Miss Lila Brady
Weds J. H. Brim
Sunday, June 17

Among the important weddings of June 17 was that of Miss Pearl Lila Brady, daughter of Mrs. Rufus Brady and the late Mr. Brady, to John Henry Brim of Sasser, Ga. The lovely summer wedding was performed Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the First Methodist Church with the Rev. John S. Lough officiating in the presence of a large assemblage of guests.

As a background for the lovely rainbow wedding, the church and choir rail were covered with white satin. The arch was outlined with Oregon fern and on the chancel rail burning tapers rose from Oregon flat fern. Branches of candelabra with cathedral tapers were entwined with plumosa fern. The candelabra on the lower tier held bouquets of Easter lilies. Palms extended the altar area. A beautiful sunburst of white chrysanthemums bordered with white gladioli centered the chancel. Clusters of lilies caught with white satin streamers marked a gateway for the bride and groom.

Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Roger Holland, aunt of the bride, played a medley of nuptial tunes, including the traditional wedding music. Dr. Roger Holland sang "Because," Billy and Bobby Holland sang "This Alone." Dr. Holland sang "The Lord's Prayer" at the conclusion of the ceremony. The vocalists were cousins of the bride.

Usher-groomsman were John F. Godbee, W. R. Legett, Ben Ray Turner, and N. M. Jordan of Statesboro. Joe Brim of Camilla was his brother's best man.

THE BULLOCH HERALD, THURSDAY, JUNE 21, 1951

Mrs. Brady, mother of the bride, wore a marquisette gown blending three shades of green. The middle of the crushed bodice was of the deepest shade, as were the front and back panels. Other gowns of the full skirts and rich which framed the neckline in demure fashion were of lighter shades of green. She wore matching guantlets and carried an orchid fan with orchid gossamers.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. John F. Godbee, wearing aqua; Mrs. Ben Ray Turner, in American Beauty; Mrs. John E. Griffin of Athens, in yellow; and Mrs. Joe Brim, in violet. Their dresses were identical in style and in three-tones. All wore orchid gossamers in their hair and carried orchid fans with similar bouquets.

Given in marriage by her brother, Edwin Brady, of Washington, D. C., the bride was radiant in her ivory satin and Renaissance lace wedding gown. Double the lace satin formed a low neckline which was attached to the illusion yoke, edged with seed pearls. The close-fitting lace sleeves, tapering to a point over the hands were fastened at the wrist with tiny satin buttons. The full skirt featured lace panels in the front, the double panels of lace extending in the back to form a graceful circular train. Her fingertip veil of illusion, loaned to her by her cousin, Laura Margaret Godbee, fell from a lace and satin tiara in filigree design studded with seed pearls. The bride carried her white orchid bouquet with stephanotis on her satin prayer book. For something blue she wore a blue garter, and she carried a rosepoint lace handkerchief 42 years old. Her step-in in her shoe came from Mamie Hall Porritt in England.

Out-of-Town Guests
Those from out-of-town attending the wedding were: Mrs. J. D. Brim, Sasser; Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Jordan Jr., of Sandersville; Mrs. E. J. Vann, Camilla; Mr. and Mrs. Warren Baker, Norman Park;

Ogeechee Farm Bureau To Celebrate July 4 On Banks Of Ogeechee River

Ogeechee's July Farm Bureau meeting will be held at Williams Landing on the banks of the Ogeechee River July 4, with lunch being served at 1 p. m. J. A. Hart, chairman of the July committee, announced at the regular meeting Tuesday night.

Ten or 12 logs were donated for barbecuing and the ladies will supply the barbecue with a basket lunch without meat.

C. W. Zetterow, a bloodmobile chairman, reported that due to a mix-up in dates the community did not participate in the May round as expected, but that the group for the next trip was lined up.

Plans for opening the canning plant were made at the meeting and the adverse publicity being given to the farmer's share of the national income was discussed.

WARNOCK BUREAU—The Warnock Farm Bureau enjoyed a social hour Wednesday night. Ben H. Smith, chapter president, announced that the July meeting would be held at the Warnock Farm Bureau on Wednesday night.

