The Bulloch County Library Board held its regular meeting Friday in the library, with Mrs. F. W. Hodges, chairman, presiding.

At this meeting plans were discussed concerning the possibility of getting aid from the state in a recent appropriation for Georgia libraries.

Mr. Holloway, the school service agent, reported that all plans were ready to make his rounds to the schools with different books.

This library is supplied with different sets of standard encyclopedias and the librarian reported that these reference books were used extensively during the month of September before the school books were delivered.

It is worth one's time to go into this room and see for himself.

PERCY AVERITT BACK FROM OLDSMOBILE MEETING

Returning today from Lansing, Mich., where he attended the national sales convention of Oldsmobile, D. Percy Averitt, of the Averitt Bros. Auto Co., predicted a record breaking sales year in Statesboro for the new 1938 Oldsmobile sixes and the eights which he saw on display for the first time at the Oldsmobile factory.

"After looking at the models Oldsmobile is presenting for the coming year I am convinced that there will be a greater swing to Oldsmobile in 1938 than ever before," Mr. Averitt said.

Speeches carried the delegates from their own cities direct to the Oldsmobile factory at Lansing. There the sleeping cars were switched on sidings, so that delegates could attend meetings in Oldsmobile's huge plant auditorium.

In addition to viewing the new 1938 model Oldsmobiles, those attending heard discussions of Oldsmobile's sales plans for the coming year as presented by D. E. Ralston, Oldsmobile general sales manager. They also were addressed by C. L. McCuen, Oldsmobile general manager, G. R. Browder, assistant general sales manager in charge of retail sales, and V. C. ## Blu eDevils Play Hinesville Today

SECOND HOME GAME OF THE 1937 SEASON

The Statesboro High School Blue Devils will meet Hinesville High eleven this afternoon. The Blue Devils have a clean record in the First District. The game this afternoon will be the second game on the home gridiron and will be the fourth of the season.

The Blue Devils lost their first game to the strong Spaulding High team in Griffin. This game was featured by a long run of 75 yards by Gene L. Hodges for a touchdown. The next week they played Vidalia in Vidalia and succeeded for the first time in seven years in defeating the Indians 7 to 0. A good passing game was revealed in this game. The lone touchdown came after a pass from Cone to Hodges had placed the ball in a scoring position. In the next two plays Davis Barnes, full back had smashed over for a score.

Last week in a fumbling duel the local Devils won over the Claxton Tigers 19 to 0. The game was featured by two long passes with J. A. Cone tossing them.

Coach Johnson has a heavy team and one that will be strong in the running for the district championship.

Buying at Home is sticking by Old Home Town. More! It's good common horse sense. You keep money circulating around in reach—and more of it jingling in your own pockets.

We once thought it smart to run to larger towns to buy, until we learned we paid big prices to enable big merchants to pay big rents, carry big overhead, and earn big dividends on big investments.

Now we know we get the same goods right here in Statesboro for less money. And it's really smart to save money and at the same time support our own merchants who pay local taxes and support our home institutions.

Proposed Bus Route Will Link Statesboro With S.C. Via Burton Ferry Route

Connects Allendale S.C., Sylvania, Statesboro And Points South

BLUE DEVILS HAVE EASY TIME DEFEATING BRADWELL HIGH INST

Following up the announcement of two weeks ago that the Burton Ferry Route would come through the business section of Statesboro, comes the announcement of a proposed bus route to extend from Allendale, S. C. by way of Ulmerville and Sycamore, S. C. And upon the completion of the bridge over the Savannah River this route would be extended over the Georgia Highway No. 73, known to this section as the Burton Ferry Route, by way of Sylvania and Statesboro and on to points South.

This announcement comes from R. E. Hanna of the South Carolina Economic Association who is attempting to secure petitions from residents of the territory to be served, in the interest of this proposed bus service, which if instituted will come through this section thus adding to the benefits offered by the Burton Ferry Route.

Mr. Hanna, in a letter to Dr. R. J. Kennedy, of Statesboro, informed him that Senator Pearson of South Carolina had suggested that he be advised of the proposed bus service, adding that Dr. Kennedy's long service for the benefit of this section, he knew that he would be interested.

Dr. Kennedy, in an interview yesterday, stated that there will be a hearing on the proposed bus service before the Public Service Commission in Columbia, S. C. at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, October 26, and that Mr. Hanna had urged him to be present with as many from this section as possible.

