This Weeks Sentence Sermon

Keep clear of personalities in conversation. Talk of things, objects, thoughts. The smallest minds occupy themselves with persons. Do not needlessly report ill of others. As far as possible, dwell on the good side of human beings. There are family boards where a constant process of depreciating, assigning motives, and cutting up character goes forward. They are not pleasant places. One who is healthy does not wish to dine at a dissecting table. There is evil enough in man, God knows. But it is not the mission of every young man and woman to detail and report it all. Keep the atmosphere as pure as possible, and fragrant with gentleness and charity.—John Hall.

A Dangerous Practice

Some day a college student is going to get hurt. And it will not be anyone's fault. I'll just be one of those things. But the cooperation of the students of the college will help prevent that possibility. College students may be seen standing in the street at the several corners from the traffic light on the way to the college. The idea is that passing motorists will see them and offer to take them to the college.

However, too often, the students forget that the street is for auto traffic and for pedestrians to cross from one sidewalk to another. They congregate at the corners, making it difficult for drivers to make their turns without hitting the group or an approaching car, or they walk along the street in the direct path of cars on their way out South Main street.

We are of the opinion that the people of Statesboro appreciate the college very much and are in sympathy with the student's desire for a ride there. And we believe that, for the most part, the motorists here do stop and carry the students out to the college. But we do believe that in order to avoid all possibility of an accident it would be better for the students to stay on the edge of the sidewalk and wait until a car comes to a full stop before attempting to enter it. And that if they will stay out of the street in the direct path of traffic, drivers will be more apt to react favorably to a student's "thumbing" a ride to the college. This is especially true after dark when a driver's vision is restricted.

It is suggested that the students use some discretion and consider the rights of motorists and at the same time exercise the same courtesy they would have shown them if they and the driver of Statesboro were to exchange places.

And Everybody Will Be Happy

President Roosevelt's renomination of United States Marshall Charles H. Cox sent to the senate recently is interpreted as a move by the administration to heal the breach between the White House and Georgia Senators, which dates from the attempted "purge" of Senator Walter F. George in 1938.

Marshall Cox was sponsored by Senator Russell and has served one term, which expired a year ago. He has continued in office pending renomination or the naming of a successor. Now that the President has renominated Cox, it is hoped the President will renominate Howell Cone, collector of customs at Savannah. Mr. Cone's office is in similar status to that of Marshall Cox. Collector Cox's term expired a year ago and there has, as yet, been no nomination to the post sent to the Senate. Mr. Cone is one of Senator George's appointees.

In commenting on the renomination of Marshall Cox, the Atlanta Constitution last week says: "There have been other recent indications that the coolness which sprang up between the White House and the Georgia Senators is passing. Both Senators backed the President in the revision of the neutrality bill.

"If the Cox renomination and the expected renomination of Cone, should bring about a complete reconciliation it will be the happiest news for Georgia Democrats in several years. It will end an unfortunate divergence in the party which, while it never amounted to an actual split, nevertheless was dangerous to party harmony. With the wound of the 1938 'purge' campaign completely healed, Georgia Democracy will once again show a united front.

"Not to overlook the fact that the renomination of Cox and Cone are both highly deserved and assure the retention of excellent officials in posts of great importance to the state."

Someone Else Is Concerned

We are not the only ones concerned about the speeding on the streets of Statesboro. Since beginning our campaign to reduce the speeding menace here a number of people have expressed the need that something be done to reduce the hazard created by the reckless abandon with which we drive up and down our streets.

We know that it can be done. The police can crack down on every person driving faster than the city speed limit, which is 25 miles an hour. The city of Atlanta did it and there is no difference in the two towns except in size.

This week we publish an editorial handed to us by one of our readers. He has a little girl and owns a home here. He is concerned about the speeding situation just as we, together with a large number of others. He titles his editorial "Death Takes a Holiday! It is as follows:

"Surely that is the only reason why there are not more fatal accidents (or shall we say deliberate attempts at murder or suicide) in Statesboro. Speeding down the streets driving with reckless abandon, utterly disregarding whatever desire others may have to live, the speed demons continue to play with life. If you live on Savannah Avenue or South Main street or North Main street, sit on your front porch at any time of the day or night, or walk along the sidewalk, and you will quickly realize that these streets are no longer the quiet, peaceful thoroughfares on which people live, but rather race tracks for mile-a-minute-in-a-hurry-to-get-there-with-nothing-to-do - when - they - get there drivers.

