DODGE TO INTRODUCE NEW KIND OF CAR BUILT FOR TODAY'S BIGGER TALLER AMERICANS

Daring New Dodge establishes new trend . . . provides more head room, more leg room, at the same time decreasing outside dimensions. Extreme lines, uncomfortable seats and cramped interiors have no place in Dodge thinking.

"BODY-CRAMPING ROOF LINES MUST GO," said Dodge! Army physical exams revealed that our wartime generation was bigger, taller and more active. A car with more interior space—not less—is the goal Dodge engineers achieved.

ARMY STATISTICS REVEALED THAT THE G.I.'s of World War II averaged 1 1/2" taller than the Doughboys of World War I. The same statistics showed they were also heavier and more active.

DODGE SAID "NO" TO THIS . . . repeating doors of bulk fenders is sure to be costly when fenders are formed into great masses of sheet metal. Now look below and see why Dodge owners don't have this worry.

DOWN GO REPAIR COSTS! No costly-to-repair, massive sheet metal fender sections in new Dodge. Fender unit is bolted (not welded) to body; easily removed, repaired and even replaced, if necessary, at reasonable cost.

"NICK-CHICKING" CONTOURS ARE ALREADY OIL-FASHIONED! New Dodge. How can today's bigger, taller Americans be comfortable in a car where it's even hard to lean back or sit up straight?

DODGE COMFORTNESS IS 30-40" AROUND . . . The new Dodge, slant roof, narrower and lower, gives you more elbow room . . . big room for head room . . . bigger Americans will welcome it.

LOWER ON THE OUTSIDE . . . Higher on the inside . . . Shorter on the outside . . . Longer on the inside

NARROWER ON THE OUTSIDE . . . Wider on the inside

County Fair Is Set for Sept. 19

The Bulloch County Fair has been scheduled for Sept. 19 to 24, H. E. Allen, general chairman for this year, announces.

Mr. Allen along with Cecil Kennedy and Rufus G. Brannen met with F. P. Davis, booking agent for side attractions, Friday, and agreed on the early date for 1949. Mr. Davis pointed out that he did not have a mid-October date and Mr. Allen insisted on a date that would not likely run into cold weather.

Mr. Brannen was anxious to move as far away from the Hollywood programs usually put on by all the schools in the county.

The county PTA has been offered the privilege of putting on the exhibits as well as the business part of the fair. Mrs. Leroy Akins, the county president, has talked with some of the officers of the county council but has not given the committee an answer yet. She told the group it would be April before they would know whether all the county units would be interested or not.

Mr. Allen traded with the Royal Exposition Shows for the side attractions. His committee tried again to procure a venue but could not find a company that was willing to work on a percentage basis. Every company contacted wanted a flat guarantee so high that Mr. Allen did not think it wise to obligate the committee for such an amount.

Rites Held for E. C. Oliver

Funeral services for E. C. Oliver, prominent Statesboro businessman who died in a Savannah hospital late Tuesday afternoon, was held today at the Statesboro Methodist Church, with Rev. Charles A. Jackson Jr. and Rev. Rev. T. L. Harnesberger in charge. Burial was in the East Side cemetery.

Mr. Oliver, a native of South Carolina, was born in 1873 and came to Statesboro in 1900. For more than 40 years he was a successful and outstanding merchant. He retired from the mercantile business eight years ago.

He was a member of the board of trustees of the Statesboro Methodist Church and honorary member of the board of stewards.

He is survived by his wife and several nieces and nephews in Georgia and South Carolina.

Active pallbearers were Claude Phillips, J. Gilbert Cone, Sidney L. Lanier, Frank Simmons, James Johnston, and W. M. Adams. Stewards of the Methodist Church and members of trustees served as honorary pallbearers. Smith-Tillman Mortuary was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

Nevis Homemakers Meet with Mrs. Groover

The Nevis Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Dan Groover, with Mrs. Hulsey as co-hostess.

The devotion was led by Mrs. Brannen.