Dr. Kennedy stated that a bus would be furnished leaving Allendale S. C. Tuesday morning to take the group to Columbia and return them to Allendale that night. Dr. Kennedy is trying to make arrangements to visit the actual sight of the bridge where construction is now under way. If it becomes possible the trip will be made by motor boat up the Savannah River to where the construction is in progress.

Petitions are being signed all across South Carolina and are being furnished this section of Georgia to be signed, according to Dr. Kennedy.

He added that, in his opinion, the bridge across the Savannah River, now under construction between Allendale and Sylvania will ultimately serve more traffic than any other bridge on the Savannah River, although the bridge at Augusta and the bridge at Savannah are two of the main arteries through the south, and the distance saved from north to south on the route as outlined, is estimated at a maximum of fifty-two miles saved, and the minimum estimated is twenty-five miles saved over any other route.

PETITION REQUESTING BUS SERVICE PROPOSED FROM
"We the undersigned residents of Statesboro community of Bulloch county in the State of Georgia would earnestly request the granting of franchise for Florence-Bamberg Bus Company, Inc. from Allendale to Bamberg as this company now has franchise to Florence. We now request the granting of franchise from Tuberville to Conway to the Queen City Coach Company so that connection from our section may be made to the beaches of South Carolina and points in eastern North Carolina. If we need application for our interest it is because of the fact that we believe that the bridge being built over the Savannah River connecting the two states will be one of the most important arteries of the south and will give our section a connection to the Piedmont section of South Carolina that it has never had until this time. This franchise being for the carriage of passengers baggage and light express."

DR. H. C. MCINTY OPENS OFFICE ON NORTH MAIN ST.
Dr. H. C. McInty, of Augusta, has opened an office and will practice general medicine and surgery here. Dr. McInty graduated from the University of Georgia Medical school in August in 1936. He served his internship in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Before his coming to Statesboro he was associated with the Medical Corps in the United States Army and for a time served in CCC work.

Dr. McInty's office is on North Main street in the location formerly occupied by Lilly's ready to wear shop.

Dr. McInty is married and has one child. They have moved to Statesboro and will make their home here.

FEATURES OF GAME FURNISHED BY COACH JOHNSON'S SECOND SRING BOYS WHO WON THEIR SPURS AS "LITTLE BLUE DEVILS."

Last Friday afternoon, Statesboro High's blue shirted boys defeated a weak Hinesville team by the lopsided score of 39-0, with the second team playing two-thirds of the game and accounted for two of the six touchdowns.

The Blue Devils gained a total of 291 yards, with Hinesville gaining only 57 yards. The Blue Devils made seventeen first downs while the Hinesville boys made only two. But the Statesborians were penalized eight times for a total loss of 90 yards. On two occasions two of the penalties came on touchdown runs. The Hinesville team received only one five yard penalty.

The Blue Devils kicked off to Hinesville and after two plays Hinesville made a first down. Three plays later they were forced to kick. The Statesboro boys taking boys taking the ball on mid-field carried it across the goal line in five plays. On the first play Skeet Keen, circled his end for 13 yards. He reversed his action on the next play and circled the other end for 18 yards. Then Cone made 12 yards on an off tackle play. Smith picked up a few yards through center on a quarterback sneak. And the fifth play Barnes drove the middle of the line for a touchdown, with Cone passing to Hodges for the extra point.

A few minutes later the Blue Devils drove down the field for another touchdown before the end of the first quarter.

Coach "Snag" Johnson sent an entire new squad in and these boys showed a great spirit and displayed their possibilities for future stardom. The "Little Devils" immediately drove straight down the field to the goal line with a beautiful thirty yard pass by Ramsey to Woodcock, the feature of the drive. Edwin Groover, displaying some brilliant broken field running in several plays put the ball on the one yard line. From here Ramsey pushed over the score. With this touchdown, Hinesville tightened up and held the "Little Devils" at bay till the half whistle.

Johnson sent the second string back into the fray at the beginning of the second period. They were still under the spell of their first half display of fireworks, and on a double reverse play accounted for 35 yards of their new drive. Woodcock, playing end, took the ball from Groover, who carried the play beautifully, and the Hinesville team was caught completely asleep. Woodcock was stopped on the two yard line and Ramsey again smashed over center for the score. At the end of the third quarter the score was Statesboro, 26-Hinesville, 0.

In order to keep the Big Blue Devils in a football frame of mind, Johnson sent them in about mid-time of the last quarter. In a very short time they accounted for two more touchdowns. The final score was 39-0 in favor of the Statesboro team.

