This Week's Sentence Sermon

The wrath peculiar to ardent natures rudely awakened by the sudden annihilation of a hope-dream, if you will—in which the choicest happiness were thought to be certainly in reach. In such cases nothing intermediate will carry off the passion—the quarrel is with fate. It was well in such quarrels if fate were something tangible, to be dispatched with a look or a blow, or a speaking personage with whom high words were possible; then the unhappy mortal would not always end the affair by punishing himself.—Lew Wallace.

Congratulations to Troop 40, Boy Scouts of America! They looked swell in their new uniforms last Thursday as they assisted the Blue Devil Band on "Band Day."

And the band went "over the top" last Thursday when they observed "Band Day." Statesboro should be proud of that organization. There is nothing that takes the place of a band and Statesboro has long felt the need of one. When we hear them we always stop whatever we are doing to step out and watch them march by.

ELECTION DAY

POLITICS IS THE only serious subject that men think themselves qualified to act upon without any previous education of instruction whatever. If it happened to be astronomy, or medicine, or law, he would never be allowed to work in any of these arts, or to take a decisive part in the history of any one of these sciences without having, at least, acquired the A B C of it; but the awful fact of politics is that we do not take the trouble seriously to understand the political situation.

Next Wednesday we go to the polls to express our preference for the men to run our state and local governments. Some of them we know, some we do not know. Some of them we know to be capable of holding the positions to which they are seeking election, some of them we know to be unfit to fill the positions to which they seek election. Some of them we do not know at all.

But in spite of this we will exercise our right to vote for whom we please. No one can tell us how we must vote. And, having voted, we come out of the ballot booth with a pleasant feeling of having performed our duty well.

It's a great privilege to vote. Exercise it!

HOMER C. PARKER

WHEN WE VOTE next Wednesday we will find on the ballot the name of a man who has lived in Bulloch County for forty-seven years—Homer C. Parker, a candidate for Comptroller-General of the State of Georgia.

We here in Statesboro and Bulloch County have known Homer Parker all our lives. He has been in and out of public service since he began practicing law here in 1908. First serving as Solicitor of the City Court of Statesboro in 1915-16, he next volunteered for military service at the outbreak of World War No. 1, and was commissioned a Captain. He served with distinction and was promoted to the rank of Major. After the close of the War he remained on duty in Washington for several years.

Returning to Statesboro Mr. Parker resumed his law practice. It was during this period that he served for two terms as Mayor of Statesboro (1924-1927). In 1927 he was called by Governor Hardman to the office of Adjutant-General and placed at the head of the military organization in Georgia, which position he held for four years.

From 1931 to 1934 Mr. Parker served as Comptroller-General from the First District. It was in June 16, 1936, that he was appointed Comptroller-General to fill an unexpired term. In his race for that office in 1936 he polled 134,600 votes and in 1938, in the race for the same office, he polled 127,500 votes, lacking only a few votes of election. Mr. Parker's experience particularly fits him for the office of Comptroller-General. We believe that he would fill the office with distinction and credit. And it is hoped that when the returns are in on September 11, Mr. Parker will be the man.

A RIVER OF GOLD!

WE'VE ALL HEARD of W. T. Anderson, of the Macon Telegraph. We are all familiar with his fight for Georgia Products. We are all familiar with his story of his friend who is a peach grower near Macon who sweated, fretted, worried with a peach crop, got it made, got it loaded and it cost him more to load them than he finally got for them and when he got home that night his loving wife served him California peaches for supper.

But not so many of us are familiar with the wonderful work he is doing for the farmers in his section in getting 6 cents more than the market price for their hams. What he is doing in his section can be done in every section of the state and can be done here in Bulloch County.

Mr. Anderson is helping his people get 40 cents and more a pound for Georgia hams instead of 12 to 18 cents a pound.

