

Baby Military Team Gives Devils A Fit

BLUE DEVILS GIVEN REAL TEST IN THE GAME WITH G. M. C.

The Blue Devils of the High School played an evenly matched football eleven from G. M. C. last Friday afternoon on the College field and for the first time this season were scored on, in their own backyard. The game ended in a tie, the final score being 6-6. The game between the two teams turned out to be the best of the year.

The game, as was expected, was a real test for the Blue Devils, and the boys came through the test with their colors still flying high. The big line, playing excellent defensive ball and first class offensive displayed to the large crowd that they really had something. Behind this line were speedy Robert Hodges and Emerson Anderson, who did some very good running every minute that they were in the game. Anderson is a fast boy and he really showed his heels to the G. M. C. tacklers. He also did some good work at punting the ball out of the park on a couple of occasions. Although Robert Hodges has been out for five weeks and can still play, at the last of the game he took the ball five times straight and did not fail to gain a single time; but every one must realize that he couldn't have done this running if he hadn't had the backing that he had from the rest of the team.

The Blue Devils showed signs at times real power and an ability to gain ground. They outplayed the G. M. C. boys from the start. The High School boys gained more yards and made the most downs. The line was charging in and stopping the millionaires in their tracks even before they had a chance to get started. The team did some wonderful blocking. To say a little more the blocking was 50 per cent better Friday than it has been any previous game of the season.

All in all the game was the best of the year and the football fans are going to have to wait a long time before they see a game like this one again.

Tell of Huge Meal At Pontiac Meeting

In an interview with Barney Averitt and J. Day Gay of Averitt Brothers Auto Co., upon their return from the Pontiac Convention held recently in Detroit, it was learned that a number of records were shattered. Mr. Averitt and Mr. Gay state that 4,000 Pontiac men were present for the luncheon and 4,000 for the evening banquet given for those attending the convention.

They state that the banquet hall contained 500 banquet tables; 27,600 pieces of cutlery; 9,900 pieces of table linen and 36,500 pieces of china and three-quarters tons of meat and fowl, including steaks, ribs of beef, turkeys and hams; one box carload of vegetables, including potatoes, tomatoes, lettuce, celery and green peas.

Mr. Averitt stated that it reminded him of the World War when thousands of Khaki clad soldiers ate mess together in the great army camps all over the country.

The banquet was held in the Masonic Temple in Detroit.

Mr. Hilton Burghard and Mrs. Henry Hutaff of Lumberton, N. C. were the week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Israel. They returned to Lumberton Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Mildred Weinstein, Minister of Mrs. Israel. Miss Weinstein has been the guest of her sister during the summer.

10,000 Expected At Airport For Dedication Ceremonies Nov 11

GOVERNOR RIVERS BE PRINCIPAL SPEAKER ON DEDICATION DAY

PLANS BEING MADE TO TAKE CARE OF CROWD OF 10,000 PEOPLE. AIR SHOW SCHEDULED INCLUDING DEATH DEFYING STUNTING

Bulloch county, Statesboro and the American Legion will join forces on Thursday, November 11, Armistice Day, to dedicate the local air port.

According to the general chairman of the program, F. W. Hodges, it will be one of the biggest days that Statesboro and Bulloch county has ever seen. Mr. Hodges announced that Governor E. D. Rivers will make the principal address.

A crowd of from eight to ten thousand people from all over the county and this section is expected and plans are being made to take care of that many. A free barbecue will be prepared for 10,000 people. A program has been arranged to begin at 10 o'clock in the morning to include the dedication exercises, the Governor's speech, and an air show.

Mr. Thad Morris is in charge of the program and states that he has succeeded in securing a number of air planes to participate in the dedication and that one mail plane is expected from New York city. Mr. Morris stated that he is expecting Sandy Strachan and Bob Robertson of Savannah with several small planes and one large tri-motored plane. Owen MacRoberts and Jimmie Culpepper will be here with planes. Sandy Strachan will thrill the crowd with his stunts and Robertson will give his death defying delayed parachute jump from 10,000 feet. MacRoberts and Culpepper will give an exhibition of the aerial "dog fight," made famous during the World War.

Roger Holland, in charge of the dinner and refreshments, states that more than 125 hogs will be barbecued and that more than $160 worth of bread will be served with it. It will take about $85 worth of sweet pickles, and about $85 for ice tea. Mr. Holland states that arrangements have been made to use the three canneries in the county to cook the Brunswick stew, which will cook 150 gallons of the stew at a cooking. Mr. Bonnie Morris will be in charge of the cooking, assisted by Mr. Sam Northcutt. Plans are being made to feed nearly 100 people every minute. Ten lines will be formed and served at one time.

Blue Devils Play Sylvania Here Tonight T. C. Vs. Gordon Tomorrow Afternoon

Statesboro football fans will get their share of football games this week-end as both the High School and College teams will play in their own backyards. The High School Blue Devils will entertain the Sylvania High boys here Friday night on the Municipal Playground for the Blue Devils first night game.

The College football team will play their own light field. The College College Professors will take on the Gordon Military boys on the College field Saturday afternoon.

