

It's An Idea

TWO STATE AGENCIES stand together this week and issue a warning to the farmers of Bulloch county and all cotton-producing counties.

"Farmers should not make the costly mistake of burning their woodlands to reduce the number of boll weevils. The timber destroyed in such fires is oftentimes worth much more than the best cotton crop that could be produced, and farmers cannot depend on this method to rid their lands of the weevils." This is the warning by the Georgia Department of Entomology.

"Coupled with the fact that woods burning is an unreliable, inefficient, and costly means of fighting the boll weevil, use of this method can result in prosecution of the person doing the burning, if fires are allowed to cross onto the land of another owner," said the Georgia Forestry Commission.

We know that, with the continued warm weather, with no cold weather, which normally would help in the destruction of the boll weevil, Bulloch county cotton farmers are in a sweat. They know that with such weather an army of boll weevils is gaining new recruits daily and is standing on "ready."

The Department of Entomology recommends that farmers fight the boll weevil through clean-up of fields, terraces and fence rows, combined with an early program of poisoning this spring.

But many cotton farmers will remember how expensive it was last year trying to combat the weevil army with poison. It is expensive to burn off woods as a means of fighting the weevil.

"What's a cotton farmer to do?" one asks.

Look to what other cotton farmers have done and are now doing—turning to livestock, year-round pastures. Those who have done so do not have time to worry about the boll weevil, for the pesky things starve to death on a livestock farmer's place.

It's an idea. Think upon it.

Statesboro Can Win

STATESBORO AGAIN has an opportunity to be nationally recognized as the wonderful community who live here know it to be.

The Georgia Power Company has announced its 1950 Champion Home Town Contest.

This year Statesboro will be in a new classification which will give us a better chance to win one of the $1,000 top prizes. Under the 1950 rules governing entries, Statesboro comes in the 5,000 to 20,000 group which includes only 37 cities in the state. The two previous contests included Statesboro in the 1,000 to 20,000 population group.

In the 1949 contest Statesboro did not get to first base. Not because of a lack of improvements made in the city, but because of a lack of interest in the preparation of the report of improvements made. This is not a reflection upon the group which sponsored the 1949 entry, but it is a clue on how Statesboro can win in 1950.

We saw the reports of many of the entries when they were on display in Savannah when that community was awarded $100 for its honorable mention.

And what we saw is peanuts beside what Statesboro could have reported.

There were reports from communities which represented time and effort . . . and money. Careful planning, clever arrangement, almost brilliant outlays, were revealed in the reports.

Not just scrapbooks with typewritten information and with photographs sprinkled throughout showing "before" and "after" progress.

And for Statesboro to win, there must be just that sort of careful study, ceaseless work, spending of some money under the direction of some sort of planning committee.

We see it as a "Champion Home Town Planning Council," with a director, with members from each civic organization interested in seeing Statesboro recognized as the leading community it is.

We would like to see the city fathers appropriate a sum of money that our report might be able to stand up to those of other communities.

We would like to see the Garden Club handle the city beautification progress, the Junior Chamber "clean-up week," the Chamber of Commerce new industries progress, etc. . . . each group giving special attention to one certain phase of the city's improvement.

We might even give the art department and the industrial arts department of the college an opportunity to tie in with the artwork that goes into the making of an attractive report.

Statesboro can win this thing.

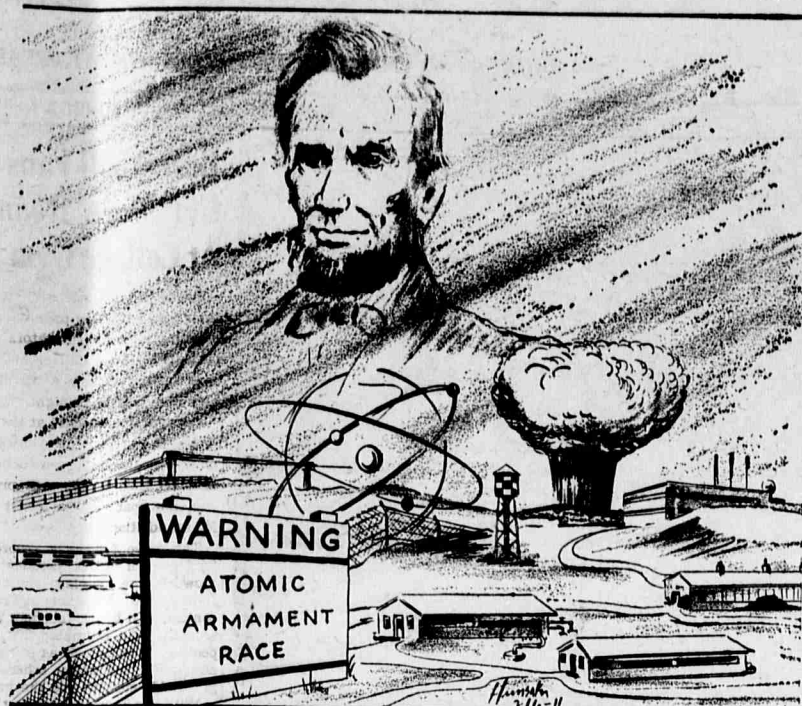

If we can get a sponsor.

