THEY WANT A PRAYER SERVICE

A FRIEND of ours came in our office one day last week and we had a long talk. We told him of some of the things we would like to see done in Statesboro and he told me of some things he would like to see done in Statesboro. We each agreed that what the other wanted was for the good of the community. We were impressed with one of his ideas—it was good and we would like to see it carried out. It can easily be done.

He told us that he attended prayer meeting on Wednesday evening of last week here and that five people were present including the pastor and his wife. He then launched his idea.

He says that he knows a number of people who would like to go to prayer meeting but feel that they can not go to any of the services held in the Statesboro churches because of a self-consciousness over which they have no control. This self-consciousness being brought about because of the difference in income levels which does not provide them with "church going clothes."

This feeling is natural and there should be no criticism of it and this should not keep them from going to our churches. But where this feeling cannot be broken down then take the churches to them—hold prayer meetings in their homes. Our friend told us that he knows that these people, who need the comfort that accompanies the attendance of church and prayer services, would welcome an opportunity to meet once a week in their own homes, rotating from week to week, with the local pastors and laymen as leaders.

We can easily see that our friend is right. We know, too, that the Church of God is open to the humblest and to the richest. But a church filled with people dressed in their very best is apt to awe and chill the soul of a person who is not fortunate enough to have a "Sunday suit." We often hear given as a reason for not attending church, "I didn't have a thing to wear," then we can't blame these people for not going to prayer meetings and churches.

We once read of a pastor of a one-church town where this same problem came up. He was told that the poorer people of the town would not attend church because they did not have clothes as good as those who regularly attended; all their clothes were clean but they were overalls and working clothes. Being a rather blunt sort of preacher and seeing a straight line the nearest distance between a problem and a solution, one Sunday appeared in the pulpit dressed in a pair of overalls, with a blue shirt and the collar open. The word got around and the next Sunday his church was filled with those who had previously stayed away. The idea caught on and soon the entire congregation came dressed to make the less fortunate feel "at home" in their church.

We do not suggest anything so drastic. But only tell this to illustrate the problem. We believe the suggestion made by our friends is a good one—to meet in the homes of these people and bring to them what they need and what the church offers, safe from eyes critical of what one wears.

THE WORKINGS of the Lord are strange indeed. We were impressed upon reading the notice to contractors that sealed proposals will be received by the State Highway Board of Georgia for the construction of the bridge over the Ogeechee River at Dover is dated the day Harvey Brannen was buried. This bridge, together with other work along what we knew as the Burton's Ferry Route, was one of Harvey Brannen's dreams. He worked for months and years to help the people of this section realize this dream.

JUNE 1—A magic day for hundreds of fishermen in Bulloch County. The fishing season opens on that date and conditions seem ideal. Creeks and rivers have cleared and unless there are heavy rains in the meantime the fishermen will have good fishing. With warm weather here the boys are tugging at the bit and a-raring to get at the big ones.

The average country weekly newspaper is a soothing experience after seeing and reading the searing headlines printed across the front pages of our daily newspapers.

DO SOMETHING FOR THEM!

ABOUT THIS time of the year for the past four years we become concerned, along with a number of parents in Statesboro about providing a place for the boys and girls of Statesboro to go "in swimming."

This year we are more concerned than ever before. For until this year there was a swimming pool which could be made available. But this year there is no swimming pool! Alfred Dorman has filled up the one he had been letting the boys and girls use. There is not even a hole in the ground big enough to put water in to go wading. And this year mothers and fathers are going to have trouble with their children going to the creeks, ponds, and big ditches to do their swimming.

School will be out this week. Nearly 800 boys and girls released with enough surplus energy to wreck any neighborhood if not given an outlet.

There is only one answer: A municipal playground with adequate equipment, including a swimming pool, all under proper supervision.

There are those who will say—"but we have a playground"—Oh, yes! Where? Oh, that . . . Reference is made to the "municipal playground" on Fair Road, where the lighted football field is located. We see a little group (about ten) out there once in a while playing softball. But when we say playground we mean a place where a kid finds swings, flying rings, a ball field, tennis courts, a swimming pool, slides, rollerskate walks, and the other methods of releasing the pent-up energies of youth.

Sure it will cost money. But can you think of a single project where money could be better spent?

Statesboro, one of the leading small cities in the state, is behind in providing for its young people, and something should be done about it. Children are going to play and they will find places to play—but these places will be some vacant lot, in the streets, in some vacant house, in the creeks on the outskirts of the city, on the "big ditch" and other such places. And such places are not conducive to a wholesome brand of play.

Let's give the boys and girls of Statesboro a place they can call their own; where their energies can be directed into worthwhile channels, and watch the dividends such a place will pay.

PATRONIZE YOUR INDEPENDENT GROCER

THIS WEEK The Bulloch Herald carries a full page of grocery advertising sponsored by the independent grocers of Statesboro. These grocers are all home-owned and home-operated and deserve the patronage of the housewives of Statesboro and Bulloch County. The clerks who wait upon you are your neighbors and friends. The money you spend with them, they in turn spend it with you and your husband and your friends who are in other businesses.

