

IT MAY SOUND CRAZY... BUT IT MAKES NEWS...

SPARTA—Farmers have the worst luck! And I am sure that Eugene Foster, negro farmer who lives near Sparta, has the very best. The other afternoon he was brought into town for medical treatment for a thumbless hand. It seems that he has a very temperamental mule. So much so, in fact, that if things do not go his way he does something about it. When Foster awoke his temper he just calmly bit his thumb making a clean amputation. This is the first instance that we have known a mule to do such a thing and no doubt, Foster will let the mule have his way in the future.

EASTMAN—It seems that our feathered friends are always walking away with some honor or special recognition. And perhaps they deserve it. At any rate, the hen owned by Sonny Renee, Junior at Milton Public School, Eastman, is claimed to be the champion hen in all the universe. Renee says that his hen is just an ordinary White Leghorn that laid an ordinary egg about daylight on April 19. But she didn't stop there. About 10 o'clock she laid another egg of tremendous size, and still another the night of the same day. And since that day his pet has laid two eggs of ordinary size each day. The big egg measured 6 1/2 inches around the short way and 8 inches around the long, actual measurement by the Eastman Times Journal tape-line.

KERMIT R. CARR TALKS TO SENIOR CLASS AT S. H. S.

At a special assembly meeting held in the auditorium of the Statesboro High School, Monday morning, May 15, the members of the Senior class were presented with graduation books by the Sea Island Bank, Statesboro, Georgia. After a brief talk on the subject, "Playing the Game," Kermit R. Carr, assistant cashier, presented each student with a package wrapped and tied with class colors containing a nicely arranged record book which will enable the student to keep a permanent and interesting record of his classmates, activities, faculty members, photographs and other treasured information of his last days in high school. In the talk emphasis was placed on the importance of playing the game squarely, as embodied in the class motto: "Not what you do, but how you do it." In discussing the motto, it was suggested that the individual should choose to do only those things which are morally, physically, and spiritually clean, and to do even these in an acceptable manner. In pointing out the wisdom of setting aside a portion of one's income for emergencies, Mr. Carr closed his talk with the statement that it is "Not what you make, but what you save that counts."

about the size of a spanish peanut, and to cap the climax, the egg was shaped like a ten pin. The diminutive egg was smoothly formed and looked like anything else but what it was—an egg.

WHENEVER WE BEGIN TO think we're good, something always happens to destroy our opinion of ourselves. So was the case with Mrs. Frank Wellons, of Marietta. She is quite a golfer, and after trying for so long to make a good drive, finally succeeded in doing so. She hit a beautiful shot, long and straight, right down the fairway. It was about 10 o'clock she laid another egg of tremendous size, and still another the night of the same day. And since that day his pet has laid two eggs of ordinary size each day. The big egg measured 6 1/2 inches around the short way and 8 inches around the long, actual measurement by the Eastman Times Journal tape-line.

ry-over cotton which would not have been subject to penalty if marketed in 1938. However, until the county committee determines that the actual production of the allotment is larger than the normal production thereof, the normal production of the allotment, plus any carry-over of penalty-free cotton, will be considered the farm marketing quota.

Producers who have no carry-over penalty cotton and who plant within their 1939 acreage allotments will receive white marketing cards and may sell all of their cotton in 1939 without any penalty.

Those overplanting their allotments will receive red cards, indicating that marketings in excess of their quotas will be subject to penalty. Producers having carry-over penalty cotton on hand will receive both red and blue cards. The blue card will represent the amount of carry-over cotton subject to the 2-cent penalty. If the producers on a farm actually produce less than the farm marketing quota they may sell carry-over penalty cotton, together with the 1939 crop, up to the amount of the 1939 quota without penalty; but any carry-over penalty cotton sold in excess of the quota will be subject to the 2-cent penalty.

In addition to other records, ginners and buyer this year will be required to report on all seed cotton purchased and all cotton ginned for a producer in less than bale lots in order that penalties may be correctly determined. This information also is important in determining yields and marketing quotas for producers.

Lonnie Lanier Goes On Trial For Third Time

Lonnie Lanier went on trial for the third time Tuesday morning when the case was transferred from Screven county to Bulloch. Lanier is one of the six defendants in the Charlie Daughtry murder case.