Verse for This Week

TIME was, I shrank from what was right,
From fear or what was wrong;
I would not brave the sacred fight,
Because the foe was strong.
But now I cast that finer sense
And sorer shame aside.
Such dread of sin was indolence,
Such aim at heaven was pride.

Can Long Endure?

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

THERE'S A BIT OF POETRY in Jack McCartney, assistant to Marion Wise, president of the Georgia Railway Company.

For only a man with a love for the beautiful could have dreamed up the idea of dedicating the Nantux Hanks II with beautiful flowers and sending her from Savannah to Atlanta.

That's just what he did.

Last Saturday we went to Atlanta.

We boarded the Nancy at Dover and soon after making ourselves comfortable, pretty ladies came along and pinned lovely camellias on our coat lapels and invited us to the lounge car to the array of Savannah's loveliest camellias.

We accepted. And it was lovely. The entire lounge car was given over to the flower which has etched itself into the hearts and lives of the people of South Georgia.

There were dozens of arrangements—camellias with azaleas . . . camellias with moss . . . camellias alone.

The snack bar was blanketed with blooms, the walls behind the snack bar were covered with them, hundreds and hundreds.

A car full of camellias.

Savannah going to the Camellia Show at the Biltmore Hotel in Atlanta.

With the flowers were many of the Professors on the court.

We like that sort of cooperation.

The college gym has been enlarged once. Now comes the "Little Man" who, for the last two years, has given us such a hot outfit that he is screaming for more and more space.

The Professors have burnt up the floors all over this section.

More than 1,200 people crowded the small gym to see them play the Appalachian game, which the Professors won 79 to 56. That night, 200 were turned away from the doors and many who did manage to get inside the doors couldn't see the game.

The "Little Man's" team is ranking third in average scoring in the National Intercollegiate Basketball Association. With a game-scoring average of 77.4 they are just below St. Francis College of Pennsylvania and the University of Montana in the statistics.

The Strayer Survey Report, sponsored by the University System, recently proposed a $400,000 gymnasium for our college here. The present gym got a $35,000 going over last year and with the Teachers' hotter 'n a firepopper they need more space—before they explode.

Let's help "The Little Man" keep his boys hot.

Let's help the college get him a new gym.

Therein Lies Our Future

MAX LOCKWOOD, superintendent of the Statesboro Recreation Department, reports this week that Memorial Park is becoming increasingly popular with more and more people participating in the program. "Citizens of all ages," he says.

The Community Center is one of the best investments the city of Statesboro and its citizens have. It also shows up vaguely on the city's balance sheet.

But an accounting of our investment in youth cannot be put in dollars and cents by an accountant.

It is something too intangible. It is something too precious to be thought of in terms of dollars and cents.

Acknowledged to be one of the best recreation programs in the Southeast, we must keep it so. We must protect our investment in our youth.

For therein lies our future.

Which Way Out?

PHILOSOPHY SAYS: Think your way out. Politics says: Spend your way out. Industry says: Work your way out. Communism says: Strike your way out. Fascism says: Bluff your way out. The Bible says: Pray your way out. But Christ says: "I am the way out."—Andrew Johnson, "Prison Mirror."

DOTS.

STRICTLY FOR THE LADIES

Beauty Counselor, a line of cosmetics born in 1931 in Detroit, Michigan, is being introduced to ladies of Waycross. I know, because I'm one of their "counselors."

Their product cannot be purchased over the counter—instead, the counselors work by appointment and give presentations (actual facials and trained tips on the correct care for each type of skin) in the home.

The first page of the presentation brochure quotes Ruth Murrin in Good Housekeeping Magazine: "To learn to be a beauty, there's no place like home." The personal skin analysis and makeup lets you "try before you buy," thus preventing cosmetic mistakes.

The old way of buying makeup resulted in purchases that did nothing for your particular type of skin. Perhaps you were allowed to try the lipstick on your hand, but that was an unsatisfactory trial, and I'll bet there are several untried shades and the house right now, just because you didn't like the effect when you finally smoothed it on.