Both games should provide the necessary thrills and excitement to cause the football fans of Statesboro to turn out in large numbers to see both of the teams. The one between the High School Blue Devils will most certainly provide all the necessary elements. It will be the Blue Devils first night game of the season and it will give the people who have not had the chance to see the High School team perform, a chance to do so, and outside of this it will be one of the best games of the season for the local fans. The Sylvania team is a heavy one and their boys are experienced players. The Sylvania boys have defeated Statesboro for the first time in three years and they have a good chance of doing so this year. Considering the

A GREAT MAN TALKS COMMON SENSE

The Rotary Club at its meeting this week had the rare privilege of hearing one of the south's greatest men, Dr. Bascom Anthony. One could feel his personality before he said a word. A tall, straight-standing man, who does not look his 79 years.

When he had finished his talk of about 25 minutes, we noticed one Rotarian, who does not have the reputation of being soft, neglected using his handkerchief to wipe his eyes.

In addressing those thirty-one men present at the meeting Dr. Anthony gave them a message so simple that it seems almost too address at all. Just a commonplace talk it was but so common that it was unusual. Choked full of the commonest common sense we have ever heard. He warned his hearers that he was going to talk common sense, but we were awed by his presence and his reputation, we think, expecting, we hardly know what, then for him to let us down only to build us up to a keen awareness of our own possibilities.

"Don't dread anything," he told those Rotarians, and illustrated his point with the oldest dread of them all—the dread of hitting the water at the old washing hole after the breaking up of spring when summer has not yet warmed the water. "Hit it a running with a kicking up of your heels and it is all over in a second." And using that quotation that we have known all our lives, to drive his point home, "The coward dies a thousand times, a brave man dies only once." Then he hit us all on the head, "Don't wait for a thing to get just right. The wind, the moon, the sun, the time—they don't ever get right."

All this forms the basis of a philosophy of life Dr. Anthony told his audience. He gave two more points which make up a good plan for life. He advised men to hunt with their fellowmen points of agreement and to live in common things an dto love common place people.

The Rotary Club is indebted to Dr. Pittman for the privilege of hearing Dr. Anthony. Dr. Pittman in introducing him to the Rotarians explained that it was a part of his plans for the college to try and give the students as often as he could, men who could bring something new and fresh to them and that he thought himself fortunate in having been able to have Dr. Anthony. Dr. Pittman shares his plans with us of Statesboro for when he succeeds in having men like Dr. Anthony at the college, he makes us feel free and welcome to go out to the college and share with the students the benefits to be derived from hearing and knowing such men.

WE DEPEND ON HIM

With nearly every section of the country concerned over sulfanilamide elixer we become aware of how much we depend on our local druggists and the part they play in our every-day life.

The pharmacist has a most responsible and exacting work. A slip might prove fatal. He must be constantly alert in following the prescribing physician's prescriptions. His weights must be right to a pin-point—there can be no guess work with him. He shares with the doctors the demands upon him because of his profession. He must undergo long hours on his job. He must be willing, and cheerfully so, to get out of bed at all hours of the night to answer some call for his compounds which give some sufferer relief.

His reward for such service comes from the satisfaction of work well done. Be glad that we have druggists who devote their profession to our welfare.

We are beginning to know what worry is. We are among those who are worrying about getting hotel accommodations and football tickets for the Tech-Georgia football game in Atlanta November 27.

THE GRAND JURY RECOMMENDS THE ELLIS HEALTH LAW

In the Grand Jury Presentments of the October Term, 1937, there appears a paragraph that should mean a great deal to Bulloch county. It reads: "We recommend the adoption of Sections 88-303 to 88-312 of the Georgia Code of 1933 which will put into operation in Bulloch county what is generally known as the Ellis Health Law."

With the installation of a health department all classes in the county will be benefited—the rich, the poor, the old, the young, the white and the colored. As public roads and public schools are available to all people, so health protection will be the right of all classes.

When the Grand Jury recommended the adoption of the Ellis Health Law it became obligatory on the county commissioners of roads and revenues to provide the necessary funds for putting it into effect. The law carries with it a county board of health made up of the county school superintendent, the chairman of the board of commissioners or roads and revenues, the ordinary and a physician appointed by the grand jury.

It becomes the duty of this county board of health to supervise all matters relating to health in the county. It has the authority to enact and maintain rules and regulations deemed necessary to protect the health of the people in the county, subject to the approval of three reputable physicians of the county.

The personnel of a county health department consists of a commissioner of health and such nursing, sanitation, clerical and other assistants as may be assigned to the department.

Under the law a licensed physician who has had special training in public hygiene and sanitation, and who has passed an examination on these subjects given by the State Board of Health, may be elected by the county board of health. And the law requires that he give his whole time to the prevention of sickness and forbids him to practice medicine or actively engage in any other business.

This is the season of the year for the selection of Health Queens as well as Beauty Queens; but who ever heard of any of us bachelors say, "I'm having a date tonight with the healthiest girl in the county!"

They've invented an invisible ray which makes it possible to read in bed without a light on and there is that inaudible radio you can just hear under your pillow—reading in the dark and not hearing the radio as it were.

And our idea of a modern success type is the man who has made so much money with a chain of bakeries that he can now afford to have his own bread baked at home.

