From where I sit . . . by Joe Marsh
Andy Has A
"Two-Way Ticket"

Red Fowler was pretty mad when he found he couldn't put up a garage on his place over on Elm Street without a building permit. "It's my property," he was telling us, over a friendly glass of beer at Andy's Garden Tavern. "I ought to be able to do whatever I please with it."

"Hold on," says Andy. "That permit protects you as much as your neighbors. Like my license to sell beer. It carries obligations I have to live up to, but it also protects me from other tavern keepers who might give this business a bad name."

Then Andy tells him how through the Brewers' Program of Self-Regulation, the Brewing Industry cooperates in maintaining clean, wholesome surroundings for the sale of beer and ale.

From where I sit, none of us would want the right to do exactly as he pleased without regard for the rights of others, except the fellow standing doing whatever he pleased without regard for us.

New Dodge Here Feb 25

LOCAL DODGE DEALER
ATTENDS PREVIEW SHOWING
OF NEW DODGE CARS
Lannie F. Simmons, Dodge-Plymouth dealer, has returned from Jacksonville where he attended a dealer preview of the completely new styled Dodge cars, the first models of which will be publicly displayed in his dealership on Friday, Feb. 25. Mr. Simmons was accompanied by Horace McDougald, Carl Freeman and C. Coleman. Mr. Simmons said that although detailed information of the appearance and many engineering and mechanical improvements introduced in the new Dodge could not be revealed prior to the public showing, there are certain general facts concerning the comfort-engineering story behind the new Dodge styling that can be disclosed at this time.

"The primary considerations that influenced the design of the new Dodge were Army statistics which showed that the G.I.'s of World War II were taller, bigger, and more active than their predecessors of World War I," Mr. Simmons said. "As a result, it was apparent that more passenger room, not less, was required in the modern automobile to comfortably accommodate our physically larger generation."

Mr. Simmons pointed out that the challenge to Dodge engineers was to design a car with more interior space and still reduce exterior dimensions to eliminate difficulties of handling in traffic, parking, and garaging.

To learn how Dodge succeeded in meeting this challenge and at the same time produced a car with an entirely new and distinctive styling, Mr. Simmons cordially invites everybody to his gala open house on Feb. 25.

Soil Program for
1950 Underway
With 1949 less than two months gone, the 1948 Agricultural Conservation program just being finished, and farmers just beginning their 1949 conservation program, work on the 1950 program is already underway.

According to H. L. Taylor, chairman of the Bulloch County Agricultural Conservation Committee, recommendations will soon be completed for next year's program. The program is developed from suggestions from farmers in each of the county's 3,000 agricultural counties.

It marks the second year in succession that Future Farmers have observed a national F.F.A. week. The same period earlier was set aside for "Keep Georgia Green" week. Bob Black, state F.F.A. president, meeting in Atlanta recently with other state officers, termed it appropriate that the same week should be jointly observed by the two groups since "forestry is an important part of the project work of Future Farmers."

"Last year we F.F.A.'ers had more than 6,500 acres in forestry projects," Black observed, "and we set out over 380,000 pine seedlings and planted more than 4,000 cork oaks. We are trying to help keep Georgia green because from our study, observation and experience we realize that our forests are an important natural resource."

In observance of F.F.A. week, members of the five chapters in Bulloch will appear at Farm Bureau meetings, attend churches, and present chapel program in their schools.

In proclaiming F.F.A. week for Georgia Governor Talmadge pointed out that "... for twenty-one years this national organization of farm boys has made an outstanding contribution to the development of rural leadership, the building of character and the advancement of the nation's agriculture and welfare."

The Governor in his proclamation also called attention to the fact that "Georgia has always had a peculiar interest in this organization and vocational agricultural bill passed by the Congress was introduced by a Georgia-born member of two distinguished families, Honorable Hoke Smith, U. S. Senator, and Honorable Dudley Hughes, U. S. Representative."

Talmadge further urged "... public officials, civic groups, and citizens generally to co-operate with this organization of farm youths in carrying out the purpose of their organization."