The group was warned against buying grease and oil that is not generally approved by machinery manufacturers, especially from traveling salesmen they do not know.

SINKHOLE BUREAU—Soybeans are a money crop in Bulloch county. R. H. Creech and H. G. Fiddler of the Buckeye have as their new pastor this year the Rev. Jacob E. Lackey. Their former pastor, the Rev. David Aycock, will direct the churches of the Uvalde charge.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Brannen of Lyons visited their parents here last Sunday.

The W. S. C. S. of the Rural Methodist Church met at the home of Mrs. Hubert Smith last Monday afternoon, following the program, "To Make All Things New."

Mrs. Smith, assisted by her sister, Mrs. Heckle, served a desert course.

Mr. and Mrs. Craig Marsh returned home last Thursday after a wedding trip in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. They left Saturday for Fernandina, Fla., where he will be employed until school opens in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wynn of Nevada and Mrs. Jim Free and Mrs. Sun Lloyd of Swainsboro were spend-the-day guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Wynn last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Roberts spent several days last week visiting places of interest in southern Florida and Cuba. On their return they spent the week end in Atlanta with Mr. Roberts' brother, Mr. Langley Roberts, and family.

They were accompanied to Atlanta by Mr. and Mrs. Willie Finch and Mrs. Finch's mother, Mrs. Rachel Collins.

Mrs. Melvin Roberson and children, Jane and Rob, have been guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Wynn, for some time. Her husband joined here here for the week end to accompany them to their home in Tarboro, N. C.

Bulloch March Of Dimes Nets $657

Walter Harrison, of Millen, first district chairman, stated that $23,742.22 was contributed by the eight counties in the first congressional district. This compares with $20,244.31 collected in the 1950 campaign.

Highlights of the program for the week will be civilian defense problems families are facing today and an excursion to Rock Eagle Park. On Thursday the group will attend a garden party at Memorial Garden. They will also have an opportunity to attend an organ recital and the state chorus recital in the old chapel. On Thursday night Mrs. Brannen will represent the group in the state dress review.

Summer Session At College Big

Tuesday night, June 12, 995 students and teachers had registered at Georgia Teachers College for the 1951 first summer school session, with more expected to enroll.

All available space on the campus is taken and school buses are bringing teachers and students from distances as far as 60 miles.

The first general assembly of the summer session was held June 18, at which time Robert A. Arnold, Chairman of the Board of Regents of the University System, was the speaker.

The college is offering courses this summer which will emphasize general workshops for teachers and a seminar in "Current Educational Problems." Dr. Thomas C. Little will direct the workshops and Dr. Marvin S. Pittman, president emeritus, the seminar.

The college is conducting a workshop, which began last week in Savannah. Dr. Henry L. Ashmore is the director, assisted by Mrs. Mary Dan Coleman, formerly of Statesboro, from the State Department of Education, Miss Helen Doster of Grady county, and a resource staff.

A wedding trip in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. They left Saturday for Fernandina, Fla., where he will be employed until school opens in September.

Sgt. Barber Takes Part On Bloody Nose Ridge

With the Third Infantry Division in Korea, supporting tankers and other observers report they never saw a better fight than the one-to-one battle the 3rd Rangers Company made recently when they took back "Bloody Nose Ridge" from the Communists.

Sergeant Harold Barber, husband of Mrs. Bobbie Mae Barber, who lives on Route 3, Statesboro, and the son of Mrs. Alie Parrish Blevins, who lives at 1107 Capitol avenue, Atlanta, is a member of the Rangers, who rode tanks to the base of their objective, a nose-shaped hill above a small town.

The Rangers, commanded by Captain Tod Tidwell, of Nashville, Tenn., known to his men as "Tennessee Toddy," stormed the hill in face of enemy grenades and small arms fire.

"The grenades were pretty thick," Barber said. "One Ranger reached up and caught one and threw it back in the Communist's face."

The Rangers closed in with fixed bayonets for a hand-to-hand fight, jumping into the trenches to get the enemy.

One of the hard-fighting Rangers was wounded in the face and lost a leg, but kept on after the Chinese with his Browning automatic rifle.

