Red Caps Retain First Place Slot In Junior League

The Red Caps are still at top position in the Junior Basketball League.

Wins over the Bull Dogs and the Pilots assured their lead in the league. Hines, Sewell and Newton did most of the scoring for the Red Caps. In the two games the boys who are getting the ball off the backboards are Sewell, Hines, McCall, Parrish and NeSmith. The Red Caps use the "snowbird" system, in which Newton waits under the basket for a long pass and a try for points.

In the game of the week the Cardinals tasted defeat at the hands of the Pilots in a 26 to 25 game, with overtime play. Gordon Franklin ran up 12 points for the Pilots. Cannon, Roberts and Johnson accounted for 15 points scored by the Cardinals.

The Bull Dogs lost a heart-breaker to the Cardinals, 39 to 36.

SENIOR LEAGUE PLAY

Play It Safe When You Drive Roads of Bulloch County

Isa. xxxii. 2

'The Shades of a Great Rock in a Weary Land'

"It is better to trust in the Lord than to put confidence in man."—Psalm 118:8.

It seems significant that the middle verse of the entire Bible should impress us with this valuable fact: that confidence in the Lord is at once and forever a better policy than confidence in man. In the midst of many nations with many so-called gods, the true God began to speak by Moses declaring that there is one true and living God.—V. F. AGAN.

Make Your Investment In Youth

HAVE YOU MADE your investment in Youth yet?

Every week the citizens of Statesboro and Bulloch county are called upon to support some cause, some project, some drive—all worthy.

But, to us, none can be so worthy as the one now in progress here, asking citizens to make an investment in Our Youth.

This week is "Recreation Week." Our youth program must be held up. It must not be allowed to sag—and sag it will unless the citizens come to its support.

In the short two years the recreation department has been serving our youth it

Our Blood Bank Account Is Overdrawn

Somebody owes some blood.

According to figures released by Calvin R. Grant, assistant administrator of the Red Cross Regional Blood Center in Savannah, the Bulloch County Hospital has used a total of 213 and one-half pints of blood since January 1, 1949. This includes 43 and one-half pints they have drawn from the Blood Center during the period January 1 through January 20.

During that same period Bulloch County has "deposited" only 120 pints of blood in the Blood Bank.

When the Bloodmobile was here on its first trip in September of last year only 52 pints of blood were contributed by Statesboro and Bulloch County donors. On its second trip here in December only 70 pints were contributed for deposit in the Blood Bank.

Since the Blood Bank program was inaugurated we have "deposited" only 129 pints to our credit. We've written "checks" for and withdrawn 213.5 pints during a 13 month period. Now a banker would not honor a check on an overdrawn account but would return it marked "insufficient funds".

WE CONGRATULATE the Chamber of Commerce upon offering a Sales Training Course for the sales personnel of Statesboro business houses.

During last week forty salesmen and salesladies attended a course in "Helping the Customer Buy," offered under the Distributive Education Program of the State Department of Vocational Education.

Store managers and owners are enthusiastic in their praise for the course. Their sales forces praised the courses.

It's a good deal. Competition is again an element in selling, and those businesses whose salespeople know how to "Help the Customer Buy" will be the ones to show good business.

The Chamber of Commerce performed an excellent service in bringing this service to its members.

There Oughta Be a Law

IT HAPPENED on Sunday night. And it could have been avoided.

But just because somebody neglected to have the brakes on his automobile properly fixed, several people were upset, two cars were banged up, a farmer will be restricted in his transportation, his landlord is sore, a young man is unhappy, his father concerned, the curiosity of several citizens stimulated, and the police all around.

It was on East Grady Street at Broad Street.

A young man driving a brand-new automobile was driving west along East Grady. A Negro was driving an ancient model north along Broad. And because the brakes on the Negro's old model car didn't function when he applied them the Negro was helpless to prevent the crash. Not much damage was done.

But it could have been bad. Now it seems to us that it would be a simple matter for the proper authorities to enforce proper methods to insure the effective operation of brakes on all automobiles.

That's the long way of saying "there oughta be a law" to make people keep their brakes in good operating condition. In North Carolina there's such provisions—not only for brakes, but for lights, horn, tires, and other parts which affect the operating efficiency of a car.

has grown to cover every section of the county.

Activities directed by Recreation Superintendent Max Lockwood and his assistants are keeping hundreds of kids off the streets of Statesboro and out of possible mischief. Their unlimited energies are behind channeled into healthy play and work. Mothers and fathers are knowing where their children are when they leave home to go to the community center. They have a personal satisfaction knowing that they are under the careful direction of trained supervision.