This demon travels swiftly down this street, dashes around this car at fifty, sixty or seventy miles per hour, narrowly escapes smashing into an oncoming automobile, jams on his non-to-sure brakes to avoid mangling the body of an innocent child, swerves around this corner on two wheels and pulls up to his house or office, gets out of his car almost before it stops, and then clamsy sits down and smokes a cigarette or reads his paper.

"Let us give a little thought to this reckless driving craze. Let us distinguish between fast driving and reckless driving. After all, every individual has a right to live and let live, and surely his American citizenship, his abode in the land of free, his personal liberty, do not—at least should not—entitle him to jeopardize the lives of innocent men, women and children. Whenever a man's personal liberty interferes with the rights of others to live it is time for an awakening.

"Death takes a holiday, but all vacations must come to an end sometime!"

Boy Scout Week

The Boy Scout Movement was founded in America thirty years ago this week. Most of us have watched it grow and gain in influence, with great satisfaction. It is something vital to "The American Way" and through three decades, its service has gained the confidence of all people.

It would be difficult to point to any single quality of the Movement and say with positiveness, "Here it is what makes Scouting great." But in our judgment one of its outstanding contributions to the nation, particularly in these times of world travel, is its simply-worded Twelfth Scout Law. It epitomizes all that we as a people stand for; all that our forefathers pioneered for when they were fashioning a safe homeland out of a wilderness.

Read its stirring words. They are worth memorizing, and more than that they should be lived by all of us who have the high privilege of being Americans.

Here is the Twelfth Scout Law:
A SCOUT IS REVERENT.

He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion. All Americans worthy of the name, all who believe in the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights and the Constitution of the United States have an abiding faith in such a principle because it is their very guarantee that so long as it is a living thing they will always be free and independent.

Dr. C. M. Destler

It is with pleasure that we learn that Dr. C. M. Destler, of Statesboro and a member of the Georgia Teachers' College faculty, was one of the three speakers to address the Institute of Citizenship of Armstrong Junior College in Savannah on Thursday last week.

Dr. Destler spoke on "Propaganda and the War." He reviewed the development of propaganda from the time of the Crusades, when Western Europe was aroused to a war of vengeance and imperialistic aggression in the Orient.

Dr. Destler is one of the state's ablest speakers. His direct method of addressing a group completely commands his listeners' attention. One cannot say that he "makes a speech. He just converses" with the group he may be addressing.

Last week Dr. Destler found himself in rather "fast company." On the program with him were such distinguished speakers as W. D. Anderson, president of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon, and Keener C. Frazer, professor of political science, University of North Carolina. Having heard Dr. Destler several times we are sure that he held his own even in such company.

Barbs of the Brier Patch Philosopher

Dear Editor,

When Ma saw your paper last week and read about Park Week and saw your picture of how to cut pork and read about hog brains liver and etc., being such good food she got all excited and said she was going to write me "stuff" this week. So here is what she wrote. Don't blame me for letting her do it, cause I couldn't help myself. She just up and wrote it and give it to me and told me to get it in to you. You being not married, won't understand it may be, but I just had to do like she said.

Dear Mr. Coleman:

"Pa always starts his letter off 'Dear Editor.' I like telling him that ain't the way to start a letter, but you can't tell a man anything."

"First off I want to say that I like the things you are printing in your paper. The things about cooking and homemaking. I've heard a lot of my neighbors say they like it too."

You say that you will be glad to print some of my recipes. Thank you. With you writing about pork and Pa's United Georgia Farmers having a "pork week" I am sending you some recipes on pork."

Now take sausage for instance. You know there is sausage and "just sausage" and there is all the difference in the world between the two.