Another Ranger walked through the heavy fire, helmet setting on the back of his head, and yelled, "Let's go men. If they haven't hit me yet, I doubt they'll hit you."

With that spirit the Rangers took "Bloody Nose Ridge" back from the Communists in their own version of a spring offensive.

Apple trees may have been damaged by cold last winter, according to George H. Piror, Extension Service horticulturist, and part of

Whitfield County
Setting for a Peaceful Craft
FOUNDED 1867
COUNTY SEAT, DALTON

Whitfield county was the scene of thirteen battles during the War Between the States. Sherman's Atlanta Campaign opened May 1, 1864, at Dalton, and every foot of ground between Dalton and Atlanta was bitterly contested. Today Dalton is the world center of the making and the fashion styling of tufted bedspreads and rugs.

In this and other Georgia counties, the United States Brewers Foundation works constantly to maintain wholesome conditions where beer and ale are sold. Close attention is given areas near camps of the Armed Forces, and both military officials and Georgia law enforcement officers have commended the Foundation's self-regulation program. Retailer educational meetings offer sound suggestions for continued operation in the community's interest.

Buick's newest engine—the F-263 Fireball—gives this year's SPECIAL the highest power in SPECIAL history

Remember-only BUICK has a FIREBALL ENGINE

WE get a chuckle, sometimes, over all the fuss that's being made about "new engines."

You'll note that the key feature of their design in every case is the valve-in-head principle—whether these engines are already in production or still in the dream stage.

Fact is, it takes this design to get the most from "high compression"—and how high you can go depends upon the available fuel. Using this design, wartime aircraft engines operated on 100 octane gasoline.

It also takes this design to get the more-miles-per-gallon which folks like in an automobile.

So what gives us a chuckle is this: No other type of engine has ever been used in a Buick—which means that Buick owners, all along, have been getting a lot of things that others have just "discovered."

When you come to check the field you'll find that there's a sweet freedom from roughness to this engine's operation—tracing to the fact that the whole mechanism itself is engineered smooth, and the further fact that every Fireball Engine gets a Microplate balancing after assembly.

But that's not all. They get something more—vastly more—because today's Fireball Engine has one outstanding feature found in no other automobile. That name "Fireball" isn't just a trick word. It describes what happens in this engine. Intruding fuel rolls into a swirling ball of gasoline vapor compacted around the spark plug. And when the fat spark sets it off, a cyclone of power lets go.

Of course, a Fireball Engine, being a valve-in-head, keeps pace with high-test fuel, when it comes to "high compression."

But what's more important in the present state of the world is this: A Fireball Engine is designed to handle the not-so-high-test fuel we may be getting in the not-too-distant future.

So, if you want to sample all that's fine in motorcar engines, your Buick dealer is the man to see. Come in soon, and find out what the rest of the world has been missing.

Then We'll Know

ON MONDAY morning of last week 18 automobile drivers paid fines or forfeited cash bonds for speeding on the streets of Statesboro. Two drivers paid fines for running through a red light, and one paid a fine for making a left turn out of Courtland street into North Main street at the courthouse.

On Monday morning of this week five drivers paid fines or forfeited cash bonds for speeding; one for running through a red light; one for running through a red light and stop sign; one for running through a red light and reckless driving; one for reckless driving; and two for driving while drunk, one of these two causing a wreck.

Twenty-one the week of June 4, and 12 the week of June 11.

One would say from these figures that the racetrack drivers are slowing down. But you and you and you know 'tis not so—not yet.

But our city police are working at it. We're waiting for them to stop one of the city's prominent citizens and present him or her with a summons to Mayor Cone's Monday morning court.

Then we'll know how sincere our effort is to slow down our city's dangerous traffic.

We Think It Commendable

WE'RE WONDERING if the Statesboro City Board of Education, or if the State Department of Education sent Don Coleman, Leffler Atkins, and Miss Tootle any extra pay for the work they did in taking 23 Statesboro High School students on a three-day trip into Florida, a week after school was out, with all their school records in and officially closed.

We're wondering if they will be given any credit on their "40-hour-week" for the days they "gave" to the children to insure them of a wonderful time and the assurance of the children's safety they gave the parents.