Miss Irma Spears gave a demonstration on economizing on time, and energy in housekeeping. Mrs. Hulsey demonstrated how a kerosene lamp could be transformed into a beautiful electric lamp.

The 1949 year book was distributed by Miss Spears.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

UNIVERSITY OF GA. TO APPEAR IN SWAINSBORO

The University of Georgia Glee Club will appear in Swainsboro on Monday night, March 21, at 8 o'clock. The Glee Club is sponsored by the Swainsboro Professional and Business Girls Club.

West Side Homemakers Form Community Club

Homemakers living within a short radius of the home of Mrs. Lloyd Hollingsworth met at her home Feb. 22 and organized a community club, with Tuesday afternoons at 2:30 o'clock as their regular meeting time. The meetings will rotate among the homes in that community. The meetings will all be member-planned with the assistance of Mrs. J. E. Parrish, homemaking teacher at West Side School.

Tuesday of next week the group will meet with Mrs. David Banks.

AAUW TO MEET

The American Association of University Women will meet at the home of Mrs. Charles P. Olliff Jr., Tuesday evening, March 8, at 8 o'clock. Joint hostesses are Mrs. Olliff and Mrs. Jack Averitt, Miss Hester Newton, and Miss Freida Gerant. Mrs. W. W. Edge, program chairman, will talk on "Children and the Law." All members are urged to be present.

Nevis Girls' Team Defeated

On March 8 the championship team will go to Macon to participate in the state tournament. Robert F. Young is coach.

This week the boys' team from Nevis is in Macon competing in the state boys' tournament.

Know Your Health Department

By W. D. LUNDQUIST, M.D., Commissioner of Health, Bulloch County Health Dept.

"Open wells, almost without exception, furnish an unsafe water supply," Dr. Lundquist, commissioner of health, "Safe water can be obtained just as surely as destroy it."

"We do not question the supply as it comes from our municipal plant," he continued, "though we probably do not realize it, the health department keeps constant watch on this service. Each month, or oftener, a sample is sent to the State Health Department Laboratory. Great care is used in collecting this specimen. First of all the tap is heated with a blow torch so that all bacteria present on the outside are killed. The water is then allowed to run for a few seconds and a sample is caught in a special sterilized bottle, furnished just for that purpose by the laboratory. It is labeled, packed in ice and sent to Atlanta."

"At the laboratory it undergoes extensive examination which requires about forty - eight hours. The results of the test are typed on forms for this purpose. A copy of the report goes to the City Authorities, a copy goes to the Regional Office of the State Department of Health located in Augusta, Ga., and one copy is given to the county health department. Should the tests not indicate that the water is safe, health department personnel trained in water works problems immediately attempt to determine the trouble or causes of a contaminated sample."

"Rural home supplies from individual wells can usually be made safe by curbing the well, capping with a concrete slab and installing an approved pump. Detail information on how this can be done can be obtained at the county health department."

Cleanliness is next to Godliness and water is our most effective weapon with which to achieve that cleanliness. But appearances may be deceiving, and though it may look clear and cool and limpid, only expert care with laboratory control can give it the absolute cleanliness so necessary to good health.

"Most municipal water supplies are derived from ground water by way of deep wells or from surface water such as nearby streams or rivers. Because of the many ways in which the water may become contaminated before reaching its final destination to consumer, it has been found that it is almost a must to further protect the water with the addition of chlorine which acts as a disinfectant. Here again, the public health laboratory acts as a check on whether or not the chlorine is controlling bacteria and thus preventing the various types of intestinal diseases transmissible through water supplies."

Stockholders Meeting

The annual meeting of the Stockholders of the Statesboro Athletic Association, Inc., will be held at the courthouse in Statesboro on Monday, March 9, 1949, at 7:30 p.m. for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors for the ensuing year and the transaction of any other business that may properly come before the meeting.

N.F.A. to Hold Meeting Here

The annual Stockholders meeting of the Statesboro National Farm Loan Association will be held at the courthouse in Statesboro on Wednesday morning, March 9, 1949, at 10:30 o'clock.