Read this page carefully and select your needs and when you go to your independent grocer tell him you saw his advertisement in The Bulloch Herald.

These independent, home-owned-operated grocers handle quality merchandise, that can be depended upon. Their shelves include national advertised brands as well as products from the farms and homes of Bulloch County.

If a crooked stick is before you, you need not explain how crooked it is. Lay a straight one down by the side of it, and the work is well done. Preach the truth, and error will stand abashed in its presence.—Surgence.

Experience is a safe light to walk by, and he is not a rash man who expects to succeed in future from the same means which have secured it in times past.—Wendell Phillips.

Dignity of position adds to dignity of character, as well as to dignity of carriage. Give us a proud position, and we are impelled to act up to it.—Boove.

There are two kinds of people that give editors the fits: them that raise a rumpus for putting their names in print and them that burn him for leaving their names out.

A Kansas widow is even suing a newspaper for saying in an obituary notice that her husband "had gone to a happier home."

Facts are so hard to find, truth is shy, and every newspaper makes mistakes.

It's also too bad editors aren't free to publish all the local scandal that is in circulation. Of course, some of 'em wouldn't live long, but while they did, they'd publish readable newspapers. Editors should be most appreciated for what they don't publish.—Clayton Rand, in the Douglas Enterprise.

Tomorrow night will see a bunch of young people with the world by the tail and on a down-hill drag, with a diploma for credentials.

PARTING SHOT: Having written in these columns on providing a place for the less fortunate people in Statesboro to attend prayer meeting we now have this idea: Since only five people attended prayer service at one of our churches last week and two of these five were the pastor and his wife—why not use the church for prayer service for those whose Sunday go-to-church clothes consist of their work clothes, washed and ironed?

Memorial Day

The Man of the Week

Editor's Note: This week we present a variation of our feature, "Man or Woman of the Week." We present "The Couple of the Week." The story of the Couple of the Week was written by Mrs. John A. Robertson, of Brooklet:

"Blessed are the pure in heart, for they shall be called the children of God." This passage of Scripture can truly be applied to Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lee, Sr., of Brooklet, Ga.

Andrew Jackson Lee was born in Brooklet, Ga., Dec. 15, 1856, and he has lived here all of his life.

His mother was Sara McCall, Thompson, of Pinehurst; Mrs. C. S. Cromley, of Brooklet; Mrs. C. S. Shearouse, of Savannah; Dan Lee, of Savannah; Fred Lee, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Mrs. E. E. Procureur, of Millen, and A. J. Lee, Jr., of Brooklet.

He was one of the ten children born to Mr. and Mrs. William Lee. The ten children, six boys and four girls, lived to be grown. Now only two are living. A. J. Lee and his sister, Mrs. Wayne Parrish, of Brooklet.

Mr. Lee was the first postmaster in Brooklet, serving for fifteen years, from 1889 to 1914, when he gave up the postmastership to devote all of his time to his farming interests and to his sawmill.

Mr. Lee served as superintendent of the Brooklet Methodist Sunday school for twenty years, and as steward of the Brooklet Methodist church for fifty years, and during those fifty years he was absent from quarterly conference only two times. He is now an honorary steward of the Brooklet Methodist church and also a trustee of the church.

Mrs. Lee, who was Mary Morgan, was born in Liberty county July 3, 1869. Her parents were John Chester Morgan and Martha Lanier, of Liberty county. She has one brother living.

For a number of years she taught a Sunday school class in the Brooklet Methodist Sunday school, and she assisted Rev. J. M. Lovett in organizing the present Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church, and served as president for many years. She now has charge of the home service of the church.

The poet has said, "When the corn is nearly ripe it bows the head and droops lower than when it was green." In like manner, when the people of God are near heaven they grow more humble and self-denying than in the days of their earlier development.

As tribute to this highly esteemed and much beloved couple let me say:

"I would not have a cloud arise, I would not have a shadow stray Upon the brightness of thy skies. Across the sunshine on thy way Lowest in organizing the present Woman's Missionary society of the Methodist church, and served as president for many years. She now has charge of the home service of the church."

However, I agree with you on one thing: Harvey Brannen is going to be hard to replace.

One of the neighbors has been over to see Ma. This morning she was talking about everybody in this section of the county. I been setting thinking—some of the things they tell ought not to mean a thing to them and a lot of things they ain't true. Just plain "gossip." But the women folks will do it (and I reckon men folks too). I know of some cases where tongue wagging has broke up good homes, yet the gossips who started it don't think it was them that did it. They just go around innocent-like throwing monkey wrenches in the lives of other people.

And the funny thing about gossips—according to my knowledge—is that they are always "telling the gospel truth." And they may be telling the truth but when the truth don't need to be told, why tell it when it is hurtful. A gossip in a community is a bad character. They just wrap up their mischief-making sayings in honey words and make out of it something like a mistletoe. It is in my mind about the lowest kind of gossip. I heard somebody say that old gossips are usually young folks gone to seed. And that is just about right. I compare a gossip to nothing but the sun; for a gossip, like the sun, knows no rest, nor ever sets in one place but to rise up in another.