Scoop! Only 50 more shopping days before Christmas.

Have you noticed how much many of the radio comedians sound as if someone were standing behind them with a barrel stove, forcing them to be funny—at all costs, an atmosphere which causes considerable strain and disturbance in our otherwise calm living-rooms?

With careful planning every family ought to be able to scatter its members so that it's always possible to go south to visit someone in the winter and north to visit someone else in the summer.

Odd, isn't it, how much less the weather matters to us after we grow up. When we were very young the weather was an important detail of the day's program every day; now it concerns us only on rare and special occasions, like football games, and trips to Savannah.

Judging from the advertising of the new radios some college ought to be offering a Course in Proper Dialing for Radio Programs. They are automatic, so they say, but who teaches us how to make them work automatic?

Students of international law have been somewhat puzzled by the proceedings in China lately. There is no war—only a series of ghastly reprisals. There is no adherence to custom or the ethics of war—civilians have been slain in cold blood, by the hundred. But Britain is forced to adhere to the la what requires combatants to be interned for the duration of war when they enter neutral territory. And Britain has suffered enough casualties to make her forget international law, but is restrained by a strong national sentiment against war. "It's all very confusing."

Cliponreka Cullings

By Your Roaming Reporter

We have finally caught up with Lila. She has been out for a couple of weeks. I spent all last week catching up with her and we will now continue our ROAMING THROUGH EUROPE WITH LILA.

"Has everyone put on comfortable shoes?" our conductor was inquiring. "Because of the royal procession, all vehicles are prohibited this morning so we'll have to walk if we are to see Edinburgh." Most of us had sacrificed beauty for comfort in the selection of our shoes, so we had no fear about the walk that was ahead of us. Nevertheless, we soon realized that more than shoes had to be taken into consideration, and that Americans, if we were good samples, did not possess the art of walking. We soon realized too that if we were to hear the guide's explanations of the various sights we were seeing, we'd have to speed up. When we said, "You're going too fast," he merely laughed and went on a little faster. None of our protests had the slightest effect in slowing him down. I'll never forget the woe-begone look on the faces of some of those would-be voyagers on the climb up the hill to the Castle.

The oldest part of the Castle is St. Margaret's Chapel, built in 1050, and the Scottish War Memorial is the newest. We couldn't enter this because it was too near the time for the King to place a wreath of flowers there. But we saw the Crown Room, with its historic jewels and the crown of Robert Bruce, and also the banquet hall, with its thirteenth century beamed ceiling and its mazy coats of mail standing around the wall, looking as if they might be harboring the ghosts of the departed ones that lost their lives in them.

We wanted to stay much longer in the Castle, but our guide hurried us out, so that we wouldn't get locked in and have to stay until the King's ceremonies were over. As we were on our way out, one of my companions punched me and said, "Look!" I turned around and there, on a red velvet cushion, close enough for me to reach, was the golden key to the Castle. One of the royal officials was carrying it and in a short time it was to be presented to the king.

We took our stand on the esplanade outside the Castle, and what pageantry we saw during our hour and a half wait! I was fortunate enough to stand close to a Canadian who was kind enough to explain the whole thing to me. I could have much pleasure in memories of him had he not asked me in a condescending tone, "Don't you wish you could put on a show like this for your President?"

First came the royal band, dressed in red coats, black leggings, and Buzbees, tall hats made out of black bear skin. They rode by proudly on their beautiful bay horses and took their stand close to the entrance to the Castle. Then came the dragons, in uniforms very similar to those of the band except for the heavy brass helmets that glittered in the sun. (There were about sixteen of them.) Following them were the royal Scottish Grays, wearing the regulation red coats, black trousers with yellow stripes, and red and white plumes on their Buzbees. A most striking picture they made on their frayed horses of a uniform size and color.

Next in order were the Gordon Scottish Highlanders, tall, and mostly blonde—all perfect physical specimens. They stood directly in front of us, so we had a good opportunity to see their uniforms—khaki coats with a thistle insignia embroidered on their collars, navy trench hats with tiny ribbons streamers hanging down in the back, kilts of a blue, green and yellow mixture, with big pleats in the front and little ones in the back, black shoes, white uppers, and sock garters with red bows on them. There was something rather ridiculous about the ones who had mustaches, for the mustaches and the kilts just didn't go together.

The Royal Foot Guard (infantry to us), in red coats, Buzbees, and raincoats neatly strapped to their backs, were numerous, a continuous line of them extending from the Castle to St. Giles' Cathedral, at least a mile distant. It took a good bit of time for all this procession to line up—at least an hour. As the time for the arrival of the royal family drew near, there was a tenseness in the air. The royal guard drew themselves up straighter than ever. Every now and then a horse, tired of standing upon showing his impatience by restlessly pawing, would be gently but firmly jerked to attention by his rider. Finally, an impressive looking limousine, top down, glided past, and

At The Churches

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

C. M. Coalsen, Minister

The scriptural doctrine of repentance is a marvelous teaching. I could wish that every man—every person—in this wide world could see and understand just what a blessing the privilege of repentance is, or can be. The privilege of turning away from that which is ruinous is beyond evaluation in the mind of man. Suppose we were inseparably linked up with that which is deadly in its destructiveness. No more dismal supposition has ever entered any mind.