Farmers Depending On Livestock As A Source Of Income
FARMERS ARE TURNING TO LIVESTOCK MORE AND MORE AS A SOURCE OF INCOME, ACCORDING TO BYRON DYER, COUNTY AGENT

In a statement made this week Byron Dyer, county agent, stated that the indications are that when the short cotton crop began moving at such a low price the farmers of this county realized that the money this year must come from livestock.

With the decline in the farm purchasing power, due to the drop in cotton prices, the farmer is turning his attention to his livestock.

This move began in the early summer during the period of continued rain fall. More early fall grazing crops were provided for. Now they are planting more rice, oats, wheat and mixtures of small grain than any time during the past five years, even though they have an abundance of corn for feed. These crops will be ready for grazing when the livestock comes out of the fields.

The long buying of fertilizer and other farm necessities in the spring and early summer when the agricultural outlook or the local farmers was very promising, began to take its toll when the cotton crop, short in quantity, quality and price, began moving to the market. In an effort to overcome the bad situation they were left in, it was logical that Bulloch county farmers should take more interest in the heavy crop of hogs and cattle they had on hand.

It was naturally expected that these farmers with a low purchasing power should drop from the standard set in the fall of 1936 of winter cover crops planted. However, according to D. R. Dyer, these factors seemed to indicate to the farmers that it would be necessary to try to grow their fertilizer at home and not have the usual heavy expenses for this product. Indications are now that they will plant more than 40,000 pounds of the various winter legumes as compared with half that amount in 1936.

STUNT NIGHT AT PORTAL HIGH SCHOOL TONIGHT
There will be a Stunt Night tonight at Portal, to be held at the High School Auditorium at eight o'clock. Each school in Bulloch county is to be represented by a stunt to be staged by its representatives. A prize of $5.00 is offered for the best stunt. $3.00 will be given to the next best stunt.

NEVILLS NEWS

BY MISS MAUDE WHITE

Hallowe'en Program
On Thursday night, October 28th, at 8 o'clock, there will be a Hallowe'en program staged in the Nevills Hall School auditorium. Miss L. Adams, the music and expression teacher, has charge of this program. From the evidence their rehearsal gives us, this will be one of the best shows presented by the best local talent from the entire student body.

Beautiful costumes of the scenery type and of typical Hallowe'en style, as well as modern costumes, will be an added feature of this program. We are planning to have fun for all—young and old.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT
The Nevills school body and faculty are now enjoying running water and electric lights. This is one of the most needed equipments ever given to our school plants.

One of the greatest unsanitary problems was solved when this water system was installed. We are hoping to have all the indoor water fixtures completed soon.

Superintendent H. H. Britt is now making a special effort to do his utmost in having Nevills school placed on the standard accredited list in a reasonable length of time. He is filling an application soon.

RECEPTION FOR TEACHERS
On last Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Proctor delightedly entertained the faculty of the Nevills High School with a buffet-supper in their home in Nevills.

The house was attractively decorated with beautiful cut flowers. The guests arrived at 7:30 o'clock and were met at the door by Mr. Proctor and she ushered them to the dining room, where they began the evening's activities.

The silver and dishes were found on the buffet near the heavily laden table of food for a full dinner, where the guests enjoyed a social hour for a short time. Small tables were placed in the living room, which was thrown together with the dining room for the serving of the meal.

Immediately after the dinner, contests and games began to be the prominent features of the occasion, of which the "Mother Goose Rhythm" given by each guest was most jovial. Those present were: Supt. H. P. Womack, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Stapleton, Supt. and Mrs. H. H. Britt and two attractive children, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Proctor, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Elton Clifton, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Avery and children, Mr. and Mrs. D. Proctor and children, Mrs. B. F. Futch, Mrs. Katherine Norman, Misses Elma Rides, Lillian Van Landingham, Vashli Lord, Bertha Lee Brannon, Mamie Lou Anderson, Maude White, Eugene Bell and Brenda Hodges and Miss Emma L. Adams.

FUTURE FARMERS GUESTS
Last Friday night Mr. G. C. Avery, our vocational instructor, held one of his regular annual meetings in which his "Green hand" members were initiated into their little organization in the agricultural room of the Nevills school.

The most outstanding and enjoyable features of these activities was the "chicken fry" given in the home of Mr. Avery with Mrs. H. H. Britt as hostess. After the feast many games of "bingo," contests and other games were enjoyed. Miss Emma L. Adams assisted Mrs. Avery in entertaining throughout the evening.