I got to quit now. I hope you I think I done better this time. B. P. P.

FOOD CHATS

June is just around the corner, and with it's hot days make us think of cooling things to eat and drink.

Jellied salads and jellied desserts are now indicated. Make them ahead and have time to water the garden.

Deep dish apple pies are around again. For a sauce try cream whipped with brown sugar and flavored with nutmeg.

Apple rings with ham? Ham is a hot weather meat.

For a hot mouthful there is deviled ham and soft cheese on toast. There will never be an end to sandwiches.

Never forget that cheese goes with salad as words to music. There is a cheese for every salad. Ever stuff peppers with macaroni in cheese sauce? Cover with crumbs and bake. A hearty dish for supper.

Bulloch County Home Demonstration Club News

The Register club met Friday, May 24, at the schoolhouse and completed their organization. The following officers were elected: Mrs. O. C. Anderson, president; Mrs. Ivy Anderson, vice-president; and Mrs. Floyd Nevils, secretary and treasurer. The next meeting of this club will be held Friday, June 21. All the women in this community are urged to make a dress and wear it to this meeting.

Miss Irma Spears, county home demonstration agent, advised that all the home-makers in this county that now is the time to check up on all the screens about the place. She points out that good screens furnish protection against flies.

HOUSEWIVES WARNED ABOUT PROBLEMS IN DRY-SEASON CANNING

If high-quality products are expected and while the weather is mild, Georgia housewives need to recognize certain canning problems brought about through severe successive dry seasons, according to Miss Katherine Lanier, county specialist in food preservation and utilization.

"Vegetables grown during a dry season have less moisture content, which makes them more difficult to soak up liquid during the canning process," the Georgia extension specialist pointed out. "For this reason, longer periods are required for food and more liquid, should be the method of canning all vegetables during a dry season. Foods canned in this way will keep better."

Especially corn and root vegetables, such as potatoes, should be especially careful in the early stage of their production. In such cases, longer processing periods are required. Such conditions necessitate that time tables be increased in order to assure thorough sterilization of the canned foods.

"An increase of ten minutes, sometimes only five minutes, in pressure cooking times, while short of sufficient in most instances, Hot water time tables should be increased to the early stage of their production. In such cases, longer processing periods are required. Such conditions necessitate that time tables be increased in order to assure thorough sterilization of the canned foods."

"It is well to add a few minutes to the pre-cooking time of such vegetables as corn, root vegetables and fields peas," she continued.

"During a drought, we sometimes encounter canning times of bacteria that are more heat resistant than the usual forms dealt with during normal, quick-growing seasons when adequate moisture is supplied the growing vegetables. In such cases, longer processing periods are required. Such conditions necessitate that time tables be increased in order to assure thorough sterilization of the canned foods."

We believe...
IT TAKES More THAN PAYING TAXES
TO MAKE US Good Citizens

PAYING TAXES is just one of the many essential obligations in the life of a worthwhile citizen. The $4,016,671 which this Company paid in taxes for 1939 made us in the state. But it would take more than the state's best citizen.

In fact, having such a big stake in Georgia's welfare only serves to put us on our mettle in all the other—more power, more constant, more responsible, more human—phases of citizenship.

It makes us keenly conscious that, as an electric company and a citizen, we are honor bound to render the best electric service it is in our power to give—at a price that is reasonable by any judicious comparison whatever.

It reminds us that to be entitled to fair treatment from our fellow-citizens, we must be fair to ourselves;

Spring Socials Culminate In Elaborate Affairs

College socials soared to new heights Saturday as the Delta Sigma fraternity entertained at a tea dance, a banquet and an evening dance in dizzy delightful continuity. The new Statesboro High school gymnasium was the scene of the dances, and the fraternity colors, blue and gold, were emphasized in decorative effects. The tea dance, beginning at 3 in the afternoon and lasting until 5, was attended by fraternity members and their dates, and friends of the fraternity invited as guests. The dancers returned to the floor at 7 and danced until 9, at which time they gathered around the banquet table in the coffee shop of the Rushing hotel. In a setting of spring flowers, good food and enlivening conversation the peak of the evening's entertainment was reached. The fraternity chaplain gave thanks, and a toast to the fraternity was given by Tom Vandiver, followed by a short welcome address by the president Leroy ("Major") Cowart.

The new officers and sponsors were then recognized as follows: Tom Vandiver, of Graymont, president; Gerald Groover, of Graymont, vice-president; J. W. Zetterow, of Graymont, secretary; Harry Robertson, of Waycross, treasurer; William Waters, of Savannah, chaplain. The sponsors for the next year introduced were Miss Catherine Gaine, of Birmingham, Ala., student sponsor; E. D. Turner, language teacher, of Gainesville, Fla., faculty sponsor, and Dr. R. J. H. DeLoach, honorary faculty sponsor.