Make Your Investment in the Youth of this Community and you make an investment in the future of Statesboro and Bulloch County.

Now it would be embarrassing and could be tragic if the Blood Center in Savannah should refuse to honor a "withdrawal" on the Blood Bank by our Bulloch County Hospital.

To put it in a sentence—we're using more blood than we are contributing—we're using somebody else's blood.

Of course we know that some of the blood being used in our hospital here is being given to patients who are not Bulloch County citizens. The victims of the wreck last week are examples. But just because they are not citizens of Bulloch County we cannot refuse to give them blood when the doctors say they must have it.

The Bloodmobile will be here tomorrow. It will set up at the Community Center in Memorial Park. If you receive a phone call or a card or some notice to report to contribute a pint of blood—do it. Remember you signed a pledge, and your pint of blood might save a life . . . just as somebody's pint of blood could save yours.

Let's get our Blood Bank account in good shape!

A 'Smile' in Our Slogan

We congratulate two groups of ladies in Statesboro who are intent upon making Statesboro the prettiest city in the Southeast.

For Men, the Same Old Look

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

WE CAN EXPECT most any day now to read where our friend and congressman, Prince H. Preston, has been "taken for a ride."

But, on the other hand, we sort of have a sneaking suspicion that he might get away with it. And, if he does, there are going to be an awful lot of people sore at him.

And a lot of people are going to have to go back to hoeing in the garden to get that right arm the exercise it will be missing, if he does.

For Prince has set his sights on the "one-armed bandits"—slot-machines.

On January 12 Prince offered a bill in the House to outlaw interstate transport of slot machines.

With his sights set, he's aiming at the nation's gambling syndicates.

Based on a year's study of the slot machine racket, Prince says he anticipates his measure will draw wide bipartisan support in both houses of Congress.

His bill would prohibit interstate and foreign shipment of "any machine or mechanical device or parts thereof designed or adapted for the playing of any game of chance."

PROGRESS HAS PRETTY FACE

Sunday afternoon, Beth and I, along with over a hundred other people attended open house at Waynes' new Vocational School Building on Mary Street.

The modern - type red brick structure has three doors on the front, the main one in the center of the building, between two large sections of deep red marble which blends into the face of the wall.

Vertical lights on either side of the door illuminate the clock dial above, which has metal rectangles in place of numbers.

Flowers were everywhere. Gay, colorful baskets of glads reflected the lovely surroundings and newness of the establishment. Chairs and tables, desks and wastebaskets are all a natural finish, and large cherry doors with one circular window at eye-level open into ten spacious classrooms equipped for from 30 to 35 students.

A California specialist recommended the paint patterns and by doing most of the work and reflecting the floors to the ceiling to reflect all possible light without creating glare. It's very similar to the paint combinations at the College Industrial Arts Building. The large windows are covered with Venetian blinds, and fluorescent lights are there for the night classes.

A fuel oil heater produces steam heat for this ultra-modern building which will house Junior College students Commerce School students, Evening Trade Extension School students, students attending classes in General Education and Public Health.

Water will look clean and taste good, yet carry disease producing germs. By locating the water safe house or septic tank, lining it with a wall of concrete, and covering it with a properly designed platform the water supply normally can be protected.

The wall or well casing should be at least 10 feet deep and extend several inches above ground level.

VA to Refund Errors in NSLI Dividend Checks

Veterans who receive National Service Life Insurance dividend checks from which previous overpayments by the Veterans Administration have been deducted were advised by Vaux Owens, manager of the Georgia VA Regional Office, that the Finance Division of the Regional Office in whose jurisdiction the veteran's account is maintained, would refund any overdeduction.

In a few cases, cash payments made by the veteran and deductions previously made by the VA plus the amount deducted from the dividend exceed the indebtedness of the veteran to the government.

The refund of these deductions will be made automatically as soon as the information is received, Owen stated.

Vocational Ag. Teachers Urge Farmers To Protect the Water Supply in Home

When a farmer protects his water supply and installs running water in his home he does more than just add comfort and convenience. He protects the health of his family.

Surveys show that three out of four unprotected farm wells are polluted, declared O. E. Gay, teacher of vocational agriculture at Register High School.

That's why the vocational agriculture division of the state department of education through its Veterans Farm Training Program has launched a broad plan to encourage farmers to install running water and sanitary sewage disposal systems.

