

Let's Remedy This Right Now

ALMOST EVERY week we have had something to say about the "peanut boys."

Perhaps you readers are getting tired of reading about them. But we have one more thing to say this season.

And it is this:

Let us publicly insist that our policemen keep these boys out of the street. One sunny morning or afternoon is going to be a sad day for some family. For one of these kids is going to be hit by an automobile and it will be his own fault.

We have seen them step out directly in line of cars approaching the traffic light. We have seen them hit at the sides of cars as they sped by. We have seen them—and they are still doing it—standing in the streets, between parked cars and those passing by.

We have seen automobiles slam on brakes and skid to keep from hitting one who darted into the street to make a sale to a stopped car.

One day—and it may not be far off—one of these kids will be run over. His family will be sorry. The policeman on duty at the corner will be sorry. The driver will be sorry. We will be sorry. Everyone will be sorry. But that won't do the kid any good.

Let our Mayor, our City Council, our Police Chief, and our individual policemen look to their conscience. Whatever it takes, let's get those peanut boys out of the street and one the sidewalk where they belong.

A Note On Her Passing

ANYTHING We could say here in these columns would only serve to echo the noble and beautiful tributes that have already been written about one of the South's best loved writers. Those more gifted than we in the use of printed word have spoken for all of us. We would not attempt to improve upon their work.

This, only, might be said: The establishment of a permanent, lasting "Margaret Mitchell Memorial" is one in which all Georgia, all the South, and all the Nation will want to join. Nothing would please Margaret Mitchell's kind heart more than to know that in death, as in life, she has provided the impetus for a campaign to serve her fellow citizens.

A hospital pavilion to serve the people of Georgia and the South is a fitting memorial to honor Margaret Mitchell. She would have liked that.

If you wish, you may contribute. Checks should be addressed to the Margaret Mitchell Memorial Fund, Fulton-DeKalb Hospital Authority, Atlanta, Georgia.

Another—equally fitting memorial—will be stricter enforcement of traffic laws, with more careful consideration as to who is licensed to drive.

We commend both of these thoughts to your consideration.

Save Your Own Life

"LIABILITY INSURANCE rates go up Monday in New York State on automobiles operated by drivers under the age of 25 because of the bad accident record of youthful drivers."

The above sentence is taken from a news dispatch which appeared recently in the daily press. Perhaps it isn't of great interest because it is taking place in New York State—not in Statesboro, Georgia.

But the fact remains that an average which runs true in New York more than likely is running true here. And it follows that the same sort of increase in insurance rates may take place in Georgia.

It is not so much the increased insurance rates about which we write. It is the fact that a survey shows that less than fifteen per cent of the licensed drivers in New York are under 25 years of age. Yet these drivers accounted for nearly 29 per cent of the fatal accidents. And these same drivers accounted for almost 24 per cent of the non-fatal accidents.

Here we have a sad situation. These young men and women, in the prime of life, in what should be the best physical condition, with the sharpest vision, the keenest hearing, and the most intense perception, are causing nearly one-third of all the fatal accidents in the state.

We can give a lot of answers "why." Many of them, caught in the desire for youthful "power," find their outlet behind the hundred-old horsepower wheel of an automobile. Many of their immature brains are drugged with alcohol or other intoxication. Many have not had proper driver training. We could name other reasons—such as "one-armed" driving on the highways—but there is no need for that. We know the reasons. What we need is a solution.

Where will we find that solution?

In better education in driving practices. In more careful attention to who is licensed to drive. In more stringent enforcement of highway rules and regulations, speed limits, and other safety requirements.

What can you do?

Drive more carefully, as if everyone else on the road didn't know how. Make sure that your children know how to drive before they get behind the wheel, alone, on the highway. Make sure your automobile is in good physical condition—no loose steering connections, good tires, and other features.

High insurance rates hurt everybody. But keeping you and your children alive is more important. Take time to think about being safe on the highway. Take time to be safe. Taking an extra minute may save a life.

It may be your own.

Don't Overlook This

THIS WILL be our shortest editorial of the season.

We have but one thing to say. Nothing else need be said.