Only one hour was used to select the jury from 78 Bulloch jurors summoned. It is composed of G. H. Cribbs, Comer H. Bird, Ruel L. Minick, Willie N. Roberts, J. Burton Mitchell, A. B. Freeman, Ancil L. Hodges, W. W. Robertson, W. H. Woods, and A. L. Roughton. All are farmers with the exception of J. Burton Mitchell who is a jeweler here in Statesboro.

Twelve witnesses were used the first day, with the state following the same line as in the former trials of Lanier.

The first witness for the state was Brantley Lee, who discovered the body of Charlie Daughtry, in September, 1937, slumped in his car in the woods near his home near Rocky Ford. Lee was followed by Ralph Thompson, a Sylvan undertaker. These witnesses were followed by nine others, that have been used in the previous trials, including Aaron Nelson, who confessed to his part in the crime, and the man who rode the bumper on the Daughtry car the afternoon he was killed.

The only new feature of the trial Tuesday was the objection of the defense to Nelson's testimony. Defense attorneys read a decision of the Supreme Court in the Lonnie Lanier case to attend the trial for the exclusion of the testimony. Judge Worrell of Cuthbert, presiding for Judge William Woodrum, withheld a ruling on the motion. Judge Woodrum disqualified himself.

The state is represented by Solicitor General W. G. Neville, R. Lee Moore, D. C. Jones, and E. K. Overstreet. They have summoned 33 more witnesses. Lonnie Lanier is represented by Fred T. Lanier, Frank Brant of Sylvan, and Charles Anderson of Statesboro.

Lanier's first trial resulted in a mistrial and the second time he was convicted and later granted a new trial.

Elvin Anderson Bulloch 4-H Club Boy Earns Education With Steer

Elvin Anderson won't have any entries in Georgia's best cattle shows next spring. Instead, he's going to college on the money he made with a Georgia-bred steer that won the grand championship at Savannah's 1939 Fat Cattle Show.

Anderson is a 17-year old Bulloch county 4-H club member. Under the direction of County Agent Byron Dyer, he's been feeding cattle for three years in his father's farm near Registered. He produced many class winners, but until his Hereford steer was proclaimed champion at Savannah, he had not previously fed out a top-notch steer. Entering the University of Georgia's College of Agriculture in September won't, by any means, remove Anderson from the livestock business. He plans to keep some cattle, as well as 40-odd head of purebred hogs. But he won't have time to work with show animals. For the next four years, his college work will come first.

Anderson received $230 for his Savannah champion. In addition, he won three loving cups and a registered Angus heifer valued at $100. That cash is going to be used to pay his entrance fees when he goes to Athens.

WALTER E. McDOUGALD

Last Friday afternoon our county suffered a loss from which it will be a long time recovering, if it ever does. It was not a financial loss, nor was it a material loss, for we recover from financial and material losses. It was a spiritual loss and so the more keenly felt.

For it was Friday afternoon that a kindly man saw "finis" written on his earthly roamings and entered upon his eternal rest and reward. We saw him arising from his bed of sickness and setting forth, clear of eye, keen of intellect, erect in smiling confidence of his destiny. Relieved of his earthly burdens he is now free to pursue those dreams of his with renewed energy and strong purpose.

It was a pleasure to know Walter McDougald. When one came into his presence one felt the warmth of his personality, his enthusiasm for living, his love for his friend and neighbor, and became a better man for having known him.

In his 53 years Walter made life more pleasant for a great number of people. His kindly counsel, his everlasting good humor and love for his fellow-man made him one of our most beloved characters.

We are deeply grieved in the loss of this friendly man, but we feel joy in the contemplation of his release into a life of unlimited and unhampered activity. When we now think back we can never think of the spirit looking out of his eyes as anything but something likeable and good, and we are glad that it will be a part of him which will be preserved and projected throughout eternity.

Walter McDougald is dead, but his spirit is enshrined in the hearts of his friends and he will still be among us in the days to come for as long as memory is alive and we are capable of an appreciation of a friend.

