Establishing Teacher Buy-in
Importance of Establishing Buy-In

- More than half of school reform efforts fail, many as a result of poor implementation. Without buy-in from critical actors such as teachers, administrators and parents, any reform effort – no matter how well-intentioned and conceived – is sunk.

- “The best-planned reforms cannot achieve success without teachers committed to altering their practices and learning new approaches.” (Experiencing Comprehensive School Reform, Daniel K. Aladjem, Kathryn M. Borman, 2006).
Importance of Establishing Buy-In (cont’d)

Kathryn Borman and her co-authors (2004) report that current literature suggests three critical elements to promote teacher buy-in and commitment:

1) The process by which teacher support for reform is obtained

2) Alignment of teacher’s perceptions of the school’s main problems and the strategies proposed to address them

3) The amount of professional development and technical support provided by the developer
How We Established Buy-In at Fowler Drive Elementary

- Element 1 - The process by which teacher support for reform is obtained

We looked at our discipline data over the past few years and noticed the problem areas. We shared this information with teachers along with some ways to address it. Teachers shared their ideas and we took those ideas back to our newly-created PBIS team to ponder. We developed a draft of the school-wide discipline plan which we presented to the staff.
Element 2: Alignment of teacher’s perceptions of the school’s main problems and the strategies proposed to address them

We took our staff on a one-day retreat and had a candid discussion with them about what they see as the main problems with school discipline. We shared with them components of the book Teaching with Poverty in Mind by Eric Jensen. We did several learning and team-building activities to foster understanding and collegiality amongst our staff members.
Element 3: The amount of professional development and technical support provided by the developer

Our teachers received the initial PBIS training at our retreat, but every year we provide training on PBIS for our teachers and staff. Also, as we see the need, we provide helpful tips and reminders during faculty meetings. Teachers who need additional support may attend a training (such as Gary Alderman) or they may receive support from an administrator, behavior interventionist, or behavior specialist.

Fowler Drive Expectations
What do Fowler Falcons do?

F – Follow instructions.
D – Demonstrate self-control.
E – Exercise your brain and body.
S – Show respect.
PBIS: How It Works at Fowler Drive

- Having clear and succinct school and classroom rules
- Explicitly teaching and modeling expected behavior and establishing rituals and routines early with reminders throughout the year
- Establishing teacher buy-in
- Establishing a student recognition program for positive behavior
- Comprehensive School-wide Behavior Model at Fowler Drive Elementary School
- Training teachers on PBIS and effective classroom management skills
- Implementing behavior plans for “frequent flyers”
- Constantly communicating student behavior with parents and establishing a family rewards program
- Establishing a PBIS team that oversees PBIS program and regularly reviews discipline data
Components of a School-wide PBIS Plan

For Students
● Common & consistent approach
● Set of expected positive behaviors across environments
● Procedures for teaching expectations
● Continuum of procedures to encourage expected behaviors & discourage inappropriate behaviors
● On-going monitoring of the plans effectiveness
Components of a School-wide PBIS Plan

For Parents

- Share information on school’s PBIS Plan
- Daily communication through agenda
- Rewards program for families
Components of a School-wide PBIS Plan

For Teachers

- Teacher buy-in
- Training teachers on classroom management, individually and as a whole
- Training on how to deal with specific types of students (e.g. children from poverty) and behavior
- Teacher recognition program
- P.B.I.S. Team to monitor plan and discipline data
Common & Consistent Approach

- Discipline procedures are implemented consistently by staff and administration.
- Practices move away from the over-reliance on punishers.
Appropriate student behavior is taught.

- Procedures for teaching expectations (eg. During morning meeting, at beginning of year, after every break)

Note: Telling is not teaching and being told is not the same as being taught.
On-going monitoring of the plan’s effectiveness

Student behavior is monitored by administrators and the PBIS team, and staff receive regular feedback.
The Student Support Team will develop an individualized behavior plan for the student (such as check-in/check-out or individual counseling sessions) that will be implemented 4-5 times per week.

Fowler Drive's School Wide Behavior Management Plan

+3 pts
Blue: (Continuously demonstrating exceptional behavior, such as random acts of kindness towards students and adults)

+2 pts
Orange: (A demonstration of excellent behavior over and above what is expected)

+1 pt
Green: (Meeting expectations. Follows all rules correctly.)

+0 pts
Yellow: (Student does not meet behavioral expectations once or twice.)

+0 pts
Red: (Multiple times of not meeting behavioral expectations)

Overview

1. All teachers will receive the 5 color tiered yardstick.

2. Students’ names will be written on clothespins and will begin in the Green section of the yardstick each day.

3. Based on students’ behavior, their clothespins will move up and down the tiers.

4. The classroom yardstick will move with the students to specials, lunch, etc.

5. Students will earn points for meeting or exceeding behavioral standards. These students will earn a classroom privilege after a predetermined number of points have been earned.

6. Parents will be called/contacted for students who end the day on Red or Yellow. Teachers are also encouraged to call make positive calls if students end on orange or blue.
Steps to Promote Classroom Management

• Plan rules and procedures in advance.
• Establish clear rules and procedures when needed.
• Allow students to assume responsibility for behavior.
• Encourage teacher/student cooperation.
• Minimize disruptions and delays.
• Plan independent lessons and group lessons.

Essential Beliefs

Student behavior
• Has a function
• Is communication
• Occurs in patterns

But…
The only behavior teachers can truly control is their own.

Teacher Recognition
Golden Feather Award

Each month, we recognize an outstanding teacher or staff member at Fowler Drive and highlight his or her achievements. The FDES Golden Feather award has been established to recognize teachers for their dedication, professionalism and work in the classroom.
Criteria

• Excellence in the Classroom
• Motivation
• Leadership
• Creativity and Imagination
• Dedication
• Communication
• Incorporation of one of Dr. Chris Edmin’s 5 C’s
Golden Feather Award

Individual teachers will receive a certificate, a pass to leave work early one day, park in the Employee of the Month spot in the front parking lot.

If a grade level or group of teachers is recognized, each teacher will receive a certificate, have the opportunity to leave work early, and will take turns parking in the Employee of the Month spot (like one teacher each week).
Perfect Attendance Awards

Teachers who have perfect attendance each semester are recognized at our end-of-semester assemblies. They receive certificates and a treat. The students love this, and it makes the teachers feel special.