S. D. Groover, president of the association, will preside at the meeting. A report on the past year's operations will be given by T. W. Rowse, secretary-treasurer, and the stockholders will elect one director to fill the unexpired term of B. C. McElveen deceased, and two directors whose term expires on the date of this meeting.

A local speaker will make the principal talk which will be well worth hearing. All farmers and any other interested in cooperative agricultural credit are cordially invited by the president and secretary to attend the meeting.

The Statesboro Association is a cooperative credit organization owned entirely by its farmer members in the counties of Bulloch, Brynna, Chatham, Effingham, Evans, Liberty, Long and McIntosh, and it handles the making and servicing of Federal land bank loans in the counties named.

We'll Be Better For It

YEAR AFTER year, more and more emphasis is being put on rural and farm youth.

Last week members of the Future Farmers of America joined hands and observed F.F.A. Week. Now next week 117,000 members of the 4-H Clubs over the nation join hands and participate in activities emphasizing their work and achievements.

President Truman and Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan have issued letters of congratulations on their accomplishments and goals for 1949.

Governor Talmadge has issued an official proclamation in which he states that the record of Georgia's 4-H organization has been an inspiration and brought to the forefront the almost inestimable potentialities that lie ahead for boys and girls.

4-H Club members in Bulloch County will attend church Sunday at the Statesboro Methodist Church where a special program is being arranged.

For 1949 the rural youth of Bulloch County are playing a part in a national program which is concentrating on "Better Living for a Better World."

Here in Bulloch County we have wonderful evidence of the great work these young people are doing.

There is the annual fat stock show. There is the annual 4-H Club dress revue. There is the annual 4-H Club Stunt Nite. There are the 4-H Club poultry courses. There are the 4-H Club corn and cotton contests.

There is the 4-H Club Camp. All designed to contribute to "Better Living for a Better World."

We have always contended that the future of Bulloch County, as well as the future of Statesboro, is in the hands of the youth of this community.

These farm youth are the ones who will carry on the activities which add up to make this one of the state's better communities.

And we can think of nothing to which we can lend our support that will pay greater dividends than these youth.

Let's understand them. Let's encourage them. Let's help them.

And we'll be the better for it.

Keep Bulloch Green

WE FEEL sure that the Georgia Forestry Association will express no objection to our paraphrasing their slogan, "Keep Georgia Green," making it "Keep Bulloch County Green."

Right now Bulloch County is turning green. Trees are putting out all over.

Bulloch County's forests are becoming beautiful.

And this includes her pine trees as well as her many flowering trees and shrubs.

But there are many in the county who do not appreciate keeping that way.

It would seem that many prefer to see Bulloch County's forest fire-blackened and bare.

We have no patience with the people in the latter group.

We have in this county a full time forest fire protection unit.

But these people, too, few in number, can't keep Bulloch County green by themselves.

J. D. Roberts, state and county forest ranger, is concerned with the disregard that so many people have for our forests.

"If these people must burn off their lands, then wait until December and January to do it, he pleads.

"And if you must burn off your forest lands, let us know and we'll stand by and see that your fire does not damage to your neighbor's land and forests," he says.

Our experiment station at Tifton has proven that better grazing in the woods comes from free, rough woods, not as many false believe, with the burning off of the woods.

Mr. Roberts urges farm tenants to secure permission from the landowner to burn off woods.

"If they just have to have it burned off," he cites an example of a tenant who, without the permission of the farm owner, burned off the land. The owner was indignant when he learned that his tenant had set fire to his woods.

Records in Bulloch County show that more than 600 acres of land were devaluated by fire from July, 1947 to July, 1948. There is no way to figure in dollars and cents what loss this represents to the landowners and to the community and county at large.

We must learn a new respect for the land. We must learn that burning off our lands is not the answer to Keeping Bulloch County Green.

We are fortunate here in this county.

With a complete fire fighting unit we have done much. Credit for this goes to Mr. Roberts, and his crew made up of George Duncan, L. E. Smith, and L. B. Annis, patrolmen; Reggie Dickerson, tractor operator; Pauline Chester, R. R. Ellis, and James Whitaker, forest tower observers.