Mr. Gay says that VETP classes in this county are preparing for demonstrations on building septic tanks and probably will hold demonstrations later on protecting the water supply. All interested farmers are invited to attend the demonstrations, time and place of which will be announced later.

What most farmers fail to realize, Mr. Gay points out, is that by doing most of the work and reflecting the floors to the ceiling to reflect all possible light without creating glare. It's very similar to the paint combinations at the College Industrial Arts Building. The large windows are covered with Venetian blinds, and fluorescent lights are there for the night classes.

ANN EVANS CELEBRATES HER SIXTEENTH BIRTHDAY DANCING

Friday night was a night for dancing if you were among those attending the brilliant card dance given by Mrs. Virginia Evans at the Forest Heights Country Club complimenting her daughter, Ann, on her sixteenth birthday.

Arrangements or spring flowers in pottery bowls were used on the mantel. The table, overlaid with white with deep ruffles touching the floor, had swags of royal blue in valence effect.

The birthday cake, embossed in white and topped with blue candles, was flanked by silver candelabra holding blue candles.

Other decorations were adapted to special dances. A realistic snowman with top hat and broom represented "Dancing in a Winter Wonderland." Cartoons in a garden basket held names which were drawn for partners in a "June-in-January" number. For the elimination dance blue candles, with names attached, were drawn from a miniature birthday cake. At mid-eight Ann and her escort were dancing alone and the guests, circled about them, sang "Happy Birthday."

Assorted sandwiches, cookies, and punch were served. Leode Coleman was master of ceremonies and music was furnished by Emma Kelly and her orchestra.

Among out-of-town guests were Miss Rita Johnson and Wensley Hobbs Jr., of Swainsboro; Mrs. Rita Johnson, Sara Elliott and Maurice Vann, of Swainsboro.

GUARD YOUR HEALTH...
...LOOK OUT FOR FLU

Doctors (see Time Magazine, Nov. 24, 1949, p. 39) admit they don't know how to stop you from catching a cold.

But luckily for all of us, we can reduce the risks of common colds turning into treacherous flu, or dangerous chronic bronchitis.

Right now when flu, colds and bronchitis threaten you worst, here's a simple precaution to guard your health.

It's the first sign of a cold in your throat, try to stop that cough before it starts. Don't delay. Reach for your bottle of Creomulsion at once. The minute your throat feels sore and raw, take Creomulsion.

Concert Delights Large Audience

Teachers College auditorium was packed for the concert Monday evening as Mr. Byron Warner, head of the voice department at the University of Georgia, presented Miss Margaret Sherman and Mr. James Griffith in their graduation recital, which was first given in Athens, Ga.

From the first appearance of Miss Sherman on the stage she was greeted with enthusiastic applause. Wearing a red satin dress with graceful neckline and very full skirt, the brilliance of her eyes overshadowing her sparkling jeweled accessories, Miss Sherman captivated her audience by her charming personality and beauty.

Arias ranging from passionate and dramatic roles to those that were tender or mischievous were superbly executed. Her final request number, "Home, Sweet Home," ending with a suggestion of tears in her voice, brought tumultuous applause.

Mr. James Griffith, after his first number, sung with all the fervor of a true baritone, was practically another "home town boy." His adoption was complete before the evening was over.

At the lovely reception held in East Hall parlors, Mr. Warner and his talented pupils delighted those who were reluctant to leave by singing request numbers until a late hour.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Double Deck Club met with Mrs. Lloyd Brannen. The living room was decorated with lovely arrangements of camellias. A chicken salad course was served and Coca-Cola was enjoyed during the games.

For high score, Mrs. Hugh Arundel won a magnetized silver box. For first cut, Mrs. Joe Brown won a key clip and for second cut an individual pie server went to Mrs. Inman Dekle.

Others playing were Mrs. Percy Averitt, Mrs. Jim Donaldson, Mrs. D. L. Davis, Mrs. Glenn Jennings, Mrs. Jack Carlton, Mrs. Percy Bland, Mrs. Devane Watson, and Mrs. Grady Bland.

Farm Bureau

Mrs. H. V. Franklin Named President Register Farm Bureau Women

Mrs. H. V. Franklin was named president of the Farm Bureau's Associated Women organization Thursday night.

During recent years Register was one of the Farm Bureau chapters that had no associated women's organization. The group voted at their December meeting to assist the ladies in the building of such an organization. This leaves only one chapter in the county that does not have an associated women's chapter.

Mrs. Otis Holloway was named first vice president and Mrs. John L. Akins secretary.