Whether or not these three teachers—and all the teachers who give of their own free time to satisfy the insatiable desire of school children—received any additional pay or any credit on their "40-hour-week," we want them to know that we recognize their generosity in taking on such a task, just that those children might have a wonderful time.

And we think it commendable.

For Better Understanding

RECENTLY, the Bulloch County Commissioners gave the two newspapers here a statement of the county's financial operation for the first quarter of 1951.

It was not a complicated statement. It was simple.

Simple enough that anyone able to read could see how his money was being spent by the county.

We commend the commissioners on wanting the statement made public. We commend them on letting the public know that the books of the county are open at all times for the inspection of any citizen desiring a more complete picture of the county's operations.

We suggest that the city authorities make public a statement of the city's financial operations similar to the one made by the county.

It makes for a healthier state of mind of the citizens of a community—knowing what goes with their money.

He's a Good Leader

WE COMMENT the teachers of Bulloch County on their naming Max Brown as the president of the county GEA.

We believe him to be a good man to lead the teachers for 1951-52.

Our opinion of him was formed when he and his faculty tackled the job of running the Portal school during the months following the fire which destroyed much of the school plant. We knew it to be a tough job, and he seems to have done it well.

We came to know him during the school year and he stacks up as worthy of the position the teachers have given him.

Beware of Hitch-Hikers

BEWARE of the hitch-hiker. This is the warning given by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, to vacation motorists. Mr. Hoover warns that even the most innocent and harmless-looking hitch-hikers may be criminals, or may be unable to resist the temptation to commit a crime afforded when a motorist obligingly provides him a golden opportunity.

No person in his right mind would entrust $1,000, $1,500 or more to a total stranger in the hope that the stranger would not steal the money. Yet, when a stranger is taken into an automobile worth that amount of money, he is being offered precisely that opportunity should he care to avail himself of it. The temptation to steal the money, possessions, and car of a generous driver is even greater than the temptation to commit other crimes, since it offers a ready-made avenue of escape in the victim's own car. The criminal does not even have to worry about such details as the ignition key, gasoline and money, and a big head start on the police. He knows that he can put hundreds of miles between himself and the scene of his crime, perhaps even before the crime is discovered.

The news daily contains accounts of crimes that result when some motorist picked up a hitch-hiker. The victims often admit that they knew better, but "made an exception" to help out some innocent-looking traveler. Criminals have been known to disguise themselves as college boys or service men in order to lure unsuspecting motorists into letting them get into the car. Once the rider is inside the car it is too late to correct the mistake, and there are criminals who will commit murder simply to enhance their own chances of escape from a lesser crime.

There is but one safe rule to follow. Make no exceptions. Never, under any circumstances, give a ride to a strange hitch-hiker.—Savannah Morning News.

They're Friendly Men

A FLORIDA NEWSPAPER editorializes that one reason its home city (St. Petersburg) is noted for friendliness and hospitality is because the men don't wear coats and ties in the summer.

We believe the editor has a point.

Haven't you noticed that the free-and-easy, relaxed individual is often the fellow who wears sport shirts, and is apt to be hatless and tieless?

His informal apparel is usually set off by a friendly smile, a ready handshake, and a kind word.

If women can wear pedal-pushers, slacks, shorts, and similar garments of leisure—not to mention Bikini bathing suits—there doesn't seem to be much excuse for the masculine race to sweat out the sunny days in coats, wilted collars, bedraggled neckties and other types of formal haberdashery.

Besides, slacks and shirts are cheaper.

Maybe that's one reason the informal male is a happy fellow. He's found a way to balance the budget . . . at least for the summer.

Wheel of Chance

GAMBLING is very much in the news these days. Many people are saying that many other people are making suckers out of themselves and selling our country down the river to the gambling bosses.

The evidence does seem to indicate that the average American, being free, independent, ambitious, and sometimes cocky, likes to take some kinds of chances.

Maybe you are not one of the 50,000,000 Americans who is a sucker for some form of gambling. Whether you are or not, remember this:

The steering wheel is a wheel of chance. Every time you take a driving risk you bet your life, your income, your vehicle load, and your family's welfare—against what? A few seconds of time. And during the rest of your life you can't win enough to make the odds favorable.

