

Instead of peddling their products in five gallon tin cans, oil men now include thousands of wholesale distributors, and operate a quarter million modern, clean and efficient service stations.

Today, oil and natural gas supply almost half of this nation's heat and power requirements. From crude oil comes a grand total of more than 1,200 useful products—products which everyone uses almost every day of his life.

"Oil Progress Day" is being observed this week. Members of the industry will report such things as the above to citizens of the communities in which they operate. Oil men are making that report to call the attention of their friends, customers and neighbors to the fact that they operate in the American tradition of free, open, competitive enterprise. As a result, they are doing an outstanding job in their efforts to contribute to America's progress and well-being. They are, in fact, achieving Sam Kier's cry: "We're making progress."

College, has been named to assist Max Lockwood, city recreational director, and James Hall, athletic coach of Statesboro high school, in working with the Junior Varsity football squad.

Mr. Stone will coach for these "pony" players who will move into varsity slots on the regular Blue Devil squads in the coming years. The young players are members of the first year in high

13 NEW TEACHERS ADDED TO GEORGIA TEACHERS COLLEGE 1948-49 FACULTY

Thirteen new teachers have been added to the T.C. faculty for the scholastic year 1948-49. President Zach S. Henderson has announced.

Dr. Thomas C. Little has joined the faculty as chairman of the division of education. He is a native of Kentucky, and received his Ph.D. degree from Peabody College.

Miss Vera Bell, a native of Alabama, with an M.A. degree from Peabody, and Miss Marie Keaton, a native of Mississippi, with an M.A. degree from Columbia University, are new members of the teaching staff of the business education division.

Other members of the faculty include Donald Hackett, M. Ed. (University of Missouri), native of Michigan, chairman of the division of arts; Tully Pennington, M.S. (Cornell University), from Ogletown, Ga., exact science division; James I. Clements, M.A. (East Kentucky Teachers College), from Ray City, Ga., physical education division; John G. Zaffuta, M.Ed. The outlook for farmers, some of the problems facing farmers, and the importance of credit in modern farming were the principal topics of discussion at the conference.

Mr. Nessimith said, "Wherever possible, farmers should keep in reserve some of the 1948 income, partially to finance 1949 crops, save and preserve good planting seed and thereby keep from borrowing more than necessary consistent with good farm management and practices."

The Statesboro P.C.A. serves farmers in Bulloch and Evans counties and has 835 members. The 15th Annual Stockholders Meeting will be held November 27 in the Bulloch county court house.

Got An Old Toothbrush? You Can Make It Pay

Got an old toothbrush? Better get rid of them.

According to a recent survey in which 8,140 people, a cross section of the average and above average families were polled, it was found that 81 percent of the toothbrushes being used by these people were ineffective and needed replacement.

A large manufacturer of toothbrushes sent new brushes to 8,140 people in exchange for their old brushes. Of the first 7,281 old brushes were returned, 5,889 of them being ineffective, in the opinion of professional judges, and were in need of immediate replacement. The survey found that there are three reasons for judging the brushes ineffective: 1. Frayed, bent or broken bristles; 2. matter bristles, worn out; 3. discolored, unsanitary.

Dr. A. C. Grubel, executive secretary of the Council of Dental Health, American Dental Association, and chairman of the judging committee of the survey, said:

"Up to now, the supposition that all Americans brush their teeth was taken for granted. A

With the publication of the survey, the College Pharmacy in Statesboro, in cooperation with a leading manufacturer of dental goods, decided to do something about the situation. This week Mr. Everett Williams is offering the people of this section a can of tooth powder in exchange for old toothbrushes. Regardless of the condition of the brush he will accept it. He has arranged a display in one of his windows to illustrate the condition of many of the toothbrushes in this section.

So, if you have any old toothbrushes, here is an opportunity to cash in on them.

Yesterday morning the more than 500 grammar grade students of the Statesboro schools saw a movie entitled "Student Flyer," now a standard film on dental hygiene. In the past several years this film has been shown to more than 5,000,000 school children in the United States.