When we kill hogs here is the way I make up our sausage:

1 take about nine pounds of meat, 6 pounds of lean, 3 of fat. I remove the skin and strings and grind up. Then I add:

3 tablespoons of salt.
3 tablespoons black pepper.
6 tablespoons ground and sifted sage.

1 1/2 tablespoon red pepper.
I then mix well and grind again. It is then ready to stuff in skins or pack in pans. The old method used by my ma was to mix the seasoning in half a cup of boiling water, add the meat, and sometimes an ounce of saltpeter is added. This makes the gravy red. I got this recipe from an old cook book of Ma's. I always get good sausages.

Here is my recipe for sausage meat. I clean a hog head good, the upper half, remove the brains, eyes and any other part that are not good. I then cut off the ears and clean them. In this recipe I use one head and ears (you can use extra ears if you want and four or more feet).

All this is boiled slowly until tender and until the meat will fall from the bones. When done pick from the bones. I am careful to remove all the small bones from the feet. If the head is very fat I leave out some. I then mash all this up or grind it through a meat chopper. I then season well with salt, pepper, and vinegar. I then put a wet cheese cloth in a pan, put in the sausage meat, cover the top with the ends of the cheese cloth, then cover it all with a plate or top. On top of all this I put a weight and let it set.

Because there is a lot of gelatin in the bones and meat it will taste good. I slice it and serve it cold or roll in flour or meal, fry in a very little fat, just enough to brown the flour and heat through. I serve this way with sweet potatoes.

Pa is pretty busy now, so I'm going to write his letter for him again next week. If you like this one, I want to write my recipes for liver pudding, scrapple, "cracklin bread, brains and eggs, and hachones."

(Editors Note: We are looking forward to seeing the letter from "Ma" next week, if our Philosopher is to busy to write. We hear she adds her recipe for cooking chittlings. We are going to cut out her recipe for brains and eggs, for they are our favorite.)

The Editor's Uneasy Chair

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER THIS WEEK.

Today, Thursday, February 8, will be clear and cold. NEW MOON.

Friday, February 9, will be snow (oh, oh), Saturday, February 10, will be snow (brurr).

Sunday, February 11, clear and cold (hurrah).

Monday, February 12, clear and cold (ditto) LINCOLN'S BIRTHDAY. GEORGIA DAY.

Tuesday, February 13, clear and pleasant.

Wednesday, February 14, rain. VALENTINE DAY.

BUT DON'T BLAME US IF THE ALMANAC IS WRONG.

Everybody got upset because the ground hog saw his shadow last Thursday. It didn't seem to bother us. We've never seen a ground hog anyway.

Boy, Oh Boy, did we bust into a humorist's act, or our editorial about the police last week. Next day, when roads were passable again, they swapped back.

"All of which is both good ingenuity and typical of old-fashioned common sense of the highways. And by the way, the first car Jimmy approached with his swap talk sat there all night, the boys say."

"So—the two swapped cars. Jimmy and Tom rode home in the Red Oak car, vice versa. Next day, when roads were passable again, they swapped back.

"All of which is both good ingenuity and typical of old-fashioned common sense of the highways. And by the way, the first car Jimmy approached with his swap talk sat there all night, the boys say."

"The wife of our Briar Patch Philosopher, referred to in his weekly letter as 'Ma' took a crack at us men in her letter this week. She said that 'you can't tell a man anything.' We have a sneaking idea that she was meaning that 'a woman can't tell her husband anything.' That is as it may be. We are not going to argue the point. But we do think 'Ma's' letter was good this week. It should be of interest to every woman who lives on the farm."

The best story of the week comes from the Newnan Herald. George MacNabb in his column, "Things 'n' Stuff," writes:

"SNOW STORY OF THE WEEK: This vote scratches off all but the following tale told by Jimmy Askey and Tom Parrott: 'The two were coming home from Atlanta Wednesday night, the second day of the Big White Blanket. Nearing home they had to stop Jimmy's chevy because eight (eight) trucks were stalled in the road, blocking traffic. Seemed as though the boys were not going to get home.

"But Jimmy had an idea. He walked past the trucks to where other cars, heading for Atlanta, were also blocked. The first gentleman he propositioned turned him down. But the second car conor top. On top of all this I put a weight and let it set.