In one of the last paragraphs written in Walter's "Roaming Reporter" columns we believe he must have had a premonition of what was to come for he wrote:

"And as I look out of my casement window day is dying in the west, the lowing herd wind slowly over the lea, and shortly they'll leave the world to darkness and to me, and so we come to the good night period. This has been a beautiful day, the roses are a riot of color . . . and not a tinge of regret as I review the recent past . . . Truly it is well . . . IT IS WELL with my soul.

FOR THEIR OWN GOOD

In Bulloch county there is growing an organization, the United Georgia Farmers. Its membership has been growing from week to week until now nearly 500 farmers are members.

The farmers at last are beginning to fight. One of the things that assures the success of the organization is that the list of members includes tenants, sharecropper and owners. It is not an organization of farm owners but an organization of men who farm.

This organization can and ought to become the most powerful influence in the state.

W. H. Smith is president of the Bulloch chapter. He is one of the best farmers in the county, having been named as one of Georgia's Master Farmers. Fred Blitch is secretary, L. E. Lindsey is vice-president. All are real men and real farmers.

In a pamphlet being sent to the farmers of the state a number of reasons why farmers should join this organization are given. Some of these are: Because our farm problems naturally divide themselves into three classes: (1) Those problems that the farm family can solve for itself; (2) those problems requiring group action by farm families of community and county and (3) those problems which require group action by the farm families of both state and nation.

Because, for several years the average per capita income of the Georgia farm family has been only $147 as compared with $343 per capita income for all families in Georgia.

Because, since the average per capita income of the Georgia farm family is less than one-half of the per capita income of the average non-farm family, and since the non-farm families of Georgia have through the years been organized and so have been successful in raising their income, it naturally stands to reason that the Georgia farm family might also raise its income through organization. Parity of Income and Parity of Purchasing Power is the first great objective of the United Georgia farmers.

Because the United Georgia Farmers is an educational, legislative and promotional organization and operates with all federal agricultural agencies to bring the greatest measure of prosperity to each farm family in Georgia.

Because the United Georgia Farmers is a non-commercial organization and does not buy or sell, exchange or barter in any kind of farm commodities whatsoever, but it does co-operate with and promotes all farmer-owned and farmer-controlled co-operatives which are properly set up to render service to the farmer.

Ralph McGill, in writing in the Atlanta Constitution, says: "Once the organization gets 100,000 or more members in the state one may expect a great change in Georgia politics. And also in the economy of the state. You won't hear from them as a vital factor this year. Perhaps not in 1940, although they may. But by 1942 the politician will be wise who does not promise what he can not deliver."

A KID WITHOUT A DOG . . . that's bad, but a kid with a dog that has been run over and killed, well that's terrible.

We recently read an editorial in the Dawson News entitled "Don't Run Over My Dog." Believing that it expresses the feelings of every kid with a dog we reproduce it here.

"DON'T RUN OVER my dog mister. He is just a puppy and hasn't learned yet to stay out of the street."

"I TRAINED HIM TO run after a ball and we have so much fun together. The other day, I threw the ball across the street. I didn't see a car approaching, but some motorist just barely missed him as he gleefully returned the ball."

"YOU SEE, MISTER, this little dog and I understand each other. He misses me terribly when I am at school every day and greets me when I come home. I can tell he's glad to see me by the way he wags his tail and licks my hand. Then we romp together all the afternoon; he accompanies me wherever I go; we are just inseparable."

"I THINK MORE OF my dog, mister, than any other possession I have. True, he's not a thoroughbred dog with a long pedigree. He's just plain dog, but no dog of high breeding is more faithful, more attentive to my commands."

"I LET HIM SLEEP in my room during cold nights. He nuzzles his warm head against me when I kneel to say my prayers. He seems to be praying, too. I feed him myself. I share the sandwich mother fixed for me with him. He always seems grateful, and jumps up on me in a sort of ecstasy only dogs seem to know."

"PLEASE DON'T RUN over my dog, mister. He doesn't know any better than to get in your way. He is too busy occupied with giving me happiness and pleasure to think of danger. And if you ran over him and killed him—I know you would be sorry, but all the apologies in the world couldn't pendable little partner would be gone, and my bring him back to life. My little playmate, my dear heart saddened beyond words."