F.F.A. work is closely allied with vocational agriculture because only those boys regularly enrolled in high school agriculture classes are eligible to become F.F.A. members.

BEAUTIFUL CEREMONY MARKS RUSHING TRAPNELL WEDDING

Wearing a regal gown of white duchess satin, Miss Virginia Rushing, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Rushing, became the bride of Lamar Trapnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trapnell.

The ceremony was brilliantly solemnized Wednesday evening, Feb. 9, at the First Baptist Church, with Rev. John Burch of Claxton reading the marriage vows and a gathering of society.

The stately church was beautiful with background decorations of snow white pines, white smilax and other white foliage in the choir loft and rostrum. A trellis with trailing white smilax formed an extension of the arch. Groupings of tiered candelabra with burning cathedral candles were used alternately with massive arrangements of gloriosa bronze snapdragons and gladioli.

The bridesmaids wore gowns fashioned alike of gold marquisette over tulle and gold satin. The square marquisette yokes were bordered with gold lace and the bodices with a scroll design of seed pearls. The dress was fastened down the back with small covered buttons. The hoop skirts were caught at intervals revealing lace-trimmed petticoats. Their matching gauntlets were edged with silk lace which fell softly over their hands. In their hair they wore ostrich plumes arranged with net in Victorian fashion and carried nosegays of Joana Hill roses, gold gladioli, and bronze chrysanthemums, outlined with metallic leaves and tied with bronze ribbons. The bridesmaids wore Misses Dorothy Jane Hodges, Virginia Darden, Betty Tillman, and Mrs. Dock Brannen, of Savannah, Mrs. Bobby Adams, sister of the groom, was matron of honor, and Miss Jackie Rushing was her sister's maid of honor. Their dresses differed only from the other attendants in that the yokes were round and the skirts had peplum round in front and pointed in back with bustle effects. Their nosegays and headdresses were the same as those of the maids. The flower girls, Alison Mikell and Penny Sue Trapnell, wore floor length dresses like the other attendants in carried white baskets filled with rose petals.

As the guests assembled a program of wedding music was rendered by Mrs. R. A. Etheredge, of Macon, cousin of the bride, organist, and Gene Jones, of Terry, Miss, an uncle of the bride, pianist. Francis Trapnell, brother of the groom, sang "Because" and with his brother, Ray Trapnell, sang as a duet, "I Love You Truly."

At the first notes of Lohengrin's wedding march the ushers entered and took their places. They were Frank Simmons, Baby by Adams of Athens, Jack Tillman, Eddie Rushing, brother of the bride, and Allen Trapnell, brother of the groom.

Roddy Dodd, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dodd, was the ring bearer.

Music was furnished by Mr. Gilbert Conner, Mrs. W. E. Floyd, Miss Betty McLemore, accompanied by Gene Jones.

Mrs. Howell Sewell, Mrs. John Grap, Miss Jimmie Renfro, and Mrs. Dewey Cannon were hostesses at the gift tables.

Mr. and Mrs. Trapnell left during the evening for a honeymoon tour of the western states spending most of the time in California. The bride travelled in a beige suit featuring a full short coat with buttons down the back. The long pencil skirt was also buttoned.

The bride's table was overlaid with a white satin cloth softly shirred. At one end was placed an eight branched silver candelabra holding burning candles; at the other end an arrangement placed flat on the satin surface featuring a large heart made up of small white chrysanthemums sprinkled with gold snapdragon petals. From this lovely heart, streamers of white satin ribbons interlaced with small white chrysanthemums in shower effect extended to the floor.

The four tiered wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom and embellished with sprays of white roses, was used in the center of the table. The punch bowl with similar decorations held silver compotes with mints and nuts. Chicken salad in timbales and individual decorated cakes were served. These serving were Miss Virginia Akins, Miss Anne Attaway, Mesdames, Inman Foy Jr., Bernard Scott, John Godbee, Jack Tillman, Earl Allen, Bill Peck, Joe Trapnell, and Worth McDougald. Assisting in serving were Mrs. George King, Mrs. Wray Trapnell, Mrs. Allen Trapnell, Mrs. Ike Minkovitz, Miss Penny Allen and Miss Elena Rushing.