Because there is a lot of gelatin in the bones and meat it will taste good. I slice it and serve it cold or roll in flour or meal, fry in a very little fat, just enough to brown the flour and heat through. I serve this way with sweet potatoes.

REARRANGED TO GIVE CITY OFFICE MORE ROOM.

The City office has been rearranged so that the departments with offices there may have more room.

A room has been cut off for Mayor Cone to hold his police court. He had been holding court in the engineer's room. The city's engineer's room is now all together where before it was in two rooms.

Excitement reigned in official circles for a brief hour last Friday when a well known farmer enlisted the aid of the sheriff's office to recover a car which he declared had been stolen from its parking place near the center of Statesboro.

Sheriff Tillman rode about with the farmer for a full hour and had returned to the place of starting to get a new survey when he came upon a couple of youths alighting from the missing car.

The car owner was indignant when he found his car in strange hands. With vehemence he demanded to know by what right they dared to take possession of it. "Why sir," one of the lads replied, "you sent us off in it to hunt some liquor for you." And then the farmer remembered that he had been thirsty and that he had commissioned the boys to get him another drink about an hour before. The mystery of the lost car was solved.

$135,000 Can Be Saved In Georgia By Good Health

Editor's Note: This is the second of two news releases from the Citizens' Fact Finding Movement of Georgia showing how Georgia's prosperity can be advanced greatly—adding to the incomes of individuals and the state as a whole—through solution of the state's aggravated health problem.

Pointing out that Georgia's monetary losses arising from ill health which could be prevented amounts to at least $135,000,000 annually, the report to the Citizens' Fact Finding Committee dealing with the health situation makes numerous specific recommendations.

The report was prepared under the direction of Dr. T. F. Abercrombie, director of the Georgia Department of Public Health, as

Dr. Edward R. Watson, and has received widespread attention. In discussing the steps to be taken toward improvement which would make possible million of increased revenue for Georgians, the report declares:

"In Georgia the county is the unit of administrative government and has only those powers delegated to it by the state. 'It has very little legislative power other than in matters pertaining to health and sanitation,

INCOME FOR 1940

What is the Georgia agricultural outlook for 1940? According to reports compiled by the Extension Service staff, the outlook for prices and income from cotton, tobacco and peanuts, the State's three most important cash crops, depends very largely upon the extent to which farmers in this, and other states, cooperate in the programs which are designed to adjust supplies in line with effective demand. Due to present burdensome supplies of commodities from which Georgia farmers receive most of their cash income, it is imperative that plans for the production of these commodities be as prices and income are to be maintained or improved, the economists in these excessive supplies of it.

"The law charges the county board of health to apply this knowledge and science, but limits its ability to make the application unless it is supplied with proper funds."

"City, county or district health departments should be established throughout the state. Such departments should be adequately staffed with trained personnel, and part of the expense of operating the departments should be borne locally."

"Although 51 counties comprising 56 per cent of the population of Georgia have full-time health service, these departments are for the most part greatly understaffed."

"A large majority of the workers are trying to serve from two to eight times the number of people it is possible to serve if they give anywhere near adequate health service."

"The public health physician can serve a population of from 25,000 to 50,000 only if he has sufficient nursing assistance. There should be one public health nurse to not more than 3,000 to 5,000 people, and a sanitarian to every 20,000 to 30,000 people."

"Persons for specialized services such as venereal disease and tuberculosis control, maternal and child birth care, epidemiology, etc., should be provided in the larger counties."

Last year 44,077 Georgia farmers followed the recommendations of the Extension Service in cotton insect control. Excellent results were obtained from tobacco spraying demonstrations for control of blue mold, some 10,978 farmers following recommendations on tobacco insect and disease control. More efforts were also made by farmers generally than ever before to control boll weevil and much interest was also manifested in treating cotton seed.

Soil conservation is necessary if the United States is to remain a nation, says H. H. Bennett, chief of the Soil Conservation Service. "We have seen civilization after civilization fall because it was unable to survive after the downfall of its agriculture," he asserts. "While our present soil situation nothing to be really alarmed about, it is not wise for us to experiment to see if a civilization can survive the downfall of its agriculture."