With four fully equipped trucks, two with two-way radio, and tractor equipment, Bulloch County can partially control fires within the county, with the cooperation of landowners and their tenants.

If fire breaks out—with someone deliberately setting fire out, or some careless person starting it, phone 501-L or 358-R, and get the fire fighters on the job.

March is a dangerous month... high winds and low humidity.

It will pay off to—

KEEP BULLOCH COUNTY GREEN!

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

The Almanac Says the Weather This Week On...

TODAY, Mar. 3, will be frosty.

FRIDAY, Mar. 4, will be windy.

SATURDAY, Mar. 5, will be stormy.

SUNDAY, Mar. 6, will be rainy.

MONDAY, Mar. 7, will be rainy.

TUESDAY, Mar. 8, will be unsettled.

WEDNESDAY, Mar. 9, will be rainy.

... But Don't Blame Us If the Almanac Is Wrong!

THIS WEEK'S VERSE—

NEVER DELAY
To do the duty which the hour brings,
Whether it be in great or smaller things;
For who doth know
What he shall do the coming day?

—ANON

Nothing subtle about that but...

No "Madame, may I have this next promenade?"

Not by a long shot.

It was a lot more simple.

They just turn out the lights and the gal turned up with your date for that prom.

That's democracy with a capital D.

And it takes a bunch of kids to make it work.

Last Saturday night the Knot Holes were hosts at a costume party at the Community Center on Memorial Park.

More than 150 youngsters turned out for the fracas.

There were a score of gypsies. A bunch of tramps turned up. A member of the vanishing Americans turned up, paint, eagle feathers and all. An Apache with slant eyes, black patent leather bag, a grand dame, with parasol and hoops skirt.

All there... and having fun.

The youngest member of the Knot Hole Club, in the third grade, to the oldest member in the tenth grade, were having the time of their lives... dancing and promading.

A part of the community's recreational program, the Knotholes consist of boys who go to Sunday School, Church, or attend a Youth Fellowship Service at one of the community's churches. Saturday night of last week they invited their girl-friends for their once-a-month party.

The Community Center was decorated with a big sign over the fireplace "KNOT HOLE CLUB." Punch was served from a keg with a faucet. Music was furnished by a "juke box."

All under the direction of Max Lockwood.

There was Aubert Brannen's young man, Aubert Jr., in an Indian outfit.

Bill Attaway, Grady and Louise Attaway's boy, as a hobo.

Oliver Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Gerald's youngster, as a Frenchman.

Pat Alderman, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Alderman's girl (Mr. Math's grandydaughter), as an Apache dancer.

Jane Richardson, Frank and Mrs. Frank Richardson's offspring in the colorful costume of a gypsy.

Charlotte Blitch, Mrs. Lottie Blitch's youngest, another gypsy.

Linda Pound, belonging to the Bob Pounds, another gypsy.

FARM BUREAU

WEST SIDE

Hugh Inglis, extension specialist in certified seed, Athens, urged the some 290 present at the West Side Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday night to call for and demand good planting seed when buying them.

Mr. Inglis was certain that if farmers generally used good seed they could increase their production.

The crop improvement program started some three years ago in Georgia has caused an ample supply of certified seed for most crops to be produced here in the state. When seed are not available direct from the breeder, these certified seeds insure the buyer of seed of high quality and purity.

Edwin Banks, with Mrs. H. A. Nesmith at the piano, conducted the song hour for the West Side meeting.

Those entering the cotton contest from the community were A. S. Hunnicutt, W. H. Smith, Jr., W. H. Smith Sr., Roy Sconyers, L. F. Rushing, L. P. Joyner, Claude Smith, Herman Nesmith, and Paul Nesmith.

The corn contest entries were Henry S. Blitch, E. J. Brown, Lloyd Hollingsworth, W. Eugene Deal, C. J. Hendrix, L. Carter, Deal, J. R. Chester, Paul Nesmith, Lamar Smith, Lehman Atkins, Paul Brannen and W. H. Smith Jr.