The Red Cross drive for blood donors starts this week. Blood is urgently needed. Blood saves lives. If you are physically fit you could not do a better thing than to give one pint of your blood in order that someone else might live.

Don't wait to be asked.

A Good Thing

A GOOD thing, we say, is the Lion's Club Horse Show.

These young men are energetic in promoting, for this third time, an event which draws hundreds into our city and county for the two nights of honest, clean sport.

There's no letting here. No gambling on which horse comes in first. There's no night club atmosphere with whiskey and beer on every side. It's fine entertainment for the entire family.

This is no circus side-show affair either, but fine sportsmanship on every hand. The money goes to one of the charitable causes in our midst—that of providing eye glasses and eye care for the underprivileged children of the community.

We like these men who are undertaking this event for the third year in a row. They work hard at it, knowing full well there is no pay—and little credit. They take this in stride. Most of them care not whether you or I say: "It was a good show." Not that they don't like—and appreciate—a kind word, but when they see a kid reading a book, getting an education, and taking his rightful place in the world, when otherwise he might have been blind—well, that's their reward.

To those of you who have been before, we say: "This year will be better than ever." Next Thursday and Friday nights are the times. You'll not only be doing the underprivileged children a favor but it will be fine entertainment as well.

A good thing, we again say, is the Lion's Club Horse Show.

We Like You

WE LIKE you.

We like our readers, for, after all, the main purpose of this newspaper, like all others, is to be read.

We like to know what you are doing. We try to report as much of that as we can.

More than that, though, we like to know what you are thinking. We like to know what you think of our paper. We are interested in your comments on our news stories and what you think of our editorials.

We are not so much interested in whether you agree, or disagree, with the editorials you find in these columns. What we are interested in is your opinions. We quite often get letters disagreeing with an editorial. Just as often, we find someone who has energy enough to write us and say they believe as we believe.

That's what we are after. "This newspaper is published for you. Don't take it for granted. A free press is one of our greatest freedoms.

This week—or any week for that matter—take a pen and let us know how you feel. Tell us what you like. Tell us what you don't like. Tell us how we can improve.

Tell us how we can better serve you, your neighbors, your city, and your county.

We'd like to hear from you because—

We like you.

To have nothing is not poverty.

Patience and fortitude conquer all things.

A good woman is the loveliest flower that blooms under heaven; and we look with love and wonder upon its silent grace, its pure fragrance, its delicate bloom of beauty.

Things unloped for happen oftener than things we desire.

The Italians have this proverb: In buying houses and taking a wife, shut your eyes and commend yourself to God.

Give me a chance, says Stupid, and I will show you. Ten to one he had had his chance already, and neglected it.

Take all the pleasures of all the spheres, And multiply each through endless years, One minute of Heaven is worth all of them.

Pray not too often for great favors, for we stand most in need of small ones.

Thy hand hath made our Nation free;
To die for her is serving Thee."

Labor's Best Achievement

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

One of the most attractive published items to come across our desk this week is a 16-page booklet, printed in two colors, promoting Georgia. It is produced by the State Department of Commerce and is designed to be mailed out to parties requesting information about our state.

The booklet dubs Georgia as a state with "400 Years of Romantic History" and a "Year-Round Vacation and Tour-land." It is attractive and it serves the purpose well. Printed on heavy paper, the booklet is filled with photographs of historical and scenic landmarks, evidence of Georgia's growing industrial scene and carries a running commentary on what visitors may expect to find within the borders of our state.

The booklet points out that in 1948 there were 228,000 farms in the state valued at $733,000,000. These farms employed 411,000 people with a payroll of $45,000,000. Last year alone Georgia's farmers received $372,656,000 from the sale of their crops.

With more than a million head of cattle and a million and a half hogs, Georgia farmers developed in excess of $160 million dollars worth of livestock sales.

This sort of material, rarely found in our national press, makes good reading for those who would know more about Georgia. The distribution of this booklet on a wide scale will certainly do much to bring tourists and industry to our state.

Sometimes when you don't have anything else to do, you have a few minutes to think things out, try letting your mind wander in this direction for a moment: What does Statesboro—and Bulloch county—have to offer a young man?

And it was done.