"Please be careful, won't you mister?"

ERNEST JONES WAS in our office Monday all puffed up with pardonable pride . . . he is a papa again, and mamma and son are doing well, thank you.

R. LEE MOORE SPEAKER AT NEVILS

Immediately following the program Friday night at Nevils, R. Lee Moore of Statesboro gave a very interesting talk on the school situation of Georgia, to one of the largest crowds ever attending the 7th grade graduation. Col. R. Lee Moore in his introduction complimented the Nevils school for its growth within the past few years.

He said the crowd was so large that it reminded him of the meeting he attended some few days ago in Madison Square Garden in New York City. He said this was good evidence of the interest these people had in the education of their child. Their presence proved this interest.

He stated that Georgia's greatest investment was "children". He said two things a child would do naturally and was beyond the power of man was: "It would out, and it would grow". And as to what direction the child would grow was the responsibility of the parent through providing means of education for it. The closing consolation the Col. Moore left with his audience was he felt confident that the Legislators would reconvene and make some worthwhile plans for the education of the state some time in the near future.

Mr. Womack presented a petition requesting the Legislators to reconvene and asked for signatures after he had given the statistics on the paying of teacher's salaries since 1928. He stated that some teachers had been owed as much as $1800 at one time. Many people willingly signed the paper.

Bowen of Eastman, formerly Sarah Katherine Cone of Savannah and Statesboro and Miss Isabel Daniel of Eastman, and the matron of honor was Mrs. Roger Lawson of Hawkinsville, sister of the groom, and the maid of honor was Miss Lee Goolsby, sister of the bride.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Wallace Daniel of South Carolina, brother of the groom.

The bride was lovely in her wed- ding gown of white net and lace fashioned with a tight fitting bod- ice having short, puffed sleeves and a neckline finished with a cluster of valley lilies, the flared skirt ending in a long train. With it she wore an old-fashioned lace mits and a necklace. Her finger tip veil of illusion tulle was caught to a becoming epp with orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of calla lilies tied with broad white satin ribbon.

Following the wedding, a recep- tion was given at the Community Club House, where a large number called during the evening. After a short wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. Daniel are at home in Statesboro.

All's Fair...

Misty-eyed seniors are finding that graduation days are not quite as joyous as they anticipated. Sepa- ration from loved classmates al- ready looms "near enough in the future to darken happy days oth- erwise unclouded. . . . One could not be sad though, as girls danced by at the reception in gossamer gowns of unusual beauty, and our young men in cavalier roles, equal- ly as spic and span for social func- tions. . . . We have heard of di- mond rings, gifts of money and lovely graduation presents, but Janice Arundel prized her first radiogram coming from the Col. Thompson's way out in the Phil-ippines. The message was picked up at College Park and relayed to Statesboro on a post card. The radiogram sent congratulations and the promise of a gift, now traveling much more slowly than the radiogram.

Ronnie Brown, trying to be ev- ery whit as dignified as the sen- iors, was temporarily embarrassed as he missed his chair and set on the floor at the exercises Monday evening. . . .

Our clubs this week go to the Woman's Club for their happy choice of Lena Belle Hanner for their president. Her charming personality and brilliant intell- ectual qualities used in this official capacity will greatly enrich the club and the entire community. . . .

I know you have already taken your foot off the accelerator. I'm grained by the Proctor's home and allowed the petunia bordered high- way in its colorful beauty to feed your esthetic senses. The picture- esque well, its old fashioned wear, will afford a refreshing drink and the cozy atmosphere of the fire- place tempts one to drive in and sojourn a while on that shady porch. . . .

The Boss is all set up this week because an issue of the Bulloch Herald has been returned to the office with mysterious cryptic pen- cillings. Upon examination we dis- covered that the paper had actu- ally been studied by an expert. Even Jane could see that. Marks on the front page indicated a dif- ference in opinion as to front page arrangement, but the editorial page rated five stars. Receiving good ratings were the society sec- tion, news from the County Agent, Scout and Hospital news and fea- ture stories. . . .