Robert Waters, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Waters, is president of the Knot Holes to keep them line... If they miss Sunday School or Church two Sundays in a row... If they do they go back to Sunday School or Church.

If your boy is a member of the Knot Hole Club go to one of his parties... but don't let him know you're there... It might cramp his style.

But know that he's having a wonderful time... and is in good hands.

We're too old to belong... anyway, we don't get to Sunday School or Church enough to keep our membership in good standing.

C. M. Graham, the Stilson Farm Bureau president, asked Mrs. M.

P. Martin, Dan Driggers, Willie Shumans, Mrs. W. N. Roberts, Mrs. J. L. Harden and Mrs. W. A. Groover to serve on the community sanitary committee and to try to place one of these aluminum privies on every farm that did not have indoor toilet facilities.

REGISTER

The Register Farm Bureau donated $30 toward helping to complete the library building here in Statesboro at its meeting on Thursday night.

The some 1000 present heard Harry W. Smith discuss the results he got last year from having certified seed.

Following the instructions given by the College of Agriculture on the kind and amounts of fertilizer to use, Mr. Smith found that it made him money and is following the procedure again this year.

Cecil Kennedy, the community president, then called on Leham Dekle and others that had recently had their soil tested to outline the details of taking the samples and getting them run.

W. G. Cobb, D. B. Turner, and J. L. Renfro were all visitors at the meeting. Mr. Turner entertained the group for several minutes with his wit and humor.

Judge Renfro urged the fellows to try to farm like they knew how and then to procure the best information available to them on farming practices. He cited numerous cases of where follows failed to get by and not to improve their living standards or their community.

For high score, Mrs. Tom Smith received a potted plant—a cigarette container went to Miss Virginia Atkins for out. Mrs. Ray Dingle won a china tea bell for low. Other players were Mrs. Hal Macon Jr., Mrs. Emerson Brannen, Mrs. Joe Trapnell, Mrs. J. G. Altman, Mrs. E. W. Barnes, Misses Inez Stevens, and Lois Stockdale.

MARSHA CANAWAY

"Doll" Foy

Still in Switzerland

(Editor's Note—We're still in Switzerland with Doll Foy on our tour of Europe. Last week we visited the glaciers in the Swiss mountains. This week we are to Interlaken with Doll.)

The next stop in Switzerland was Interlaken. It is a little city in a valley between two great mountains. The lakes of Brienz and Thun separate it from the mountains.

The "Jungfrau," a beautiful mountain, all covered with snow, faces the town.

It was here that we visited a casino located in the center of a huge and beautiful park. At the entrance was a great clock made of real flowers... it was a marvel, keeping time as well as the finest Swiss watch.

While in this beautiful city we heard a 75-piece concert orchestra. It was unique, with everybody slipping coffee or tea during the concert.

Here it was that I had the most unusual experience of our trip. I caught a terrific cold and so went to see a doctor. I waited over an hour to see him and then he could not understand hardly anything I said. He spoke little or no English. He got out his American dictionary and tried to explain my condition. It was after much confusion that we finally got together and he gave me a prescription for penicillin tablets.

He tried to tell me he was most happy over his plans for his first visit to the United States.

I found a drugstore... what we would call a drugstore—and here I sat one hour while a lady pharmacist fixed my prescription. (Ed's Note—Next week we go to church with Doll.)

When clothing shrinks in cleaning, the most hopeful first aid is to apply tension to the wet or damp material while pressing it.

Bleach the mesh bags in which oranges are bought as you would feed or fertilizer sacks and use them for dishcloths.

ALL'S FAIR

There are days that are unforgettable because of joy or sorrow. Each leaves a definite mark that carries over until the morrow. Joy gives a vibrant lift that has us walking on air; Sorrow touches us deeply, and brings experiences rare. Tasting deeply of its cup we learn to understand. We can share the burden of others and lend a helping hand. If a cloud appears in Our Own particular sky, We remember days of joy until the cloud rolls by.