A. J. Rucker Jr. was admitted to the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

Young Rucker made his daddy, his mother, and Dick Russell proud of him. His record at the academy is excellent. His superior officers wrote letters of commendation to "Tater."

"Tater" sent the Rear Admiral in charge of the school, a big batch of pecans and received the Admiral's thanks and the word, "you have a fine son."

LESSON IN THE SWAMP

Several weeks ago, my mother and brother came down to spend the day with us and after a satisfying meal at a restaurant, we set out to see Okefenokee Swamp Park.

The entrance to the park is about eight miles from Waycross, and a huge, shaggy, black bear sits chained there by the highway. A lone road leads through desolate country to the central building where cold drinks, assorted crackers and souvenirs can be purchased.

We signed the guest register and one of the guides informed us that he was ready to begin the boating, so we climbed in and headed out over that deep black water into a mysterious land of deathly stillness.

The boat used by Dana Andrews in "Swamp Water" is there for sightseers to view and out in the middle of this wild and silent swamp is a skull perched atop a pole in the water with this verse underneath it:

"I was once alive as you are now,
But I complained and hollered anyhow;
So love each day—and don't pass it by,
Sooner or later, you too, will die."

Our guide pointed out a wading heron and showed us islands which are nothing more than dense vegetation on top of the water. The Seminole Indians named the swamp "Okefenokee," which means "land of the standing water."

Some of the islands—only thick growths of small shrubs and moss—float about. To all appearances, the ground is solid, but when the guide poked it with a stick, it sank like jelly. It wouldn't support a child.

The swamp is comprised of 500,000 acres of wild scenery, 40 miles long and 20 miles wide. It drains through the St. Mary's to the Atlantic and the Suwannee to the Gulf.

When we returned to the landing and firm ground again, we started toward the small group of buildings. Chained outside under a small shelter were two wild cats, which Beth wanted to "pat." They seemed tame enough, but the guide cautioned us to stay back after showing us a long scar on his arm.

He also called a huge alligator which was cruising down the stream. The guide stamped his foot a couple of times, called "Bill!" and we watched, amazed, as Bill made a 90 degree turn and laid his jaws on the bank not three feet from the wire fence. Back of which we were standing. Bill exhaled noisily a couple of times and then returned to his swimming.

Over in the Reptile House, all kinds of snakes crawled around back of glass cases. Even giant monitors scurried away when we approached their cage. On Sundays, the manager of the park gives a lecture on snakes—milk a rattler and drinks the stuff to show that the poison is not fatal unless it gets into the blood stream, and demonstrates the correct steps to take if you are bitten. I was sorry we missed that, but I could have come out of that building full of crawling, slimy creatures a lot sooner than I did—comfortably.

4-H Boys Buy Purebreds Through PCA, C of C

Some 30 Bulloch county 4-H Club boys have purchased purebred gilts through the Production Credit Association and Chamber of Commerce "better hogs for Bulloch county" program, County Agent Byron Dyer said this week.

The Production Credit Association loaned the clubsters money and the Chamber of Commerce designated one member as the buddy-advisor to the clubster. Nine Hampshire gilts, 11 Duroc Jersey gilts and nine Spotted Poland China gilts, all bred to farrow this fall, were purchased.

Buying Hampshire gilts with their business man buddies were Richard Cowart and Charles E. Cone; Jimmie Adams and B. Turner; Roger and Raymond Hagan and Allen R. Thurner; Edgar Deal and Alfred Dormy; Johnnie Dekle and Henry Ellis; Charles Howell and Josiah Zetterower; Foy Hotchkiss and Dr. John Mooney; Thomas Deal and A. C. Bradley.

Those buying Durocs were J. S. Gladwin and J. Bradley; Billy Rosser and W. G. Cobb; Jerry Rushing and Lennie F. Simmons; Paul Atkins and Dr. Waldo Floyd; Earl Edensfield and Walter Aldred; Robert Hudson Williams and Reuben Rosenberg; Emil Alfred Jr. and Fred V. Hodges; Jappy Atkins and H. R. Christian; Robert Chester and Dr. Waldo E. Floyd; Jimmie Deal and Leodel Coleman, and Terrence Nesmith and J. T. Martin.