Anything which is wonderfully good is easily limited. That is why real repentance has been stimulated so many times in the hearts of men. They want the benefits of such amazing experience honestly, so an unrepentant man may pretend repentance. There are, therefore, two kinds of repentance. Come with us Sunday morning to the First Baptist Church and let us discuss these two kinds of repentance. Subject Sunday evening: "Christ Meets Every Need." Special music by the college glee club, directed by Mr. Neal.

FARM BRIEFS

By WHITNEY THARIN

Whitney Tharin, Extension Editor of the County Home Demonstration agents all over the state are spending this week in Athens attending an Extension School, purpose of which is to give workers an opportunity to hear and discuss latest methods and problems in the field of agriculture and home economics. They were selected to hear talks by such noted authorities as Dr. O. E. Baker and Miss Gladys Gallup, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington; Director Walter S. Brown, of the State Agricultural Extension Service; Dean Paul W. Chapman, of the College of Agriculture; J. William Furr, head of the department of agricultural economics and rural sociology at the University of Georgia, and many others. Theme for the work: "Economic and Social Trends in Agriculture." The Extension School will be held in Savannah on March 24 and 25.

A. J. Nitzsche, Chatham county agricultural agent, has been elected president of the recently-organized Savannah Livestock Development Committee, Inc. The committee is now making plans for the Spring Fair Stock show, to be held in Savannah on March 24 and 25.

Buying of peanuts under the oil-division program at $53 to $55 per ton has been rather brisk so far in the Southeastern States, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics. Applications have been received for diverting a large volume of Spanish and Runner peanuts, and other applications are in prospect. New crop peanuts for future shipments are being sold at about the same prices as prevail for old crop stock, indicating that the trade has little preference between old and new crop goods.

Georgia's 4-H Club achievements during 1937 will be reviewed in a special radio program over station WSB Saturday, November 6, from 11:45 to 12:15, central standard time. It will be tied in with a national time. It will be tied in with a national time.

Chevrolet Sales Division

New York, Oct. 27.—Officials of the General Motors Corporation have elected to sponsor the Chevrolet Division for 1938, to give special attention to the plans and programs of the largest unit of the corporation and to add Chevrolet in every possible way during the coming year to attain its objective of new car and truck sales. This year's note is the highest sales quota ever undertaken by any division of General Motors.

A. P. Sloan, Jr., and W. S. Knudsen, chairman of the General Motors Board, and president, respectively, have communicated with the more than 300,000 shareholders of the corporation, telling why General Motors is officially sponsoring Chevrolet for the new model year that started this week with the opening of the New York Automobile Show.

They complimented M. E. Coyle, Chevrolet general manager, and W. E. Holler, general sales manager, for the large growth of the company during the past four years and pointed out that Chevrolet is now a million-car-per-year company with sales of 1,015,000 for 1937 and 1,168,000 for 1938.

Both Sloan and Knudsen were enthusiastic concerning the advanced dealer-factory relationship that W. E. Holler has organized in the Quality Dealer Program and the Dealer Planning Committee.

"What Chevrolet does in any given year," said Sloan, "is of vital importance, not only to General Motors and the Chevrolet Division, its dealers and retail salesmen, but also to business in general, for Chevrolet's operations are so large and extensive as to have a marked influence on the welfare and the lives of millions."

Knudsen stressed service to public through the Chevrolet dealers, as he commented upon the fact that the corporation is backing Chevrolet in 1938 with its power and ability.

"In its unique position as the leader in the low-priced field," he said, "I know that the Chevrolet Division will accept the challenge that leadership brings, namely, maintaining its leadership in service to the public through the Chevrolet dealer organization."

Searchlight Spots 'Em

Distance may hold anything, unsuspected, until the searchlight sweeps through the night and spots it.

Often we wonder why we can't save. We sail along through life, and in the dark something smashes our plans. The big opportunity comes, and we haven't anything saved up for it.

Try shopping from the ads in this newspaper. Soon your experience will be the searchlight that will show you what you have been bumping up against or bumped in the past. Then you'll keep sailing right along our ad course.

Distance Between Earth and Sun
One year the distance between the earth and the sun is at a minimum and six months later at a maximum. Similarly, every twenty-seven days the moon passes from a position of maximum distance to a minimum and then back again. The variation between the two extremes amounts to about 3.5 per cent of the distance from the earth to the moon.

Do you have or know of a freak or anything unusual? Let us know and we will photograph it.

Popular Model Buick

Leaf Control Plan

Washington, Oct. 28.—A subcommittee of the house committee on agriculture, which has been designated by Chairman Jones to draft proposals to govern the control of tobacco production under terms of the new general farm bill, contemplates the holding of hearings in Georgia in the near future, it was revealed today.

The chairman of the subcommittee on tobacco, Representative Mitchell, of Tennessee, said, however, he would get in touch with Representatives Cox and Dean, of Georgia, who represent the principal tobacco-growing section of their state, before a definite decision was made. Before final adjournment of the last session of congress, a rough draft of a tobacco control measure was submitted to growers all over the country, most of whom approved, with the exception of Georgia growers. For this reason, the Mitchell subcommittee is anxious to get the views of Georgia growers before final proposal is submitted to the full committee, house agricultural committee.