Everybody is wondering how we happened to miss Lillian Lester's illness. We saw her head in shame, but silently promise not to men- tion lillies next year. . . .

Can't wait to see candid camera shots made recently at Magnolia Lodge. Understand that a promi- nent business man is plenty uneasy. . . . It seems that B is the individ- ual in fear of the dog house, or could we be misinformed. . . .

As ever, JANE.

Drive home in a brand new FORD V-8. Man, that is the the sweetest running car I ever handled. And is my wife proud? She says the FORD V-8 was designed for women - the least word in style and luxurious comfort. We are the envy of the neighborhood - but not for long, I expect. Tim, Dave, Henry and Bill have already talked to me and the FORD Dealer is going to have a busy day.

4-H Club Boys Turn To Sheep

Sheep are now being placed with Georgia 4-H Club members on the same basis that beef cattle and hogs have been made avail- able for the last several years. Under this system, banks and com- mercial firms lend 4-H Club members money to buy sheep. The boys repay the loans when they sell their lambs and wool. Top photo shows Billy Groves, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Groves, of Union county, getting acquainted with his new ewe. Bill Corn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Corn, of Towns county, is shown in the middle photo with his first crop of lambs. In the bottom picture, Fred Scroggs, left, Wilson Deane, center, and Stedman Warren, all of Fannin county, are shown with their ewes, each of which added twin lambs to the boys' flocks this spring.

1. MATCHLESS V-8 PERFORMANCE. No other make car costing less than around $1000 delivered has it. Unequaled gasoline and oil mileage proved in Chevrolet-Vauxhall Run.

2. BIGGEST HYDRAULIC BRAKES. More secure in hard to handle braking surfaces than any other car in the low priced field.

3. TRIPLE CUSHION COMFORT. Balanced action in springs, shock absorbers and seat cushions result in a shock free, friction free ride that is a revelation! Unload rear seat of any low priced car.

4. THE STYLE LEADER IN THE LOW PRICED FIELD! You will be delighted at the low FORD values and amazed at the value we'll make on your old car. Come in today.

At a recent conference in Washington, D. C., delegates representing Georgia and five other southern states formally requested the U. S. Department of Agriculture to continue the peanut diversion program in 1939. The conference had been requested by the Georgia Peanut Association of Georgia, Florida, and Alabama to discuss peanut marketing problems with representatives of the Agriculture officials. It was attended by representatives of the GFA Association of Canilla, Ga.; the Peanut Stabilization Cooperative, Inc., of Edenton, N. C.; the Virginia Peanut Growers Cooperative of Waverly, Va.; and the Southwestern Peanut Growers Association of Brownwood, Tex. The Georgia delegation was composed of C. G. Garner, of Athens, Georgia Extension Service marketing specialist; Roy E. Parrish and J. D. Gardner of Canilla; J. W. Kieve, of Albany; M. Stockton, of Atlanta; Congressman Stephen Pace, of Americus; J. L. Trammell, of Sumner; J. D. McGee of Morgan; and Ed Stevens and H. A. Feltz of Dawson.

Clarke county (Athens) farm landowners last week voted 106 to 1 in favor of joining the Oconee Soil Conservation District, established recently by farmers in Jackson and Barrow counties. It is one of 15 such districts organized under the State Soil Conservation Districts Act, passed by the 1937 Georgia legislature. The Act is designed to enable landowners to accept the assistance of the federal government in combating soil erosion on an area basis.

No marketing quota for wheat will be proclaimed this year, Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace has announced. The announcement followed a determination that the total supply of wheat estimated for July 1, 1939, will not exceed the quota level established under the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938. This means a referendum among wheat producers will not be held this year on the question of the wheat marketing quota.

The Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports that prices paid by farmers for farm machinery other than motor vehicles in 1938 averaged 58 percent above pre-war figures. The index includes many types of machines such as small gas engines, cream separators, large grain threshers, and 2-bolt tractor-drawn plows. Strawberries are always in season because they may be served fresh in many ways, and any surplus can be canned and preserved.