Mrs. Dan Lee, county Associated Women president, met with the Register ladies, along with Mrs. R. F. Mikel, to discuss the functions of such an organization.

While the ladies were meeting to build an organization, the Register Farm Bureau heard Elder V. F. Agan discuss the many references made to farming and farm life in the Bible. Elder Agan, reared on a farm and one of the top Bible students in this section, appealed to the men by the knowledge he displayed on their problems and many of the answers to such problems as found in the Bible.

ESLA THINKING ABOUT ADDING DAIRY FARMING
Esla discussed the advisability of adding dairy farming to their program at the meeting Tuesday night. Carl Ler, Esla's present, thought that a milk route could be worked out in the community. He also urged them to think over the idea of starting a corn contest for 1950, and if they wanted to promote such a community project, it would be started at their February meeting. S. W. Stirling Jr. was asked to work out a program for this meeting.

NEVILLS DISCUSSES FARM AND HOME PLANNING
Farm and Home planning discussion followed the ham supper at Nevills Wednesday night. Robert Cox, Nevills president, asked those who helped line up the telephones for the community to be in position to make a definite report on the progress at their February meeting. The motion picture, "Operations Crossroads," of the Bikini atom bomb test, was used for the social hour.

Soybeans Can Be Grown Profitably, Farmers Are Told
Part of the land not to be used in normal cash crops, due to allotments, may be planted to soybeans profitably, is the opinion expressed by some 50 farmers and business men at meeting here Monday night.

The Bulloch County Bank and Sea Island Bank were hosts to the Farm Bureau presidents, prominent farmers, and several businessmen at a supper meeting at the Jacekel hotel Monday to discuss some more uses for the surplus land could be put to that would bring in more money to the county.

Buckeye Cotton Oil Company representatives from Augusta and Macon attended the meeting and told of the soybeans being planted in various areas in their trade territory. No one presented soybeans as a get-rich-quick crop. They were discussed in terms of a soil building crop, a feed crop and the possibility of harvesting the beans for a cash crop.

Varieties such as Roanoke, Clemson Non Shatter, Ogden, Yelando, and Arcadia were recommended and ample planting seed will be available. Several farmers present stated their yields had been low in years gone by, probably due more to thin plantings than anything else. Some had made excellent yields. Delmas Rushing stated that he had never been able to plant them close enough to get maximum yields.

The agronomist with Buckeye asked that they be planted in rows from 18 inches to 30 inches apart and have some 12 plants per foot. Fertilizer with high phosphorus and potash content should be used, at the rate of some 200 to 400 pounds per acre. Several farmers reported fair yields after one and a half years of experimentation. However, they thought they made their best yields when planted in April.

4-H Club's Fat Stock Show Date Set for April 27

Bulloch County 4-H Club boys and girls are getting set for the best fat stock show April 27 that they have ever held, judging from the effort now being put forth.

Most of the some 60 calves being groomed for the show have been on feed for a month or more. The clubbers have dusted them generally twice or more with rotenone to remove the lice and kill the grubs in their backs. Most of the cattle are gentle and fattening faster than normal. The boys say they are fattening better because of the warm weather.

Most of the cattle this year will be entered by clubbers that have been to the show before, some of them having been in the show game for several years. This experience is showing up already in the quality of their cattle.

Girls entering cattle this year are Helen Zetterower, Annette Hollingsworth, Ann Elizabeth Carson, Eubie Lee Hendrix, Bonnie Collins, Clara Neil and Marie Roberts, Ann Bowen, and Melva Cressy.

Boys who have cattle on feed are Ray Hollingsworth, Franklin Atkins, Roger and Raymond Hagan, Bobby Joe Cason, Wilbur Smith, Ed and Garis Hotchkiss, Travis Smith, Wyman Deal, John George Dekle, Billy Brown, Donald Wayne Atkins, Maurice Lerner, Franklin Zetterower, Eugene Denmark, Thomas and Waldo Waters, Emmitt Alford Jr., James Mink, and Sammy Nevils.

Livestock Seems East-to-West

Livestock production is shifting from the west and midwest to the east. R. W. Cammack, fieldman for the Georgia Hereford Breeders' Association, told the local Hereford commercial breeders here Thursday.

At the same time livestock trends are toward the east, certain new crops like cotton are shifting westward, Mr. Cammack stated.

