

Good for Them -- Good for Us

TWENTY-TWO Bulloch county citizens bought 72 of the 305 purebred Hereford cattle sold here last Friday in one of the largest purebred cattle sales ever held in this section.

To us, these men made a definite contribution to this community, even though it stems from a selfish motive—that of improving the blood of their individual cattle herds.

The sale attracted nationwide interest. Buyers from six Southeastern states were at the sale, inquiries came from 20 states, as far as Seattle, Wash. More than 2,500 people tried to get in the auction ring during the sale.

And approximately 90 percent of the purebreds will remain in Georgia.

The herd, belonging to the late M. B. Hughey, of Texas, was one of the most outstanding herds in south Texas. Because of the demand for cattle this spring in the Southeastern area, W. F. Smith, of the Smithdale Farms, Limestone, Tenn., arranged for the sale to be held here.

Representative from many agricultural interests in the South were at the sale. Bill Wright of the American Hereford Association, Carl Parker of the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad Company, G. W. Bible, president of the Georgia Hereford Association; Charles C. Bell, livestock specialist; W. Tap Bennett and Jones Purcell of the Central of Georgia Railroad; Lyle Roberts of the Hereford Journal; H. L. Draper of the Georgia Livestock Journal; John Jenkins of the Southern Livestock Journal; O. R. Peterson of the National Auction Company; Bob Cody of the Florida Cattleman; L. J. Moore of the Southeastern Association; Ralph Mack of the Georgia Hereford Association; and George Tyre of Fort Worth, Texas.

Here were people representing the top livestock groups of the nation in Statesboro.

Leading livestock growers from neighboring states were here.

All talking and promoting purebred cattle for our community.

And 72 of the 305 cattle sold will make their pastures in Bulloch county. We commend the citizens of Bulloch county who bought these cattle.

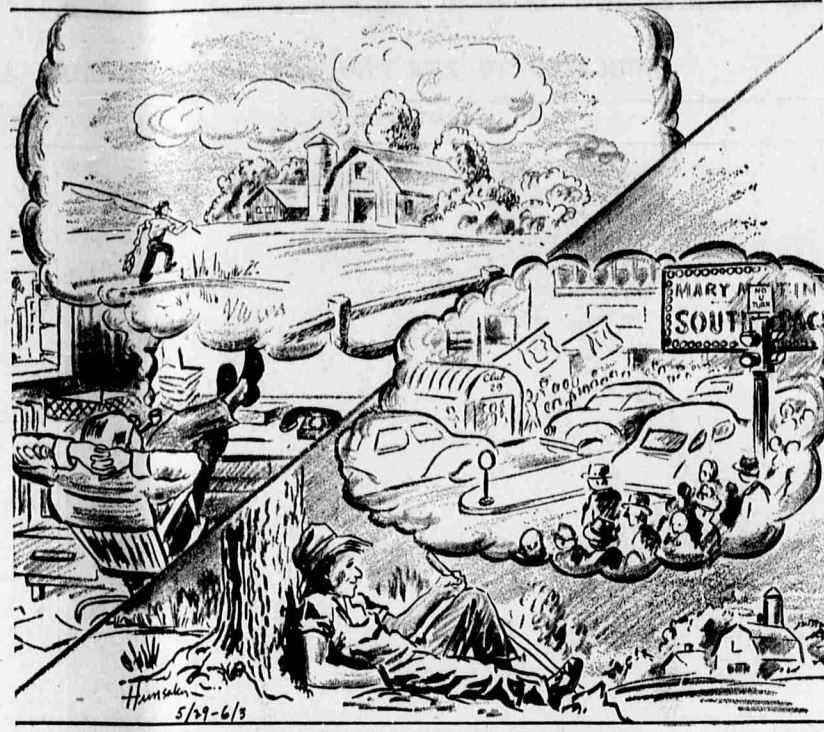

We commend the promoters of the sale.

We commend W. F. Smith upon his selection of Bulloch county and Statesboro as the marketing place for these cattle.

It's the biggest thing that has happened to give impetus to the livestock industry in our community.

And what's good for the livestock industry here is good for every citizen of the community.

Wanted: A Two-Week Vacation

Editor's Uneasy Chair

WITH THE CLOSING of Statesboro High School, our attention is called to a phase of work that goes on down there that little publicity is given—the work of the Industrial Arts department.

Last week there was an exhibit of part of the work the boys and girls in this department have done this year. It was professional looking in its quality and indicates excellent instruction and keen interest.

Don Coleman is the instructor of the class.

In talking about the exhibit his class had in the center window of H. Minkovitz and Son's Department Store, Mr. Coleman waxed enthusiastic—and that's the way we like to hear people talk about their work.