If you do not have a strawberry bed why not plan now and be sure to have one for next year, for what is a nicer than strawberry shortcake during the season when strawberries are fresh, then enough to can and preserve for use during the winter when it is difficult to secure fresh berries.

Besides, strawberries out of season are expensive and the Georgia housewife who keeps an eye on her pocketbook will buy strawberries, like all other foods, in season for products in season are best and cheapest.

The strawberry is the most delicately colored of all berries. A very high temperature or an extra long time of rapid boiling tends to destroy the coloring matter. They are delicate in structure, full of juice, with little fiber and delicate in flavor. They bruise easily, and spoil easily. If you treat them carelessly they are likely to lose color, shape, and good flavor, therefore, to make the most of foot disk harrows are more than twice as high as they were 25 years ago.

The month of April was generally favorable in most sections of the State for preparation of land, but rain was needed in some dry areas during the latter part of the period, especially in eastern and southeastern territory. However, weather during most of the month was unfavorably cool for germination of seed and for growth of the crops that were up. The Georgia Crop Reporting Service announced the condition of peaches as 60 percent, compared with 69 percent on the same date last year and 63 percent for the 10-year average. Indicated production of 4,680,000 bushels (commercial and agricultural) is 12 percent below production of last season and 15 percent less than the average for the period mentioned.

Markets are available in Georgia for the sale of four to five million pounds of crimson clover seed this year.

CLIPONREKA CULLINGS

With the naturalness of birth, the Grim Reaper, with his unfaltering wedding of the human spirit, has called o'er the hills of Habersham, called o'er the valleys of Hall to claim a loved and loving citizen. Walter E. McDougall, 37, of life's highway, his shadows were beginning to fall toward the East, toward which he always faced to glimpse the rising sun of youth, in which he had hopes, and believed.

While we, his friends and loved ones, can not restrain our tears at his going, yet, he would admonish us with "Yemmyson's": "And may there be no moaning at the bar."

When I put out to sea," "Planets age, decay and pass away; continents themselves crumble; mountains crumble; the grand bulwarks of the sea are worn by wave and fretted by the tooth of time." So, it was needless to expect him to tarry with us for many years, as it is not prescribed by the nature that he loved and studied.

Wherever the Great Master has seen fit to place him, we can not help but believe that he is on the Welcoming Committee, and those who come later will certainly be made to feel at home with friends.

To enumerate his many glorious qualities and his many unselfish deeds would require more time than this economical world would be interested in. But, indeed, he has been a bulwark fighting for civility betterment among ALL CLASSES of society. In this he has had few contemporaries in this section. We will name but two, one living and one lamented—Pete Donaldson and Cecil Brannen. As Walter would have us do, we herewith toss Pete a heartfelt wish for God's richest blessings. More—

—LEON S. TOMLINSON.

Leefield School Reviews Work Accomplished

SOME WORK OF THE LEEFIELD SCHOOL, 1938-1939

By Alice Rhodes

Music for every pupil. This included public school music and discussions of songs as to type and reasons for being learned. Also rhythm bands in lower grades—not as a "show-off project" but to give each of the children a chance to play as many instruments as was possible. We tried to develop within them a sense of moods or types of music such as the types to which they could run skip, tiptoe, walk or march. Those were the only types we tried to study. We tried to develop their sense of rhythm in another way by letting them to clap, pat their feet, sway or whatever motion the song suggested.

In Health, we tried to get every child to come to school just as clean and neat as it was possible. Most of them did this. A majority of them learned to use their handkerchiefs, and not to cough in others' faces. They brought milk and fruit to school, and packed their lunches in plain or wax paper rather than newspaper.

In Arithmetic, after discussions at teacher's meetings we saw the need of making numbers real and vital to children. The upper grades made use of home problems. The primary grades used some home problems, kept calendars, health charts, and played number games. One which they enjoyed very much was Bingo, played in varied forms.

Every room had reading centers. It seemed the children enjoyed their reading more than they ever have in other rooms. Many types of readers and booklets were used and discussed. Oftentimes after such reading, the children themselves wrote cooperative stories. In most of the rooms at least one booklet was made which contained such stories that they had written.