Following the introduction of officers, the dates were in the limelight as they were presented a lovely blue and gold compact by their sponsors. The compact, which were identical, bore the engraving "D. S." on one side and the donor's name on the other. After the presentation of the compact, a three-course dinner was served. During dinner E. D. Turner gave a brief inspirational talk, which was followed by the introduction of the senior members present by ("Major") Cowart. The fraternity presented a gift to Miss Gaine as a token of appreciation for her sponsorship during the year. Mr. Turner was also remembered with a gift.

At 10:30 the party moved on to the gymnasium where dancing continued until midnight. At this time the atmosphere of a cabaret prevailed through the use of individual tables for the members and their dates. Cheering, gunnits, cigarettes, candy, punch and crackers were served. The dance reached new emotional heights as the voices of all present joined in the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," the fraternity theme song.

The three brilliant events were attended by the largest number of

Statesboro Girl Participates In Historic Graduation Exercises

The attention of the nation was centered on the graduation exercises of Wesleyan college at Macon this year because it marked the one hundredth anniversary of the first graduating class. Statesboro was especially interested in the exercises because a Statesboro girl was among the graduates and played an important role in the pageant enacted on the campus Saturday.

Miss Alfreda Merle Dorman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dorman, of this city, who received her A. B. degree, was selected to represent the first president of Wesleyan in the pageant, Bishop George Foster Pearce, and re-enacted the address that Dr. Pearce made before the first group of graduates, eleven young ladies. The pageant depicted what women had done in the world for women and in five scenes presented Madame Gaili Curie, the greatest scientist, Miss Martha Berry, educator of mountain youth, the Trial of Susan B. Anthony, exponent of woman's rights; a human red cross, and a scene of Clara Barton, a name portraying Monsieur and Madame Curie in the discovery of radium. As a grand finale, the class of '40 entered, led by Dr. D. W. Anderson.

The baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning was delivered by Dr. Vernon March, of Savannah, and was titled "The Student's Duty." The sermon was followed by a prayer by Mr. and Mrs. Dorman and Alfred Merle and six other seniors honored their parents at a dinner party at Len Berg's.

The commencement exercises were held at the Conservatory chapel on Monday morning, the principal address being made by James D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee, Knoxville. As the degrees were conferred each senior stepped forward and was hooded by a friend and designated for the honor. Alfred Merle was hooded by Edith Chapell, of Richmond, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Dorman and Alfred Merle left Macon Monday afternoon at the conclusion of the exercises.

Satellites Entertained At Brooks Hotel

On Thursday afternoon Mrs. Hollis Cannon entertained her club, the Satellites, and a few other friends at the Brooks hotel. The party was beautifully decorated with a variety of spring flowers.

For high score Mrs. Henry Ellis was awarded a crystal set of ice tea glasses in pastel colors. Mrs. Emma Bland, with a low score, was given a pot plant. Mrs. Bird Daniel won a guest towel for cut.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Bland, Jr., served sandwiches, crackers and coca-colas. Others playing were Mrs. Frank McKell, Mrs. Rufus Cone, Jr., Mrs. John Cuncan, Mrs. Bernard McDougall, Mrs. Lannie Simmons, Mrs. Hoke Beunson, Mrs. W. W. Chandler, Mrs. Ralph Howard and Mrs. Wendell Burke.

Bridge Club Thursday

Mrs. Reginald Anderson was hostess to her club on Thursday afternoon at her apartment on Grady street. Dorothy Perkins and sweet peas were arranged attractively in the room where the tables were placed.

For high score Mrs. Alton Brannen received a pink pottery pitcher, and Miss Glenn Wilson was given a bridge score pad and tallies for low.

Mrs. Anderson served a salad course and iced tea.

Others playing were Mrs. Pen-ton Rimes, Mrs. Percy Rimes, Mrs. Dalton Kennedy, Mrs. Wade Trappnell and Miss Gladys Holloway.

High School Set Enjoy Suburban Party

On Friday night about sixty high school boys and girls attended a lovely prom party given by Mildred Dominey, a member of the tenth grade, at her home three miles west of Statesboro. The home was decorated throughout with roses and summer flowers. The hostess served punch and crackers during the evening.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Key will regret to learn of the critical condition of Mrs. Key's mother, Mrs. O. B. Euser, at the Bulloch County hospital following a cerebral hemorrhage. Mrs. Euser's daughters, Mrs. G. B. Edwards and Miss Otis Euser, of Atlanta, have been called here.

Brilliant Reception For Members of Senior Class

Adding brilliance to the social life of commencement activities was the lovely reception given in honor of the certificate pupils in the piano and speech departments of the school.

On Monday evening the Women's club was the scene of the first of these receptions. At the time Mrs. Dew Groover, Mrs. F. A. Smallwood, Mrs. Cecil Waters, Mrs. T. W. Rowe complimented their daughters, Mary Frances Groover and Catherine Alice Smallwood appeared early in the evening in their piano recital. Effie Weyland and Helen Rowe, on the same program, gave their speech recitals.

The Woman's club needed no decoration other than the lovely gladioli, Easter lilies and other flowers received by the young ladies. The table overlaid with a lace cover had exquisite pink gladioli in the center. Punch and crackers were served to about two hundred guests.