The Beauty Counselor will let you try several shades—gives you trained color advice, and you can see how "Robin Red" or "Holly-berry" looks with your complexion and costume. You can dabble in your heart's content until you find YOUR shade.

The counselors strive for make-up that doesn't look made-up. The kits contain everything from cleansers to colognes, and each skin type, whether dry, normal, oily, or combination, gets the correct cleansing, lubrication, stimulation, and protection.

Their skin care is based on what you do for your body. You know it's good to bathe—and it's vitally important to cleanse your face. You know it's good to exercise; similarly, your face needs stimulation. You have to eat to live; in our civilization and climate, the skin needs, not feeding, but lubrication. And, lastly, you dress, not for modesty, but for protection.

Beauty Counselor, you protect the face from the ill effects of dirt and soot by a special face dress or "protection."

Mrs. Brundage, of Atlanta, is regional director for this line, and she brought Jo White, of Bainbridge, with her Wednesday to give me a booster shot. Mrs. Brundage gave presentations to two ladies with whom I had appointments and one of them wants to be a counselor. So, now, we are two.

Didja hear about the woman who had a mudpack in a beauty parlor and when asked about the results, said, "The mudpack was just fine, but when they took it off, we were right back to my same old face." There are no mudpacks in this line, but there is a perfectly refreshing ritual called "Dinner Party Pickup." It's fascinating to start from a clean slate and with the correct creams, powder and rouge, create a lovely illusion.

I'm on their products—from the feminine aids and foaming shampoos to a recently added Bee-man's line for men. It should be a lot more expensive than any comparable line of cosmetics; in fact, it is less expensive than most.

You know how I preach that staying busy keeps you happy? That something to plan for can revitalize you? Well, I've stopped hitting my head because I don't believe a counselor should have rough, chewed-up fingers. I find myself subconsciously wondering if a new acquaintance would look better with Fair or Medium Rose powder. I'm budgeting my days to allow time for two or three presentations a day and I'm getting along all right with my housework.

Beth will go with me as long as she behaves. Meeting and talking with strangers is good for everyone and I believe it will keep her from being timid.

Farm Bureau

Farm Bureau Not Yet Strong Enough, Says H. R. Yandle, Federation Director

The Georgia Farm Bureau is not yet strong enough to make certain desired legislation be passed, H. R. Yandle, director of public relations for the federation, stated to the Brookfield Farm Bureau Wednesday night.

Mr. Yandle pointed out as proof of his statement how the Farm Bureau's livestock sanitation and hospitalization bills were treated by the legislature at this session. He stated that all the opposition to these bills came from counties where the Farm Bureau did not have many members.

Farmers in the United States face some of the same kind of treatment in Congress, Mr. Yandle believes. He said that while farm bills are being introduced, the program now of 80 percent or parity was slated to start dropping to 80 percent, then to 75 percent, and would range from 75 to 90 percent, while labor legislation had just raised the minimum wage to 75 cents per hour from 40 cents and a bill had already been drafted to raise it from 75 cents to one dollar per hour. He could not see the logic in one group's support going up all the time while the farmer's support program had to take a drop.

A stronger Farm Bureau is the only answer, Mr. Yandle says.

Livestock Clinic

Be Held Feb. 15

A livestock clinic will be held at Bulloch Stockyards on Wednesday, February 15, from about 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., County Agent Byron Dyer announces.

Dr. L. R. Smith, Atlanta Veterinary Service livestock specialist from Athens; a livestock specialist from Tifton, and others will participate in the program.

Feeding, breeding, and caring for livestock, as well as disease prevention, will make up the discussion part of the meeting. Dr. Smith will show several sick animals to show livestock men just how various diseases affect them and what can be done to prevent such diseases.

J. V. Tillman, manager of this stockyard, and P. C. Parker Jr., manager of the Livestock Commission Company barn, are cooperating with the clinic and both of them urge all livestock farmers to attend.

Cattle Have More Lice, Grubs Now

Cattle in Bulloch county seem to have more lice and grubs in their backs than normal. This may be due in part to the dry weather, as far as lice infestation is concerned. Dry weather is usually favorable to lice on hogs and cattle and fleas in and around buildings.

Rotenone is perhaps one of the best and safest remedies available for killing lice on cattle and, if rubbed into the backs will kill the grubs just as effectively. 4-H Club boys who feed cattle for the show always dust their calves several times when they are put on feed to kill all the lice and grubs.

After dusting the animal a mule brush is generally used to work some of the grub dust down to the hide of the cattle. The dust will not hurt the animal if they do not lick it. Rotenone can be procured from any feed and seed store, most grocery stores, and many drug stores.