We overheard a spectator as he was looking in the window: "Those students at the high school certainly develop an appreciation of consumer goods and a respect for materials and tools and good design."

Mr. Coleman has this to say: "A phase of the general education program in the modern school curriculum, that the Industrial Arts section is enabling students to coordinate activity of 'mind and muscle' is gleaned from the splendid exhibit and the specific projects made by the boys and girls."

"Aside from a hobby, the useful projects being made through the courses are finding a ready use in the homes of the students."

"Some people commented on the exceptionally fine household articles and admitted they could 'come in handy' in any home."

"Through the exhibition the general public was afforded an opportunity to casually glance at the operations directed in the Industrial Arts division."

"There are two divisions of the general shop program in Statesboro High School: the beginning shop, in which the necessary operations to complete a project are done with hand tools, and the advanced general shop in which most of the operations are done with the aid of tools."

"In the woodworking area students learn the names and uses of basic hand tools and power machinery, kinds of lumber, glues, nails, and screws. They make book ends, fruit bowls, table lamps, magazine racks, end tables, chairs, and almost any home furnishings."

"In the sheet metal area students learn the hand tool operations, the different types of metals, kinds and sizes of rivets, uses of solder, and many other sheet metal operations. Students make dustpans, funnels, cookie sheets, and many other useful projects."

"Students learn in the leather area the kinds and types of leather, how to cut it, how to design, and to do the whip and buttonhole types of lacing, etc. Some of the useful projects made in leather include billfolds, lady's bags, book ends, and book markers."

"In the plastics area students learn how plastics are made, types of plastics, how they are used, and how easy plastics work. Students have made such items as letter openers, letter racks, lamps, and novelties."

Instructor Coleman lists the objectives of Industrial Arts as follows:

1) To develop active interest in industrial life; methods of production, distribution; 2) to develop ability to select, care for and use properly things the student buys or uses; 3) to develop an appreciation of good workmanship and design; 4) to develop an attitude of pride or interest in the ability to do useful things; 5) to develop in each pupil a feeling of self-reliance and confidence in his ability to deal with people and care for himself in unusual or unfamiliar situations; 6) to develop the habit of self-discipline which requires one to do a thing when it should be done, whether it is a pleasant task or not; 7) to develop the habit of an orderly method or procedure in the performance of any task; 8) to develop a thoughtful attitude in the matter of making things easy and pleasant for others; 9) to develop elementary skills in the use of the more common tools and machines, and a knowledge of the methods or procedure in tasks frequently encountered by the average man, together with a knowledge of the working qualities and characteristics of some of our most used materials."

Don told us that he intends to make arrangements to hold classes for adults this summer. So if you or your parents or young people are interested in such a class, call us or Don.

"THE EDITOR"

A Poem by Dudley A. Reid
(Clipped from The Iowa Publisher)

Who writes John Smith has married Miss.

That Bill Jones has a son;

But when the paper goes to press

Swaps names with Bill and John?

—The Editor

Who pens a boost for Charley Brown,

A roast for old Joe Post;

And then decides to leave the town,

Because the names got crossed?

—The Editor

Who says the groom wears navy blue,

A tie of somber grey;

And that the bride is lovely, too,

In just a big bouquet?

—The Editor

Who says the stork brought farm-er Green

A pretty eight-pound lass;

And that to Kate and Sammy Dean

Is born a young jackass?

—The Editor

Who writes a tale in comic mood

About the new town band;

But no laughs—a suit instead—

For fifty thousand grand?

—The Editor

Who writes up a big funeral,

With all details affixed;

And a big epel on wedding bells,

Then gets the headlines mixed?

—The Editor

Who boosts a man for Senator,

And tears his shirt in twain;

Then asks him for some small favor,

But asks—and asks in vain?

—The Editor

Who helps each friend and citizen

To get some honored post;

And wears out heart and soul and pen,

And never counts the cost?

—The Editor

Who dies at last and goes to hell

But finds it not too hot,

For he has been heat-tempered well

By the battles he has fought?

—The Editor

Who at his lonely, and demise,

Needs just one line of love;

He lies at last where all his lies

Shall vex his soul no more?

—The Editor

Mrs. Chas. E. Cone Makes Annual Report to Statesboro Woman's Club

It has been a great pleasure to me this year to be joined with you as your president of the Statesboro Woman's Club.

"These have been inspiring days in which we have worked together constantly trying to bring to our work new visions and new zeal."

"Space and time make it impossible to enumerate all the worthwhile things which have been accomplished."