MISS HATCHER WITH US
Miss Lorene Hatcher, of Kite, Ga., is now with us after being absent from her work for one month because of an operation for appendicitis. Miss Hatcher is our regular off-duty teacher for the first and second grades. We are very glad to have her back with us.

Mrs. Rural Clifton, of Emitt, has accepted the position of teacher of the seventh grade Section "B" of our school and assumed her duties last Monday. We are still hoping to have still another teacher to relieve the overcrowded condition of the third and fourth grades. These grades now have an enrollment of 47 students each.

SCHOOL NEWS
The first grade is doing some construction work on home life in which they are doing some attractive drawing, construction work, such as building a miniature home of cardboard, making charts, etc. They are gathering materials to finish the little house and build furniture for it.

The first and second grade overflow teacher, Miss Hatcher, has some very interesting plans on home and farm life in which she is correlating some community problems. Miss Hatcher began working on these plans Monday since her illness.

The second grade is doing a very attractive piece of work on "Farm Life" in which they are including some home problems they are attempting to solve. They are planning to construct a model farm in the back of their class room. They have many beautiful pictures depicting farm life on the walls of their class room.

The third grade is very much interested in Indian life and the homes of other people long ago. They have constructed several types of homes in their class room such as the Indian wigwag, but the most prominent one is the Indian Teepee. They are learning to compare the food, shelter and clothing of other people with that of the food, shelter and clothing we have today.

The fourth grade is studying foreign countries beginning with South America. These youngsters are studying in the form of a trip. They are doing imaginary traveling each day by boat, train, bus and air. They are much interested in the people they are meeting. They are displaying the accomplishments by drawings, stories and posters.

The fifth and sixth grades are working on their Harmonica band. Several of the pupils are very enthusiastic over the matter and believe that much can be accomplished. They are busy working on "Colonial Life" and on "Extensive study of Great Britain" in these grades.

The seventh grade is now very much interested in the study of Forest Reservations. They first took up the protection of our trees and ran into the uses of the trees of which the study of paper is a very important part. They have on exhibit the products made from wood, which is very interesting. They are doing attractive drawing and writing interesting papers on their work.

The eighth grade is taking up the study and attempting to practice, the qualities of good school, home and community citizens. They have a supervised lunch period in which they put into practice some of the aims in becoming better citizens by careful attention to the rules of health. They have a new reading table and painting of this week.

The ninth grade is doing some very fine work, many very good English papers are written daily. They are planning some very interesting points on "Shakespeare's Work."

The Tenth and Eleventh grades are conducting a supervised lunch period, soup is being furnished by the pupils. We are very proud of these grades promoting this work for this makes the school 100 percent in conducting the bathing hand, campaign and supervised lunch periods. Each morning these grades have a 10 minutes opening exercise which consists of a short scripture reading by teacher followed by a verse from Bible repeated in unison by class. The seniors will hold election for officers of the graduating class on October 12, 1937.

Supt. Britt reported here today that the enrollment is still increasing each Monday morning brings several new students. He also stated that the new water fountains would be installed as soon as they are purchased, which would be at an early date, he felt sure. Evidently Mr. Britt is well pleased at the progress his school is now making.

A PROPOSED BUS SERVICE

With our Burton Ferry Route assured we now learn that there is a bus service being proposed to extend from Allendale, S. C. across the Savannah River, through Sylvania and on to Statesboro and points south. Should the franchise be granted at the hearing before the South Carolina Public Service Commission in Columbia on Tuesday, October 26 and the service instituted, Statesboro will feel the benefit immediately. Considerable interest is being manifested in the South Carolina side of the River in the section which will be served by this proposed bus route. A petition is now in Bulloch county and Statesboro for signatures. If it is presented to you sign it and if possible make your plans to go to Columbia on the date of the hearing to show how deeply interested we are in this. If you can go advise Dr. R. J. Kennedy.

The petition being presented for your signature is given on the front page of the Herald.

WHAT MUST WE DO?

Is the question being voiced by every cotton grower in the county. He is, today, faced with a government forecast of the second largest cotton crop in history. He is waging what appears to be a hopeless battle against a tariff as high in some instances as 45 percent. He is finding himself with a grade of cotton on hand for which there is no market. His fertilizer note is coming due, his farm implement notes are due. His note at the bank past due.