Pork Recipes...

BRUNSWICK STEW

3 lb. pork.
1 can corn
2 cans tomatoes.
6 Irish potatoes.
1 Onion.
Cayenne pepper and salt.
Boil the pork until tender, remove the bones, and put through the food chopper. Chop the vegetables and season to the meat stock and cook one hour. Serve hot.

SWEEDISH LIVER LOAF

Mix thoroughly in order given. 1 pound pork liver cut fine with food chopper, 1/4 chopped onions fried tender in two tablespoons fat, 1/2 pound ground sausage, 2 eggs, 2 cups thin cream, 1 teaspoon pepper, salt to taste, 1 teaspoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon each cinnamon, cloves, nutmeg, allspice, and two cups flour. Bake in a well-greased, covered loaf pan or ring mold, set in pan of hot water, in moderate oven (350°) for two hours. Remove cover after one hour. Serve 10.

BARBECUED SPARERIBS

3 pounds pork spareribs
1/2 cup catsup
1/4 teaspoon tobacco sauce or 1 tablespoon worcester sauce.
2 Onions.
1 1/2 teaspoon salt.
1/4 teaspoon chili powder.
1 cup water.
Use heavy put with fitting lid. Put half the ribs in the bottom and cover with a layer of thinly sliced onions. Combine catsup, salt, tobacco sauce chili powder, and water and pour half this sauce over the ribs and onions. Put in another layer of ribs and onions and the remainder of the sauce. Cover the pot and bake for two hours in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.).

CHARTREUSE OF PORK CHOPS

6 Pork chops.
3 cups sauerkraut.
2 potatoes, sliced.
1 cup stock.
Salt and pepper.
Broil the chops over a hot fire until brown but not thoroughly cooked. Place these in the bottom of a baking dish and spread the sauerkraut over them, then spread the potatoes over the top. Sprinkle with pepper, and pour the stock over the top. Cover the dish and cook for one hour.

OREOLE STEW

1 1/2 lb. lean pork.
3 carrots, sliced.
2 cups tomatoes.
1 onion.
6 medium sized potatoes.
1 green pepper.
1 cup butterbeans.
1 cup corn.
Cut the pork into sizes for serving and brown in an iron skillet. Place the pork in the bottom of the baking dish and arrange the vegetables in layers on top of it. Sprinkle the top with salt and pepper, fill the vessel with water and cook until the meat is tender and the vegetables done. Just before serving add a little flour thickening. Should the water cook out, replenish when half done.

Land-use committees composed of farmers in the various counties made classification of the land in the particular counties. They took into consideration the topography of the land, soil, and water sources. After this had been done, the following problems were listed: severe erosion growing out of a system of inadequate and improper terracing; low income due to improper management and lack of the value of crop rotation; and unfavorable health conditions and increased food damage caused by stilted of streams.

Band Members Represent SHS At Milledgeville

Marion Carpenter, director of the Statesboro High School band, announced today the names of those chosen to represent the Statesboro High School band in the all state band clinic which is to be held in Milledgeville, February 8 and 9. The students who were selected for this coveted honor are the following: Neal Burn, cornet; Dorothy Remington, saxophone; Margaret Helen Aldred, baritone horn. The participants will give the only two weeks in which to become acquainted with the four musical numbers which are to be rendered on this occasion. Mr. William Revelli from the University of Michigan will preside at this event.

SEVEN-LEGGED PIG FOUND IN MITCHELL

An octopus-like pig, with seven legs growing from his body is the latest oddity in Mitchell county. The deformed animal, with four appendages behind, two in front, and one in the middle, is being displayed by its owner, T. E. Palmer, at a local hardware store. The pig lived only an hour after its birth.

Farm Specialists Discuss Farm Betterment

A program for the further development of Georgia farms and to raise the standard of living of Georgia Farmers was explained by Kenneth Teanor and J. W. Fanning Thursday afternoon over WSB on the Forward Georgia program sponsored by the State Board of Regents. The specialists were interviewed by Jack Wooten, editor, Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, on the topic, "Land Use and Program Planning."