Spotted Poland China purchases were Bob Thompson and Alfred Dorman; Jimmy DeLoach and Ike Minkovitz; James Harris and D. B. Turner; William Earl Deal and Dr. Ben A. Deal; Ray Hollingsworth and Dr. Deal; John Roger Atkins and Sidney Lanier; Edwin Rucker and Robert Donald.

Two or three seasons instead of one—even though the styles change and you have saved every penny possible to put him through school. Just what does your son have to look forward to?

Certainly not settling down in his home town. It's not because he doesn't like Statesboro. Most of us do. It's not that he wouldn't like to work here. Most of us would.

By far, I believe, the majority of our business men in Statesboro are men who have pulled themselves up by their own bootstraps. They started out years ago with only a "shoestring," and by good business practices have established themselves into what they are today. That's the American system. That's the way it should be. Yet, today, there isn't the opportunity there once was. With the complexities of taxation, government supervision, financing, and other factors entering the picture, the situation is just a little different.

We don't intend to offer a solution here. As we said earlier, we don't know a solution. But the fact remains—hard and cold—that we're slipping. We're losing the cream of our crop of young men because they can't see a place for them here—because we don't have a place for them here.

Maybe you have some opinion on this subject. Maybe you have an idea. We'll be glad to hear from you if you do.

Next week Editor Coleman himself will occupy the "Uneasy Chair." We're taking a few days off for a trip to Minnesota in connection with our new job. But we hope to be back in this same space week after next.

weighed 45,000 pounds—and managed to set the plane down. The sailor was lowered to the plane and Commander Rucker successfully returned to his base where the operating doctor said the man probably would have died if he had not been brought to the base for the operation.

All hands at the base expressed surprise that the plane and its crew made it back to the base.

As commander and pilot of the plane he has recommended commendations for his entire crew who helped him.

And his daddy and mother and Dick Russell are proud of him. Statesboro and Bulloch county are proud of him... as we should be of all our young men and women who represent their hometown and county with such distinction.

Commander Rucker was given the assignment to fly a seaplane out and pick up the sailor.

The sea was rough when he arrived at the ship. He had difficulty in setting his plane down in the rough waters. Finally he dumped 800 gallons of gasoline over the side to make his ship lighter—though his plane still

Forestry Notes

By J. W. ROBERTS, Ranger

Last week as we were hearing reports of forest fires in other sections of the county, our own forest unit was called out to suppress the fire that would have been very destructive had it been allowed to burn.

This fire was reported by Mr. W. L. McElveen, of Arcolia, and was burning on the lands of T. R. Bryan Jr. Two trucks and crews were at the fire within a very few minutes after it was reported. After about an hour the fire was brought under control, with a loss of ten acres. The fire was caused by lightning and would have burned over approximately 700 acres.

I would again like to remind Bulloch county forest landowners that we do not keep constant watch from our observation towers during the summer months; however, we do maintain trucks and fire fighting equipment during this period. We are always ready and anxious to help suppress all fires just as soon as they are reported to us. The phone numbers are Statesboro 501-L, and Brooklet 47.

CCC WILL INITIATE COTTONSEED SUPPORT

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has announced that the Commodity Credit Corporation will initiate a program to support the price of 1949 cottonseed at levels to reflect 90 percent of the August 1 parity price, according to Mr. M. L. Taylor, chairman of the Bulloch County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The program will be designed, says Mr. Taylor, to give producers of cottonseed a minimum price protection similar to that already available to producers of other major oil seeds. Farm income from cottonseed for the 1947 and 1948 crops amounted to approximately $350,000,000 for each season. Prices received by farmers averaged $85.90 per ton for the 1947 crop and $67.40 per ton for the 1948 crop, as compared with a current price range of around $25.00. On the basis of the cottonseed parity level for recent months, 90 percent of the August 1 parity price is expected to be in the neighborhood of $50 per ton.

Details of the program, which will be based primarily upon the customary loan procedure in effect for other farm commodities, will be developed as soon as possible, according to Mr. Taylor. Representatives of State Production and Marketing Administration farmer committees from leading cotton producing states met with PMA officials in Washington July 28 to discuss and develop program details.