Mr. Anderson and his farmer friends found that people from Virginia were buying up Georgia hams at 12 cents a pound, taking them back to Virginia, giving them a "country cure" that cost 8 cents a pound and then advertising them as Virginia country ham and selling them for as high as 59 to 75 cents a pound. Those Virginia people trimmed the hams properly, and sized them right and put them in a cellophane wrapper with a fancy string and tag on them and made the money that the Georgia farmers could be making.

W. T. and his crowd had a vision. They organized a non-profit corporation designed to help the farmer dip into the river of gold flowing through the State of Georgia. They called their organization "Georgia Banner Hams." They buy hams from the farmer and pay him 1 cent above the market and keep a record of every purchase. They then cure the ham, dress it up, they even include a book of ham menus tied to the ham, advertise them and sell them. They pay all the expenses and when all the returns are in they declare each farmer a dividend which is determined by the difference in what they paid him for his ham and what it eventually sold for, less the expenses.

Last year Mr. Anderson and his organization bought 2,000 hams from the farmers in his section. They paid 1 cent above the market. They cured them, advertised them and paid all the expenses and then with the reckoning they paid each farmer from whom they had bought hams a 5-cent per pound dividend. So each farmer got 6 cents above the market for his ham.

What a wonderful opportunity for the farmers of Bulloch County! Here we raise thousands of hogs. A river of gold flowing through our back yards if we had the courage and initiative to dip into it.

WITH PARDONABLE PRIDE

"IF A MAN PREACH a better sermon, write a better book, or make a better mousetrap than his neighbor, though he build his house in a woods, the world will make him a beaten path to his door."

The editors of The Bulloch Herald have received many letters from all over the state of Georgia congratulating them upon their winning the Hal M. Stanley Trophy at the annual convention of the Georgia Press Association in Savannah and we find it difficult to conceal our pride. Genuine modesty is rather difficult to attain and maintain under the flood of congratulations accompanying the high recognition given us by the Georgia Press. It is an honor an editor hopes a lifetime for and it is, may we say with pardonable pride, an achievement of which the personnel of this newspaper is extremely and most justifiably proud.

The Hal M. Stanley Trophy was presented to the editors of The Bulloch Herald in an impressive ceremony with over 200 Georgia newspapermen and their wives participating. The speaker who conferred the trophy said the award was presented "to The Bulloch Herald, at Statesboro, for its outstanding beauty due to the very neat and harmonious headline system, variety in makeup, and excellent mechanical workmanship and press work."

The credit for the honor conferred upon our newspaper is not to us alone. To the entire staff of The Bulloch Herald goes all the honor and all the glory. Each contributed his part toward making the paper the best in the state.

The honor is not merely for this newspaper but for every man and woman in Bulloch County whom it represents. The Herald is an institution devoting its services to the City of Statesboro and Bulloch County and the award bestowed satisfies us that we are serving well and in a manner of which they approve and appreciate.

A new name appeared on the list of writers for the Atlanta Journal Sunday. Morris McLemore, Morris is writing for the sports department. He graduated in June from Vanderbilt University. Morris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. McLemore.

Words Of Wisdom . . .

It seems to me a great truth that human things cannot stand on selfishness, mechanical utilities, economies and law courts; that if there be not a religious element in the relations of men, such relations are miserable, and doomed to ruin.—Carlyle.

There is nothing which continues longer than a moderate fortune; nothing of which one sees sooner the end than a large fortune.—Bryere.

About that Time

THE EDITOR'S UNEASY CHAIR..

THE ALMANAC SAYS THE WEATHER THIS WEEK: TODAY, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 5, WILL BE SHOWERS. FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 6, WILL BE LOCAL SHOWERS. SATURDAY, SEPT. 7, WILL BE CLEAR AND PLEASANT. SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 8, SCATTERED SHOWERS, MOON IN FIRST QUARTER.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 9, CLEAR AND PLEASANT. TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 10, CLEAR AND PLEASANT. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, CLEAR AND WARM. BUT DON'T BLAME US IF THE ALMANAC IS WRONG.