During 1950, we injured 26,000 persons on Georgia's highways and streets, and gambled away 879 lives and over $50,000,000.

A Camping Trip Proves a Trying Experience

By VIRGINIA RUSSELL

NO MATTER how young married couples are when they start rearing families, and no matter how much they themselves may like the great outdoors, the job of rearing children, and the job of their offspring, go off on a camping trip proves a trying experience.

For a good many days now, I have felt low, dispirited, and just plain sick. In this day of self-analysis and in an attempt to discover the source of my ailment, I began to check up on myself.

I gazed in the mirror and opened my mouth; the tongue looked normal; the gums didn't look anemic. I felt no throbbing pains in the head, no indication of high blood pressure. No soreness in the chest made me discount tuberculosis and heart trouble. Lacking the knowledge of, or skill in, tapping glands, I eliminated any trouble in these areas and gathered that my trouble wasn't physical at all.

Ray Atkins couldn't have his cigar in his mouth for he was burning from ear to ear when he was dressed like Mary and with her Little Lamb, played the piano solo, "My First Dancing Lesson." Ray was first to dance when the band played "Twinkle Toes," and "From a Wigwam."

And Charles Oliff (Jr.) must have been their first, well, maybe 25, years ago, as his son, Bob, looking for all the world like "Little Boy Blue," came tripping out on the stage and played three pieces.

Bing Phillips came out on the stage as an Indian and we know that Papa Phillips must have said, "That's my boy, all right." Young Bing played five short pieces.

Painter Brown (W. L.) didn't need any of his paint to make his face glow as his daughter, Amelia, all dressed up as "Jill," played three numbers. Henry Blitch red-died up as his son, Smets, diked out as "Jack," joined Amelia in a duet and played a couple of numbers by himself.

And Papa Brown could hardly contain himself as Amelia came up to the center of the stage and gave a reading. It was a big night for Papa Brown.

And Ray Brannen, dressed like "Lucy Lockett," made Papa Willie Brannen right proud of her. And James Brannon's Billy as "Wee Willie Winkie" did all right to make his papa happy.

And Eli Hodges felt like chirping as loud as his crickets as Mary Ann, as "Daffy Down Dilly," played her five pieces and her duet with Mrs. Cone.

WHO WOULD HAVE BELIEVED IT? And who would have ever believed Skip Aldred would be playing the piano, to say nothing of singing like Morton Downey. Walter must have asked himself, "Is that Skip?" as "Old Black Joe" came hobbling across the stage

Editor's Uneasy Chair

IT WAS FAMILY NIGHT—and Papa and mama, brother and sister, uncle and aunt, grandpa and grandma were all there, in the cheering sections.

And little Mary and Junior were in their glory—scared clean white, though that cleanliness could have been soaped and ragged on.

But it was Statesboro at its very wonderful best.

For it was Recital Night for the pupils of Mrs. Gilbert Cone. The stage of the high school auditorium was done up like the front yard of the "Old Woman Who Lives in a Shoe." As a matter of fact, it was her front yard, and the huge shoe was right there on the stage.

Mrs. Cone played the part of the "Old Woman Who Lives . . ." and her daughter, Harriet Cone, was the reader.

Maurice Brannen reared back the proudest ever when his Betty Joe set the pace for the recital with her ballet dance and piano solo.

Ray Atkins couldn't have his cigar in his mouth for he was burning from ear to ear when he was dressed like Mary and with her Little Lamb, played the piano solo, "My First Dancing Lesson."

with a walking cane. In blackface Skip sang in a high sweet voice "Old Folks at Home" and "Old Black Joe." Skip then sat down at the piano and gave his rendition of "Shortenin' Bread."

Beverly Joiner, as "Little Red Riding Hood," made Papa Joiner mighty glad as she played her four pieces.

An Jack Wheelchuck ducked his head in embarrassed pride as son John, all blown up as "Old King Cole," played his recital pieces.