Miss Groover wore a dainty white frock, embroidered in blue, a Scarlet O'Hara model. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations and wore a pink carnation in her hair.

Miss Waters chose a white all-over embroidered model with sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and bouffant skirt. Her flowers were red carnations.

Miss Smallwood wore a smart evening frock with tomato colored bodice and navy blue and white striped full skirt.

Miss Rowe's frock was of white chiffon with long full sleeves. A red giraffe made of flower petals gave distinction to the model. The skirt was full. Her flowers were also red carnations.

On Tuesday evening Mrs. C. B. McAllister, Mrs. Wade Hodges and Mrs. Janie Etheredge were

American Legion Auxiliary

By MISS MAUDE WHITE

DR. R. J. H. D'LOACH
AT NEVILS
On Monday night, May 20, Dr. R. J. H. D'Loach, of Georgia Teachers' college, delivered a very interesting, educational baccalaureate address that was very inspirational to all his listeners. The program closing the graduating exercises for the 1940 term of the Nevils school was as follows:
Processional; invocation; talk, Rev. Oliver Thomas, of Georgia Teachers' college; College song; salutation by Susie Mae Martin; class song; valedictory by Lullene Nesmith; introduction of speakers by Supt. E. L. White; address, Dr. H. J. H. D'Loach; delivery of diplomas by Frank Hook;

Kate Hen, Dayton Anderson, Miriam Bowen, Ellis McCorkle, Carolyn Proctor and James Rushing. The F. A. chapter award that is annually given by Sears, Roebuck was given to Walton Nesmith for outstanding F. A. work, leadership, activities and special project work. Young Nesmith will be given a two weeks stay, free of charge, at F. A. Camp Jackson, Ga. This is two years in succession that Nesmith has won this award. He is very active in all F. A. work. Other than special projects he fed out a nice bunch of shoats and also had a steer to enter the fat stock show. Robert Cox was selected the alternate with a close follow-up. If for any reason Nesmith can't take advantage of the award, Cox will be sent in his place.

ELBERTONIAN GROWS FLY-SIZED ORCHIDS

They're no bigger than a fly, but they're orchids! So boasts W. E. Hall, amateur horticulturist, of Elberton, who is proving that "orchids will grow in Elberton" by successfully cultivating a wild Florida specimen. The tiny blossoms are perfect in every detail, and are the type that eventually become commercial orchids, through the process of cross-pollination.

HEALTH EDUCATION POSTER ON ADULT EDUCATION WORK

Over ten thousand posters, telling the story of the new emphasis on health education, as the theme for the adult education work of the Georgia WPA will be distributed over the state this week. It was announced today by WPA officials here. Distribution of the posters was made possible by the state department of education which sponsors the WPA education program.

The WPA education project has been operating for some time in this county in the state, living up to its aim of "Classes for all who wish to learn." In the past, the emphasis has been on the eradication of illiteracy, and the number of grownups who could not read and write in 1930 has been cut in half.

Under the new program this great fight on illiteracy continues, but the new aim of encouraging better health and better citizenry while teaching the fundamentals of reading and writing has been broadened the scope of the work.

The new poster shows this broadened field, illustrating how the class work is built around the study of such subjects as food, sanitation, safety and first aid, communicable diseases, and citizenship. In this way the adult students seeking the gifts of literacy learn doubly as they attend classes. Improved results have been excellent. The recent monthly report of progress on the adult education project states:

"Several rather definite results can be seen already from the stress we are placing on health. Students and supervisors show a decided increased interest in the classes and attendance also is showing a higher average. It is gratifying to find that more and more the teachers are making use of every community resource available in gathering materials for the study of food, health, home demonstration agents, public health departments, home economics teachers and vocational agriculture teachers are co-operating with WPA teachers in their activities. A broadened and more varied interest in the pupils and the public is evident."

The WPA education project supplements the work of the public schools. In addition to its work with adults who are beyond school age, it helps operate nursery schools for children of pre-school age.

Through the WPA adult education activities in Bulloch county in 1939, seventy-eight grown-ups were taught to write their names one month, 233 others availed themselves of the opportunities offered through this program and for the first time to read. In improved their former education, thereby not only providing them abundant living for themselves and families, but adding much to their community life. The adult education program has received splendid co-operation from the county school superintendent, the board of education and other civic minded individuals.

FARMERS URGED TO MAKE FULL USE OF HOG GRAZING CROPS
County Agent Byron Dyer said this week that Bulloch county farmers would do well to make full use of grazing crops on the farm in order to keep swine production costs at minimum which, in turn, would afford greater profits.

Although the wide variety of grazing crops offers the cheapest gains for swine, the agent said many hog producers experience difficulty in securing a continuous succession of crops due to unforeseen droughts and other abnormal weather conditions. These conditions, he pointed out, force them to draw heavily on the corn crib to carry hogs over until the next crop is ready.

"Castor millet is a valuable cash crop to provide grazing for hogs in the early summer months," Mr. Dyer stated. "In case of small out yields, delayed corn or summer legume crops such as cowpeas and soybeans, millet will help fill the gap in the rotation. This crop has a high carrying capacity per acre and is usually ready to graze about sixty days after planting."