WHICH RAISES the question— and chewing gum that will buy—who wants to invest such wonderful money in shoes and things like turnips and liver . . . Anna almost got rid of the colored gardener one day. "Whip," a dog belonging to Cecil Waters, faithfully calls on Anna for long periods of play, was chased away with a stick by the gardener. Anna berated him severely. "Why Whip is one of my very best friends."

EDNA BRANNEN'S yard is one of our newest ones but the rest of you had better look to your laurels. Just this brief word picture and you'll see what I mean. That bed you see on the south side of the Grover Brannens has red as its color motif. A camellia bush is in the center, red Polyantha roses come next and azaleas form the border. The north bed features pink azaleas circled with hyscynth. The bed by the sunroom is filled with fuchsia azaleas with plant red tree in the center, Chanderleria and Alba Meana Camellias (somebody send me a flower catalogue, I can't spell the blooming things) . . . In front of the dining room windows directly facing the street, Edna has planted summer snow roses close to the walls, next come dwarf white azaleas, two double white dogtrees and feverfew. On the lawn there are two deep purple, and two pink Japanese Magnolias, two white dogwood, two pink dogwood and four crape myrtles shading from red to pale pink. The wall fence on each side is lined with tulips and daffodils. . . . When Edna entertained for her guests lately her lovely centerpiece of daffodils, hyscynth, and azaleas came from her NEW garden. On Saturday Edna had a spaghetti supper for Betty Burey who was celebrating her sixteenth birthday. When Betty cut into the beautifully embossed cake she found embedded there a simple gorgeous diamond ring, her mother's engagement ring. Betty was overwhelmed at such a super birthday gift—and who wouldn't be!

Plants and shubbery grow steadily, more profusely and lovely to the L. R. Tyson home. We saw Herbert and Elizabeth Kingery setting out azaleas on the south border of the lot they bought on East Grady street. . . . At Myrtle Cowart's we admired her azalea plants grouped around a tree on her lawn. The hedge between the James Blands and the Arthur Turners were of gorgeous azaleas.

AT DR. BIRD and Dot Daniel's home, it took a bit of walking to take in the entire landscaping picture. There we acquired a liberal education — we met the Taber azalea which we would quite easily mistake for an orchid of some exotic variety. We listen to discussions about the Elegans, the Pride of Mobile, etc. Here, as at the Everett Williams' garden, I found that certain areas were designated as hers and his'n. A pine tree with a rambler rose divided the Williams' gardens. At the Daniels the difference lay in the species of plants. Even Anna claimed a pink Cherokee rose which Miss Susie Hodges had given the doctor. Anna was so interested in the process of planting the bush that her father told her that it was hers. Missing it one day, Bird found that Anna had taken him at his word and had transplanted it three times. Though a bit stunted it still has survived. . . . Dotty Daniel has money problems. Her grandfather, Dr. Wallace Daniel of Clayton, who served in the Legislature, had Dotty as page for the week, for which grueling task she received TWENTY-THREE dollars. Dotty gravely announced to her grandmother, "You know, I am going to tell Mother and Daddy that I have so much money, they'll want to borrow it from me." Wise girl Dotty—just think how much popcorn and candy, picture shows,

CREOMULSION For Coughs, Chest Colds, Bronchitis

On a wind-swept lawn as clean as your hand I saw a slender young woman clad in a brown shirt and slacks silhouetted against the evening sun. She was surveying her new brick home on College boulevard, and the beautifully leveled lawn, and I'll bet dollars to doughnuts she could see iris, hyscynth, daffodils, tulips, and all the rest riotously blooming all over the place. Oh yes the slender figure was that of Billy Bland (Mrs. Herman) . . .

Good Sense All You Need

I once knew an exceptionally slow and deliberate boy whose mother jokingly nicknamed him Jonathan Swift. So whenever my glance falls on anything written by Jonathan Swift, I think of years gone by and proceed to peruse the material.