Emil Lee must have said, "That doesn't look like my little girl!" as Romona came out as "Old Mother Hubbard" and played.

Papa Ike was mighty proud of daughter Kay as "Little Miss Muffet"—he was doubly proud, for Mama was in the hospital and couldn't be there to cheer up her gal, Kay.

Yeah—most of the mamas were there, too. But they were just scared to death that Little Mary or Junior was going to mess up her piece, so they couldn't enjoy the recital too much. Anyway, they had been hearing that piece hour after hour, day after day, while it was being learned.

So it was really Papa's night. He was hearing his daughter or son playing a piece of piano music with all new equipment. It was a sight to see.

And it sounded hard to him, and if his son or daughter could do that he or she must be pretty good and it was worth whatever it was costing him.

Yes sir, Papa was sure proud that night.

Junior All-Stars Defeat Waynesboro Juniors 5-4

Jimmy Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Allen of Mill Street, pitched the second game of his pitching career this week to defeat the Waynesboro Juniors 5-4, after allowing only two hits. Jim Allen pitched his first game in the Junior League last week and also won that one after giving up only two hits. This was the second defeat for the Waynesboro team suffered at the hands of the Jr. League. The game was continued from 8:30 until 12 midnight and the date will be announced as soon as music can be arranged for. This week the club members will use the swimming pool privately from 6 until 7 p. m. and all members who are not swimming will be allowed to come inside the area to dance on the concrete area next to the bath house. Following the swimming and dancing there will be an old fashioned picnic spread and some outdoor movies which will be comedies. Every member is asked to bring a lunch.

AMERICAN LEAGUE BASEBALL TEAM Post No. 90 will again be representative this year in the American League Baseball program as the local post sponsors the team in conjunction with the Recreation Center's baseball program for all-age boys. Sixteen business firms have purchased the uniforms so that the team will be outfitted with all new equipment. This afternoon (Thursday) the local squad will journey to Savannah to play the state champions of last season for their first game. The squad will be cut to the final number, sixteen players, this week.

SWIMMING CLASSES Everyone is reminded that the next swimming classes begin next Tuesday, June 26. All youths who are planning to participate must register before that date. Classes begin every two weeks for the young people and no one is allowed to enter classes between starting dates. Adult activity classes are held Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 until 10 and adults may come at any time. These classes are for women only and After playing bingo and answering riddles, everyone's favorite dessert, ice cream, cake, and roasted nuts, with punch, was served.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, June 27, at 3 p. m. at the home of Mrs. Amanda Simmons with Mrs. T. C. Simmons and Mrs. Frannie Waters serving as co-hostesses.

R. L. Winburn To Retire After 20 Years at TC

For 20 years when they were puzzled by questions, students and even professors at Georgia Teachers College have gone to the college business office for the answers.

The students and faculty members, some of the latter toponymists with academic degrees, have come to look upon Robert L. Winburn, college controller, who has no degree and who scores the thought of one as somewhat of an oracle.

In the eyes of the teachers themselves, his wit and wisdom have made him the peer of any doctor of philosophy; and, according to student appraisal, he is peerless.

For Winburn's college friends and admirers, June days this year are a little more melancholy than usual. That's because on July 1 Bobby Lee, attended the funeral services of Mr. Lee's brother, William M. Lee, age 63, in Ravenna, Bulloch county, but had lived in South Carolina for many years. In addition to his brother here at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mann.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Lee Sr. and Mrs. William Rodberry and Mrs. H. G. Parrish Jr. of Savannah, Ga., were present at the funeral.

Priorities are not needed

for a CHAMPION HOME TOWN

A shortage of building materials is no handicap to a town determined to be a Champion!

If you can't build a gleaming swimming pool, perhaps you can fix up a "swimmin' hole" in a nearby creek or lake — or if that won't theatre has to wait awhile, perhaps you can show movies in a schoolroom.

Yes, there are many ways to keep a town in the championship class — priorities are not needed for such things as marking scenic and historic sites, cleaning store windows, encouraging religious, educational and recreational activities, eliminating junk piles.

A Champion Home Town knows there are plenty of prize-winning projects that require only vision, enthusiasm and good old fashioned elbow grease!