"Our theme for 1949-50 is the Conservation of Human Resources. All of the monthly topics are concerned with community improvement. It is our belief that if we keep our people healthy, give them wholesome recreation and a clean community in which to live, we shall be contributing to the conservation of human resources."

"Our club has been especially active in promoting the American Red Cross blood program for Bulloch county. Many members attended the required course offered and are official Grey Ladies. We helped canvass for blood donors and serve on each visit of the Bloodmobile in the capacity of hostesses."

"We have cooperated with city officials to keep going a newly-organized youth recreation program. You know the Woman's Club gave to the city the use of the club building for recreation. Our club helped with a recreation drive for funds, and we have contributed $25.00 for improvement of the kitchen. There are two full-time directors who are doing a wonderful job."

"The Statesboro Woman's Club is proud to have a part in building the new Bulloch County Library, which is a real asset to the community. It is quite an asset to the city and county."

"The club gave $36.00 to the Book-of-the-Month Club. Two memorial books were given, and there is a corner in the library where Federated papers and club news are kept. We even contributed a baby playpen for mothers' use while in the library. The garden committee beautified the grounds with appropriate flowers and shrubbery."

"This committee also planted 6,000 azaleas and 75 camellias along the highways in parks about the town. Special attention is called to the park in front of the hospital. They sponsored a successful camera show and a Baby Revue, the proceeds from which will be used to further beautify the town. They also placed a camera book in the library for public use."

"We have increased our membership this year and are proud to say we are a $1.00 per member for Tallulah Club."

"We federated the East Side Woman's Club of Statesboro, and being the only club to federate a new club in our district, President Mrs. E. K. Overstreet gave us a silver pitcher, to be kept until won by another club."

"Your president has attended each regular and special meeting of the board, and has presided at each regular meeting of the club. Indeed, I have been happy to serve you and have been inspired to greater and higher things."

"As president, I highly appreciate the splendid cooperation of the members of the club in the work we have undertaken this year, and I wish to express to each of you my gratitude for your loyalty, love, and efficient endeavor which has given to this administration whatever measure of success it may have had."

"Respectfully,"

"MRS. CHAS. E. CONE, President, 1949-50."

Officers of the Statesboro Woman's Club are:

THE BAND STAND

STATESBORO HIGH SCHOOL

By CUYTON McLENDON
(Editor's Note: This being the last band column of the school year, Ann Evans, the regular writer, is allowing the bandmaster to be the guest writer.)

Now that the 1949-50 school year has come to a close, the band while looking back on a very successful year, nevertheless is looking forward to next year, when we hope to enjoy even bigger and better things. With a very large class of beginners starting their instruction, along with a number of the older members, and having lost a small number by graduation, the future looks bright indeed.

The members of the band and the bandmaster are very grateful to the generous people of Statesboro and Bulloch county for the splendid support given the band this year, and at the same time solicit their help in expanding the instrumental program in the local schools.

We are continuing the policy for a time of electing a senior to the position of head drum major, and in addition appointing an assistant drum major who will be preparing for that place the following year. Next year's drum major will be Ann Evans and the assistant drum major will be Berta Sue West.

We will be looking forward to seeing you in this column next year.

Thank you, Ann, for a good band column, and you, Mr. Coleman, for giving us the valuable space in your paper for it.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olliff Sr. will leave during the week end to be present a graduation exercises at which time Frank Olliff Jr. will receive his B.S. degree in pharmacy.

MISS HARNBERGER FETED AT LOVELY SEATED TEA
Sewell House was the scene on Tuesday of a delightful seated tea honoring Miss Agnes Harnsberger, bride-elect of Friday.

Entertaining for her were Mrs. Clyde Mitchell, Mrs. Dan Lester, and Mrs. E. C. Oliver.

Gladioli and gardenias were used in the decorations. Guests were served assorted sandwiches, home-made cookies and tea. Miss Harnsberger was the recipient of a crystal flower bowl in her pattern.

The bride-elect was charming in a figured pink bemberg, worn with a wide brim ice straw hat. Miss Jane Rogers of Richmond, Va., was smartly attired in a blue polka dot frock and a black straw sailor with white brim.

Miss George Johnston delighted the guests with her comical doll, Jungle Jolly. Since he had forgotten to bring his book, "Advice to Brides," Mrs. Johnson collected from each guest sundries which contained advice on "How to Keep Your Husband Happy" or it could have been "How to KEEP Your Husband!"

Guests included Miss Harnsberger, Miss Jane Smith of Richmond, Va., sister of the groom; Mrs. T. L. Harnsberger, Mrs. J. B. Woods Sr., Mrs. Don Thompson, Mrs. Sto.