Representative Emmett M. Owen, the only Georgian who is a member of the full committee, was appointed a member of the subcommittee in charge of cotton, of which Representative Fulmer, of South Carolina, is chairman. Other members are Roy Kleberg, of Texas, and Cooley, of Mississippi, of Mississippi.

Owen's Aims Cited
Representative Owen is hopeful that both cotton and tobacco growers of his state will receive the maximum amount of encouragement from the federal government in the growing and marketing of their crops and said he was prepared to do everything possible to make impossible in the future the severe price decline in cotton which has beset growers of his state for the past two months. The subcommittee on tobacco also will act as an unofficial committee on peanuts and will hold hearings on this crop if it decides to visit Georgia, Jones said.

Cataract Detained
When the tear of the eye becomes clouded the condition is termed a cataract. The lens is not being supplied with blood vessels or nerves, receives its nourishment from the fluids of the eye. The lens is encased in a capsule which acts as a filter to keep out undesirable material. Should this capsule break, the lens is flooded with the eye fluids. It then becomes clouded and the patient has what is known as a traumatic cataract. In elderly persons the lens capsule gradually becomes less efficient and the lens, as a result, becomes clouded from the outside toward the center.

Public Executions in Ohio
Until 1885 executions in Ohio were public, with men, women and children coming—a in excursion—for miles around to watch a condemned man go to his death by hanging. But in April of that year, James J. Cleveland Plain Dealer, the legislature passed a law providing that executions should thereafter be held in a penitentiary chamber to be built for the purpose.

IN THE WAKE OF FLOOD

This scene was enacted many times in refugee centers established by the Red Cross during the Ohio-Mississippi Valley flood. Inevitably floods bring the danger of disease as drinking sources become contaminated and large groups of people are thrown together. The medical health service of the Red Cross serves thousands each year, and is maintained by membership funds contributed to the organization at the time of its annual Roll Call from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving.

RED CROSS OBSERVES NURSING ANNIVERSARY

1937 Marks 25th Year Of Public Health Nursing In Rural Areas

"Prior to inauguration of the Red Cross Town and Country nursing service in 1912, no national effort was made to bring nursing skill to the rural areas," said James L. Fisher, vice chairman of the Red Cross, said today in commenting on the silver anniversary of Red Cross public health nursing.

In a plea for an increased membership during the coming Red Cross annual Roll Call held from November 11 to the 25th, Mr. Fisher pointed out that the Red Cross rural nursing rounds out 25 years of continuous service this year. "It is essential activities such as this which the American people support through membership," he said.

In 1910 William Auld, then head resident of the Hunt, Street Settlement in New York City proposed that the American Red Cross pioneer in the field of rural nursing. Public health nurses were active in urban districts but a similar provision had been made to guard the health of the rural dweller.

James L. Fisher, vice chairman of the Red Cross, said today in commenting on the silver anniversary of Red Cross public health nursing.

who thoroughly knew the mechanics of this new job.

By 1918 there were 100 rural nursing services conducted by Red Cross chapters; and 18 months later the number of services and skyrocketed to 2,000, as the signing of the Armistice released a flood of war nurses for peace-time duty.

"Reorganization and consolidation eventually cut the number of public health nurses serving under the Red Cross," Mr. Fisher stated. "But as a group their efficiency improved."

Mr. Fisher called attention to a study of Red Cross public health nursing service in 1912. No national effort was made to bring nursing skill to the rural areas," said James L. Fisher, vice chairman of the Red Cross, said today in commenting on the silver anniversary of Red Cross public health nursing.

Many Red Cross chapters carry on extensive civilian relief work. During the past year 120,000 needy families received this type of Red Cross help.

In the fullness of time, Georgia may become an industrial state, but not soon enough to do the generation in charge of affairs today much good. You business men with a vision beyond the immediate present, show an interest in these boys. Their creed of faith is an inspiring bit of reading. Any solemn pledge to the future of farming and rural life by such a group is of tremendous importance. The training they are getting in cooperative action; organization tactics, and constructive effort, a preparation for citizenship and assumption of responsibility as men.

This is not to disregard the great program of the 4-H Club boys and girls which embraces development of head, heart, hand and health. Both are fine groups of young Americans deserving the interest and support of their elders of every station of life.

Mercy to look upon these youngsters in action is an inspiration. The success of their program means that another generation will do better than their fathers; that there will be more skill in production, more waste eliminated; that character is to be preserved, and that the future of this nation will be guided aright.

The A shaped hog house around L. L. Clifton's farm indicates that there will be some parasite-free hogs raised there. These hog houses are part of the sanitation program necessary to raise pigs free of the kidney worms.

Accurate farm records are just as essential to the farmer as books are to any other business, declares H. F. Womack, Mr. Womack says that records are just as necessary during the years as good.

Keeping a few purebred heifers on the farm along with a purebred cow is insurance against having to pay high prices for new ones every year or two, according to Jones A. L. H. The few purebred Angus heifers he keeps also gives him an additional income by being able to supply some of his neighbors with a purebred sire for their herd.

