Series of Parties Honoring Mrs. W. E. Carter

Mrs. W. E. Carter, of Waycross, formerly Carl Anderson, visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Anderson here last week, and was the central figure in many lovely parties given in her honor.

MRS. J. C. HINES AND HONOR MRS. CARTER

On Wednesday she was the inspiration of a luncheon given by Mrs. J. C. Hines and Mrs. Ralph Howard at the Norris Hotel. Guests assembled in the private dining room which was attractively decorated for the occasion. The table had for a centerpiece a silver bowl filled with mixed flowers. The places were marked with small dolls dressed in bridal array. A larger doll marked the bride's place, the bride's costume being carried out in every detail even to the bride's bouquet of real flowers.

Mrs. Howard presented the honor guest with a Sunday night supper plate in chintilly crystal. Mrs. Hines' gift to the bride was a chintilly cocktail glass. Mrs. Carter's luncheon frock was of brown with short brown fur jacket with accessories of brown antelope. Her corsage was of Taisman roses.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Walter Aldred, Jr., Mrs. H. D. Anderson, Mrs. Talmadge Ramsey, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. James Bland, Mrs. Bob Pound, Mrs. John Moore, Jr., Miss Elizabeth DeLoach, Gertrude Seligman, Sara Mooney, Mrs. Hines and Mrs. Howard.

MRS. JOHN MOONEY HOSTESS TO MRS. CARTER

On Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. John Mooney complimented Mrs. Carter with a table of bridge at her home on Lee street. Her gift to the bride was a glass linen bridge set.

MRS. WALTER ALDRED AND MRS. TALMADGE RAMSEY HONOR BRIDE

On Thursday Mrs. Walter Aldred and Mrs. Talmadge Ramsey were hostesses at a luncheon at the Norris Hotel complementing Mrs. Carter. The bride was the recipient of a soup spoon in the chintilly pattern. Mrs. Bill Brannen, another recent bride, was given a piece of pottery.

The luncheon table was graced in the center with a silver bowl filled with bride's roses and fever few.

Mrs. Carter wore on this occasion a black crepe dress simulated a redingote model and affording glimpses of white lace down the front. Her shoulder spray was of three white camellias.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Bill Brannen, Mrs. H. D. Anderson, Mrs. Bob Pound, Mrs. John Moore, Jr., Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. James Bland, Mrs. Sara Mooney, Elizabeth DeLoach, Helen Brannen, Mrs. Aldred, Jr., and Mrs. Ramsey.

Others invited were: Mrs. Bartow Lamb, Mrs. Claude Howard, Mrs. James Bland, Miss Alma Cone and Miss Whitehead.

MISS ELIZABETH DELOACH ENTERTAINS FOR BRIDES

Mrs. W. E. Carter and Mrs. Bill Brannen shared at a lovely bridge party given Friday afternoon at the Tea Pot Grill with Miss Elizabeth DeLoach as hostess. A pink and white color motif was emphasized in the decorations and refreshments, the predominating flowers being gladioli.

The honor guests were given chromium brocade trays, for high score Mrs. Cohen Anderson and awarded a novelty house designed for notes to callers. Kitchen towels were given as cut and low score prizes and these went to Mrs. J. C. Hines and Mrs. Henry Ellis.

The guests were served frozen angel food pudding and coffee. Pink and white corsages fashioned from statuettes gave added beauty to the party plate.

Mrs. Carter chose for this party a festive wine costume suit with brown accessories with which she wore Colinsky furs. Her corsage was of gardenias in shades ranging from wine through mauve. Mrs. Brannen wore a rose crepe frock with black accessories and her corsage was of rose and white gladioli.

Others playing were: Mrs. Billy

Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Russel Hosts at Bridge

Lee's birthday furnished the patriotic motif for the lovely bridge party given Thursday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Fielding Russel at their home on North Main street. The bridge tables were unique, those for the men contained questions about Robert E. Lee and the ladies held the answering tables.

The refreshments also accentuated the patriotic scheme. Three tiered shortcake in red, white and blue was served with coffee. Nut cups were in red, white and blue motif.

Prizes at bridge went to Mrs. W. W. Smiley with high score for ladies, and to Leslie Johnston with gentlemen's high. Floating prize was won by W. W. Smiley.

Mrs. B. L. Smith whose birthday also occurs on January 19 was honored with a lovely birthday cake and birthday plate.

Guests were invited for six tables.

Popular Young Matrons Form Satellite Club

The Satellite club, a new club organized about three weeks ago and who have already been entertained by Mrs. Bird Daniel and Mrs. Wendell Burke, had a Dutch buffet supper Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pound at which time their husbands were guests.

Turkey formed the piece d' resistance and hors d'oeuvres, canned corn, and sweets completed the buffet menu.

Club members and husbands present were Dr. and Mrs. Bird Daniel, Dr. and Mrs. O. F. Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Burke, Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mikell, Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Cannon, Mr. and Mrs. Bunny Cone, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Pound.

Other guests invited included: Mrs. Walter Aldred, Mrs. Ralph Howard, Mrs. James Bland, Mrs. Bird Daniel, Mrs. Henry Ellis, Mrs. Olin Stubbs, Mrs. J. C. Hines, Mrs. Claude Howard, Gertrude Seligman and Alaine Whitehead.

Mrs. George Bean Entertains Tuesday Club

Mrs. George Bean was hostess Tuesday afternoon to members of her bridge club at her home on South Main street.

Mrs. W. H. Blitch received costume jewelry for high score and Mrs. H. P. Jones was given a linen handkerchief for cut.

Mrs. Bean served her guests a salad course and coffee.

Other guests included: Mrs. Alfred Dorman, Mrs. Frank Williams, Mrs. Dan Lester, Mrs. Louise Grimes, Mrs. Arthur Turner, Mrs. C. Donaldson, Mrs. C. P. Olliff, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Phil Bean and Miss Annie Smith.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets With Mrs. E. L. Akins

The January meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. E. L. Akins with Mrs. Hudson Allen as co-hostess.

Mrs. Thad Morris arranged for program for the afternoon. Betty Jean Cone gave a dramatic reading "Galapagos"; Lorena Durden played Chopin's Valse in A flat and Lovell and Levaughn Akins delighted the group with clarinet duets, "Mountain Waltz," and "When You and I Were Young Maggie."

During the social hour Mrs. Akins served a salad course and coffee.

Jimmie Bland Observes Fifth Birthday

Mrs. James Bland complimented her son, Jimmie, Thursday afternoon on his fifth birthday with a party at her home on North Main street. The inclement weather made the party an indoor affair, but they were highly entertained by Mrs. George Johnston who told stories in her inimitable manner.

Mrs. Harvey D. Brannen assisted Mrs. Bland in serving ice cream and crackers. About fifteen of Jimmie's kindergarten friends enjoyed the happy occasion with him.

FOR SALE