The agent said kudzu is becoming more and more useful to provide succulent grazing for hogs, even during periods of drought when other crops have failed. Kudzu, he said, is also used extensively to control severe erosion.

"A patch of rape sowed in low ground will help to correct feed shortage during failure of oats and other small grain due to long dry spells in the fall. Grazing of oats is not dependable in many instances, due to winter killing."

Mr. Dyer pointed out that lespedeza is widely planted in north

Georgia and much of the acreage is used for supplemental hog grazing.

"By making a thorough study of the soil types on the individual farm, a farmer can use grazing crops best adapted to his conditions," he declared. "The comparative values of the various crops should be figured on a basis of the pounds of pork produced per acre."

HOTEL TYBEE
OPENED MAY 25
WITH IMPROVEMENTS
The Hotel Tybee held its formal 1940 opening last Saturday, May 25, at which time the many new features and improvements which have been added during the winter months were available to guests of this popular seaside hotel.

J. A. Brown, manager, states that the fourth floor of the hotel this year has been completely renovated and will be rented to guests on a weekly, monthly or season basis. Another service, says Mr. Brown, is the "message service." Friends are invited to meet in the lobby of the hotel, or they may leave messages at the hotel where their friends may find them.

Tennis courts have been added, badminton courts, shuffle board courts and croquet will be open to visitors and guests.

It's Got To Be A THREE-WAY JOB!

A Word of Appeal to the Citizens of Georgia

The wholehearted acceptance by your State and local law enforcement officials of our cooperation in the campaign to eliminate the relatively few retail beer outlets that are being improperly conducted, has been splendid. But that's not enough. It's got to be a three-way job... by the industry, the law, and you... the public.

How can you help?
First, simply by refusing to patronize those retail beer outlets that are flagrantly violating the law.
Second, by reporting to your local law enforcement officials or to this Committee the wholly undesirable retail beer outlets operating in your community.

BILL LOREN AT AL REMLER'S CLUB ROYALE

Beginning his second week at Remler's Club Royale, on Victor drive in Savannah, Bill Loren and his orchestra continue to prove to be one of the most popular bands in Savannah.

Loren and his band comes to Savannah after a long engagement in the Normandie Room of Boston, Mass., where they began playing on one of the radio networks six months ago. The band features Jack Archer, pianist at the grand Steinway, the only one of its kind in any southern night club. Archer also plays the accordion between dance sets and at cocktail hour.

Another popular member of the band is Whitney Thomas who played with Isham Jones here last year at the paper festival. Others in the orchestra are Vic Spinner, vocalist, who with Charlie Thomas and Bill Betcher, make up the saxophone section of the band. Dickie Radford plays the trumpet. An outstanding feature of the band is that each man in it sings in the club. Besides playing the band in the orchestra, Loren is master of ceremonies, and sings many ballads in his high tenor voice.

Loren and his band are fast becoming the most popular band to appear in Al Remler's show place at the paper festival. The band's effort has been most successful in Georgia and the entire south. A super club that is within the reach of everyone for a night of fun and gaiety.

H. E. Allen, Claude Cowart and T. O. Wynn were elected to the school board of trustees at an election held at the Port School Friday of last week.

Mr. Allen received 322 votes; Cowart, 211, and Mr. Wynn, 127.

POLITICAL Announcements

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE OGECHEE JUDICIAL CIRCUIT

"First, serving as solicitor of the city court of Statesboro, to which he was elected by the people of the judicial circuit, and then, as a member of the Georgia House of Representatives, he has been in the forefront, holding positions of leadership and responsibility, and performing with unusual skill and every duty pertaining to these positions."

"An alumnus of Mercer university, he has been in the forefront of the military service at the outbreak of the World war, was commissioned a captain, rose on merit to the rank of major, served with distinction overseas, remained on duty in Washington in a most responsible army position for some years after the close of the war, resigned his commission and returned to Statesboro to resume the practice of law, then twice elected mayor of Statesboro from which position he was called by Gov. H. L. Smith to the office of adjutant-general and placed at the head of the military organization in Georgia, which position he filled for four years (1931), then served almost four years as congressional representative from the First district of Georgia (1931-1934). He next served for seven months in 1936 as controller-general, filling out an unexpired term. In his race for controller-general in 1938 he polled 134,600 votes, and in 1938 he polled 127,500 votes, lacking only a few votes of election."

"Because of his personal life and character, which are without blemish, and the high esteem in which he is held by all who know him, and because of his experience in this particular office and his wide and varied experience in other positions of responsibility, and his ability and fitness so amply proven, we earnestly invite the people of Georgia to elect him as our next controller-general."

HUGH PETERSON.

LEGAL NOTICE

The closing date for the Democratic primary, 77th Congress, First District of Georgia, has been fixed by the executive committee of said district as 12 o'clock noon, standard time, Saturday, June 1, 1940.