Good quality steers that are fat will always bring their part of the farm income in, so says Jimmy Bunch, a 4-H Club boy, who sold a ten-month old calf for $72 last week. Jimmie's calf sold for 12 cents per pound and the ordinary cattle on the local market was bringing even less than half that much per pound.

1937 AAA Payments
Be Made At Maximum

The Agricultural Adjustment Administration has announced that payments to farmers participating in the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program will be made at the maximum rates according to information received by County Agent Byron Dyer. The 1937 program as originally announced included a tentative schedule of payment rates subject to a 10 per cent adjustment upward or downward depending upon the extent of participation by farmers in computing a farmer's payments, his pro rata share of the expenses of administering the program in his county will be deducted from the gross amount determined by the application of the maximum rates.

County Library
Board Holds Its Regular Meeting

The Bulloch county library board held its regular meeting Friday afternoon at four o'clock in the library. Ms. F. W. Hodges, the president, presided.

The Library Board was gratified over the large number of books in circulation since the last meeting. Ms. Bess Jones, the librarian, reported that the largest daily circulation was 255 books and that 1760 books had been read during the month. This number does not include the 998 books that are in circulation in the Bulloch county school. Leon Holloway, the school librarian, reported that he had carried 560 supplementary readers and 438 books of fiction to the various schools of the county.

The Board observed the rental shelf and noticed that 43 rental books had been read during the month. This shelf is continually being

CONSERVING FOOD VALUE

Vegetables, more than any other kind of food, need scientific cooking. Some of their most important nutritive values are easily lost in cooking, and this is true of other kinds of foods. We depend upon vegetables and fruits for a large share of the mineral substances and vitamins that are required to keep our body food supply in balance and our bodies in good condition.

If all the vegetables were eaten raw, we would get more of their mineral and vitamin values than we do. That is one reason food scientists so emphatically recommend raw cabbage, raw carrots, raw turnips, celery and lettuce. The vitamin C in vegetables is very easily lost in cooking, except in the cooking of tomatoes where the acid serves to prevent the destruction of vitamin C. Vitamin B is less easily destroyed, but it, too, is affected by heat and water.

To overcome these difficulties and to avoid nutritive losses so far as possible, different rules apply to the cooking of different kinds of vegetables.

Baking in the skin is the ideal way from the standpoint of food values, to cook potatoes, sweet potatoes, and squash, for example. Baking in a covered dish, a casserole, accomplishes the same purpose in vegetables that can be cooked without added water. Pan-frying, or cooking in a covered pan on top of the stove, using little or no water, is another application of the same principle, and can be used for a considerable variety of vegetables.

Steaming is the second best method from the standpoint of preserving food values. Many vegetables can be steamed.

Boiling, the most common method, calls for special precautions to prevent loss of food values. The most important points to observe are these:

- (1) Cook vegetables only long enough to make them firm in texture.
- (2) Cook them in as little water as possible. Some, like spinach, in just the water that clings to the leaves after washing. Brussels sprouts and cauliflower, on the other hand, need water enough to cover.
- (3) Serve the cooking liquid if possible, for it contains much of the mineral substances and some of the vitamins involved in cooking the vegetables. Gravies, soups, and seasonings can be made with this cooking liquid, if it is not feasible to serve it with the vegetable itself.

ALL'S FAIR

The good things in life don't change so much. Here comes a fellow back from a party spilling adjectives like unique, novel, and before he could get to ultra modern, he interrupted his flow of complimentary language and inquired as to the occasion for such enthusiasm and the very easily lost in cooking, except in the cooking of tomatoes where the acid serves to prevent the destruction of vitamin C. Vitamin B is less easily destroyed, but it, too, is affected by heat and water.

Selling of Timber
In Lump Sum Often
Is Not Profitable

COUNTY AGENT SHOWS HOW IMPORTANT TO KNOW HOW MUCH TIMBER IN CERTAIN TRACT BEFORE MAKING A TRADE TO SELL.

County Agent Byron Dyer today warned farmers against selling their timber in a lump sum as full value often is not received in a deal of this kind.

"You wouldn't sell a herd of cattle without counting them," the agent asserted. "Well, it's just as important to know how much timber you have in a certain tract and what its market value is, before making a trade to dispose of it."

Mr. Dyer offered two suggestions to owners of timber land or farm woodlands who have timber or pulpwood to sell:

- (1) Get a reliable estimate on the cords of pulpwood, the number of poles or posts, or the board feet of saw-timber that is to be sold.
- (2) Find out the value of wood products being sold. The sale is likely to be made blindfold, unless estimates are made of the number of cords of wood or the number of units of other products to be sold.

The agent called attention to recent studies, made by the United States Forest Service, which showed that it takes nearly twice as long to cut a cord of wood from 6-inch trees as from 12-inch trees; and it requires five times as many 5-inch sticks as it does 12-inch sticks to make one standard cord.

He pointed out that 42 trees, with a diameter of 4 inches, are required to make a cord, but that it takes only 22 six-inch trees, 14 seven-inch trees, 10 eight-inch trees, 7 nine-inch trees, or 6 ten-inch trees for a cord. "Cutting out the poorer trees from 5 to 10 inches in diameter," Mr. Dyer says, "helps the better trees to grow faster, but the cutting of the smaller-sized trees only helps to reduce the yield of the woodland."