A great portion of the social science was dealt with through reading and story building. We also built units to suit the different topics of study. Also we tried (I'm not saying accomplished) to teach them the art of good citizenship of playing together, keeping the grounds or buildings clean, the joy of using good English, correct attitudes to other sexes, and clean moral ideals.

Cotton growers who get the most squares set before heavy boll weevil infestation stand the best chance of obtaining profitable yields.

REV. WILKERSON DELIVERS NEVILLS CLASS SERMON

Comparing the educational system of his day with that of today, Rev. Willie Wilkerson of Savannah told the members of the Nevills graduating class Sunday "that education alone is no good, it must be coupled with other things."

Rev. Wilkerson pointed out that educators promised, if given more education to this generation, "they would show them less crime; straighter thinkers and better leaders; more intelligent and better labor; more law-abiding citizens; elimination of poverty; greater future home-builders; better social standards and social features."

His advice to the members of the Nevills graduation class was "to give them more than they need and can use." He pointed that the "best time to train a child is between the ages of 6 and 18 years."

Rev. Wilkerson closed his sermon with the statement: "The sheepskin diploma is only a symbol with a meaning yet to be proven. Some would be more valuable than other, some would be valued high, some low, for some it is a stepping stone to higher things, and for some it is the goal of their journey."

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

VOLUME 3

THURSDAY, JUNE 1, 1939.

NUMBER 11.

Bulloch Chapter United Georgia Farmers Is 400

Bulloch county chapter of the United Georgia Farmers has near 400 paid in members and ranks second in numbers in the state, it was announced Saturday by Fred Blitch, secretary. The local organization is growing each week and by July will be in position to ask certain national agricultural leaders to aid in its celebration of having 1000 members.

The paid in membership includes farmers from every community in the county, the land owners, tenants and share croppers alike being included in its membership.

Every farm family is a unit and the scheme of organization of the United Georgia Farmers, affiliated with the American Farm Bureau Federation, the largest and most influential group of farmers, the farm family, whether land owner or worker has a common interest in the general welfare of agriculture, is the theory upon which the organization is founded. R. G. Arnold, representative of the Bureau Federation, pointed out at the meeting.

Performance check up was started for the 1939 soil conservation program in Bulloch county this week. J. W. Gaskins, assistant county agent in charge of performance in the county, announced that the same system would be used for this year that was used in 1938. New photographs have been purchased and the farms marked off. Field reporters will then plot the crops in the various fields when they visit a farm.

The first examination was given this week when six reporters passed and became eligible for the reporting service. These reporters will carry one chairman with them and the signer of the work sheet will be asked to furnish another chairman. The next examination will be given about June 15 when some 15 or more reporters will be added to the field force.

Each field reporter will be checked by Mr. Gaskins or W. A. Hodges, county performance supervisor, for accuracy of plotting at least once each week. The state office will then check about ten per cent of the reports.

A cooperator claim for the 16 cents cotton subsidy payment and the 1939 soil conservation payments will be made up from the results of the check up. The subsidy payment can be applied for when the field reporter has completed the cotton check up. The only regulation relative to the subsidy payment the producer had to carry out was to not plant over the cotton quota one the farm. However, the soil conservation payment takes in plantings for all of the special crops such as cotton, tobacco and commercial peanuts. There is a specified amount of money that any one farm can earn by following the AAA program. The part of this money a producer earns is based entirely upon the part of the adjustment program and soil building practices he carries out for 1939.

Commodity loans, together with crop insurance for wheat, are the basis for the Ever-Normal Granary reserves which provide protection for both the producer and consumer against crop failure.

The average American family consumes more than half a ton of paper costing about $40 in a year.

Bulloch Tries For Master Farmer

The honorary title of Master Farmer—agriculture's highest award—will be conferred on four Georgia farmers this summer. Bulloch county will have an entry who will stand a good chance of winning. Bulloch has produced two master farmers: W. H. Smith, who was awarded that title in 1927, and C. B. Gay, who was named "Master Farmer" in 1938.

Announcement of the 1939 winners, who will join the illustrious list of 44 chosen in previous years, will be made during the Farm and Home Week scheduled for the University of Georgia's college of Agriculture, August 7-12.