Land-use committees composed of farmers in the various counties made classification of the land in the particular counties. They took into consideration the topography of the land, soil, and water sources. After this had been done, the following problems were listed: severe erosion growing out of a system of inadequate and improper terracing; low income due to improper management and lack of the value of crop rotation; and unfavorable health conditions and increased food damage caused by stilted of streams.

The program to be presented will be as follows:
"Aunt Hannah" (March) Harold Bennett.
"German Melodies" (Novelty) K. L. King.
"The Oracle" (Overture) Otis Taylor.
"Military Escort" (March) Harold Bennett.

Change in AAA Price Explained

County Agent Byron Dyer this week said changes made in provisions for price adjustment payments under the 1940 agricultural conservation program are conducive to maximum cooperation and efficiency in carrying out the program.

Conditions under which the 1940 price adjustment payments will be made are practically the same as in 1939 except that requirements have been somewhat tightened," the agent pointed out.

"Payments will be available to cotton farmers and commercial wheat producers.

"Under the 1940 program, parity payments will be made only to the producer who plants within the total of cotton, wheat, and tobacco acreage allotments for his farm and no producer can offset his performance in this respect by overplanting on other farms in which he has interest in any of the three Georgia products on which payments are made."

Mr. Dyer explained that the additional requirements should bring about a more effective administration of the program than possible previously. He said a producer could qualify for a payment under the 1939 price adjustment program by adhering to the allotment for one commodity, even though he overplanted the acreage allotment of another commodity, on the same farm or overplanted the same crop or other commodities on another farm.

ONE of these days the itch is going to hit you to get out and get in on the fun a Buick can be in the spring-time.

You're going to feel an irrepressible yen to touch off that husky, sweet-singing Dynaflex power plant and swing out in gentle coil-spring comfort to take in the fresh spring landscape.

Maybe, like others we know of, you've even got the model picked out, and are just "waiting a few weeks" to do something definite about it.

But may we emphasize, in purely friendly interest, that a lot of other people probably have the same idea.

And that when they start buying in droves—as they do every year about the time of March—even Buick's big factory has trouble keeping up with them.

Mrs. James A. Bruce Honored on 70th Birthday

Mrs. James A. Bruce was honored Sunday February 4 on her twentieth birthday at a surprise birthday dinner given by her family and friends. When Mrs. Bruce returned from church, she was received by more than one hundred, who had gathered to pay her tribute.

February 9, 1887, Georgia Ann McElven married the late J. A. Bruce and came to live in her new home, where she has lived ever since. During these years Mrs. Bruce has given unstintingly of her time and energy to those who were in trouble and needed help and comfort. She has always been an active member of her church and has been vice president of the local U. D. C. Chapter.

There are few women who are better known and better loved in Bulloch County. Mrs. Bruce has seen Statesboro grow from a little wooden store at the crossroads to the present thriving city.

Her children are Arthur Bruce, D. M. Bruce, of Savannah, and Dr. Allen Bruce and Mrs. Turner E. Smith, of Atlanta.

She has several grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

We would like to join with her family and friends in wishing her many more Happy Birthdays.

Pork Week Holds Center of Homemaker's Stage During National Pork Week Feb. 1-10

Some like it hot, some like it cold—but no matter how it's served, most folks like pork on winter days. So the homemaker will welcome the news that pork prices are very reasonable this year, and are expected to remain low throughout the winter.

The delicious fragrance of roast pork coming from the kitchen will have the family ready for dinner long ahead of time. And if there's any roast left over, it can be served in other equally good ways. Cold sliced pork has a delicate flavor that is perfect for sandwiches. Left over roast pork can also be used in such dishes as chop suey, croquettes, curry, or stuffed peppers.

Any cut of pork is easy to roast because it is usually tender, and the pork loin roast is especially easy to handle and may be purchased in a size to suit almost any family. Fresh ham also makes an excellent roast, and even the shoulder is easy to carve when the bone is removed and replaced by a savory stuffing. If paired sections of spare ribs are filled with an apple stuffing, they are also delicious when roasted.