ALL'S FAIR

A host of friends we love and revere, memories hallow our days; A floating cloud in an azure sky, glimpses of beauty rare, The night is still and the moon is high, we whisper words of praise, For surely the Author of gifts like these will cherish and keep us always.

OLGA AND BOB DENMARK returned from their vacation spent in Atlanta and Stone Mountain, were dismayed to find that the washing machine was out of commission. Lightning had played havoc with its innards. Bobby was luckier than most of us. He had the "know-how" needed to repair it—"but not the parts," he added.

THE WARD COLLEYS and son Butch, were omitted from the trip-happy folks we wrote about earlier in the summer. They motored to Texas and Mexico. Butch was terribly disillusioned; he expected to be met at the Texas border by cowboys with a gun on each hip. He raised a finger: "I saw just one," he said, "and in Mexico it was no better, only five there. He can see more cowboys and Indians on Saturday at the Georgia Theatre than he could in the whole state of Texas."

GUESTS AT NISSIE, Nanny, and Nina's party loud in their admiration of Nissie's home. From the front living room you can see the glass-enclosed living room, the back—two bedrooms, two baths and an ultra modern kitchen add up to good living anywhere.

ESTHER LEE and George Mulling prove wonderful ambassadors of T.C. both students at the University of Missouri this summer. Esther Lee in a class under Dr. H. H. London, formerly of Georgia Teachers College, nailed down the highest mark ever made in any of his summer school classes—this one in Vocational Guidance.

George, not to be outdone, was right at the top of his class and his paper was exhibited for a week.

MRS. W. L. JONES, on her New York trip, regretted that she didn't have one of her kindergarten pupils with her. She couldn't visit the Children's Zoo unless accompanied by a child.

As Ever,
JANE.

MISS NEVIL WEDS MR. KRAMER

Miss Eva Catherine Nevil, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Floyd Nevil, became the bride of Frank A. Kramer Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Kramer of Savannah in a beautiful garden wedding taking place Saturday evening, August 20, at 6:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents, Elder V. F. Agn performed the ceremony. Miss Sally Serson was vocal soloist and Jack Averitt, organist. Forming the setting for the ceremony was an ivy entwined arch, flanked by standards of white gladioli against a background of shrubbery, centered with a prie-dieu.

Serving as groomsmen were Zach Williams of Barney, cousin of the bride; Bobby Kramer of Savannah, the groom's brother, and Robert Johnson of Savannah. The groom had his father as best man.

Mrs. Jack Cope, Newport, Tenn., the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and Miss Hazel Nevil was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Kramer, Savannah, the groom's sister, and Miss Edna Lanier, Savannah. All the attendants wore gowns of white organdy over pastel taffeta, made with fitted bodices off-shoulder necklines edged with double ruffles; double ruffles on the skirts formed slight bustles at the back. White mittens and white organdy picture hats were worn. The attendants carried old fashioned nosegays of garden flowers, and wore single strand of pearls. Mrs. Cope's gown was fashioned over blue. Little Carol Blackburn, Savannah, niece of the groom, dressed in a white organdy over pink, with a coronet of pink asters in her hair and carrying a miniature Testament showered with flowers, and Russell Dessen, Savannah, in a white linen suit, wore miniature bride and groom.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white organdy over satin, fashioned with moulded bodice with a lace yoke and long pointed sleeves. The off-white skirt, trimmed with double ruffles, extended into a train. Her fingertip veil of illusion edged with lace, was attached to a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a white prayer book topped with a purple orchid and showered with tuberoses. The bride's only jewelry was a diamond lavalere, which belongs to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. J. C. Nevil.

Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. J. E. Guardia and daughter, Genevieve, who have spent several weeks at their cottage in Clayton, Ga., are expected to return to their home this week.

Mrs. Nevil, the bride's mother, was dressed in Nile green with which she wore a corsage of Talisman roses and Mrs. Kramer, mother of the groom, wore a cerise gown and her flowers were white roses and carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Nevil entertained with a reception. Through-out the home white gladioli and magnolia leaves were effectively used. The bride's table, covered with a Madeira cutwork cloth, added the tiered wedding cake, arranged on an antique reflector and three-branched silver candelabra holding white tapers.