In the January "Think" magazine, there was a "Treatise on Manners and Breeding" by this august gentleman with the curly wig and fancy collar who was born at Dublin, Ireland in 1667 and educated at Kilkenny school, Trinity college and Oxford University.

Naturally, I scanned the whole article and it threw some fresh light on a subject that should interest every one.

His first paragraph contained a definition which you may have heard before, but which was new to me. "Good Manners," said Jonathan Swift, "is the art of making those easy with whom we converse; whoever makes the fewest persons uneasy is the best bred in the company."

Then he went on from there and listed the 3 great sources of ill manners: Pride, Ill-nature and Want of Sense. And he maintained that the lack of sense was the chief cause of boorish behavior.

In fact, he put it into positive language and declared that "Good sense is the principal foundation of good manners."

Jonathan Swift gave little importance (in this treatise) to the "multiplying ceremonies" and "over-civility" of social perfectionists, and said that wise men were often put more ill at ease by persons practicing extremely formal courtesy than by peasants and mechanics.

When I read the part about peasants and mechanics, I was struck by the fact that Swift probably never made the acquaintance (back there in the 17th and 18th centuries) of the kind of farmer you and I know—and the polite and considerate mechanics who live and work in Statesboro—and I couldn't help thinking that nobody lacking in good sense could make or repair modern machinery or make a living out of the soil we have in many parts of Georgia.

Well, to get back to Jonathan Swift and his theory that good sense assures good manners — there's the viewpoint that punctually is a mark of good breeding. Swift said, "A necessary part of good manners is a practical observance of time at our own dwellings, or those of others, or at third places . . . yet, the greatest minister I ever knew was the greatest trespasser against it; by which all his business doubled upon him and placed him in continual arrears."

How true it is that if today's business isn't dispatched today, tomorrow's can't be dispatched tomorrow and the day after to-long ago are not so far apart in their opinions of what really constitutes a well-bred person—both Emily and Jonathan have indicated that it isn't courtesies and it isn't education that spells manners and breeding, but just plain good sense and kindness of heart, and a disposition to put others at ease.

Another authority on manners—Emily Post—was once asked for her definition of culture and she replied, "Culture is the essence of education, distilled through an enlightened mind and an educated heart."

There's an old rhyme to the effect that:

"Politeness is to do and say The kindest thing in the kindest way."

Thank You, Statesboro!

On behalf of Mr. J. D. Sharpe the Clausen's representative in Statesboro, the entire Clausen's Organization and myself, I take this occasion to thank everyone in Statesboro and the Statesboro area for the wonderful reception accorded the introduction of Clausen's fine bakery goods.

As most of you know, I am a native of Bulloch County, although I left many years ago to enter the bakery field. And now, in my position as Manager of Clausen's of Savannah, I particularly want to thank my personal friends among the general public as well as among the grocers, who have been so kind in helping make Clausen's entry into this area so pleasant an experience. May I assure you that it will be a pleasure for us to continue serving Statesboro and this area since I will always have a keen personal interest in all of you.

With best wishes,

LINEN AND LINGERIE SHOWER TEA

Miss Rebecca Donaldson, whose marriage to Ben Robert Nesmith will take place Friday, March 10, at the Primitive Baptist Church in a simple ceremony, was the central figure Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 16, at a lovely tea given at the home of Mrs. E. L. Mikell on Woodrow avenue, with Mrs. Lillian Croakley and Mrs. Esther Bland as co-hostesses. The attractive home was beautifully decorated with white iris and daffodils in the living room. In the dining room the table with hand-some lace cover was centered with red camellias and flanked by silver candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Bessie Atkins met the guests at the door and introduced them to the receiving line in which were Mrs. Mikell, Miss Donaldson (the bride's mother), Mrs. G. B. Donaldson (the groom's mother), Mrs. Josiah T. Nesmith Sr., and the bride's only sister, Mrs. Henry B. Waters.