With the President's calling a special session of Congress on November 15th, the farmer pins his hopes on federal aid. But what can Congress do? President Roosevelt has made it plain that he offers no farm aid unless the farmer agrees to crop control.

This has been tried. For years congress and the federal government have sought an answer to the urgent problem of cotton.

Compulsory crop curtailment and price pegging schemes of different sorts have been experimented with and the result is seen today in conditions worse than they were when the search began for the answer.

Crop control may offer a temporary remedy, but it cannot be accepted as a permanent cure.

Then are those who advise our growing other crops. Here may be the answer in Bulloch county which is, now, the second largest cattle market and the largest hog market in the state. But other counties are not that fortunate.

Somewhere there must be a solution to this cotton problem. And until it is, the farmer will continue asking, "what are we going to do?"

GRADE YOUR LIVESTOCK

Monday, two young men, Francis Groover and John W. Davis, Bulloch county 4-H club boys, who competed with 4-H club boys from the entire Southeast at the South Eastern Fair in Atlanta, on October 12th, stood before the Rotary Club, and demonstrated the value of marketing livestock by class and grades.

They, with the aid of prepared charts, showed how the livestock grower could increase his income by the proper classing and grading of the animals he places on our livestock market.

The demonstration they made at this meeting was the same they put on at the fair in Atlanta Tuesday. They represented Bulloch county and in so doing rendered us a service that is invaluable.

Bryan Dyer, our county agent, who works with these boys and 400 others in the county deserves a great deal of credit for the great work he is doing with these boys.

GREAT TO BE A GEORGIAN
(Vidalia Advance)

"Because of Georgia's past . . . even more because of her future . . . it's great to be a Georgian."

The Georgia Power Company, a veritable friend in human form if certain TVA spokesmen are to be believed, this week launches a campaign for publicizing the advantages this state offers business and industries seeking a favorable location. On the face of it, this campaign appears to be proof of the sincerity of the company's slogan, "A citizen wherever we serve."

"Nobody in all Georgia is more interested in Georgia's growth than the Georgia Power Company. Only as Georgia grows can we hope to grow. We also know that there are thousands and thousands of other Georgians who are eager to help advertise the state—but who haven't the time and facilities at hand. They haven't the machinery, you might say, which the job requires. Since our interest is inseparably tied up with that of all other wide-awake and patriotic Georgians, we are going to provide that machinery."

This utilities corporation has published a series of eight booklets extolling the natural wealth of this state—wealth of climate, soil, sports opportunity, minerals, education, and allied phases of satisfactory existence and enterprise. These booklets are to be distributed free to friends of Georgians, "recommended" to the power company as persons who would be desirable as Georgia citizens. This plan for publicity ties in nicely with the statewide program of fact-finding, and the governor's idea of encouraging the use of Georgia products.

In this connection we recall that Kyle T. Alford has often remarked that, while it is flattering to know that Georgians have made great names for themselves in places far removed from the state that was their birthplace, it is still more flattering to know that young Georgians of real ability are so attracted by potentialities of their home state they decide not to emigrate—but remain here and make a great name for themselves.

Naturally, we approve of the utilities corporation's large advertisement placed in this newspaper today—but even more emphatically do we approve of its plan of giving over the facilities of its public relations department to a program for the good of the state at large.

When a "public service" proves itself to be of such genuine service to the public, danger of being legislated out of existence is rapidly dissipated.

The owner of a large number of nickel-victrolas out in Texas, has trained his dog so that when he goes around checking on his victrolas to see if they are being played, the dog starts an unearthly howl if the victrola is not being played. The customers, in an attempt to drown-out the howling, slip a nickel in the machine to start the music and stop the howling dog—pressure being brought to bear, as it were.

"Here lies the corpse of Arabella Young, Who on the 21st of May began to hold her tongue," reads a grave stone in an English church yard. We know some whose names could be substituted and the date changed and save the monument maker the time and trouble composing the epitaph.

We overheard one person say that he was going to the dime store and buy some numbers to go over their home door. Maybe our editorial of a few weeks ago is bearing fruit after all.

A national known psychologist says that we cannot trust what we learn by experience. We'll depend on experience until a better teacher comes along.

We welcome Dr. McGinty to Statesboro and Bulloch county. We can only wish that he could doctor up the ills of cotton as well as he's prepared himself to tend the ills of our mortals.