If you're getting a fresh ham, have the butcher leave the rind on, in order to have it cook more quickly and shrink less. This rind is easily removed after cooking. But a boned stuffed shoulder will be more attractive if the skin is removed before cooking. If you're getting a loin roast or spare ribs, have the butcher crack the bones to simplify carving.

Good roasts are tender throughout, with a brown crust on the outside and a juicy meat inside. To get the roast done to this "perfect turn," the Federal Bureau of Home Economics recommends thorough cooking at a moderate temperature. Be sure to cook pork until there is no trace of pink in the juice, in order to kill the trichina parasite, which is sometimes present.

The first step in preparing a pork roast for the oven is to wipe it with a damp cloth. Sprinkle generously with salt and pepper and dust it with flour, if you like. Then place the roast on the rack of a shallow open roasting pan without water. (The ham goes rind up, and the loin goes fat side up.)

The meat thermometer is the most reliable guide for telling exactly when the meat is done. Pork is "well done" when the temperature at the center of the roast is 182 to 185 degrees F. If a roast meat thermometer is used, insert it in the thickest part of the meat before you put the roast in the oven. To get the thermometer through the rind of a ham, cut a small gash with the point of a knife, or make an opening with a steel skewer. Because hams become thicker during cooking, it is best to push the bulb of the thermometer nearly two-thirds of the way through the raw meat.

Pork is usually roasted at a constant moderate temperature, with

A LOT LOWER PRICED THAN MOST PEOPLE THINK!

9 OUT OF 10
A recent national survey shows 9 out of 10 people think a Pontiac costs no more than $1000 more than it really does in relation to lower-priced cars. Don't let this mislead you. Get the facts from Pontiac. Don't let any low-priced car sell you anywhere its price with a Pontiac. The price difference will amaze you.

HERE'S WHY SO MANY THINK PONTIAC HIGHER PRICED THAN IT ACTUALLY IS!

Farmers Who Grow Home Gardens Can Get Pay Under AAA

Each farmer in Bulloch county participating in the 1940 agricultural conservation program will have $1.50 to assist him grow a home garden as provided for by new rulings under the federal Triple-A farm program.

County Agent Bryan Dyer said approximately $390,000 will be available this year to assist Georgia farmers grow adequate home gardens under the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program. He said about 260,000 farm families in the state participated in the program during 1939, and that participation this year is expected to be fully as large.

The way to have a home garden under the AAA, he explained, follows:

There must be at least one lot, of garden for each family; the soil must be prepared properly and fertilized, and must be kept reasonably well-cultivated throughout the year; an effort must be made to control insect pests; adequate protection from livestock must be provided.

Woman's Union Join "World Day of Prayer"

On Friday, February 9th at 3:30 o'clock, the Christian Woman's Union urges all the women of the Statesboro Churches to meet at the Baptist Church for an hour of prayer and meditation. This meeting will be our part in observing the "World Day of Prayer" which had its beginning as far back as 1887, when Presbyterian women in the U. S. A. came together to pray for Home Mission. Interest in this Day of Prayer increased and so the Foreign Mission forces chose a day for united prayer in the early nineties. As early as 1920, both in Canada and the United States, church women of all denomination united in prayer, the first Friday in Lent being selected as the "Day of Prayer for Missions"—Home and Foreign.

EASIEST TIME TO CURE DRAFTS IS WHEN YOU BUILD!

Poor wall joint between window frame and wall causes drafts (see arrows).

Poor fitting window sash allows cold air to leak in causing drafts (see arrows).

A single pane of glass cools air quickly. Cool air drops in causing drafts.

18 PIGS ARE BORN TO CARROLLTON SOW

Charles Jackson Bennett, pig-raiser, of Carrollton, was rewarded recently when he looked into a stall and saw 18 porkers where originally there had been only one. The answer was that an O. I. C. sow had been blessed with a litter of 18 young ones—a record for Carrollton county. The food problem for the family was quite untill another sow was drafted to "fill in."

ELECTRIC SHOCK KILLS YOUTH, 8.

William Asbury Parks, 8, of Thompson, was killed recently, when, stepping out of the bathtub he became entangled in a shorted electric-heater wire and was subjected to 110 volts of electricity. When found by the maid, the youth had fallen back into the tub and was burned slightly by the heater.