For top score, Miss Hazel Nevils was awarded a lovely evening belt, an evening handkerchief was given Mrs. Ed Oliff for her. Other guests included Mrs. Jack Tillman, Mrs. Bob Biglin, of Portland, Oregon; Mrs. John Godbee, Mrs. Earl Allen, Mrs. E. W. Barnes, Mrs. Hal Macon Jr., Mrs. T. E. Rushing, Mrs. Ed Prentiss, Mrs. Cecil Canette, Mrs. Bud Tillman, Misses Betty Tillman, Anne Attaway, Lois Stockdale, Virginia Darden, and Jackie Upshaw.

DONALDSON-NESSMITH Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Donaldson announce the engagement of their daughter, Mabel Rebecca, to Ben Robert Nessmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Josh T. Nessmith, both of Statesboro.

BRIDGE PARTY AT SEWELL HOUSE A lovely event of Wednesday, Feb. 2, was a bridge party at Sewell House given by Mrs. John Grapp who honored her niece, Mrs. Ray Darley, a recent bride, and Miss Virginia Rushing, bride-elect. The hostess presented the honorees with dinner plates in their china patterns. Camellias and other spring flowers were used in the decorations. The guests were served a dessert course and coffee.

Mrs. D. L. Davis was hostess Tuesday afternoon of last week to the Double Deck Bridge club. Her home was beautifully decorated with camellias, red bud, Japanese magnolias and blue iris. The Valentine theme was used in table appointments, and refreshments which consisted of individual cherry pies topped with whipped cream, heart-shaped open face sandwiches, nuts and coffee.

A wedgwood cup and saucer was awarded to Mrs. Loyd Brannen for high score. Mrs. Percy Averitt received an embroidered hot roll cover for cut.

Mrs. Gladys Komore of Hartwell, guest of her sister Mrs. Percy Averitt, was given a novelty pin.

Chuckles could be heard when Roddy Dodd came on the scene. There's a young man you can watch. He's going to go places and make his mark in this world. He went down the aisle holding on to that satin pillow as it held all the diamonds in the Kentucky mines at the same time, displaying the speed of jet propulsion compounded with Superman's ability to meet a deadline in times of peril. Alison Mikell and Penny Sue Trapnell captivated everyone as they came down the aisle as if such things were a daily occurrence in their young lives. One of them, negotiating the steps, met with a little difficulty with a hoop that sky-rocketed for a minute, but not a bit upset they took their places with dignity and grace and calmly surveyed their audience. And so much awaited wedding guests at the country club where elaborate scenes and gorgeous gifts were displayed—all to the strains of lovely music.

TRADE WIND CAFE YOU HAD time to get closer to the bride and you discovered that the clusters of white flowers encircling the large white gold-throated orchids were twenty-five smaller orchids, you saw the elegance of the diamond and pearl brooch loaned by grandmother Jones for this special occasion. The wedding gifts left you a bit breathless. Two twelve place settings of most delicate china—one Castleton's Sunnysbrook; the other Franciscan gold band—two place settings of breakfast china. Twelve place settings of Strasbourg silver with all sorts of extra pieces in the same pattern. You saw a bee-yoo-tiful still - life painting with the inscription underneath, "Mother's Roses." The roses were from Grandmother Jones' garden and were painted by an artist in Terry, Miss. What caught my eye was a linen hand-made drawn work cloth composed of tiny four inch squares, each daintily embroidered in the center and bordered with hand-made linen lace over two inches wide. I know by this time that I must have nosed around too much, but I was duly impressed by two silver covered vegetable dishes, a handsome well and true platter silver sandwich trays and scads of silver pieces like bread and butter, compotes candle holders and bowls. The table, versed with thirty-five yds. of crushed satin, was simply out of this world—and somebody said that Virginia and Lamar were leaving for a month's honeymoon in California—and just that night warnings were radioed of more bad weather for the Golden State.