Mrs. Bland and Mrs. Croakley directed the guests to the dining room where they were served a dessert course and coffee. Those serving were Mrs. Edna March, Miss Gloria Mikell and Zella Beasley. They were assisted by Mrs. Penton Anderson, Mrs. Willie Beasley, and Mrs. Logan Hagan. Mrs. Guy Freeman was in the room where the linen and lingerie gifts were displayed. Mrs. Sam Smart kept the bride's book. About fifty guests called during the afternoon.

FRENCH KNOTTERS MEET WITH MRS. DEAL

Mrs. B. A. Deal was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the French Knotters sewing club at her home on South Main street. Gladioli and wild verbena were used in decorating. Mrs. Deal served pound cake, ambrosia, salted nuts and black coffee.

Her guests were Mrs. R. L. Cone Sr., Mrs. Lester Brannen Sr., Mrs. Howard Christian, Mrs. Lorin Drden, Mrs. C. E. Cone, Mrs. Fred Lanier, Mrs. J. A. Addison, Mrs. R. J. Brown, Mr. C. E. Stapleton and Miss Mae Kennedy.

MRS. LANIER ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

A lovely social affair of Tuesday, Feb. 22, was a bridge party given by Mrs. Fred T. Lanier Jr. at her home on Broad street. Japanese magnolias and jonquils were attractively arranged in the living room. Individual cherry pies topped with ice cream were served.

For high score Mrs. Lester Brannen Jr. received a china swan bulb container. Mrs. Lester Brannen was given an after dinner cup and saucer for second high. Mrs. Albert Braswell won costume jewelry for cut, and lipstick tissue went to Mrs. G. C. Coleman for low.

Others playing were Mesdames Thomas Smith, Mrs. Lanier, Olliff Boyd, F. C. Parker Jr., Frank Mikell, Frances P. Brown, R. W. Mundy, George Hitt, Gene L. Hodges, A. B. Green, J. C. Hines, and Miss Ruth Seligman.

DOUBLE DECK CLUB

Mrs. Jim Donaldson was hostess Tuesday afternoon to the bridge club, the Double Deck. The St. Patrick Day motif was carried out in the decorations and bridge table appointments. Azaleas and cherokee roses combined attractively on the decorations.

A salad course was served with spiced hot tea.

Mrs. Bill Adams won visitor's high; Mrs. Jack Carlton, club high; and Mrs. Loyd Brannen cut. All received lovely azalea plants. Guests were present for three tables.

MARY JANETTE AGAN

Mary Janette Agan, Shorter College student from Statesboro, served as assistant stage manager for the twenty-sixth annual production of the Cornelia Folies in the Cornelia Folies in the campus on Saturday, Feb. 26. The musical extravaganza was presented by Camerata, student music club.

Miss Agan is the daughter of Elder and Mrs. V. F. Agan, of Statesboro.

Mrs. W. W. Hamm and children of Savannah spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard. C. C. Hagan was a visitor in Savannah Sunday.

Auto Parkers Get 20 Minute Grace Period

Car owners who overpark at the city parking meters are now getting a 20-minute grace period, for which they pay the meter before leaving the parking space.

Chief of Police Lott states this week that car owners who park their cars and find it impossible to get back to the meter before the time expires and the meter shows "violation" now are given a 20-minute grace period. That means that the meter flag may show "violation" for twenty minutes and the motorist need not be given an over-parking ticket.

He points out, however, that the car owner must put a "coin" in the meter before leaving the space or a docket case will be made against the owner of this vehicle. "The back of the card

THIS LITTLE PIG HAD NO HAIR . . . NOR HEAD

Something of an oddity turned up in a litter of 15 pigs born to a Spotted Poland China last week on Bruce Olliff's place at Adabelle. Twelve of the 13 pigs were perfect. But the 14th one was born without hair and without a head . . . and lived for a few minutes. Rafe Smith, working on Mr. Olliff's place, was the first to find the unusual pig on an exhibition at Bill Tucker's filling station last week.

Her drawing, entitled "Fairylard," was selected by a jury of judges from the Woman's Home Companion, Parents' Magazine, Collier's, Saturday Evening Post, Successful Farming, Farm Journal, and Pathfinder.