JOHN TEMPLES was in here last week saying that folk in his community are a-squawking, get-ting out their cotton. We got lots of respect for John in all things but one. He just ain't worth a row of pins when it comes to picking the right time and right place to go fishing. He drug us off—maybe we drug him off—but that's not the point. He carted us way off down on the Can-noe-ree river where he led us to believe he had about thirty big bass lined up ready to take our hook. And all we caught was a head full of rain and we couldn't bring that home because we don't have any hair on our head.

SUNDAY THE Rucker reunion brought together more than 150 of the Rucker clan for a big bar-becue. That's a great family. Healthy, too. Not a death in the family in thirty-five years.

POLITICS GETTING HOT—'cause it won't be long now.

BILL SHERMAN is having a time getting him a coach for his Blue Devils. ("Snag") Johnson and some germs had a round or two last year and the germs gangued up on him. So in order that Snag could keep up the good fight he gave up his coaching responsibilities. Supt. Sherman succeeded in signing up John Beard, of Mercer, and before he knew it Beard flew the coop, and then Mr. Sherman found a "find" in Charlie Williams, Bulldog tackle. But

"BUT IT'S TOO THE credit of the voter than in spite of it all he turns out and expresses himself in the privacy of the voting booth where he scratches down the ballot and sends up a silent prayer that enough votes will be cast to elect the right man to guide this great state and nation thru the perilous times in which we now find ourselves. (That sounds like a good campaign statement).

When something happens in a community like Statesboro and the editor of the local paper consider printing it, and it was written on the basis of the effect on his newspaper in its many phases here is what you would get:

(Editor's Note:—Any actual resemblance of this story to anybody, the reader knows is a strange coincidence as it was just written to fill up space.)

Charges were filed today against a long-time subscriber before Judge (we can't mention his name because he is having job printing done) on the complaint that he had attacked Mr. (name deleted, friend of the editor's) (the same long-time subscriber) is alleged to have wielded a (type of weapon can't be named, harmful to sales) in the reported assault.

The man, hurt slightly, died for some strange reason in the (harmful publicity for institution) hospital. The doctor said that although the man rolled off the bed and fractured his skull, thus causing immediate death and permanent injury, he would rather not be mentioned as treating him in a moderate fortune; nothing of which one sees sooner the end than a large fortune.—Bryere.

Home Agent Offers Tips On Using Tin Canning Containers

Bulloch County Home Demonstration Agent Miss Irma Spears this week offered a few tips for canning of fruits and vegetables in tin containers.

In the first place the cans should be sterilized by placing them in cold water and bringing them to a boil for ten minutes. After sorting and grading of fruits and vegetables, washing and peeling has been done, pre-cooking is necessary to shrink the food Miss Spears pointed out.

"Fruits and vegetables should be packed with care and the can should be filled to within one-quarter of an inch to the top of the container. The can should be shaken gently to displace all air within the container. Clean and wipe the groove around the opening and slip on cap and weigh before sealing so as to be sure of having required weight.

"Fruits and vegetables, after they have been canned, may be processed either by steam pressure or hot water. All canned products should be cooled as quickly as possible to stop the cooking which breaks down the fruits and injures the flavor and color. Cans should be plunged into very cold water immediately after the cooking is finished.

"In labeling, place the sealed end of the can down so that the opposite side will appear at the top when placed on the shelf. Use rather dry paste and put it only on the labor at the end so that no paste will touch the tin. Net weight in pounds and ounces, packer's name and address should be put on each can."

The home demonstration agent called attention to hydrogen swells which develop some months after canning. She says that this condition may be found in canning blackberries and that the pressure on the end of the can has been caused by the generation of hydrogen through the action of fruit juice on the tin can. Fruits in this condition, however, may not be spoiled. She explained that this condition may be followed by the perforation on small pin holes which appear in the ends of the cans.