ROAMING THROUGH EUROPE

WITH LILA BLITH

The evening was free; that is, nothing was planned for the party, so several of us planned for ourselves. We decided to see the town. First we walked down the main street and window shopped. The windows were full of pictures of the King, Queen, and little princesses, statues of them, and all sorts of greetings and good wishes to them. I remember an especially pretty balcony window in which there was a cake about eighteen inches in diameter, decorated with tiny statues of the royal family.

The whole length of the street there were banners in blue and gold, bearing the inscription GR, with the Roman numeral six beneath the letters. We surmised that the R stood for rex, Latin for king.

The parks along the street were all spruced up. There was one small square in front of a hotel that had been transformed into a solid mass of flowers, from the looks of the earth, planted just for the occasion. All of the numerous window boxes were filled with flowers that were too fresh and lovely looking for us to think that they always looked that way. Even the flower clock, which is always a thing of beauty, with its hands and dial a mass of flowers, seemed to be dressed up for the great event, for every tiny plant in it was shaped just so.

Three hundred feet above the town towered the giant Castle of Edinburgh, the flood lights showing it up to the best advantage. It seemed to be smiling at the same old dressing-up that it had witnessed so many times before.

We were already reconciled to the fact that we couldn't peep in on Mary, Queen of Scots' apartments in Holyrood Palace, since the King and Queen were there. Nevertheless, we wanted to get as close to it as we could, especially since they were holding court for the many Scotch debutantes who had not yet been presented. So we took a taxi, rode up to the main entrance and parked. The whole of the Castle and the grounds were lighted up, and there were many policemen at the entrance to keep the curious on-lookers at a distance. After a while we saw a handsome limousine drive up and a fluttering debutante emerge. She was very lovely looking, in spite of the regulation plume headdress that she wore. Even though the night air was cold and damp, she did not have on a wrap of any sort. After a while some more of them came, their dresses varying slightly, but all with the same regulation plume in their hair, and all wrappings.

When we went to the main street again, we saw mobs of people in front of two of the photographers, and wondered why they were there. We soon learned that some of the debutantes had gone in to have their pictures taken, and that the people waiting to see them were the photographers. I noticed that they were wrapped up, but I never learned why. I imagine that there were plenty of colds among that group the next morning.

When we got back to our hotel we were pretty tired, but the anticipation of a possible peep at the King and Queen the next day made us forget our weariness, and we went to sleep with the same sort of eager expectancy that children have on Christmas eve.

Advice received by wireless lead us to believe that Lila Blith, who has been "guest-conducting" our column the past weeks with stories of her trip abroad has evidently made off with that one man of the party, the feeble old gent of 84 summers. We were much worried over the situation, but have all hopes that Lila will be back next week with a continuation of her interesting story. In the meantime, while Lila is honeymooning with gramps, we're dishing "up the proverbial dirt" as of yore, and we hope Jack Murphy will like it better than he did our Montreaux Meandering.

FRIEND SUMNER moved his Lily's Ready to Wear store to its new location in the Hill Simmons building one day this week and the self-conscious look on the face of a young fellow carefully totting in his arms an elaborately dressed window model was worth paying admission to see. He acted like he had never had so gorgeous a creature in his arms before. Summer should have hired the two Harrys (Cone & Akins) to tote his ladies . . . they wouldn't have blushed ! ! ! ! (The models would tho, cracked the jealous George Johnson.)

AND THAT REMINDS us of Leodel and the Atlanta door. It seems that Leodel was in Atlanta week before last. Just a plain country boy, bent upon seeing the sights, he over-acted a nickel from his exalted position as a Peachtree drug store to invest in an ice cream cone. He noticed the front door was closed, but as it seemed full of people he thought nothing of it, stepped up and reached for the knob topped the door. When his and neared to knob the door swung open and a pleasant voice from nowhere invited him to "Come In", just like that. Leodel looked at the door and saw that it was glass and certainly there was no one there to open it and no one to invite him in. In a rather dazed fashion Leodel walked in and was approached by a lovely female clerk who asked him what he wanted. Still in a dazed Leodel said: "Yes'm I know, but I for got now. I reckon all I want is just to get out and go home as fast as I can ! ! ! ! !"

Leodel's little brother, James Floyd, wise to city ways, remonstrated with Bro. Leodel and explained that the door was actually opened by a little device, known as an "electric eye", which also set off the tiny talking machine that had greeted him with an invitation to enter. He explained that when Leodel entered a tiny beam of light the machinery was set in motion that actually performed what appeared to be almost a miracle, "Electric eye, nothin' ! ! ! Leodel fired back at buddy, "No eye didn't open that door and nobody is going to make me believe that door ain't plain 'haunted'. I'm going home as fast as I can and I don't like no such nohow."