Electricity Aids In

Potato Production

Electricity and sweet potatoes make an excellent combination. Electricity will help produce and keep sweet potatoes and sweet potatoes will sell good and help pay the current bill. R. C. Hall and his family find the two inseparable.

Mr. Hall first used an electric cable in his sweet potato bed to grow plants. This electrically heated bed grew plants in 17 to 21 days in the field. That got him off to an early start. Lots of potatoes were sold early at a good price. But he had some 900 bushels that did not sell.

These excess potatoes were put in a curing house heated with electricity. The potatoes were cured just as well as any kind dried potatoes from commercial plants. They are now being sold at a favorable price.

Mr. Hall thinks it is essential that good clean planting seed be used and nothing but the best potatoes, free of any disease, be put in the curing house. Good eating and planting potatoes are now coming out of this house.

N. J. Cox found that electricity heated the beds economically also, and that this is a good practice, but Mr. Cox figured he might use his tobacco barns profitably to cure the potatoes in. His calculations were right. These potatoes are also good quality for eating and planting.

Carl Lier was one of the first farmers in the county to discover that electricity and sweet potatoes worked well together. He has grown plants for the past two years for about 30 to 35 cents per thousand on his electrically heated bed.

For Chairman Board of County Commissioners
To the Voters of Bulloch County,
I wish to make official announcement of my candidacy for Chairman of the Bulloch County Commissioners of Roads and Revenues in the approaching Bulloch County Democratic Primary, and subject to its rules and regulations, I shall deeply appreciate the vote and influence of each voter of Bulloch.

WHAT'S NEW IN THIS PICTURE?

Well, just look how the SPECIAL shines new! Brightwork on the fenders and around all windows. A name plate—and inside, door arrests, a robe rail, an extra ash tray. See the SPECIAL in de luxe finish at your dealer's.

Turn in HENRY J. TAYLOR, AIC Network, every Monday evening.

Here's where Thrift and Glamor meet

Recognize this sprightly traveler? Yes, it's the Buick SPECIAL 6-passenger Sedan that has caught the public fancy not only on its sleek lines, but on its easily-reachable price.

But notice anything new on it? That's right — gleaming trim and the name plate "SPECIAL" bright.

ening up the fenders. Brightwork around the windshield and windows, too. And when you swing the door open you'll see still other touches of added luxury—side armrests, front and rear, a robe rail, an extra ash tray.

It's all still mighty thrifty, because this strapping straight-eight sells for less than many sixes.

Frugal in other ways too — gas mileage, for instance, is surprising so many people they are writing us in delight about it.

But here we've added extra glamor. Stepped up, at small step-up in price, the luxury look and surroundings of cars that would normally be much higher.

Why not drop in and see for yourself, both how these added touches dress up this SPECIAL, and how close it is in price to cars of much less room, riding comfort, standing, front and rear, a robe rail, an extra ash tray.

Your dealer will be glad to see you — glad to show you how this traveler handles—glad to sign you up for prompt delivery.

The wedding of Miss Mary Jean Sell, of Savannah, and John McCormick, of Brooklet, was solemnized Sunday afternoon, February 5, at 4:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Sell, in Savannah.

The home was attractively decorated with snapdragons, carnations, and palms.

Mrs. W. D. Lee, of Brooklet, rendered a program of pre-nuptial selections and Mrs. Tom P. Bean, of Savannah, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied by the piano by Mrs. Roy Howard.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard Allman, pastor of Savannah Baptist Church, in the presence of close relatives and friends of the bride and groom.

The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar with candles on either side. The candles were lighted by Dianne Clark, of Savannah, and Miss Kay McCormick, of Brooklet, sister of the groom.

The bride's first attendant was her sister, Miss Ann Sell, of Savannah. Harry McCormick, of Brooklet, was his brother's best man.

The attractive bride was dressed in a going-away suit of blue with matching accessories and wore a corsage of gardenias.

The bride received her degree in home economics at the University of Georgia last December. She was a member of the Alpha Delta Phi social sorority, and Phi Upsilon Omicron home economics fraternity.

Miss Beattie Moore, of Atlanta, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. William McElveen, of Brooklet, spent the week end with Miss Jimmie Lou Williams.

Monday morning the high school students of Stillson and Brooklet assembled in the Brooklet school auditorium, where they were addressed by Dr. Grace Sloan Overton, of New York.

At 2 o'clock all members of the two faculties attended the meeting of the Brooklet County Teachers Association at Statesboro. Music for the occasion was furnished by Mrs. W. D. Lee and some of her pupils.

At this meeting Dr. Overton was guest speaker.