The county agent invited farmers to discuss their forestry problem with him at any time.

Vinegar Acidity
In vinegar making, the higher the sugar content of the apple or other, the greater is the acidity of the vinegar. But "sweet" apples don't always make the best vinegar. It is explained that "sweet" apples are not necessarily sweet because they contain more sugar; often, sweetness indicates a low natural fruit acid.

Teachers Defeats Douglas 25-6

T. C. Drubs Douglas In First Night Game Before Large Crowd

Before a crowd of 2200 people the South Georgia Teachers defeated Douglas in the first night game of the season. The game was the first to be played in the new stadium and it was played under the newly lighted Municipal Playground before the largest crowd ever to witness a football game in Statesboro. The very touch of the chilly night air seemed to have every one of the fans keyed to the highest pitch of excitement and everyone seemed to be fully alert. The game was a close one, the Teachers leading 10-0 at the half and 25-6 at the end of the game. The Teachers won their first victory of the year.

Both teams scored in the first quarter. Golden scoring for the Teachers and Ransy scored for the visitors. Each team's try for the extra point failed. The two eleven ball evenly for the remainder of the first half.

In the second half the Teachers opened up early in the third full pass to Jeff Stewart who carried it the rest of the distance. This put the Teachers out in front by a touch. Later in the half two more touchdowns were chalked up, one being made on an end run by Stewart and the other came from manover pass from Battle, who passed to Rigby. This made the score 25-6 and it remained this way until the final whistle.

The Teachers outplayed the visitors from start to finish. They made more first downs, gained more yards, completed more passes and intercepted four of the Douglas passes. The Douglas kicker had the edge on the Teachers with an average of thirty-five yards to thirty.

NEVILS NEWS

BY MISS MAUDE WHITE

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION
The November meeting of the Nevils P. T. A. will be held Thursday afternoon, November 18th, at 3:30 o'clock. A program that is worth while is being planned. All members and patrons and their friends are especially urged to be present. Some very important business will be transacted at this meeting, so please show your interest by being present to have a voice in this matter.

HALLOWEEN PROGRAM

"The Interrupted Courtship," a comedy in three acts, was staged in Nevils High School auditorium Thursday night very successfully. This play was under the supervision of Miss Emma L. Adams, the music and expression teacher of our school. Much skill and talent was displayed by the characters as well as the leader in this presentation. After the play the cake walk and carnival part of the program began. Miss Evelyn Kennedy was crowned the Halloween queen from our high school department. We realized $58 from this show.

STATSBORO CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

We are expecting to have the Statesboro Chamber of Commerce to meet at our school some time the latter part of November with the Nevils P. T. A. as host. Plans are being made for this occasion. We are expecting to get the final answer from this organization some time within the next few days in regard to the date of their coming and the number of members and wives who will attend.

Mr. Brainerd Hodges, our Section A Seventh Grade teacher, is back with us after a severe two weeks illness. We are glad to have him back, for we missed him very much. Miss Susan Snipes of S. G. T. C., one of the Rosenwald scholarship students, will be with us for one month to assist the teachers of our school in any way they wish. We are enjoying having her with us very much. We really think she is very beneficial to our school and inspirational to our faculty. We always welcome Miss Frances and her able helpers to our community, for no community can rise any higher in its social and economic life and in the culture of its citizen.

P.T.A. Carnival Drwas Big Crowd

MISS LENORA WHITESIDE IS CROWNED "CARNIVAL QUEEN" FEATURE OF CARNIVAL WAS THE SKIT, "THE LITTLE RED SCHOOL HOUSE"

The annual P. T. A. Carnival held at the Armory Tuesday night was very successful, both from a monetary standpoint and as an entertainment feature. Its sponsors cleared approximately two hundred dollars, which will be sufficient to meet the demands on their yearly budget.

A clever skit entitled "The Little Red School House" afforded much amusement. Miss Inez Williams with her "moral persuader" was the pedagogue. The pupils were Mrs. Inman, Mrs. Frank Oliver, Mrs. Bruce Oliver, Mrs. Ernest Brannen, Mrs. H. L. Kennon, Mrs. A. M. Braswell, Mrs. J. S. Murray, Messrs. Sam Northcutt, W. L. Waller, Ernest Brannen, Leodel Coleman, Esten G. Cromartie and Robert Donaldson.

The most exciting event of the Queen's Contest, Miss Lenora Whiteside was crowned Queen of the Carnival. This title is a coveted honor. Gene L. Hodges was selected as King. Taking part in the coronation were Frank Williams, crown bearer, flower girls, Grace Waller and Carol Jean Carter. Attendants, Dr. Remington, Catherine Alice Smallwood and Martha Wilma Simmons. Herald, Margaret Brown and Turner. Forming the aisle for the Queen were Barbara Gloria Macon, Sue Brannen and Fay Anderson.

Mrs. W. L. Waller, finance and budget chairman was in charge of the arrangements.