Jointly sponsoring this movement are The Progressive Farmer, southern magazine; the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, home week scheduled for the University of Georgia's college of Agriculture, August 7-12.

The selection of Master Farmer is made by the Progressive Farmer, in cooperation with the Extension Service.

Twelve Master Farmers were named in each year: 1927, 1928, 1930, and four were chosen in each of 1936, and 1937.

REGISTER BOY BOASTS OF FINE LITTER OF PIGS

George Thomas Holoway can boast of one of the best litters of pigs in Bulloch county. The nine pigs in this litter are approximately three and a half months old and weigh an average of 90 pounds.

The feed cost of this litter to date is about $25.00. Valuing the whole litter at $55.00, this leaves a good margin of profit if they were sold now. However, George Thomas plans to enter these in the Bulloch County Future Farmer Ten Litter Show which will be held September 8.

This litter of pigs is being grown on a sanitary plan to control internal parasites. Ample grazing is being provided and a balanced feeding program followed.

George Thomas is a student of Vocational Agriculture at the Register High School. Other enterprises in his project program for this year are two acres of corn, two and a half acres of cotton and grazing crops, as millet, oats and potatoes.

Ruby Lee NeSmith, Nita Atkins, Julia Howard, Hazel Proctor, Ollie Mae Howard, Obren Creasy, Juanita Hagans, Willette Brannen, Edna Waters, Lillian Lanier, Armory Lewis, Ernest Howard, Margaret Lanier, Hubert Whitaker, Bernice Joiner, Bill Zettrower, Roland Hodges, and Darwin DeLoach.

BANKS TO BE CLOSED SATURDAY, JUNE 3 FOR DAVIS' BIRTHDAY

Mr. C. B. McAllister, cashier of the Sea Island Bank and Mr. W. L. DeJarnette, cashier of the Bulloch County Bank announce that the banks in Statesboro will be closed Saturday, June 3, to observe Jefferson Davis' birthday. The banks in Savannah will also be closed on that day.

Beginning this week and continuing each week The Bulloch Herald will carry under the heading "Fireside Health Chats" a very interesting new column by Dr. O. F. Whitman, county health commissioner.

This column is for our readers. It is open for questions and items on public health. Your questions and letters may be sent direct to Dr. Whitman at the Sea Island Bank Building or to The Bulloch Herald and they will be immediately forwarded to Dr. Whitman. This week Dr. Whitman explains the aims and objects and duties of the county health department.

Moles do not eat bulbs as some people think. They build subways from the date of purchase. The moles live on insects, grubs and larvae.

At a meeting of the Boy Scoutmasters and members of the troop committees, together with members of the district organization last Saturday afternoon, a plan for opening the swimming pool was studied.

The plan was presented to the meeting by Mr. T. J. Morris, chairman of the district council. According to the plan the pool will open immediately when the Boy Scouts of Bulloch county sell enough season tickets to assure the operation of the pool up to September 1. Tickets were placed in the hands of the Boy Scouts the first of the week for sale. It was estimated that the amount needed to assure the opening of the pool is approximately $400. When this sum has been realized from the sale of season tickets the pool will open. The season tickets are $2.50 for an individual and $5.00 for a family ticket. Each ticket is numbered and carries the Boy Scout emblem.

The entire operation of the pool when opened, will be in the hands of the Boy Scouts. As each Boy Scout passes his life-saving test he will be assigned to life guard duty. Any funds over the actual cost of operation will go directly into the opening of the pool.

In 1937 the pool was operated on a similar basis, with the sponsorship of the Rotary Club, with the Boy Scouts in charge of the operations.

The pool is the property of Mr. Alfred Dorman, who has agreed to allow the Scouts the free use of it. The city and county are making special concessions which will reduce the cost of operation to a minimum.

Members of the troop committees and Boy Scout masters and district council at the meeting were: T. J. Morris, J. B. Johnson, Leodel Coleman, W. S. Hanner, Remer Brady, Roy Green, Wendell Burke, Byron Dyer and Dr. W. H. Whitfield. C. E. Layton represented the city council and Dr. R. L. Ccne, Mayor.

The success of the opening campaign will be announced at a later date.