Following a wedding trip to Daytona Beach, Mr. Kramer and his bride will be at home at 917 Thirty-fourth street, Savannah. For traveling, Mrs. Kramer wore a dark gray suit with navy accessories and an orchid corsage.

Preston Urges Stronger Farmer Organization

W. H. Smith Jr., a member of the board of directors of the Farm Bureau Federation, this week released a statement by Rep. Prince H. Preston Jr. in which the First District congressman emphasized the importance of a greatly strengthened farm organization "to maintain a price based on a high percentage of parity."

Congressman Preston's statement was in connection with the forthcoming observance of statewide Farm Bureau Week, Sept. 13-19, proclaimed by Gov. Herman Talmadge.

"In order to obtain a high percentage of parity," Mr. Preston said in his statement, "the American Farm Bureau Federation will have the greatest fight of its existence and it can be won only by a strong delegate representation at the next National Convention. An increased membership in Georgia and other Southern states is vital to the problem."

"I strongly urge," the First District Congressman continued, "that Georgia farmers support the Farm Bureau during the coming statewide membership drive to the end that even greater things can be accomplished for our farmers."

A. M. Norman, Dover, also a member of the GFBF board from this district, and Mrs. Willett Robinson, district director of the Associated Women, together with Director Smith, are making plans to assist each county in the district in perfecting an organization to contact all farmers during Farm Bureau Week in order to reach the state quota of 90,000 memberships this year.

The First District quota for 1949, Mr. Smith said today, is 13,000.

A good farmer, so he pushes ahead. His wife works hard— from early morning until late at night.

Along comes Barbara June. But Barbara June isn't normal. She is now almost three years old, yet she only weighs 22 pounds. Her heart was formed so that enough oxygen from the air can't get into her blood stream through her lungs. The Smiths were told that there were only two doctors in the world who might help her—and they are both in Baltimore.

That's a long way. But Josh Smith Jr. and his wife took Barbara June to Baltimore when she was a year old. The doctors said, "Yes, she is a 'blue baby.' But if you or I live, we will live with her. She has to be taken care of. There will be travel expenses and medicine and clothes. This is a thousand things you and I don't know about."

In view of all this the Herald is establishing a "Barbara June Fund." Two outstanding men of this city have volunteered to take charge of handling the contributions. They are W. G. Cobb of the Bullock County Bank and Kermit Carr of the Sea Island. You know them both.

Checks should be made payable to "The Barbara June Fund" and delivered to either of the above men. Your contribution, whether it be large or small, is urgently needed. This is not something that can be put off.

We believe a goal of $1,500 is what should be set. We feel that this amount will be sufficient. We are counting on the people of Bullock County. We are counting on you. Barbara June is counting on you.

Don't let her down. Take, send, or mail your contribution, in cash or by check, to either bank. The success of this important campaign depends on you. Don't put it off.

But this tiny child will be hospitalized for at least a month—and will have to stay in Baltimore for check-ups at least three additional weeks. Her mother will stay with her. Josh has to patch his crop. There will be travel expenses and medicine and clothes. This is a thousand things you and I don't know about.

Judge Renfro Orders—

Solicitor General Usher briefly dwelt on the general "bad" reputation of the place and asked that it be closed.

Judge Renfro's order is as follows:

ORDER OF COURT
CLOSING PREMISES
GEORGIA, Bullock County:

The above and foregoing matter coming on to be heard at the time and place fixed in the foregoing order, and upon hearing the evidence, it appearing to the satisfaction of the court that the house, premises and property described in said petition except the living quarters both upstairs and downstairs including the kitchen portion of the downstairs in said above stated house are being used for the purpose of selling, keeping for sale and harboring intoxicating malt and intoxicating liquors and beverages and is notorious as a "Blind Tiger."

It is hereby ordered that the same be abated as a nuisance and the Sheriff of Bullock County, Georgia, is hereby directed to close the same and keep it closed until the further order of this court and until the trial of this case.

The defendants are hereby temporarily enjoined from using said property, with exception as shown above, or permitting the same to be used in any way whatsoever.