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Warnock entertained very delightfully last Friday night with a Halloween party in honor of their attractive daughter, Edith Lois. A number of her classmates and close friends were invited. The home was beautifully decorated in black and white with the Halloween color scheme. The refreshment table was laden with indoor games and contests were played including "Pinning the Black Cat Tail On," in which Miss Elizabeth Proctor won the prize. An outstanding feature of the evening was "Bobbing for Apples." Mrs. Dolphus DeLoach directed the games and assisted with serving.

The open face Halloween sandwich-beverage. The black and gold bags of Halloween candy were given as favors.

FFA BOYS STUDYING FORESTRY
The FFA boys under the instruction of Mr. C. C. Avery are doing some extensive studying of forestry on their farms. They are observing ways of protecting the trees from wind, fire and ax. Much interest is shown in this line of work.

High Blue Devils Are Defeated By Inspired Millen Eleven 8 to 0

Showing the poorest exhibition of offensive football this season, the Statesboro High Blue Devils were defeated by the Millen Red Raiders last Friday afternoon on the Millen grid-iron by the score of 8-0.

Millen completely outplayed the Blue Devils after the first quarter, and the Millen boys stopped all attempts of the Statesboroians in trying to cross the glory mark. The offensive playing of the Blue Devils seemed to be at lead and they carried the game from the beginning until about three minutes of time left and out of a clear blue sky the Blue Devils back seemed to have awakened from a slumber. In three plays the Blue Devils ained about 40 yards and seemed certain they could get a touchdown. At the half the Millen team led by a 6-0 score.

At the beginning of the second half the Statesboro fans were hoping that the boys would dig in and go to work to overcome that six point margin. But instead, Millen evidently decided to increase their lead. During the first quarter the Blue Devils did some wonderful playing. They did score a touchdown, but it was a costly one. Millen at the end of the second quarter made a break and broke through the Blue Devils' defense and scored a touchdown. This made the score 8-0. At the end of the third quarter the Blue Devils began to pick up a little but it was too late to do any damage.

Millen gained 87 yards from scrimmage. Statesboro 100. Millen completed six out of thirteen passes for seventy yards. Statesboro, three out of thirteen for 21 yards. Statesboro lost fifty-four yards from scrimmage while Millen lost only twenty-seven. The Blue Devils made four first downs and was penalized fifteen yards. Millen made 7 first downs and was penalized 10 yards.

The week end guest of Misses Frances and Juanita Davis. Misses Bertha Lee and Florence Brunson were visiting in Nevils Sunday afternoon.

SUPERIOR COURT (Continued from Page 1)

Last week three murder cases were tried. H. T. Body, Jr., was acquitted for the murder of the young son of William Youngblood. The case involved an automobile accident near here almost a year ago. Fame of Old Bahamas
Probably the greatest claim to fame possessed by the Bahamas is the fact that it was these islands which gave Christopher Columbus his first glimpse of the New World. It was the island of San Salvador, now known as Watlings island, which the great navigator first sighted on October 12, 1492, on his voyage in search of a new route to India.

Rhodes' Africa Map
The map which Cecil Rhodes used when he planned his campaign to succeed Phil Brewster who became head of the newly organized State Highway Patrol. Major Cowart has been in his office in Atlanta now for more than a week.

Three candidates for the Judgeship have been prominently mentioned here. It is definitely known that Linton G. Lanier will seek the office. Mr. Lanier is a native of Bulloch county and has a large family connection here and has practiced law in Statesboro for the past fifteen years. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia Law School. It is also assured that Judge Renfro will be a candidate for the office. Renfro has served the city as Mayor for two and one-half terms. He has one more year to serve on his present term. Mr. Renfro is also attorney for Bulloch County and the City of Statesboro. A third probable candidate is Col. D. C. Jones, prominent Statesboro lawyer. Col. Jones served as solicitor of the City for six years. Though he has not made a definite announcement that he will run, it is believed he will be a candidate.

According to the state laws the Ordinary of Bulloch County must call a special election to fill the office of a county officer who has resigned. Just when this election will be called is not known. The present term of office of the Judge of the City Court expires after one more year and next year would be election year. At the same time county commissioners are elected in the primary. There are some citizens who have suggested that the primary be held early in the year and that no special election be called, thereby eliminating the expense of holding a special election.

Now the question arises, "Who will be Statesboro's next Mayor?"

There is no answer to that question since no names have been mentioned as a successor to Mayor Renfro. It is understood that Mayor Renfro will resign his post with the city as soon as the special election for Judge is called.

Frank Zetterower of Dublin was elected president of the freshman class at the Teachers College, Wednesday. Two students from Statesboro were also given posts by the first year students.

All class officers, with the exception of the freshmen, are elected in the spring.

The freshmen election is not held until mid term the first quarter in order to give the newcomers time to get acquainted with their classmates.

Zetterower defeated Pat Colquitt of Cedarturn in a run-off 92 to 78. After the run-off the election of vice-president ended in a tie between Brantley Johnson of Statesboro and D. R. Barber of Bainbridge. Another run-off will be held later. Earl Byrd class secretary and T. A. Bacon, Jr. of Patterson was an easy winner for Manassas was elected class treasurer. In an election where there were six candidates, Ennis Call of Statesboro defeated Joe Joyner of Scriven in a run-over 66-68 for representative on the student council.