HE WAS ABOUT AS black as the proverbial ace of spades (altho it always looked like the ace of clubs was just as black), and smaller than the average newb. When we first saw him, he was in front of the Savannah Hotel "Waxtress", waxtress, Savannah Press, git a poiper, Gitta Press git de news mistuh, gitta Press. All de lates news, all about de big wah, gitta poiper. When that little burrhead spied us he knew we were "country" and he spied a sale . . . or thought he did. Nearer he came, trying his papers, and as he reached us his attitude was one of pleading as he begged "Gitta poiper Mistuh, please sah buy a poiper, only 15 cents". As the chances of making a sale began to wane his appeal became confidential as he explained: "All de wah news, mistuh, read about de bigges wah dey evuh wuz. You sho oughta buy one mistuh caus dat wah, hits sho turrible. When he saw that I wasn't going to buy he made it down Ball Street to an approaching prospect, but as far as I could hear he continued muttering "Hit sho is turrible, plum turrible." Unconsciously that little unlettered waif was echoing a world wide cry because war is "turrible" any way you lok at it. We couldn't get it out of our mind all day, and we turned the old Ford homeward, we left hearing over and over the cry of the millions of other children, victims of a just and hate as they are robbed of homes, loved ones, food, clothes, education and the care of those who are responsible for them. We thought of those orphaned millions who'll never gather around another family fireside nor hear the tender voice of those they loved, human sacrifices on the altar of selfish, power-mad war lords. We don't know of any remedy for this tribe whose sole ambition is to become Supreme Ruler of the Universe, but surely there is a way to blot this mere handful of pestilence destroyers of the earth. The little newsdealer was right, war "shorley is plum turrible."

AS A PARTING MESSAGE we are taking the liberty of quoting this little gem of poetry from Ruth Kipper's late book, "Poems For Quiet Evenings":

Long shadows fall upon the ground
And warn me that the air is chill;
That days are growing shorter
And nights so long and still.
But I hold fast to summer
And fain would let it go,
Because it holds sweet memories
And oh, I need them so.

AT THE CHURCHES

This church joins with the entire Southern Methodist Church in observance of the week, October 17-24 as Childhood and Youth Week. The theme for special emphasis during this week is: "The Church in the Life of Christ." The purpose of this observance is that parents and all other interested adults have an opportunity to consider a new their responsibility to growing life in the home, the church and the community.

In keeping with this idea the pastor will speak at the morning hour from the theme "The Child in the Midst." During the service, the Church School officers and teachers will be installed by the pastor.

Wednesday evening, October 20th, the young people of the church are sponsoring a program of interment and social activity for the adults of the church and community.

The teachers in the Children's Division fill visit in the homes of their pupils. Parents are asked to visit the teacher and the departments on either of the two Sunday so that there will be the closest possible relation between the home and the Church School. Watch for announcements of radio program from WSM and WSB and possibly others.

7:30 p. m. the pastor will preach using as a theme, the question: "What Are You Worth?" Not your rating with Dunn and Bradstreet, but how much are you worth in your home, in your church, in your community, in the state. How much are you worth to the Kingdom of God?

The musical offerings at our church are particularly attractive. You will be inspired and helped. The crowds are good and you must come early to get a back seat.

The Education Building of the Church will be dedicated Sunday, October 24th. Rev. E. F. Morgan will preach.

Please do not think for a moment that one can serve sin and escape settlement, for sin pays off. And when sin figures up its account with you and pays you it always pays in the coin of its realm—death.

There are some who think to escape this payment because the body goes on living after sin has become the rule of one's life. Do you think that? Have you never watched the shudders of moral death? The scriptures say that there are some who are dead morally while living in the physical world. Have you met any of them? You will not have to go far—perhaps not outside your own life, to find an example of the living-dead.

The unexpected goodness and mercy of God is shown in His giving us a chance to escape the horrible final results of our sins. Justice would have been full met without any effort on His part to rescue us from our sins. But even while we were yet in our sins Christ died for us. Because of the love our Creator had for us He was unwilling that we should go on into death without having been offered the choice of life instead.

Further, the wisdom of God is shown in His leaving the choice of life and death to us. The attainment of life for us is left in the hand and power of God—it is wholly beyond man's ability. But the choice of whether God shall save us from the horrible fate of receiving the wages of sin is left with the sinner because one cannot be a sane person without making choices for himself.