SPCA Officials At Conference At Sea Island

Another year of progress was reported by directors of twelve production credit associations who gathered at Sea Island, Ga., for a group conference, according to J. E. Hodges, president of the Statesboro Production Credit association, which serves Bulloch and Evans counties.

Associations represented at the Sea Island conference were Americus, Carrollton, Cordele, Douglas, Dublin, Eastman, Jonesboro, Macon, Moultrie, Statesboro, Thomson, Tifton, and the Georgia Production Credit Corporation of Columbus.

"We were fortunate in having with us two members of the board of directors of the Third farm credit district, Judge Will Stallings, of Spertown, and R. S. Rogers, of Dillon, S. C., said Mr. Hodges. "Judge Stallings is vice president of the Dublin Production Credit association, and Mr. Rogers is president of the Dillon Production Credit association. Both are vitally interested in the welfare of the production credit movement."

"Reports submitted at the meeting revealed that all of the associations represented had a good year in 1939 and that all of them are doing what they were created to do—furnishing their members with short-term credit service at lowest cost possible."

Attending from the Statesboro association in addition to Mr. Hodges were W. H. Smith, John H. Moore, H. H. Durence, directors, and R. F. Donaldson, secretary-treasurer.

The Statesboro Production Credit association has to date made 470 loans this year totaling $166,400.

Baptist Begin Bible School

The faculty and workers are organized and ready at the First Baptist church for the ten-day Vacation Bible school which begins Monday morning, June 10. Preparation for this important work of the church has been intensive for the past month or more and a great school is anticipated.

The principal of the school, Dr. C. M. Colson, states that the work done in these ten days is equivalent to the work in the regular Sunday school program of six months. He asks that the parents of the city give them their children every day from 8:30 to 11:15 in the morning and promises that these children will learn much of Scripture, many of the grand old hymns the noblest principles of character, and many other fine things. Reverence is inculcated with the regular program of Bible study.

The pupils learn by doing. They take part in the worship services and in the other part of the program. And when they attend this school each summer they come to manhood and womanhood much better prepared for the tasks that await them. The church invites all the children of other denominations who are not engaged in their own Vacation Bible school to come with them.

LONNIE RAY DIES HERE AT THE AGE OF 47

Lonnie Ray, aged 47, died here on Tuesday of last week. Funeral services were held at the home and burial was in East Side cemetery. Mr. Ray was born and reared in Bulloch county, and was a member of the First Baptist church of this city. He was a member of the military organization in Georgia, which position he filled for four years (1931), then served almost four years as congressional representative from the First district of Georgia (1931-1934). He next served for seven months in 1936 as controller-general, filling out an unexpired term. In his race for controller-general in 1938 he polled 134,600 votes, and in 1938 he polled 127,500 votes, lacking only a few votes of election.

Several Bulloch county farmers are planning to fight the boll weevil this season, despite the cold weather in January and February. They are using the opinion that enough weevils were left to cause lots of damage. W. H. Smith has purchased several thousand pounds of calcium arsenate to use on his land cotton. Last year he produced a half a bale of Sea Island cotton per acre by controlling the weevils.

Mrs. John Powell is poisoning her Sea Island cotton. Some of the other farmers fighting the weevils are C. H. Bird, Mrs. J. M. Strickland and N. J. Deal.

D. G. Lee depends on getting the weevils in the pre-square stage. He starts with calcium arsenate with the 1-1-1 sweeten poison. He mixes one pound of calcium arsenate, one gallon of molasses and one gallon of water and mops the weevils on the top of the plants before the squares are formed. About three applications of this mixture has proven satisfactory.

Those poisoning Sea Island cotton usually wait until about the first of June. It starts blooming and then continues to dust with calcium arsenate until near picking time.

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

Statesboro, Georgia, Thursday, June 6, 1940

James Deal Is Mayor of Town Of 40 Citizens

Mayor of the town of Faulkville is the honor conferred on James Deal, son of Col. Albert Deal, by the forty inhabitants of that community.

Last fall, young Deal by mutual consent of the township's forty residents was made its No. 1 citizen.

Faulkville is located on U. S. 80 between Blomfield and Eden. Mr. Deal states that there has been no occasion for a mayor's court during the time he has been mayor. There is no jail and when man needs justice he is delivered over to his wife.

Judge Strange Dies Here Last Saturday Night

Judge H. B. Strange, former secretary of state of Georgia and ex-judge of the Ogeechee circuit, superior court, died at his home here Saturday after a long illness. He was 78 years old.

He served as secretary of state from March 21, 1918, until June 13, 1919. He was named judge of the circuit in 1921 and served for twelve years.

Judge Strange served one term in the state senate, from the Seventeenth district, 1905-06. He was solicitor of the county court of Effingham county, 1888-09, and judge of the city court of Statesboro from 1910 to 1914.

Judge Strange was born Nov. 13, 1862, at Pleasant Hill, Ga., and attended the local schools. He began the practice of law May 14, 1888, and practiced at Guyton and at Statesboro.

He was a member of the Methodist church, a democrat, Mason, and held Monday afternoon tea at the First Baptist church with Rev. C. M. Colson conducting the service. Burial was in the East Side cemetery. The young boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Sasser, of Statesboro, and Mrs. N. H. Williams, of Savannah.