It is further ordered that the defendant, S. A. Allen, has until the 29th day of August, 1949, to dispose of and remove any and all property which he has in said building.

This the 23rd day of August, 1949.

(Signed) J. L. RENFROE,
Judge, Bullock Superior Court.

Guyton McLendon of Blakely, Ga., has been named director of the Statesboro High School Blue Devil Band. Superintendent S. H. Sherman made the announcement this week.

Mr. McLendon comes here from Waycross, where he was bandmaster for eight years. While there, members of the Waycross High School band accumulated more than 200 superior ratings in district and state music festivals, which is believed to be a state record.

While at Waycross Mr. McLendon also directed the Youth Choir of the First Baptist Church. He was a member of the Rotary Club and editor of the club paper.

The new director of the Statesboro high school band attended Georgia Teachers, Mercer University, and did special work at Auburn and at the University, serving as faculty member at summer music camps at Auburn and the University of Georgia.

Mr. McLendon says: "Although the accomplishments of the Waycross band are in some respects outstanding, I see no reason why we can't do even more here. Statesboro is widely known as a town which appreciates and supports its band."

Superintendent Sherman in announcing Mr. McLendon's appointment, said: "We are fortunate in securing Mr. McLendon and we are confident that our instrumental program will go forward under his direction. We seek the cooperation and support of all those interested in the program and the success of the Statesboro High School Band."

Doctors to Operate On Barbara June Sept. 7

"Of all the sights which can soften and humanize the heart of men, there is none that ought so surely to reach it as that of innocent children, enjoying the happiness which is their proper and natural portion"—SOUTHEY.

The hearts of the people of Statesboro, Bulloch county, and southeast Georgia turned to little three-year-old "Blue Baby" Barbara June, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Josh Smith Jr.

Following the story of Barbara June in last week's Herald people of this section, on Wednesday afternoon, had contributed $863 to the "Barbara June Fund."

And Wednesday morning of this week Mr. Smith told the editor of the Herald that Barbara June's doctor notified him that the doctors at Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore will operate on Barbara June on Thursday, September 7.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith and Barbara June will leave Statesboro Monday morning, September 5, and will drive to Baltimore.

An unknown contributor wrote: "I say a prayer each night that God will let the goal be reached and the child be made well."

When told of the generosity of the people of this community, young John Smith and his wife, Barbara June's father and mother, fought through tears and trembling lips to say, "Thank everybody for us."

Mr. W. G. Cobb, at the Bulloch County Bank, and Mrs. Kermit R. Carr, at the Sea Island Bank, will continue accepting contributions through Saturday at this week. Anyone wishing to make a contribution afterwards, however, may send or give them to Mr. Cobb or Mr. Carr.

WEDNESDAY NOON, County Policemen Edgar Hart and Mose Sowell were still looking for Ed Cannon, Negro, who escaped Monday from the bridge crew, which was working on Kennedy bridge on the edge of the Bulloch-Candler county line. Conner had served four years at the county work camp on a 40-year sentence for armed robbery.

Make A Date For The Greatest Show of Year
By JANE
Get out your loggnette, put some sparklers in your hair. Step out with the thoroughbreds. Look those horses in the eye and hold up your chin. When "Sweet Talk" prances out, take a good look at him. He'll swing and swag to music. He'll be magic in the air. When Frank Rushing hits those organ keys, may you be there to hear. Bill Bowen, the ringmaster, will be sleek and dressed in style. And Bob Clontz with his appendix would even walk a mile. Behind the scenes to make things click are the Boyds, Ollif and Etta. For setting up a Horse Show, you'd go far and find no better. And further in the background you may hear the lion roar. These mighty monarchs are but kittens with children they adore.

Crossed eyes or strained eyes are all sought out by them. That they may see a rainbow or and rest on a stem. The Lions Club sponsors this annual horse show. To joy glasses for the needy. Come and bring your dough. BY NOW you may gather that the annual big show will again take place under the lights at the airport stadium. In the past it has been something new has been added. Frank Rushing, maestro of the organ, will play throughout the star spangled evening. Those who have followed him at hotels and night clubs in the largest cities in the South, Elizabeth Hendricks, contributor to outstanding horse magazines, will be on hand to report the event.