The fact stated in the last paragraph is back of our God's appeal to sinners to repent of their sins and be saved.

Dear reader, this church invites you to make the salvation of God effective in your life right now. Jesus Christ the Son of God has endorsed that invitation. Will you accept it or will you insist on receiving the wages of sin?

We shall look further into this eternally important matter Sunday morning at the First Baptist church. Come. Subject Sunday morning: What Sayeth the Master?

DR. A. J. MOONEY OFF TO ST. LOUIS DOCTORS MEET

all's fair

Cool days and cheerful flickering fires. We grow so weary of cold weather, but after all winter has its compensations. The Tennessee is the favorite chair by the fireside with knitting needles or a good book; the children sprawled on the rug with magazines and books; the men of the house with pipe and papers contentedly surveys a family circle that in summer stayed out like on warm evenings, but not obtrusively there is a faint odor of burning oak. We Southerners overlook so many luxuries that are ours for the picking. In Northern cities small telephone bags of pine cones are sold at fancy prices. Burning pine cones make a lovely flame—something like driftwood.

Jane salutes a new lady of the camellias—not the sort of lady portrayed by Greta Garbo, that heroine of the French novel, considered so risqué in its day but one with a camellia at any rate. The lady is Helen Arundel and the camellia is a delicate pink of the debutante variety and naturally it must have some attention given its "coming out." We understand that Anne Oliver and Helena have been watching to see whose camellias would be first to bloom. We haven't heard from Anne, but the pink debutant on Helen's lawn is plainly visible from the street. It even impressed Jane during a wee bit self-conscious. Helen recently received a huge box of bitter sweet from her home in Ohio. The bitter sweet is a vine with berries of dashing color which rivals that of any flower. The bright orange berries when touched by frost burst open and curl back disclosing brilliant scarlet fruit within. So sprigs of this lovely vine will constantly remind Helen of home and loved ones this winter.

Speaking of flowers reminds me of Catharine Whitehurst, who has had such a time with an irritation on her hands lately. It has developed that the trouble is caused by a lovely flower as the chrysanthemum. Just as some people are allergic to certain plants and are afflicted with hay fever, there are those whose skins become irritated when they contact certain plants, and Catharine is surrounded by gorgeous chrysanthemums must remember that she must not touch them.

At the club up at Mary Beth Jones' Friday, some one remarked that there were eight Smiths present, allied and real. Playing at four tables were Mrs. Smith Olliff, Sally Woodcock Smith, Ulna Olliff Smith, Mary Beth Smith Jones, Annie Smith, Cora Blith Smith, Lucile Parrish Smith, and Mrs. Sam Smith. Have you been out to the hospital lately? Everything is so nice there. Roses and dahlias greet you in the reception hall and Naomi Zittman and Emma Collier have created an atmosphere of beauty and friendliness in that institution. After all their efforts to beautify their surroundings, we should reward them by moving that unsightly heap of dirt from beside the road directly in front of the building.

Arlene Brannen has returned from a visit to Iowa. She will no doubt be able to tell many interesting things about her trip. Arlene was not only delighted to see her husband and children on her return, but this delightful extended to being greeted once more with corn bread, grits, rice and biscuit. She also remarked that there was very little in the way of social events in the day time. There were no servants; the women did all their house work, and it was generally about five o'clock in the afternoon before the women began to bestir themselves from their homes. Joe's wife remarked to one of her friends, "You like to go so much, I'd like to take you South with me just one time, and you'd get enough of going." Of course, Joe's wife has experienced the mad whirl of life of Statesboro society. The women had their clubs in the evening, and their husbands did no go along. Presumably they kept the babies. In winter the temperature drops to 25 degrees below zero in Ottumwa where Joe Zetterover lives. It had already begun to get cold. Heavy frosts covered everything like snow. It is nice to go places and then be able to make comparisons favorable to our own section.

Alma Mount has been selected for a leading role in a play at the college. We are glad to see our home town folks receiving honors at college.

The lovely gifts received by Mary Gray Cannon at the recent tea proclaim anew the old saying that "All the world loves a lover."

We haven't seen anything lately quite so cheerful looking as the red geraniums at the S. W. Lewis home. The girls are busy making a gay time at Sara Alice Bradley's on Friday evening carried us back many years when Friday was the only day in the week when we dared go out at night.

A gal we like is Neva Fletcher. Call for a book and she's off to fetch er.