Contracts are to be let tomorrow, June 7, for the construction of the bridge at the Ogeechee river, near Dover, located in Bulloch and Screven counties.

John Donaldson Passes At The Age Of 79

Funeral services for John H. Donaldson, age 79, prominent Statesboro and Bulloch county citizen, were held here Monday afternoon from the Primitive Baptist church with Elder V. F. Agan conducting the services assisted by Rev. C. M. Colson, Rev. N. H. Williams and Rev. H. L. Snead. Burial was in the East Side cemetery.

John Donaldson, a native of this county, had a long and active career. He was a member of the Georgia House of Representatives for several years, having operated the Pound Service station on North Main street.

Mr. Donaldson was well known in Bulloch county. He is a member of the Statesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce.

For the past seven years W. L. Waller has been the local wholesale agent for the Sinclair Refining company, and it was at his request that the change be made, since he has plans to enter into other business.

R. B. Hoskins is the special representative of the company, and E. L. Heible is the local representative.

Methodist Youth of Waynesboro District Had Meeting

The young peoples' convention of the Waynesboro district of the Methodist church was held Friday, May 31, at Polaski.

A representative number of young people from the various churches of the district, accompanied by many of the pastors, attended the meeting. Playing a part in discussions, demonstrations and other phases of youth work, these young people read many interesting papers, and expressed a strong desire to assume a more important part in the church program.

Miss Agnes Bradford, Savannah, was elected president; Mrs. Sarah L. Mathis, C. E. Cone, F. T. Lanier, Howell Cone, R. J. Kennedy, H. J. Akins, R. J. H. DeLoach, and John Nesmith, J. L. Zetterow, M. H. Hagin and J. L. Renfro, were delegates from Statesboro and Bulloch counties. Mrs. Miss Blanch Williams, Ruth Spaulding, Nona Bell Monroe and Johnnie Mae Hill, Rev. and Mrs. Ames O. Holmes, and a few visitors.

The convention adjourned to meet with the Statesboro church in 1941.

Loan League To Meet Here Friday

The district meeting of the Georgia Builders and Loan league, to be held here Friday, will bring to this city more than sixty-five prominent business men and women from over the state.

The business meeting will begin here at 4:30 Friday afternoon at the Jaekel hotel. O. K. LaRoue, president of the Federal Home Loan bank, Winston-Salem, N. C., will preside at this meeting. At 7 p.m. the visitors will be entertained at the Jaekel hotel with a banquet.

This convention will be the largest business convention ever held here. Statesboro was selected as the convention center over many other larger cities that make up this district. Cities included in this district are Waynesboro, Jessup, Augusta, Baxley, Savannah, Vidalia, Douglas and Brunswick. Officials of the First Federal Savings and Loan association here played a major part in bringing this convention to Statesboro. They are Horace Smith, chairman; J. B. Averitt, secretary-treasurer; Charles E. Cone, L. E. Tyson, D. B. Turner, directors, and George Johnston, legal advisor for the association.

AAA Plans Improve Soil

Farmers of Bulloch county used the conservation measures of the AAA farm program to improve and protect the productivity of their farms to a greater extent last year than they have in any other year since the first agricultural conservation program went into effect, according to L. F. Martin, chairman of the county AAA committee, this week.

A summary of soil-building practices carried out by farmers participating in the 1939 Agricultural Adjustment Administration farm program has been released.

In 1936, the first year of the agricultural conservation program, approximately 1,400 county farmers, operating 60 per cent of the cropland in the county, carried out important soil-building practices on their farms, resulting in the number of participating farmers reaching 2,046, and they operated more than 85 per cent of the cropland in the county.

"The increase in the number of farmers participating in the program and in the percentage of cropland covered by the program indicates that Bulloch county farmers have made steady progress in conservation work," said Mr. Martin. "This progress points toward long-time improvements in farming methods built on better crop rotation, proper use of fertilizers, less exhaustive to the soil, and on sound conservation methods. For the most part, the results of soil improvement is the increased efficiency in crop and live stock production."

In carrying out soil-building practices, 2,046 farmers who participated in the 1939 Agricultural Adjustment Administration farm program planted 3,884.5 acres to legumes and grasses. These soil-building measures have resulted in the soil in place and provide nitrogen and other plant food for the crops.

For the control of erosion in sloping land, farmers constructed approximately 1,040,600 linear feet of terraces and other erosion control works.

Green-manure and cover crops totaled 3,506 acres in 1939. Green-manure and cover crops are especially important for controlling erosion and furnishing organic matter that adds fertility to the soil.

Farmers applied 100 tons of superphosphate to their soil in carrying out soil-building practices under the 1939 Agricultural Adjustment Administration farm program.

The grant of aid program by which farmers may receive line and phosphate in places of conservation payments is greatly stimulating the use of these two materials this year, explained Mr. Martin. Line and phosphate, often used in combination, add plant food to the soil, which stimulates the growth of legumes and grasses. The grant of aid program has been greatly expanded for 1940.