TO ALL DELINQUENT TAX PAYERS

The County and School Boards have notified me that all tax bills must be levied immediately, which I will begin to levy at once, but will not charge for any levy until March 1st. At which time advertising will begin, and there will be additional cost of levy and advertising, please arrange to take care of your taxes, and save this additional cost, as I have nothing further I can do under the notice served.

Yours Very Truly,
L. M. MALLARD, Sheriff.

TAX NOTICE

To the delinquent taxpayers of Bulloch County:

The Bulloch County Commissioners and the Bulloch Board of Education, in a joint session held this day, decided to postpone the sale of the tax bill as until April 1, 1940. All persons who desire to save the cost of a levy can do so by paying their taxes by March 1, 1940. All tax bills not paid by April 1, 1940, will be offered for sale after that date.

This action is made necessary in order that the schools may run for the full term for the year 1939-40, and that the county may carry-on in a normal way.

Please keep in mind that levies with additional cost will begin March 1, 1940.

Your cooperation will be appreciated. The schools are yours and the county is yours, and still takes money to pay bills.

This February 6, 1940.

NOTICE AT BRIDGE DEALT IN SPADES

Thirteen is lucky, says Hubert Sanders, Edson, Especially when that is the number of spades you are dealt at a bridge game. Such a stroke of luck, never in occurrence than a hole in one, came to Sanders recently, and so enthused the novice that the game was broken up in his jubilation.

Glass Cools Air

Now here is the third cause of drafts. It's warm air being quickly cooled against a single pane of glass. The cold air then drops to the floor. This flow of air causes drafts. Why the cure? A double pane of glass. Some windows are made so that this double pane of glass fits on the inside of the window, while the most common is the ordinary storm window which is hung on the outside. Whether your double glass is inside or outside, the result is the same. The glass that is within the heated room is kept warmer by the dead air space between the two panes. Result: Warm air is not cooled so fast; no cool air—no drafts.

NEW new-car buyers can have the most valuable advice in the world—without even asking for it. It's the simple but significant fact that 4,061 engineers bought Dodge cars in the last twelve months.

What better proof of a great motorcar? What more convincing evidence that Dodge gives you most for your money? Mechanical engineers, structural engineers, electrical engineers—men who know car value inside and out—not only praise Dodge, but buy Dodge for their own use in preference to other cars.

And people who want a smart car, and a luxurious car, are just as enthusiastic. They rave about Dodge's new streamlined beauty, its gorgeous interiors, its countless new ideas.

Why not come in and let us demonstrate this magnificent new Luxury Line? You'll wonder how Dodge can sell such a big, luxurious car for just a few dollars more than small cars.

October, 1938, through September, 1939, 4,061 engineers bought Dodge cars in the last twelve months.

These are Detroit delivered prices and include delivery, taxes and license. Equipment, transportation, and other accessories extra. See dealer for details.

GOOD NEWS FOR USED-CAR BUYERS! Tremendous demand for the 1940 Dodge has brought many magnificent trade-in cars to Dodge dealers. These cars must be more than good or they wouldn't be here.

For smartness and luxury I think my 1940 Dodge tops them all.

ITS THE CAR THAT 4,061 ENGINEERS BOUGHT IN THE LAST 12 MONTHS!

Mayor's Court Business Is Falling Off

Statesboro motorists are being more careful in the observance of the two-hour parking ordinance here as the Mayor's court business dropped off this week with only five cases coming before him Monday morning.

Those against whom cases were made for violating the two hour parking ordinance were: A. B. Purdon, Mrs. P. G. Walker, Dr. J. H. Whiteside, J. E. Bowen, Jr. and Bernard Gay.

This is the fourth week of the police's enforcing this ordinance. The first week only four were fined, the second week six were fined, the third week the total jumped to fourteen and this week's five makes a total of 29 who have been fined for parking too long on the streets of the business section of the city.

The fine is $1 for the first offense and $1 for each additional offense.

Other cases appearing on the police docket include Sam Oler charged with possessing and sale of illegal whiskey, and Marvin Hurst, charged with being drunk.