To support his contentions, Mr. Cammack pointed out to the some 15 livestock-minded farmers present here in Georgia and the eastern part of the states while, at the same time, he asked them to explain where the cotton production is on the increase. Mr. Cammack also cited many instances where livestock farmers from the west were buying land in Georgia and other states in this area to raise livestock on.

All of this adds up to the need for local farmers to realize the situation that is taking them out of row crops and into livestock farming before the western livestock farmer moves in on them. Better pastures, more pastures, and better cattle will help get local farmers in the livestock business in a big way as well as in a manner that they can stay in business during periods when prices are less favorable.

G. B. Bowen was named temporary chairman of the group in Bulloch county and was asked to arrange another meeting, perhaps a field trip, for around April 26.

Those present asked Mr. Cammack to try working out a plan with the state organization whereby such groups as the Bulloch county delegation might become affiliated with the state group, even though the local group is interested primarily in commercial cattle.

Pupils Like Sales Course of C. of C.

When school was out the pupils were enthusiastic over what they had learned, and said nice things about their teacher.

The Statesboro Chamber of Commerce sponsored a course in salesmanship called "Helping the Customer Buy" and was furnished by the Georgia Department of Vocational Education, with Allan Hedrick as instructor.

Meeting at the Smith-Tilman Chapel, sales personnel of Statesboro business houses studied salesmanship. Upon completion of the course "students" were given diplomas. With what they had been given, Employees of H. Minkovitz and Sons expressed the desire that additional courses be offered. One said, "The knowledge obtained in this course should help us all to better serve our bosses - the customers."

Another said of the course, "I taught me that if I please the customer, in the long run I will please myself."

Business managers and store owners were pleased with results of the course and expressed appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce and to Mr. Hedrick of the State Department of Vocational Education.

Georgia House Passes Resolution Eulogizing Marvin S. Pittman Jr.

The Georgia Legislature on Friday of last week adopted unanimously a resolution eulogizing the late Marvin S. Pittman, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. Marvin S. Pittman. The resolution was introduced by Bulloch County Representative A. S. Dodd.

A RESOLUTION WHEREAS, our people were shocked and grieved when they recently learned that one of the most heroic and promising sons of our State had been slain in a Philippine jungle while on a scientific expedition to one of its remote and most dangerous regions; and

WHEREAS, in the untimely and tragic passing of MARVIN S. PITTMAN, JUNIOR, the closing chapter was written in the record of one whose short span of life was packed with useful and glorious adventure, and one who was destined to take high rank on the roster of Georgia's most illustrious citizens.

Marvin S. Pittman had carved for himself a distinguished and memorable career in both war and peace.

A combat flier in the Fifteenth Air Force in the Second World War, whose splendid pluck he joined the first year of his struggle while still a student at the University of Chicago, young Pittman was the survivor of numerous missions in both India and Europe and was finally shot down and captured by the enemy in May, 1944, in whose hands he remained a German prisoner for more than a year.

After the victorious end of that struggle he resumed his studies, graduating with high honors, and joined the faculty of the University of the Philippines as Professor of Geography. He specialized in geographical features of that important and vastly unexplored group of islands.

He was on a journey of exploration at the time he was ambushed.

Survey Says TCT Teachers Paid Less, Work More

Salaries at Georgia Teachers College are lower but teaching duties are heavier than at the five other white senior colleges in the University System.

This paradoxical information, made available here this week through the Survey Report sponsored by the University System, has left students, teachers, and alumni in an interrogative mood.

The report shows that the Teachers College is the only senior white unit in the system where teachers have student-hour loads in excess of the national norm, the average for colleges in the United States.

The average annual salary at the college ($3,197) is listed as $240 less than that of the next lowest college and as $305 less than that of the best-paying college.

Considered in the comparative figures released by the survey staff are the University of Georgia, Georgia Institute of Technology, North Georgia College, Georgia State College for Women at Milledgeville, Georgia State Woman's College at Valdosta, and the Teachers College.

With a regular enrollment of 800 and summer registrations of more than a thousand, the Teachers College varies as the third or fourth largest of the six colleges. It was the only large state college to have a substantial increase in attendance this year.

The survey report recommends that the college restrict its music, health, physical education programs to minor sequences and that it institute master's degree study in elementary education. At present, majors are offered in music and health-physical education, and the physical education division is the second largest at the college.

Alumni have asked for a master's degree work in secondary education as well.

Although he hopes for no curricular change at the college, President Zach S. Henderson expressed himself as pleased with the survey report. He is encouraged, he said, by the high priorities suggested for construction of a new laboratory elementary school building and a second men's dormitory here.
